Story of Friends Who Tried to Identify the

HEAD HAD SWOLLEN AND TURNED BLACK

Face of the Corpse Was Unrecognizable-Identified by the Beard and a Hand-Evidence Being Gathered by the Insurance Company.

The special agents of the Fidelity Insurance company, who have been mistagen for detectives in some quarters, are still busy gathering evidence on which to contest the payment of the $10,000 policy on the life of Dr. Sloman. They intimate that an acquaintance of Sloman saw him after the date of his supposed drowning, and they are evidently trying to work up corroborative evidence for the prospective trial, though they claim to have a strong case based on fraudulent misrepresentations.

The question as to whether or not the identification of the remains was sufficient to establish peyond a doubt that the corpse was that of Dr Sloman is still unsettled in the minds of some of the gentlemen who viewed the remains the day following the finding of the body in Lake Manawa.

Dr. Sioman was a member of camp 1,454. Modern Woodmen of America, and he also belonged to the Ancient Order of United Workmen. As soon as the news reached Omaha that the body had been found, several members of these fraternal orders went to Council Bluffs for the purpose of identify-ing the remains.

Looked Like Sloman's Beard.

Speaking of the identification yesterday, Mr. H. H. Morrow, who was at the time of the drowning the head officer of camp 1,454, Modern Woodmen, said: "In company with John S. King of South Omaha, W. E. Cady, who keeps a grocery store on St. Mary's avenue. D. I. Thornton, J. W. Houder, J. E. Van Gilder and several others I went over who keeps a grocery store on St. Mary's avenue. D. I. Thornton, J. W. Houder. J. E. Van Gilder and several others I went over to Council Bluffs on Monday morning after the body of Dr. Sloman had been found and viewed the remains. We were told that the remains were very badly decomposed and it was true so far as the head and face were concerned. The head was awollen to twice its natural size and was as black as a chunk of coal. One eye protruded and the face looked like that of a large negro. But I felt sure that the whiskers were none other than those of Dr. Sloman. I remembered the shape of his chin and its peculiar appearance. I don't think I could have been deceived about the beard. I fully believe that the corpse was 'hat of Dr. Sloman. Mr. King thought that he could identify the remains by the shape and appearance of the right hand. He had seen Dr. Sloman while engaged in writing and had taken special notice of the doctor's right hand. He felt positive that the band of the course was Dr. right hand. He felt positive that the hand of the corpse was Dr. Sloman's hand. From the neck down the remains were not decomposed, but looked quite natural. It was explained to us that the head had floated above the water while the rest of the body remained under the surface, thus retarding the process of de-composition. If there had been any marks or scars on the body it seemed to me that the relatives or any one intimately ac-quainted with the deceased could have iden-tified the corpse with but little difficulty. We were shown the clothing and the jewelry that had been removed from the corpse, but of course that did not count for very much with us, for we did not see those things on the body and in fact we could not have identified them if we had. I think that most of the men who viewed the remains were pretty well satisfied that it was the corpse of Dr. Sloman."

Could Not Identify the Body.

Mr.W. E. Cady was seen yesterday and had the following to say about the identification: 'I don't believe that any human being could have identified the remains that were shown to us as those of Dr. Sloman, so far as the face was concerned. The head and face were swollen to such an extent and were so were swollen to such an extent and were sw black that I could not see any resemblance in the features to the deceased doctor excepting in the shape of the whiskers. A brother of the deceased showed us the rings and the other trinkets that he said were found on the corpse, but that was of very little consequence, so far as we were con-cerned. Some of the relatives even picked up a shoe and claimed that they could identify that as having belonged to Dr. Sloman. That was rather absurd to me and I told That was rather absurd to me and I told them so. Some of our committee were opposed to recommending that the insurance be paid, for we did not feel justified in calling the remains those of the missing doctor. We did not like the idea of paying the insurance on that kind of an identification, but those who were not satisfied did not feel like pushing the inquiry and the insurance he held in the Modern Woodmen order was paid."

