TO SHUT OFF FREE RAILROAD PASSES

Senator Harris Springs an Air-Tight Resolution on the Senate-House Resolves to Appropriate No Money for New Normal Schools.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 20.- [Special Telegram to Tue Bee. |- Today's ballot in the senatorial joint convention resulted as follows:

Paddock	2 Thomsen 2 Hasley 10 Kerper I Andrews 1 Boyd 1 Thurston
Martin	1 Total

With the single exception of Dobson, who cast his vote for McKeighan, the independents enrolled themselves solidly for Powers. Aside from this the changes were immaterial and were as follows: Ames and Withpell, from Morton to W. A. Paxton: McDonald, from Paddock to Majors: Lobeck, from Carpenter to Paddock : Carpenter, from Lobeck to Paddock: Rhea, from Paddock to Majors; Nelson, from Bryan to Keiper; Babcock and Leidigh, from Morton to Boyd; Kaup returned to Dawes, and Keckley went to Paddock.

The rally of the populists today to the Powers standard was brought about by the determination of the anti-Powers faction to force his nomination immediately in order that he might be killed off before the opening of the battle proper next week. It has been concelled for some time that Powers would be the candinate who was to receive would be the candinate who was to receive the caucus nomination of the populists when-ever that time came, and the opposition within the party concluded that the stage of the game had arrived when it was advisable to allow him to make his spurt and then send him to the stable. It is practically tain that today's jump took him to his high water mark, as it virtually gave him his party's support and that is all there is in sight for him, at least until many another shall have been rung on the senatorial chimes.

IN THE SENATE.

More Employes Put on the Pay Roll-To Shut Off Passes-Adjourned Till Monday, LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 20 .- Special to THE BEE.]-The chaplain in the senate this morning breathed a fervent prayer for the recovery of Senator Clarke, whose chair is still vacant. The journal was read in part, and then further reading dispensed with by motion of Mattes of Otoe. Senator Darner reported the appointment of a custodian of closets, and the appointment was confirmed by the men who are furnishing places for as many of the independent and democratic camp followers as

Senator Gray then brought on another interminable discussion over the question of appointments by offering a resolution to the effect that all standing committees which desire clerks shall apply to the standing committee on employes

Senator Campbell offered an amendment to the effect that the secretary should place no name on the pay roll which shall not first have been authorized by the committee on

Senator Tefft suggested an amendment making it necessary for all members desiring to introduce bills or resolutions to first secure the permission of the standing committee on enator Moore spoke at length against both the the original resolution and the amendment. He considered it unusual to deprive a committee of the prerogative of se-lecting its own clerk. It seemed to him that for a committee, composed of four members of one party and three of another to select all committees was heaping an unnecessary indignity upon the senators. The senator read the list of committees upon which the republicans had a majority and showed that ne but the independents would be injured by the adoption of the resolution.

Senator Dale asserted that the senator from Lancaster did not know what he was talking about. He claimed that vesterday the senators on the republican side wante to put on the brakes, and today they wanted to put down the bars and let in the flood.

Moore's motion to indefinitely postpon-was carried, Dysart, McCarty Babcock and Hale voting with the republicans and Ev crett voting with the independents.

To Stop Pass Bribery. Senator Harris introduced the following

After the joint convention had adjourned the senate took up the discussion, briefly, of the propriety of an adjournment until Mon-

Senator Mattes asked for a ruling of the chair upon the matter. The chair read the constitutional and statutory provisions covering the case, and gave it as his opinion that a joint convention must be held on each and every day that the legislature is in session, but that there was nothing to prevent either house from adjourning for a period not exceeding three days. If one house ad-journed the legislature would not be in ses-sion, as the legislature comprised both

