

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE

Very Slim Vote Cast for Senator at the Joint Session Yesterday.

MANY OF THE LEGISLATORS WERE ABSENT

Thurston Shows Up with Six Votes, but That is About the Only Noticeable Change in the Situation in Senate and House.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 30.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—The calling of the roll in the joint convention showed the presence of twenty-seven senators and seventy-seven members of the house.

The following were the changes: Ames and Mitchell, from Bryan to Morton; Goss, from Bryan to Morton; Thurston, from Bryan to Morton; Lusk, from Bryan to Morton; North, from Morton to Bryan; Spencer, from Bryan to Morton; Thurston, from Morton to Bryan; Hastings, from Bryan to Morton; Webster, from Bryan to Morton.

The following were the changes: Ames and Mitchell, from Bryan to Morton; Goss, from Bryan to Morton; Thurston, from Bryan to Morton; Lusk, from Bryan to Morton; North, from Morton to Bryan; Spencer, from Bryan to Morton; Thurston, from Morton to Bryan; Hastings, from Bryan to Morton; Webster, from Bryan to Morton.

IN THE HOUSE

Time of the Session Taken Up with a Discussion Concerning Employers.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 30.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—But sixty-nine members responded to their names in the house when the clerk called the roll this morning.

Luskart was appointed to the place on the committee on resolutions and elections made vacant by the death of Farrell.

Beal introduced a resolution providing that no employes be paid for over time except at the regular rate per hour, instead of allowing an hour's over time to constitute an extra day's pay.

The independent voters were unwilling to have the expense of their appointments thus paraded, and the resolution died ignominiously.

McKesson introduced a resolution requesting the clerk to furnish each member with a list of all employes.

An attempt to lay it on the table failed on roll call, but the resolution was killed a moment later on a count of noses.

The pay question was sprung again by Mr. North, but the resolution, which was followed by others and another roll call, was consumed in fruitless discussion, after which the whole matter was laid on the table.

On the subject of the proposed amendment to the bill was read a second time and sent to the printer.

His introduced a petition from the people of Dixon county for a reduction of railroad rates, which was referred.

Merrick again brought up the employe matter, but a resolution asking the clerk to post a list of the employes of each corporation, which was again the subject of fruitless discussion, after which the matter was laid on the table.

Devises said he could not understand why the independent voters were so ticklish about having any publicity given the matter.

The resolution was adopted in the face of strenuous opposition but as the senate entered for the joint convention.

Immediately after the adjournment of the joint convention the senate and house committees of the whole for the consideration of bills on general file a special order for 10:30 tomorrow and then adjourned until tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

IN THE SENATE

Call for an Opinion as to the Constitutionality of the State Deposit Law.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 30.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—The senate made no attempt to do business this morning. The roll call developed the fact that many of the senators had not yet returned from their Sunday vacation, and after the journal had been partially read an adjournment was taken until noon. After the joint convention the senate took a recess until 2:30.

After the senate convened in the afternoon the following was offered by Mr. Moore and adopted:

Resolved, That the honorable supreme court of this state be and is hereby requested to give an opinion as to the constitutionality of the law passed in 1891 requiring the state treasurer to deposit in banks, at interest current, funds of the state in that respect.

The senate then on the motion of North adjourned out of respect to the memory of James G. Blaine.

REBUCED THE DEMOCRATS

Hon. J. B. Okie Given a Complimentary Vote for Senator in Wyoming.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 30.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—The vote for senator today showed little change in the relative position of the candidates. New, who has been leading the democrats, lost Russell and Miller of Uinta county and gained Kabis of Laraine. The republican gave votes to the lately unseated representative from Fremont, a complimentary vote. The ballot result: Okie, 16; New, 10; Taylor, populist, 6; Tidball, populist, 4; Hurt, 4; Holliday, Block and Kabis, democrats, 2 apiece, and Brown, populist, republican, democrat, and Clark, republican, 1 each.

The complimentary vote to Okie was intended as a rebuke to the democrats, who understood him, but they apparently not worrying themselves over it.

A memorial to congress was introduced by the house asking congress not to repeal the sugar bounty law. Bills were introduced in the house as follows: Providing for the establishment of county uniformity of text books, to establish state labor court of arbitration and to replace the present stock laws.

In the senate bills were introduced to establish and support a state labor bureau, to regulate the disposal of school lands and to regulate the grand jury system. The latter bill provides that information shall be filed against any person for a felony until an examination is had before a justice of the peace.

