OPPOSITION TO ANNEXATION

Indications That the Hawaiian Matter Will Be Referred to Cleveland.

NUMEROUS OPPONENTS OF THE TREATY

They Threaten to Block Important Legislation if the Subject is Not Lett to the Next Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22.-[Special Telegram to Tun Bun |- Every day opposition to the Hawaiian annexation treaty appears to grow stronger. It is understood that in addition to the three republican senators who have previously announced their opposition to annexation Senator Allison of Iowa has expressed his antagonism to the rat Acation of the treaty. Being chairman of the appropriations committee, Senator Allison can do more to defeat the treaty than any other senator on the floor, since he can at any time bring up an appropriation bill which from its nature always has the right of way. By judiciously consuming time with these bills the friends of the treaty can be prevented from any opportunity of considering the proposition before March 4.

It is charged by some of the more impatient friends of annexation that the remark able delay in disposing of the sundry civil appropriation bill in the senate was mainly caused by the opposition to the treaty and that this is but a sample of the dilatory tactics to be pursued by the anti-annexationists. As there remain only nine legislative days of this congress and almost as many appropriation bills are yet to be disposed of in the senate, it can be seen that the only hope of ratification during the present seson is in rushing through the appropriation

Many Important Measures.

In addition to the appropriations there are important bills, like the Nicaragua canal incasure, whose champions will be as earnest nexationists. Commissioner Thurston, how-ever, states that he is convinced that the treaty will be ratified before the end of the session. Should the treaty not be ratified before March 4, it will come up before the extra session of the senate, which will be summoned to confirm the members of the new cabinet and such other nominations as Mr. Glevennd may see fit to make. It is difficult to forctell its fate under the new administration. Mr. Cleveland, so long as he thought the matter would be disposed of during the present administration, was quoted as favoring annexation, but now that the treaty threatens to come to him, along with some other important legacies of this administration, he has become more wary, ad is now expressing no opinion on the sub-

East week the Hawaiian commissioners visited New York. It is now said they called to see Mr. Cleveland and asked for a conference, but that the new chief executive re fused to talk upon the subject of the treaty or say whether he would favor or oppose its ratification should it go over to his adminis-tration. From this it is thought the commissioners really believe the treaty will not be ratified before March 4 and that Mr. Cleveland may not encourage its ratification when he comes into power.

TREASURY INVESTIGATION.

It Will Be Allowed to Lapse Into Obccurity -Washington Notes.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The investigatism into the condition of the treasury, authorized to be undertaken by the ways and means committee of the house, has been allowed to lapse into obscurity for the reason that it was thought that agitation of the financial questions could not aid to settle business affairs. Chairman Springer will prepare a formal report stating what the committee has done and laying the facts it has obtained before the house.

It is the intention of Mr. Holman to call up the sundry civil bill, as passed by the senate, tomorrow. The silver men of the house have insisted that the measure must be con-sidered in the committee of the whole before going to conference, so as to give them a chance to discuss the Sherman amendment to the bill providing for the issue of bonds. The amendment will be fully discussed and a vote probably taken on it, the action of the house thus binding the conferces regarding the matter.

The celebration of Washington's birthday in the capital was greatly curtailed by the severity of the weather. The Veteran Fire-men and the Oldest Inhabitants associations and other organizations turned out, notwith-standing, headed by the band of the Third United States artillery, and marched down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol and back. In Washington's town, the neighboring city of Alexandria, the celebration was ntirely confined to the public schools. Congressman McCreary of Kentucky, who yesterday fell on the ice and broke his arm, is all right today. Only one of the small bones was fractured and he is able to be up

The senate in executive session today onsidered the Hawaiian treaty and Mr. Morgan made a strong plea for the annexa-tion of the islands. Senator Mills of Texas is opposed to the present ratification of the treaty. He insists that a question of such importance ought not to be discussed behind the closed doors of the sonate, but should be freely and fully discussed by the press and

Important Business Remaining Unfinished

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22.-Counting the 4th of March as a full day, there remains only nine days before the expiration of this congress, and the amount of work before the two houses to be accomplished within that short time is not at all cheering to those legislators who see the hours slipping by and so little being done. Up to the present time there is but one of the thirteen present time there is but one of the thirteen regular appropriation bills—fortifications—that has passed both houses, and that is not yet a law, for it has not yet received the signature of the president. The house appears to be in better shape than the senate, despite the reputation of the latter body for expeditious work, but a halt will probably be reached in the house when the sundry civil bill arrives there, especially if the Sherman bond issue amendment, which was engrafted on that bill, precipitates a silver debate and the hill, precipitates a silver debate and the members of the house see fit, as they prob-ably will, to renew the World's fair discus-The appropriation bills, in some ces, have been so changed in the senate that there can hardly be any doubt that when they retern to the house they will be subjected to a close scrutiny, and more or

The perfunctory disagreement and ap-cintment of conferces will not, it is said, be the rule in the case of some of these bills. The debate that the sundry civil bill is about to mangurate in the house, and the numerous conference reports that remain to be acted upon, creates a gloomy outlook for the members of the appropriation committees of the two houses, to say nothing of other important matters of legislation which the committees are urging for consideration. The indications are that some of the important appropriation bills will not be signed until congress is in the throes attending its

In the Interest of the Deposed Queen.

The elaborate way in which the sundry civil bill was debated in the senate has attracted the attention of the friends of the Hawaiian treaty, who fear that there is a plan to consume all the remaining time and

Secretary of State Foster sent today to the chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations for the information of the senate the statement which Mr. Paul Neuman left at the department yesterday and accom-panied it with a report of the interview held with the secretary.