The following bills were introduced. Bc McKesson, setting apart a portion of Wyuka cemetery for the burial of soidiers; By Griffith, providing for the treatment of convicts becoming insane and fixing a penalty for making false certificates of insanity; By Ames, making the destruction of money, bonds or valuable papers punishable by imprisonment; By Davies, assisting the state library and historical societies to augment their collections; By Beal, providing for the abandonment of village government; By Ames, to promote the secreey of elec-tions and to repeal the Australian ballot law of 1891; By Nelson, amending the riminal code relative to injunctions; By Wilson, amending the code relative to trials before justices of the peace; By Wilson, amending the code relative to appeals from justice courts; By Sheridan, making it a nisdemeanor to climb upon railroad trains while in motion; By Higgins, limiting the jurisdiction of justices of the peace to their own townships; By Howe, authorizing county commissioners to erect soldiers monuments and provide grounds for the same; By Howe, appropriating the matricula-tion fees of the state normal schools for the maintenance of the libraries; By Stevens, mending the statutes regarding taxation By Stevens, A joint resolution to submit an amendment providing for the investment of the permanent educational fund; By McKesson, restoring the best sugar bounty

The penitentiary investigating committee reported that it would work in concert with the senate committee to save expense and asked the appointment of two more members to make it the same as the committee of the other body. Adopted.

Normal Schools Done For. Chairman Casper of the committee on finance, ways and means submitted a resolution, which was adopted, declaring it to be the sense of the house that owing to the state of the finances no appropriation be made for the establishment of new nor-mal schools and that consideration of all further bills on this subject be indefinitely postponed. Thus was the normal school question settled for this session.

A recess was taken until 11:50 a. m. Ninety-three members were in their seats when the afternoon session was called to order by Speaker Gaffin. After roll call the following pairs were announced: Wilson and Scott, Griffith and Riley. The four gentle-men were excused until Tuesday.

Will Not Take Snap Judgment.

Mr. Watson was given consent to introduce a resolution to the effect that the Douglas county contest cases should not be taken up and considered until next Wednesday Mr. Schlotfeldt stated that the committee on privileges and elections would not be ready to report on the cases before Wednesday, but in spite of this fact quite a number of the independent and democratic members voted against the adoption of the resolution. The committees on finance, ways and means and on privileges and elections were excused from further attendance on the afternoon session. Mr. Rhodes, from the committee on en-grossed and enrolled bills, reported that house roll No. 93 had been examined and found correct. Mr. Howe stated that serious errors had been made in printing the amend-ments and the report was withdrawn and the amendments were ordered back to the printer for correction. bers on the committee to investigate the management of the state penitentiary: Messrs. Withnell, Keckley, Van Housen, Horst, Sheridan. The names of Messrs. Ames and Higgins were added to the com-mittee appointed to investigate the death of Convict Powell at the penitentiary several weeks since.

Two memorials from citizens of Cheycune and Saunders county were read asking the legislature to make provision for annual farmers institutes in every county.

Free Silver Sprung. Watson offered a memorial and joint resolution petitioning congress to repeal the Sherman act, and directing the senators and representatives from Nebraska to use their efforts to secure the repeal of that act and all

Porter objected to the consideration of the resolution for the reason that many friends of free silver were absent. He therefore moved that the resolution lie on the table. watson said that the friends of free silver ought not to be afraid of a little discussion of the merits of the resolution, and Porter retorted that the house might discuss the resolution until dark without changing a

Horst demanded a call of the house. Watson said that rather than call the several committees from their rooms he would be willing to have consideration of the resolution go over until next Tuesday and the matter was compromised on that basis. Two bills were then introduced and read for the first time, No. 169 providing for amendment of the law relative to indict-ments of criminals and No. 170 providing for changes in the registration laws The house then adjourned until 10 o'clock

CARLISLE'S RESIGNATION.

It Has Been Received by Governor Brown of Kentucky.

FRANKFORT, Kyt., Jan. 20.-Governor Brown received the following letter today: DEAR SIR—I hereby resign the office of sena-tor from the state of Kentucky in the con-gress of the United States, to take effect on the 4th day of February, 1893, Yours truly, J. G. CARLISLE.

Governor Brown hurried a private mes-sage to the house and senate to remain in session a few minutes longer and followed this up immediately with a communication to the assembly embracing the letter. The house adjourned, however, before the message was received.

