Attention Directed to the Way in Which the Motor Company Avoids Paying Taxes.

TAXPAYERS WHO HAVE BEEN BUNCOED

Citizens Pay Money for Street Improvement Which Should Have Been Assessed to the Company-Action of the City Council Commented On.

A rather interesting thing in connection with the grading on Avenue A has just come to light through the agitation that is now being made over the neglect of the motor company to live up to its obligations and the failure of the city officials to bring it to terms with a snap. The fact that the motor company dug up the dirt from the roadway at the side of its tracks on Avenue A for the purpose of raising the tracks approximately to the grade which would in all probability be established on that avenue some time in the future was mentioned in The Bee a day or two ago, and the fact was also stated that the city had subsequently brought in dirt from a distance and filled up the holes thus made, and charged up the expense, which was about $4,000, to the adjacent property owners in the shape of special taxes.

There are a great many citizens who never take the trouble to find out whether their assessments are legal or not, and all of the Avenue A residents who answered that description stepped up to the rack and paid their assessments without a murmur. There their assessments without a murmur. There were a few, however, who knew that the tax was illegal, and they quietly, but absolutely, refused to make the payments. An examination of the records discloses the fact that the taxes of all these kickers are now marked "canceled," although the property owners in question deny that they ever paid a cent. The question now waiting an answer is: Who paid the taxes? Was it the motor company or the council? At all events there are suspicions, founded on evidence of a more or le circumstantial character, that if by t company the payment was at least made with the knowledge and collusion of the city council. As soon as this fact becomes generally known a number of suits may be looked for from the property owners, who came up and paid their taxes like little men, to recover from the city the amounts which they paid.

What Will the Council Do?

A petition was started out on its rounds mong the business men of Council Bluffs yesterday, asking the mayor and city council to rescind the ordinance, passed in 1886, giving the motor company a tax of 12 mills and a franchise to operate a railway in the streets. The object of this move is to make it impossible for the company to stand on the rights it has already been granted, upon the plea that the city goternment still stands by it. The petition recites that the company still owes the citizens over $30,000, and the city about a like sum for $30,000, and the city about a like sum for paving, for which it was bound, by the terms of its charter to pay, and that it refuses to settle; that the company never did anything except assign its franchise to a foreign corporation, which is daily taking large sums of money from Council Bluffs to another state. It then demands that the ordinance by which the parity by was levied and also the ordinance. 12-mill tax was levied, and also the ordinance of 1886 by which the franchise was granted, be rescinded. The statement has been made openly by the superintendent of the motor company that no action will be taken by the city council that will be unfriendly to the company, and it is thought that this petition will have the effect of compelling the mem-bers of the council to show for whom they

They Waited Two Years.

The Council Bluffs and Omaha Bridge company filed its answer yesterday to the suit which was commenced in 1891 by the city to recover about $5,000 for paving street intersections. This is the first time the company has shown any life in this case, which the city officials have allowed to slip along for two years. The case is set for a hearing at the term of the superior court, which will commence tomorrow. The answer is signed by George F. answer is signed by George F. Wright, and in it he alleges that there is no statute authorizing the answer is plaintiff to bring the action; that the streets mentioned in the first count had been already paved before the company's tracks had been laid, and that they had never been repayed since; and that the Council Bluffs & Omaha Bridge company decises company decises and that the council Bluffs & Omaha Bridge company decises are been repayed as a company decise. nies ever having had anything to do with laying the tracks, but that they were laid by the Council Biuffs Railway company, whose motive power consisted of half a dozen spayined mules, in the days when paying and grading were unknown and unthought of in Council Bluffs. This company is now said to be insolvent, and, if so, the citizens who have been relying upon the company to pay its share of the city special taxes will be very much disappointed.

Wadsworth Talks.

