THE FORCE AN IMMEDIATE SALE OF OUR BLEACHED LINENS.

Comprising our direct importation of superb table wear, the order for which was placed last October, the goods should have arrived for our usual January 15th sale, they are four weeks late and the customary sale time has passed by. The shipment comprises an immense quantity, compelling us to force an immediate sale, which means sheer sacrifice, as the following prices will show.

They are grand goods, including our superb selection of table linens and table sets just off the loom, with napkins to match all. The designs are uncommon, every pattern will strike you as being decidedly new, rich and lovely to look upon, certainly the newest we have ever seen.

We mention some of the Bleached Table Linens that go in this sale.

65-inch satin damask table linens which will go at 75c and 90c. These are worth from $1 to $1.40. A superb lot of 72-inch at $1.10 and $1.50. These are the grandest goods we have ever offered.

Beautiful Napkins that go in this sale.

5-8 heavy bleached satin damask napkins at $1.65 a dozen, and worth $2.25. Another lot at $1.75, worth $2.50.

Some Grand New Table Sets that go into this sale as follows:

Cloths of heavy bleached satin damask 8x10 at $1.75, $2.50, $3.75, $4, $5, $6 and $7.50 each. We wish to state positively that the regular price of these beautiful cloths would not be less than $2.75 up to $10 each, and all of our own exclusive designs.

A Grand Lot of Towels that go in this sale.

We start with a hundred dozen lot of pure linen towels that go into this sale for 10c a piece. At 12c we will put in a large lot of very fine heavy huck towels, hemmed ready for use, and positively worth 19c.

A Few Dollars Will Buy Many Beautiful Linens, Monday, February 6th, at Falconer's.

There are many items that we have not space to mention.

The "Old Bleach" Towel.

We are the exclusive agents for the whole west for the manufacturers of this old reliable bleachery, for which the demand we find is enormous and prices no higher than for other towels, and give double the wear.

Stamped Hemstitched Linens for This Sale.

GIVEN TO THEIR MOTHER

Care of the Russell Children Will Rest with the Wronged Wife.

APPOINTED TO BE THE LEGAL GUARDIAN

Judge Eller Decides the End of the Case That Rested in His Court, and Passed the Matter Up to the District Court.

One feature of the interesting and somewhat sensational race for the possession of the two Russell children has been disposed of by the mother securing a victory and getting the little ones under her protecting care, where they will remain until the decision of the county court is reversed, providing that time ever comes.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Mary A. Russell came to Omaha from her home in St. Paul, Minn., some three weeks ago for the purpose of finding her little boy and girl, both of whom were sent to this city last July, that they might visit their father for a few weeks during the summer vacation.

The next step was to apply for a writ of habeas corpus, which was granted by Judge Eller. Armed with this writ, two officers went to the house, where Mrs. Russell attempted to drive them from the premises at the point of a revolver.

Formally Given Her Babies. Judge Eller replied that the facts justified everything that was said and considerable more.

of the time in weeping, while Russell protested to hold front upon being informed by his attorneys that the battle was fought and won.

Judge Eller's Decision. Upon returning to the bench Judge Eller sent for the children, and a few minutes later they were brought in, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett and two deputies. As soon as the members of the party were seated Mrs. Russell went over to the children and clasped them to her breast.

Opinion of the Court. The opinion having been delivered the children were called before the judge, who said that he would refrain from saying anything about the charges filed in the case, as he did not want to influence their minds against either their parents.

Formally Given Her Babies. Judge Eller replied that the facts justified everything that was said and considerable more. The lawyer subsided and then the court imposed a duty upon Mrs. Russell by saying: "Take your children, take good care of them, but do not disobey the order of the district court, which commands you not to remove them from the county of Douglas until after the disposition of the divorce case."