Work of the Illinois Legislature.

SPRINGPIELO, Ill., Jan. 20 .- A number of republicans, dissatisfied with the proportion of republicans to democrats on the standing committees, prevented business by dilatory motions, and nothing being accomplished the house adjourned until next Monday evening. The only matter of interest in the senate was the introduction of a bill to protect the butter industry by rendering it unlawful for imitations to be made of the same color pure butter. Adjournment was then taken until Monday evening.

Want Them Removed from Office. TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 20.-A petition was presented to the senate this morning, praying for the removal of D. F. Sweeney, commandant, Joshua Mitchell, quartermaster, and Henry Booth, J. B. McDoughall and O. H. Coulter, board of managers of the Soldiers home at Dedge City. Gross misman-agement and misappropriation of the funds of the home are alleged. A committee of investigation will probably be appointed.

LINCOLN PEOPLE DEFY THE POLICE

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 20 .- [Special to THE BEE.]-A young man, name unknown, came to the boarding house of James Griffiths on West X street, last night, and asked for lodging, which was given to him. This morning Griffith was awakened by groans proceeding from the room occupied by the stranger, and an investigation showed that he was suffering from poisoning. A small vial stood on the table near at hand, which the physician who was called pronounced as, having contained aconite. He refused to take any antidotes, and medicine had to be forced down his throat. At last accounts the doctors said he would pull through with care. The young fellow refused to give his name, but said he wanted to die. All that learned from him was that he came from Omaha last week and was on his way to Boston, where the intended to ship as a In answer to a question, he said he eaman. did not live in Omaha, but had merely sojourned there for a time. He is light com-plected, six feot tail and was well dressed. His appearance is that of a demented man.

Defied the Police. Two boys, one the son of A. D. Burr, a wealthy citizen, were snowballing each other when a street band passed, the High school building at noon. One of the missiles came daugerously near smashing the trombone player in the face, and Officer Carder, who was present, attempted to arrest the boys. The crowd, which speedily grew to large proportions, interfered, and dared the policeman to make the rrrest. He called for aid, and two officers came dashing up in the patrol wagon. They, too, attempted to make the arrest, but the principal of the school interfered and promised that the officers would be roughly handled if they made the attempt. The principal was backed by the crowd, who threatened to wipe out a few of the officers and after a long parley the bluecoats decided they didn't want to arrest anybody and re

MADE A WRONG DIAGNOIS.

"Dr." William Edwards with a Jag Runs Up Against a Healthy Boot Toe.

There was a little scene in the Creighton block last night which the occupants of several doctors' offices don't want to go through again if they can get out of it. The cause of all the trouble was a jag and a long Spanish dirk, both carried by "Dr." William

M. Edwards, late of New Orleans, and a recent arrival in Omaha.

Edwards came here to take charge of the business of a couple of specialists who are at present traveling in the south. Before the present manager would give up the office he wanted to be yaid his salary which he chained was to be paid his salary which he claimed was in arrears. Edwards tried the bluff game and pulled a dagger, but it didn't work, so the "doctor" from the swamps went out and loaded on a cargo of jag juice. He then visited the offices of the specialists in the Creighton block and by threats and the flourishing of his murderous looking knife endeavored to drive these people away from

A telephone message to police headquar-ers asking for aid quieted the drunken man. He left the building, assisted down the stairs by the boot of one of the greatiemen ha had annoyed. When the police arrived the doctors refused to make a complaint against Edwards and he was allowed to continue on his drunken way.

Funeral of Charles McLain.

Many friends of the late Charles F. Mc Lain attended his funeral yesterday afternoon, which took place from the residence of the young man's fether, J. J. McLain, 3019 Burt street. A touching service was conducted by Rev. W. K. Beans of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. C. W. Savidge of the People's church. Floral of ferings were sent by those who had known and liked the young man in life for his many sterling qualities.

