Meager Base Ball News-The Byker's Gossip-Lacrosse Notes and the Usual Questions

Answered.

der the auspices of the New Orleans Olympic club, I see will open upone weekfromnext Wednesday night with the welterweight fight between Tommy Ryan of Chicago and George Dawson of Australia, which will doubtless prove one of the most interest-

That another very large attendance will be on hand to witness the sport is now a foregone conclusion, as the interest manifest all over the country in the Olympic's events, as well as the new Crescent City club's great attraction, the $40,000 fight between Jim Hall and Bob Fitzsimmons is but precious little milder than that evinced over the original earnival last fall. Much of this is doubtedly due to the excellent business capacity of the officers of the two clubs. The fact that they know a little better how to work up these affairs than any other set of men in the country will admit of no dispute. Then, aside from this, the united programs of the two clubs are of such extraordinary merit that general and widespread attention has been commanded in spite of every other

ing combats ever witnessed in this famous

Boston, New York and Brooklyn, Philadelphia and Baltimore will again have trains specially chartered for the accommodation of those cities who are desirous of witnessing the sport, and while the attendance from these towns may be numerically weaker than that which graced September's jubilee will be fully up to the standard in the enthusiasm and prominence of the parties who make it up. In the middle section, Pitts-burg, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago, Cincin-nati, Louisville and St. Louis, will be largely represented, while in the west Omalia, Min-neapolis, St. Paul, Kansas City, Denver and 'Frisco will even send greater crowds than ever. The advance sale of seats for the Olympic's first night is even now Olympic's first night is even now greater than that shown for the McAuliffe-Meyer fight this far in advance, and that the club is bound to pull out with a nice balance is now a guaranteed fact.

The Olympic's program opens Wednesday The Clympic's program opens Wednesday evening, March I, as noted above, with Tommy Ryan and George Dawson, for a $6,000 purse, with the following scale of prices: General admission, $3; reserved seat, $5; box, $7. March 2 McMillan and lines fight at welterweights for $1,000, and Ernest Roeber, the German Hercules, and Evan Lewis, the Strangler, meet at wrest-ling, mixed styles, for $2,500, for the championahlp of the world; general admission, $2 March 3, the Olympic's punching saturnalia reaches the wind-up in the heavyweight battle between s Joe Goddard, the huge rusher from the land of the mongoose and kangaroo, and Denver Ed Smith. They will battle for the princely sum of $10,000 and a siff bet of $5,000; general admission, $5; reserved seat, $7; box, $10.

That this is an attractive card any on will freely acknowledge. In every detail it far outclasses last September's card with its trhumvirate—to abuse a good word—of cinches. The McAuliffe-Meyer fight was the best of the former program, but it can spoken of in the same day with the between Ryan and Dawson; the Skelly-Dixon collision was a pudding stuffed with raisies, while the climax, Sullivan and Corbett, was akin to an oyster stew at a church fair. The Roeber-Lewis wrestling match will be worth a dozen such fights as Skelly and Dixon might put up, and I'll stake my reputation more fighting is seen in the first round of the Goddard-Smith battle than was seen in all the twenty-one rounds

Winners, why Ryan, Hines, Lewis and Goddard, is the way I would size it up preju-dicially, but between you and I and the gate post, that man Dawson is liable to treat Ryan most ungraciously, and as for McMil lan and Hines, I know nothing about either, excepting that Ryan punched McMillan out couple of rounds a year ago over near the Windy City.

After this quartet of turns all eyes will be directed toward the new Crescent City club who will restart the ball in motion the Tol lowing Tuesday night with a fight between lowing Tuesday night with a fight between those clever lightweights, Austin Gibbons and Mike Daly. They will argue for the butt end of $3,500, and Danny's brother will be there or thereabouts when the division is made. He is probably the only man, save Jem Carney, who ever got the best, without winning the fight, however, of Jack McAuliffe in a born file contest. They do say that liffe in a bona fide contest. They do say that that fight really belonged to Mike. But let that go. Gibbons is a likely scrapper himself, but the artistic way in which Jack McAuliffe threshed him, or would have threshed him had the fun been allowed to proceed, I don't think he will be much more than in it with the sturdy, stocky, stubborn Mr. Daly. Admission $3, $5 and $7.