JUST TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

United Presbyterianism in Omaha Reaches Over a Quarter of a Century.

Observed the Anniversary Yesterday

Members of the Set with Friends Gather at the First Church in Kountze Place and Appropriately Commemorate the Occasion.

There could be no event more in harmony with the name of the organization creating it, than was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the United Presbyterian church, which took place last evening and afternoon at the First United Presbyterian church in Kountze Place.

It appeared to an observer that the words of the Master might have been applied to the happy gathering. "By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, that ye love one another."

Twenty-five years ago in the struggling, mainly foreign born town of Omaha this branch of the Christian church gained its first foothold. A feeble and apparently uncertain foothold it appeared to be at that time, but the sturdy character of those who helped to organize the little band, made it an abiding power that weathered every storm and planted the foundations of future usefulness deep and firm in the solid rock of ages.

The celebration consisted of a double program, the first for the various United Presbyterian churches of the city and its immediate friends in neighboring churches, and the second for the public in general. The banquet was spread at 5:30 and the ladies of the church proved to the satisfaction of all that they had made ample preparation to challenge to the banquet the most exacting epicure. When the luxuries of the feast had been disposed of, Rev. J. M. French announced that the "feast of reason and the flow of soul" would begin.

Triumphs of the Set.

He introduced Mrs. J. E. Nevin, who responded to the sentiment "Let Her Own Works Praise Her." Mrs. Nevin spoke in behalf of the Women's Mission and Aid society. She said that the society had been really "a mission-in-society" and a missionary society at the same time. Earnest Christian work had been accomplished both at home and in foreign lands by the organization, and the future was full of hope for the continued usefulness of the organization.

Dr. W. S. Gibbs spoke upon the mission and the progress of the Sunday school in response to the sentiment "Teach Me Thy Father's Name." His remarks were historic in their nature, and his testimony gave to the Sunday school which had been organized by the church and the Sunday school had been kept alive when all other home assistance seemed to have withdrawn.

Dr. Gibbs thought that the church had made a mistake in not being more aggressive, and he urged the church to continue its efforts for the good of the world. He said that the church should be a power for good in connection with the Christian church.

Miss Bessie J. Snyder, a teacher in the High school, responded to the sentiment "Young Men and Maidens." Her address was unique and elegant in the extreme.

"It is scarcely necessary for me to speak for the young people," said Miss Snyder, "for most of them are present, and I am an easy matter to grow eloquent over youth. It is the time of budding promise. Upon the brow of each is the dawn of a new day, and the beauty of hope. Who would dare to mark the boundary lines of an un-lived life?"

The speaker then referred to the radical change that had taken place within the past twenty-five years, particularly as touching the attitude of the young men and women. Young people's organizations had been organized in the churches but they had done a vast amount of good.

"Our is a natural admiration society," said the speaker, "neither is it much of a success as a matrimonial mill, for during the dozen years of its existence there has been but one marriage. It is a society of the young people of the church, and the organization was not really to blame for that."

The total losses, as near as can be estimated, will amount to $40,583.21, against $37,804 during 1891.

Heavy losses during the year were as follows: Omaha Hardware company, $123,500; Shiverick's Furniture company, 21,500; Golden's Hardware, 15,000; Orchard's and Continental, 154,000; Bamberger's, 14,000.

Total, $354,000. The total loss on buildings amounted to $88,600, and on contents $27,375. Loss over insurance paid $750.

Losses on stock amounted to $319,433.21, and the loss over and above the insurance paid was $683.

The number of alarms turned in have only been exceeded during the past five years in 1890 when 236 boxes were pulled.

The total valuation of fire department property, including buildings, real estate and apparatus, is $292,225.

At present the force consists of eighty-nine men, including the chief and his two assistants.

Five hose companies, three trucks, two chemical engines, one water tower and three chemical ladders and one second-class steamer constitute the city's fire fighting apparatus; 128 fire hydrants are in service, and 17,000 feet of hose.

Chief Galligan recommended the purchase of two 200-horse power engines, and twenty-five new fire alarm boxes. He also recommended that a hose company be placed down in the business portion of the city between Fifth and Fifteenth streets, and Harney and Dodge, and that an engine house be established near Twenty-fourth and Davenport streets. The report was received and read.

Firemen Pringle and Cassidy were each granted ten days' leave.

Mr. Hartman introduced a resolution advocating the establishment of a new town engine house, the playing of more hydrants in the heart of the city and also the purchase of a new fire engine.