Mr. McLain was a civil engineer of acknowledged merit, and had a most promising future befere him. After demonstrating his ability to successfully handle important works, and while charged in engineering work in this circle he accepted flattering offers elsewhere, and at the time of his death was superintending the construction of a water works system at Kallespel, Mont. In the midst of his work he contracted pura-monia, from which he died. Everybody who knew the young man predicted a brilliant future for him. Besides his scientific acquirements, he had many pleasing social qualities which made him popular in Omaha

The eral demoralization of passenger rates. order of yesterday will have, it is said, an effect that will be startling. It means that passengers going west or coming east in order to reach points on the Union Pacific must purchase their tickets over that road or one of its branches or else must be turned over to it at both Denver and Omaha otherwise the ticket will be declared void. Southern Tourist Rates. Kansas City. Mon Jan. 20.-Southern tourist rates from this city are in a state of demoralization which will doubtless spread to alarming proportions. The Big Four and the Vandalia lines worked a rate through the Central Traffic association on account of an alleged spiritualist convention at De Leon, and took advantage of the authority to drum up business to that and other winter resorts. At least that is what the Memphis road charges, and that road took steps to protect itself by putting in a rate of one fare for the round trip, with stopover privileges, good until next June. Now the Missouri Pacific has met the Memphis rate and all points in the south and southeast are

OPPOSED TO INDISCRIMINATE IMMIGRATION

None but the Stars and Stripes Should Float Over the Land of Liberty-The Tendency Toward Monarchy and Decay.

For nearly two hours last night, Bishop Newman held the undivided attention of a large audience in the Young Men's Christian association auditorium, while he delivered his lecture on "America for Americans. His hearers were thoughtful men and women, well representing Omaha, both socially and intellectually. Among those present were many ministers, prominent business and professional men and quite a number of foreign citizens, attracted to the hall to hear what the distinguished divine would say on the subject chosen for his address. The views expressed by Bishop Newman elicited frequent bursts of applause.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the speaker entered accompanied by Mayor Bemis. In a tew words the mayor announced that he would introduce to the audience a great traveler scholar and orator, and a thorough American. After speaking of Bishop Newman's intimate acquaintance with the men and affairs of the nation during his long and useful career, Mayor Bemis presented the

With a few irrelevant prefatory remarks Bishop Newman took up his subject by considering the philosophy of the strength of nations. The morality and patriotism of the people, he thought, make nations great, and, despite laws and systems of government, the habits of the people are their strength or weakness. "All forms of govern-ment have failed to develop virtue or suppress vice," he continued. "Laws cannot control the tendency of humanity toward good or evil-it is this tendency which in-fluences laws and nations. History shows that moral corruption inevitably precedes political destruction. Need I point out the ommonly known instances which support this fact! Everybody knows the dismal story of the downfall of great nations in story of the downfall of great nations in biblical and secular history because of moral degeneracy. But can any one point out to me one instance in the last 6,000 years when a virtuous people have come to an un-timely end? Recall the powerful nations that have flourished and then perished, and see if we do not find that the real cause of their downfall was due to moral corruption. Much Depends on the Citizen.

"As I said, much depends upon the people on the individual citizen. The character of the individual—his moral nature—influences, the destiny of the nation, as he is a part of the people and a component part of the nation. Our glorious constitution, that doc-ument which has descended to us through the tears and strife of a country, was a mag-nificent production of the genius of man as-piring to liberty and a nobler form of government. Yet it possesses no special virtue unless we have men breathing the inspira tion of our forefathers, who can support it.

"Republics and empires, built up by strong and moral races, have flourished, and then with increasing opulence, become weakened and degenerate and finally perished. It is the verdict of history that when nations reach a certain point in their progress they begin to feel decay. Let us reverse this ver-dict and make this land the exception. "There have been as many ruined republies as monarchies in the past. For 500 years Rome was a republic and those were the happiest years of its existence. But the tendency of republics is toward em pire, and from empire to decay This leads us to the most difficult problem now confronting statesmen—permanency. It is not national progress that should comman our most earnest attention, it is national stability, the permanence of our governmen and institutions. "In the past the national scepter has passed from one hand to another. First Fgypt was the most powerful nation, then Egypt's greatness became obscured by that of Assyria. Persia followed with a great race and then Palestine. The Romans and the Greeks in turn were the great nations of the world. Finally, the hands of a woman, Isabella of Spain, grasped the scepter and then Bonaparte ruled Europe. England subsequently became the greatest nation, but

America Grander Than All.

