

BETTS MUST STAND TRIAL

Supreme Court Denies the Indicted Boodier's Application for Habeas Corpus.

ONE LOOPHOLE FOR THE GANG CLOSED

Others Who Worked the Asylum Hoped to Escape When Betts Was Set Free—Opinion of the Court is Dead Against Them.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 14.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The supreme court this evening at 5:30 handed down an adverse opinion in the case in which Gorham Betts, one of the indicted hoodlums, applied for release upon a writ of habeas corpus.

The grand jury which indicted Betts was summoned by Judge Hall in open court on October 35. The term of court at which the jury was summoned was on September 10.

At a week or so after his arrest Betts, through his attorney, W. B. Price, applied to the supreme court for his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

The opinion was written by Justice Norval, the chief justice, and Judge Post concurring. The syllabus of the opinion is as follows:

Defects or irregularities in a judgment or proceedings of a court in a criminal case, under and by virtue of which a person is imprisoned, do not constitute grounds for setting aside the judgment, unless the error is such as to render the proceedings void, cannot be remedied on an application for a writ of habeas corpus, and the error is such as to render the judgment void.

Defects or irregularities in the calling, drawing or summoning of grand jurors cannot be considered upon habeas corpus.

Court set pursuant to argument, D. A. Scoville, of Hamilton county, was admitted to practice. Dorsey vs. Nichols, leave given defendants to file additional transcript and answer to briefs.

DEATH THINNING THE RANKS

"The Muffled Drum's Sad Roll Has Beat the Soldier's Last Tattoo."

DOUBLEDAY AND CARROLL CALLED HENCE

Brief Sketch of Lives Devoted to the Union Cause—Story of a Southern Woman's Bride—End of a Fight on the Potomac.

The remains of General Abner Doubleday, whose death occurred on the 24th ult., were properly laid at rest amid the host of immortals buried in Arlington cemetery.

General Doubleday was one of the historic characters of the war. He was born at Ballston Spa, N. Y., June 26, 1819, his father being Ulysses F. Doubleday, who was a congressman in 1832.

His grandfather fought at the battles of Bunker Hill and Stony Point, and was for some time confined in the famous Jersey prison ship.

General Doubleday entered the military academy at West Point and was graduated in 1842, in the same class with Longstreet, John Newton, Rosecrans, Pope and Hardee.

He was assigned to the First artillery, in 1847 he was transferred to the First artillery and served throughout the Mexican war, being engaged in the battle of Monterey and in the operations connected with the battle of Buena Vista.

In 1852 he was assigned to the same battery, March 3, and was engaged in the hostilities with the Florida Indians in 1856-58. He was second in command at Fort Sumter at the time of its first bombardment, and sighted and fired the first gun in his division.

General Doubleday was appointed major of the Seventeenth infantry, and with General Patterson in the Shenandoah valley; and then served in defense of Washington, commanding forts and batteries on the Potomac.