"Some one has made the exceedingly bright remark that we must not try to bring the motor company to terms for fear of keeping eastern capital away from us," said S. B. Wadsworth, secretary of the Board of Trade and one of the foremost real estate men of the city, yesterday while speaking of the matter which at present is of more interest than any other one thing in Council Bluffs business circles. "Such a statement is pre-posterous. I get letters every little while from some eastern concern that is looking for a new location, asking me for particulars as to property values, freight rates, railway connections and taxes. I answer them, giving the particulars they desire, and the almost invariable reply is that our taxes are so high as to render Council Bluffs an undesirable place to And why are they high! For one because the city government has allowed the motor company to shirk its taxes for the past five years, thus compelling the citizens to bear their own financial burdens and also those which the company should If the handred thousand or more ars that the company now owes the city and the citizens were collected it would materially reduce taxes, and then we could go before eastern capitalists without being ashamed of ourselves. The plea that we must let people rob us in peace for fear that if we don't other people will refuse to con from the east to rob us some more is hardly worth while listening to."

Another View.

The following communication to The Bee from a prominent citizen and taxpayer gives his views on the situation his views on the situation:

"The city voted and paid $54,000 tax to enable that company to which the franchise was granted to build a bridge across the river. Section 7 of the ordinance of 1886 provides, 'That the failure of said company to complete the laying down and equipment of the street railway track and the construction of said bridge within the time provided in this bridge within the time provided in this ordinances, shall operate as a full forfeiture of all right of said company to receive or have paid over to it any part or portion of the said tax voted and donated by the freeold resident to xpoyers of said city ided in chapter is of the laws of Iowa of

The people supposed that this money was appropriated to aid the motor company, and that the motor company, in accepting it, acted under penalty of a forfeiture. "We now learn that the motor company was never in it; that it has never laid a foot of rail; that it owns no property in Council Bluffs; that it owes no obligations or duties under that ordinance; that the ordinance was enacted for the benefit of people who never used it or intended to use it, except as a instrument for the perpetration of fraud.

During this entire year, last past, these facts were as well known to the mayor and city council as they are to the general public this day. Why is that ordinance of 1886 repealed? Why is no forfeiture declared? Why is the motor company suffered to use this charter as a means for further punder? Why do mayor and city councilmen consent to accept and ride upon passes furnished by an organization perpetrating such swindling operations upon the people whose servants these officials are elected and paid to be. Social Gossip. The past week has been noticeable more for its dullness than anything else, so far as social affairs are concerned. Notwithstanding the fact that Lent will commence next Sunday, the hilarity that usually precedes the period of religious devotion has been noticeably absent. During the coming week however, it is said that there will be several social events of more than the usual amount of interest, and the butterflies of fashion will make the most of the opportunity of shaking their wings for the last time until World's Fair Beer. To enjoy the distinction of being the largest establishment of the kind in the world ought to be the source of a good deal of satisfaction. But the Pabst Brewing company of Milwauke, which has long held the position of being largest brewing establishment the world, has had another mor thrust upon it. A telegram to C. Geise & Son, sole agents for the beverage here, received yesterday, announced that the great brewing asso ciation had triumphed over all competitors and had been awarded the exclusive right to sell Pabst beer at all points within the jurisdiction of the World's fair. This award was made in the face of the strongest competition and only after the most thorough investigation and analysis had demonstrated that the Pabst beer was incomparably superior to all others in every essential for a harmless and healthful beverage. The investigation showed it to be the purest of all, absolutely free from all drugs and adulterations, and the visitor at the World's fair may know that wherever he gets a glass of beer while there he is receiving the best there is in the world. The Pabst beer has received prizes and awards over all competitors hundreds of times, and it has been the general favorite for years in all climes, and this latest endorsement is only a natural result. The award gives a great deal of satisfaction to Mr. Geise, who has the sole control here, and it will make the Pabst beer more than ever popular in Council Bluffs.

The years that it has been taking form in her mind have not been passed in idle contemplation of the sub-ject, but in a constant gathering of materials, and she brings to her work now, at the best period of her life as an artist, a bountiful supply of rich material. The canvas is the largest she has ever used, 4x7 feet. The subject might be called a western pastoral. an ideal landscape, wrought from innumerable sketches of the beautiful nills and vaileys around Council Bluffs. In the foreground is a spring where the overflowing water has formed a pond. In the distance are blue lines of hills with patches of water in the intervening valley. A sunset glow suffuses the whole picture, the softened radi-ance coming from almost a Corean sky. Life is given by perfect portraits of a number of cows lazily coming over a little hill down to the spring to quench their thirst after the day's pasturing upon the rich verdure. These cows are not ideal fancy stock but the crumply-horned, humble, mildeyed bossies that all are familiar with getting her material Mrs. Gorham sketched and photographed hundreds of cows. She expects to have the picture finshed by May I, when it will be sent to the World's fair, where space has been allotted to it. Only a very few of her friends have been permitted to see the work up to the present time, and they, and the public generally, will await its completion with increasing interest. UNDERWEAR DAY