"America is the land in which national superiority is found. It is not so much in martial glory, commercial prosperity and spleador of intellect, though we possess all these, but it is in moral ideas, moral liberty all that is beautiful in philanthrophy and

"But even under the best forms of government the worst men may exist, just as under the worst form of government the best men exist. Under the Stewarts, there were the Puritans; under Nero there were the Bishop Newman then spoke about immigration. He produced facts and figures to prove that the low class of foreigners admitted into the country retard instead of advance the national progress. The per cent of illiterate aliens entering from Europe is very large and their presenc here does the country no good. He said that of the drunkards and criminals in the coun of the drunkards and criminals in the coun-try a large proportion is foreign born. To the glory of American womanhod, he said, that of the number of female inebriates and criminals reported, nearly all are foreign. He made a powerful argument against admitting the lregs of European nations into this country He thought there should be no foreign colonies or settlements of aliens preserving their national languages and customs on American soil. No flag should be raised on American bil save that of the United States soil save that of the United States without government permission and then only in compliment to some visiting foreign dignitary. America should be for Americans. If foreigners enter this country to derive benefit from the liberal form of roverument they should leave behind them heir national prejudices and not endeavor to preserve in the minds of their children love for any foreign land. He thought that no foreign language should be taught in the public schools and that there should be no secular schools.

Antagonistic to Immigration. Jefferson, he said, opposed allowing for-eigners to enter this country, declaring that it would result in national misfortune. The revolutionary statesman was strongly antag onistic to foreign influences, but now Jeffer sonian democrats are bowing down to the foreign element and catering to the various classes of foreign votes. A desire for polit-ical triumphs has made the followers of Jefferson forget the Jeffersonian principles. Eloquently and earnestly Bishop Newman laid bare what he believed to be the danger of filling up the country too rapidly and with an undesirable class of people. In building up a nation that is to last forever he thought aly the best material should be used. By allowing the low, debased, illiterate and criminal elements of foreign society to enter country, the government spread the seed

WILLIAMS USED ARSENIC.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Ewing

Murder Case. Coroner Maul empaneled a jury yesterday in the case of Albert Ewing. the young colored boy who died from the effects of poison supposed to have been administered by Joe Williams, also colored. The jury found at the conclusion of the testimony that the boy had died from poison, supposed to have been administered by Williams and accessories. Detective Vizard was the first witness ex-amined and repeated the conversation he had had with Edna Ewing relative to Williams having visited her home and displaying something resembling rough on rats, saying he intended to "do up" the family. The chemical analysis of the stomach revealed

The boy's father, Mr. Ewing, was put on the stand and examined at some length with but little result. He repeated the statement that he made at the time of the poisoning in regard to Williams having made threats to kill off the family, and also testified that after the first warrant was swora out for Williams he had followed the latter through the sentent war to the city and through the central part of the city and asked an officer whom they mot to arrest Williams, but the officer refused to do it until be had communicated with the station. The two girls, Edna and Ida May, told their stories over again. They admitted that they were aware of Williams' attempt to poison their parents and then take Edm as his wife and Ida as companion and go to California. Some parts of the girls testi-mony actually shocked the jurymen, as it related to the intimacy of Williams with the

Nothing which has not been published be fore was developed in the testimony, except some of the private life of the family, which will hardly bear printing. The jury returned a verdict of death by poisoning, the poison supposed to have been administered by Joe Williams and his accessories.

So far, no attempt has been made by the officials to arrest the girls, although if Williams is caught they probably will be taken into custody pending his trial.