Two hundred copies of Chief Seavey's annual report will be printed for exchange with other cities.

A request from the Police Relief association, grading the benefit according to the time of service, went to a committee for investigation.

As a license board the commission granted the following saloon licenses: Matt Regan, 142 Leavenworth street; John Bahm, 1823 Leavenworth street; John Costello, 314 South Tenth street; John Weitzel, 1517 Farnam street.

On account of the absence of two members of the board the appointment of a telephone operator at police headquarters was postponed one day.

The protest against E. Bihler, 2924 South Twenty-fourth street, was heard and decision postponed.

ABOUT CLEVELAND'S POLICY

New York Democrat Talks Concerning the Coming Administration.

PRESIDENT-ELECT IS MUCH ANNOYED

Some of the Democratic Congressmen Have Incurred the Displeasure of the Party's Head and Front—Only Two Cabinet Positions Decided.

New York, Jan. 30.—The Tribune prints the following: A prominent democrat of this state, who has a national reputation, had a chat with President-elect Cleveland yesterday in this city, in the course of which Mr. Cleveland told frankly what he is now doing and what his policy would be in respect to federal appointments.

"Mr. Cleveland," said this democrat, "is thinking now more about the repeal of the Sherman silver act, and settling the silver problem generally, than he is of cabinet appointments. But the cabinet appointments, as well as all other federal appointments, will be largely governed by Mr. Cleveland's evident desire to stop the coinage of the present dishonest silver dollar."

Mr. Cleveland regards the silver issue as the paramount one in politics, supreme even to the tariff. The settlement of the government's relation to silver, therefore, will have precedence of the settlement of the tariff issue. The Sherman act, in his opinion, is a blot on the country, and it must be repealed before anything else can be done with safety.

Congressmen Who Displease Him. "Feeling as keenly as he does upon the matter, Mr. Cleveland cannot but observe with astonishment the conduct of certain democratic congressmen, who after a visit to him for the purpose of pushing the appointment of certain friends of theirs to high federal offices, return to Washington and do their utmost not only to prevent the repeal of the Sherman silver act, but even to have the act amended so as to give the high federal offices to their own friends."

They constitute a true lottery. Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The supreme court in the case of Homer, plaintiff in error, against the United States, has decided that Austrian premium bonds constitute a true lottery within the meaning of the statutes, notwithstanding the plea that they are a part of the ordinary debt, and that they are not, therefore, liable. The case came up on certification from the circuit court of appeals of New York. The questions certified were: Whether the mode of drawing described on the back of the bonds, constitutes a lottery; whether a circular issued by Homer, and sent out with the bonds, containing a lottery drawing within the meaning of the statute, the court answered all these questions in the affirmative.

Sherman Act Repealed. Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The tug of war in the house on the proposition to repeal the Sherman act will come up on a preliminary vote. It is understood that when the committee on rules brings in its report setting aside the 9th and 10th of February for the consideration of the repeal bill, which report is expected to be made early on the 9th, the previous question will be moved. The friends of the repeal will attempt to vote down the question in order to amend it by providing for cloture. The free silver men will fight for the previous question, and if they fail, will seek to amend the proposition, although favoring the repeal. Failing in this, they will resort to tactics that can be indulged in will be followed.

Arrested After a Weary Chase. Wichita, Kan., Jan. 30.—William A. Byers, charged with having absconded with several thousand dollars belonging to the Harvey Mills Brewing company of Helena, Mont., while he was employed with the company, was arrested here today. Detectives followed Byers through Utah and California, thence across the Pacific to Japan and India. In China the trail was lost. Byers arrived here yesterday and was identified by means of his photograph in the rogue's gallery.

Police Notes. Frank Murray stole an overcoat from Chris Johnson, Fourteenth and Douglas streets, last night, and was locked up to await trial.

She Failed in Her Purpose. Yesterday afternoon Miss Ramsey, 3043 Tenth avenue, left her hand satchel containing $31 lying on a table in the public library for a moment. When she looked for the satchel it was gone. Lou Vaughn, a colored woman of the town, worked a drunken granger for $55 and was arrested.

Weather Forecasts. It Will Be Generally Fair Today with a Promise of Falling Temperature. Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—For Nebraska generally fair; colder Tuesday night; winds shifting to northerly. For Iowa—Fair, except snow in western portion; colder in western portion; easterly winds, becoming variable. For South Dakota—Local snows; colder; winds shifting to northerly.