Then comes-on the next night, March 8 great $40,000 controversy between Jim il and Bob Fitzsimmons. This is surely the attraction that must rank only second to Sullivan and Corbett, in the annals of the sporting world. It is the largest pot of noney ever subscribed for any sort of a sporting event, and no two fighters were ever talked much more about than Hall and Fitzsimmons. The question of the superi-ority of one or the other is what the sporting universe wants to see decided, and a verit able crush will be on hand in the Crescent's mammoth arena on the night of March 8 Hall has the best wishes of a large pre-ponderance of the public, but Fitzsimmons will be the favorite. Still that will not win for either. That this is a fight open to any for either. That this is a fight open to any amount of guessing all intelligent connoisseurs of fighting flesh, all sporting writers and all sporting authorities, agree. So I shall let it go at that, with the hope that the best man wins, and that the best man, when the clouds roll by, will be found in Jim Hall's shoes. It will cost you just a ten-dollar William to get in the door to see these two megatheriums clash. $5 more for a reserve seat, and $150 for a box for a half dozen of you, and it is cheap at that.

aces against horses at Ybor City, a flourishon the outskirts of Tampa, Fla. Nearly the entire population are either Cubans or native Spaniards and the manners, customs and language of the place are all alike foreign. The Ybor City folks took a great interest in the stalwart wheelman and the ladies were particularly enthusiastic over him. The day before the race he received a magnificent bouquet at his hotel and an invi-tation in a queerly spelled very Spanish cooking note to take a carriage ride and visit the points of interest of the town. The note was signed "J. Gonzolas," and never doubtng but that J stood for Juan. Jules or maybe lim, Mr. Prince replied that he would be happy to accept.

At the appointed hour up drove a magnificent open barouche and in it was seated a dark eyed, raven tressed and altogether listracting Spanish fairy with a lace mantilla over her head and an armful of flowers in her lap. She sweetly explained to the dumb-founded athlete that she was the Senorita Julie Gonzolas, who had had the honor of dropping him a line that morning. To make the situation more critical Mr. Prince was well aware that the eagle eye of Mrs. Prince, who is his constant travelirg companion, was glued upon him from behind an upper window blind. He accordingly controlled his eager desire to inspect the sights of Ybor City and told the lady that he was very sorry but that he had a prior engagement, mo-mentarily overlooked. The beauty pouted and replied in a flood of Spanish, of which Prince understood not a syllable. He started o explain again and she responded in more Spanish. Mr. Prince had picked up just one spanish. Mr. Frince had placed up just one word of the language and that was 'si," meaning 'yes." He thought it would have a soothing effect, so he repeated it a number of times, and to his great relief the dark eyed Venus smiled radiantly and drove away. Next day after the race he was horror struck to see her swoop down upon him. He tried to expostulate and she drew herself up proudly. "I ask you yesterday," she said in tragic and broken English, "if you go today when ze race done and you say yes. yes. Don' you deny, sare! You know you say

Mr. Prince broke away with difficulty and went home to dream of stilettos. All week long she haunted him. He was afraid to leave his room, for she had a habit of pop-ping out of dark corners and unexpected places and alternately unbraiding and be seeching him. Moreover, Mrs. Prince be-came very curious to know the exact facts. Between the two the champion was in hot At last the engagement was water. At last the engagement was over and Mr. Prince hurried to the depot with his wife and luggage. The first person he laid his eyes on was his fair pursuer pacing the platform. By a stroke of pure good luck he managed to slip into the smoking car unob-served, and didn't breathe easy until there was at least 100 miles between him and the charmer - Savannah, Ga., Looking Glass.

The Omaha Lacrosse club is commencing to stir and the members are getting out their sticks, wiping the blood off them and fixing the gut, preparatory to beginning practice All the members are anxious to get out and commence work for the coming season, and the indications are that this year lacrosse will in a measure take the place of base ball as an amusement for the public. The Omaha team will be a very strong one and a large membership is expected.