From the latter it appears that the object of Mr. Neuman's visit to Washington is to secure the restoration of Queen Liliuokalani to the throne under an American pro-tectorate. He does not advise her restora tion under any other circumstances. If the congress of the United States shall not deem a protectorate feasible he would then favor annexation with a liberal allowance for the queen and the Princess Kalulani, but he strongly objects to the continuance of the present provisional government in power,

"WHO IS BORACE KINNEY?"

His Exploits in Washington Have Created a Mild Sensation. Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The exploits of Mr. Kinney in the direction of a silver compromise continue to attract attention, as will be seen from the following story published in an evening paper:

"Who is Horace Kinney?" That is the question that every democratic congressman has been asking about the capitol for a month. Mr. Kinney figured in all the newspapers vesterday as having invited a number of congressmen to Mr. Carlisle's house on Sunday to discuss the silver question.

Since then the question, "Who is Kinney!"

is asked more than ever.

AMERICAN BIMETALLIC LEAGUE.

Its First Annual Convention Now in Session at Washington.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The first annual convention of the American Bimetallic league was called to order today by its president, A. J. Warner. About fifty delegates from the western states were present, among them General Weaver, the candidate for the presidency on the people's party, accompanied by Mary Mrs. Lease.

General Weaver stated the aim of the league to be the securing of legislation for the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This question, he said, was the most important one before the American people, or before the civilized world. It overshadowed the tariff question, which, in his opinion, was but a result of the restricted comage of silver, and it was really at the bottom of the Irish question. It was also at the bottom of the labor question and was responsible for the condition of the laboring men. He urged the league to fight not only men. He ursed the league to light not only against the repoal of the Sherman act, but to labor until silver was put on a parity with gold. The two political parties during the campaign denied that the silver question was an issue, but as soon as the election was over it was the only issue that the president-elect had given serious consideration to elect had given serious consideration to.

Princess Kaiulani Will Personally Plead with United States Authorities.

LONDON, Feb. 22.-Princess Kaiulani, heir to the throne of Hawaii, sailed for America today accompanied by her guardian, Theophilus Davies. In an interview with a correspondent before her departure, she said she had no definite plans and would be guided by the advice of her guardian. She proposed to go to New York until after the inauguration of Cleveland and then go to Washington and probably make a personal appeal to the new president. She expressed the hope that she might gain the sympathy of the American people. She could not see why she should be summarily deprived of her rights through no fault of her own and without being even notified to appear in defense of them. She knew nothing of the affair except what she read in the news-papers. She declined to express her opinion the Harrison message ading annexation, or would accept a me mending annoxation, or wheter she would accept a monetary consideration in case it was done. She evidently considers her case hopeless. She declared hereself entirely opposed to the policy of the queen which led to her overthrow. She did not want a protectorate for Hawaii, but independence. She favored the idea of her guardian that a regency be appointed for three years with President Dole of the provisional government as president, she to be crowned queen at its expiration. It was evident she was guided by her guardian. wheter guided by her guardian.

POSTOFFICE APPROPRIATIONS PASSED

Washington, D. Mr. Hatch had grown tired of the delay to which the anti-options bill is being subected, and when it was moved to take up the postoffice appropriation bill he antagonized the motion with the measure of which he is champion. During the Night's Session.

The deadlock over the car coupler bill continued throughout the night with the usual scenes, humorous and ill-humored, of an all-night session, and without a thing whatever having been accomplished, the house at 6:30 a. m. adjourned. There was a private agreement that Mr. Wise should be recognized Monday to move to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

About two dozen members were present at the opening of the house at noon. Mr. Hen-derson of New Jersey moved the house go into committee of the whole for the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill and Mr. Hatch at once antagonized the motion with his anti-options bill.

The pending motion was that made by Mr. Kyle, striking out the clause making an ap repriation for special mail facilities. The notion was lost. George Washington's Farewell Address Read-Appropriation Bills Considered. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 22.-Today's session of the senate was prefaced by the reading of George Washington's farewell address. This appropriate commemoration of the birthday of the Father of his Country was introduced five years ago through a resolution offered by Mr. Hoar, and on that occasion the address was read by Mr. Ingalis, who was then president of the senate pro tem. Today it was read by Senator Manderson of Nebraska, who holds the same office. Mr. Manderson is a good elocutionist and his reading had a crose and respectful attention on the part of senators and visitors in the galleries.

The old electric lighting company is a power in local politics, and as three of the councilmen are candidates for mayor, and five for council, anything which would tend to hurt or shock anything which would tend to hurt or shock the old company is carefully avoided. Is a thing that a man really knows as little about as any one thing that he buys-he very often trusts a hatter-more readily if the hatter trusts him. Sometimes he gets fooled. A great many hats are sold today by the name on the lining-more than by the quality of the hat-men can read the name-but the quality-well, that's guess work. Take Derby hats sold today for five dollars-didn't you get just as good a hat made by that same hatter for five dollars ten years ago? You bet you did. Do you have to pay as much for a suit of clothes or a pair of shoes as you did ten years ago? Not by a democratic majority you don't. Do you have to pay as much for hats? We'll sell you as good a hat in every particular for three dollars as you can buy for four or five dollars anywhere, and you can have any shape, soft or stiff. We'll sell you a derby

We open our new spring hats today. You don't have to buy a hat that you look like a guy into be in line—There are a dozen new shapes besides the old standbys, and you can have all the shapes to choose from here. Our corner show window shows several hundred hats—and the prices are on each hat—its a sort of