Prof. Reynolds drew an audience that com pletely filled the Farnam Street theater last evening and in his entertainment introduced several new experiments, which were entirely successful. Some trouble was found in securing new subjects and the mesmerist was forced to call to his aid sev-eral of his former subjects. This he did in a manner pretty thoroughly attesting his powers. Four young men, who had formerly been operated upon, were drawn from the midst of the audience. Four new subjects were found susceptible, and the en-tire eight were used. It was perhaps the most successful exhibition of the kind ever given in Omaha, and was immensely enjoyed the large audience.

Asked what he thought of the appoint ment of Judge Gresham to the secretaryship of the State department, he said: "Judge Gresham is an able man and will, no doubt, fill creditably any position to which he may be called, and if he is wanted at headquar ters by the incoming administration I cannot see what we republicans have to do with it. I am assuming that Judge Gresham is a democrat, as he assisted the democratic very materially during the recent political campaign.

When asked what he thought would be the fate of the McKinley tariff law under Cleveland's administration, he said: the case; he was willing to fight Jackson or any other pugliist at the close of his theatri-"That depends upon what construction the democrats put upon the last election. Mr. Sheerin is an Indiana man. In speaking about Judge Gresham today as a prospective secretary of state, Mr. Sheerin said. "We were enabled to secure the landslide, such as it was, mainly because of the cooperation of such men as Judge Gresham and his followers, and in order to feel assured of success, the next time we need six nor later than ten months from the date of this challenge.

My manager, Charles Davies, has enclosed you his certified check for $2,500 in evidence of my good faith in issuing this challenge; the bilance, $7,500 a side, to be deposited with a final stakeholder when mutually agreed upon.

The date of this challenge is from February 10, 1893. Should Corbett fail to cover this amount within the specified time you will kindly return the same to Davies, the said $2,500 to be held by you for thirty days from date of this challenge, February 10, 1893.

Hall, he says, leaves Cascade mountains in Washington, is a wonderful piece of engineering. When Jim Hill, the president of the Great Northern, decided to push his his cottage at 6 o'clock every morning and takes a gentle spin of several miles. Then he walks rapidly to his training quarters, road from Spekane to Puget Sound he had comparatively a fair field at all points save one. At that point he was about half a mile from the cottage, and begins the hard work at 7 o'clock, and after using the dumb bells and Indian clubs, he stands up to his full height and has Kline confronted by a solid mass of granite which blocked his line for about three miles. It was determined to tunnel the pound him in the stomach until exhaustion compels him to desist. Then he adjusts a heavy strap about his forchead and lifts mountain, but as the excavation would be nearly three miles in length and take three years to complete it was decided two dumb bells, each weighing forty pounds, up and down several times. He takes a hearty dinner at 12 o'clock, and in the afterto build a temporary road over the mountain in order to open through connoon goes skating and punches the bag. The temporary road crosses the crest of the range through Stevens pass at an elevation of 4,068 feet, and the different altitudes are reached by a system of nine switchbacks. The road at one place eturns three times to within 500 feet of its former line, only a little higher up the mountain side, but it thus covers a distance of four miles in curves. starts from Tunnel City on the east side of the mountain and runs to Stevens City on the west side. Both of these places are the points which the tunnel will connect when it is finished, and they are two miles and three-quarters apart: yet to reach them over the switchback a distance of fifteen miles must be traversed. There are five switches on the west-ern side of the pass and four on the eastern side, while the heaviest grade is 211 feet to the mile. The survey was begun last July, and when completed a force of 700 men were put to work and the road rapidly pushed forward. The tracks were connected January 14, at which time the first train went over the road. Two freight trains a week are now being ran over it, but it will not be opened for passenger traffic until March or April.