The strongest additions to the team will be the colored player who was the backbone of the Kearneys last year and who is considered one of the finest players in America. Then they will have a genume full-blooded Indian professional, said to be the best all around player in the world and a whole team in himself. Mr. William Green, an old-time player of the Brants of Paris, and Mr. H. Tudor, who kept the flags for Staten Island team, will strengthen the Omahas a great deal.

The annual meeting will not be held before April, but the members will be in the field long before that time, and indeed last Sunday acrosse sticks were seen at practice in several parts of the city, so enthusiastic and eager to play are the members. The club promises to put up most exciting games throughout the summer, and the citizens can throughout the summer, and the citizens can rely upon lots of fun and excitement. Lincoln will be the first team to play here, and Chicago and St. Paul will follow closely after. fair, and of bringing the great Indian game into popular favor in this state. Clubs are being organized in several of the state cities. What They Propose

OMAHA, Feb. 15 .- To the Sporting Editor of THE BEE: As there is no prospect of a Western league this season I would like to propose a good circuit which I think would meet all requirements, both from a sporting and a financial standpoint: Prattsmouth. Fremont, Blair, Nonpareil, Fort Omaha and one more team, which I have not yet named. but which will be composed of the remainder of the old Crane company team and some few good state league players who have signified their willingness to play with the team which I will organize.

By making this league co-operative in every respect, and playing home talent as much as possible. I think it will cause a very friend y rivalry, which has not been noticed in the state for a few years past. The Omaha teams have all signified their willingness to be a part of such a league, and if it meets with the approval of the above men-tioned teams it would be advisable to correspond at once, as it will take considerable time to complete all arrangements. Teams that take notice of this will oblige by giving their opinion and addressing all communications to any one of the following parties: John Carrigan, care Crane com-pany or 1807 Miami street; Dave Shanahan, southwest corner Sixteenth and Vinton streets; Lieutenant Wright, Fort Omaha. JOHN CARRIGAN.

It Would Be a Failure.

There is some little talk of organizing an eastern Nebraska semi-professional base ball league for the season of 1893, but that is all it will amount to, and no sensible business man at this stage of the game will be found foolhardy enough to encourage such an enterprise. What Omaha, Plattsmouth, Nebraska City, Fremont and other live Ne braska cities most want just now is a health ful rest from professional base ball, and until they have had this it will be love's labor lost to endeavor to re-establish the sport. Of course. The Bee would support any such project that gave promise of success, but as this does not, nor cannot, it is better to state the facts coldly and unqualifiedly.

He killed seven deer in two hours and could have made it twentyfive if he had wanted to. The deer are very thick about Dot Zero in the early winter, when they come down from the mountains m droves, and are very tame. Small game, Mr. Field says, with the exception of grouse, is very scarce. Before leaving he invited the writer to come out next winter and catch a bear. Guess I'll go.

muary Senor Sarasate, the noted violinist, is the possessor of many watches, no less than thirty-two of which have been given him at different times. Some of them are ex-tremely valuable, and several are appro-printely violin-shaped.

Dr. Jenkins, health officer of the port of New York, is a man of light build, about 5 feet 7½ inches in height. He wears a set of auburn side whiskers, without which he would look like a boy of 19. He is a bold lighter and accounts for it by the fact that he came from Mississippi. The Denison (Tex.) Herald chronicles the arrival in that city of Isa-To-Ba, one of the most picturesque characters in the Chicka-saw nation. His long silky hair, massive head and generally imposing appearance at-tract attention wherever he goes. He has been justice of the Chickesaw supreme court and national auditor. He is a full-blooded Indian, but is known to the whites as Josiah Brown. The chance that General John Corse, who "held the fort" at Altoona and after a ter-rible battle declared that he "could whip all h—l yet." may again be appointed to office recalls this incident: When he was made postmaster at Boston the newspapers were full of stories of his valor, and scores of clippings were sent to him at his home in Winchester. Repetitions of the phrase just quoted were abundant. At length one day his wife, half in jest and half in a feeling of annoyance, said to the general: "There is ### ne consolation at least, and that is that you have got through licking all h-l and will occupy yourself for some time to come in icking postage stamps."