St. Louis Republic: "For every mile of railway track built in Panama there have been a hundred lives sacrificed. said Thomas S. McCarthy of San Jose, "When the road was being constructed, I was a contractor in that country and did work for the railway company. In my camp there were about 300 Swedes who had recently been sent direct to the railroad works. A Swede is a light-haired person, and a blonde, you know, is more liable to be-come poisoned with malaria than a brunette. Out of that number of Swedes there was not a single man who escaped. Six weeks after they began to work every one of them was dead and buried. There were five Chinamen employed on the works, and strange to say not one of them was attacked. They enjoyed excellent health, even more so than the native negroes. How it was that they escaped I never knew, but one of the Mongolians told me one day that the reason was because they smoked eigar-

PEOPLE WHO ARE KNOWN

A Distinguishing Feature of the Testimony That Has Been Printed.

"I read the testimony of Singing Evangelish McClusky. I had known him by reputation for many years. Then I went to see him. He told me that the interview did not begin to describe the seriousness of his condition nor the thoroughness of his relief. Of course, I sould not dou't the testimony of su ha man, so I came to you, though I never before placed any faith in advertising." This is a sample of the remarks made in the offices of Irs. Copeland and Shepard. "Why," said a lady, I have been engaged in business in Omnaha for years. I know intimately many of the badies you have treated. When they told me that you have treated. When they told me that you had cared not only themselves but over a dezen of their friends, after everybody elso had failed. I knew it was true. I was convinced in spire of myssif, and now I want you to care no." I listened to the preaching of Rey. Mr. Crane for years," said another. "When men like him give their testimonials, I know it is for a good purpose; that's why I am here." Everybody in our place knows. Contractor Dresser," said a fellowood, lows, man, "Everybody knows that he was stone deaf and that you restored his hearing. I have seen him and taked with him about it, and now I know you can cure me, for I am not half so de f as he was." It is such testimony as this that marks the superiority of the Copeland and Shep rd work, testimony from men and women, known, well known, who could have no other object than to let therablic know where a cure could be obtained for troubles like theirs.

WHEN YOUR HEART FLUTTERS

You Are Suffering From Nothing More Serious Than Indigestion.

There are few things in life," said an experienced physician to a writer in the New York Ledger, "to which many men and womenching more persistently than to the idea that there is something the matter with the heart. They have a little palpitation, a little fluttering, or little distress, and straightway they are trightened and imagine that they be vesome form of heart disease, and in minery sine cases out of a bundred they simp y have some form of indigestion."

This is a solemn fact. The cause of indigeation in the majority of cases is catarrh of the stomach. Peop e will persist in disterieving this statement, but it is true. And it is entirely true that out of 1,000 persons who thus, they have an organic disease of the heart 250 have merely a gastric difficulty. Read the experience of drs. BOTH CLASS PRESIDENTS. Dr. W. H. Copetand was president of his class at Bellevus Hospital Medical College, New York, where he graduated, the most famous institution of its kind in the country.

Dr. Shepard's credentials are no less abundant and unqualified. He was the president of his class at Rush Medical College, Chicago, the most noted medical school in the west. Also member of the lowa State Medical Society and of various other medical and surgical organizations.

Both gentlemen, after thorough hospital experience and practice, have devoted their lives to the practice of their specialties, with what success the columns of the daily papers show.

"It kept me hawking to clear my throat, which was always full of mucus which I could not raise and which would slip down lute my stomach. This seemed very disgusting to mo, besides it rained my digesticn and seemed to clog me all up. All through my head there was a dult pain and weight which made me stupid daytimes and kept me from resting at night. I lacked ambition to do anything. Hawking, spitting and smuffing for 15 years nearly wore me out. I tried everything I could hear of for a cure, but got discouraged and gave up—thinking I never would get relief. After a careful inquiry about the work of Drs. Copeland and Shepard I placed eigstelf it their hamis. The personal interest and extention shown me by Dr. Shepard in his treatment of my case have had remarkable results. I am perfectly waisfied, for it has really done wonders forme. The mose and throat trouble is entirely removed, My stomach is free from the dripping of polsonous mucus from the throat. A Word to Mail Patients.

Those who take mail treatment are entitled to the low rates for all diseases, as well as those who apply at the office personally. Drs. Copeland and Shep ard have so perfected their system of mail or home treatment that they succeed quite as well in this way as they do in their office practice. All who resides at a distance from the city, and cannot conveniently call at the office, should write for symptom blank. Questions about all chronic troubles cheerfully answered.