Did Not Resemble the Doctor.

Mr. J. E. Van Gilder summed up the situation thus: "I went over to Council Bluffs on Sunday evening alone and took a look at the corpse which they told me was that of Dr. corpse which they told me was that of Dr. Sloman. I immediately said that I did not believe that it was the remains of Dr. Sloman, and I had some discussion upon the point with the undertaker. The face and head of the remains were in a frightful condition, and to me it seemed utterly impossible for any one to recognize in them the features of Dr. Sloman. There was the same cut and color to the beard, to be sure, but aside from that there was not the slightest resemblance to any one I had ever seen. In resemblance to any one I had ever seen. In fact, the face was so fearfully swollen and out of shape and so black that I could see no resemblance to any living human face in it. I asked his brother if the remains would I asked his brother if the remains would be brought to Omaha, and he said they would not. I thought this very strange and urged upon him the advisability of bringing the body to Dr. Sloman's former home, where his friends could see it, but he was not inclined to follow my advice. The whiskers were cut like Dr. Sloman usually wore his, and in color and general appearance both the beard and the hair were very much like the doctor's. The size and proportions of the body closely resembled the physique of the missing man, but I was not sufficiently familiar with his physical proportions or peculiarities to be positive that sufficiently familiar with his physical proportions or peculiarities to be positive that the remains were not those of some other man. I could not go upon the stand and swear that the corpse we saw was that of Dr. Sloman. The probabilities are that it was the body of Dr. Sloman, but I do not know that it was. I think that a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen claimed to have identified the body by some sears that the doctor had, but I am not positive about that. I was in favor of holding the payment of our insurance back a while until the matter could have fuller investigation." fuller investigation.

Dr. Sloman carried $5,000 in the New York Life, $10,000 in the Fidelity Mutual, $2,000 in the Germania, $2,000 in the Workmen and $3,000 in the Modern Woodmen. It is said that he also had $19,000 in an accident insurance company, which would make in all $32,000.

A MATTER OF HEALTH.

St. Louis Authorities Examining the Baking Powders.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

At the request of Health Commissioner Brennan, the city chemist has collected samples of the various baking powders sold in St. Louis and subjected them to analyzis for the purpose of obtaining for the public benefit information as to their composition and character, whether wholesome or other-

Owing to the fact that alum baking powders are produced at a cost of less than 4 cents a pound, while in appearance they are hardly distinguishable from a pure cream of tartar powder costing from eight to ten times as much to manufacture, there have been many of them put upon the market, and great efforts made to substitute them for the pure wholesome cream of tartar conore wholesome cream of tartar con-

Of course, such powders afford wide margins of profits both to the manufacturers and dealers and it is not unusual to find them for this reason recommended and urged upon customers who would not, knowing their true character, use them under any consider-

City Chemist Sullivan's report shows one City Chemist Sullivan's report shows one pure cream of tartar powder only (the Royal); one cream of tartar powder containing free tartaric acid; one phosphate powder containing sulphate of lime, and that all the other brands are made from alum. The samples ranged in strength from 13.47 per cent of leavening (carbonic acid) gas found in the Royal, to 6.08 per cent found in an alum nowder.

alu n powder. The general usefulness of a baking powder depends largely upon the quantity of leaven-ing gas it gives off. A powder containing thirteen per cent of gas will go more than twice as far-that is, one pound of such powder will raise more than twice as much flour as one that evolves but six per cent. The economy thus shown, however, is not the greatest consideration. The low strength the greatest consideration. The low strength powders leave a large residum in the food, which, being of alum in its various forms, renders the food positively unwholesome.

Upon this point, and in describing the character of the baking powder found of highest strength, the city chemist says: "A high leavening power is requisite. Pure ingredients in proper combination quicken and increase the production of carbonic acid gas. In this the Royal excels all others. It is the highest in strength, in fabrique a faultless arrangement of agents, pure and wholesome, free from adulteration with lime, ammonia The result of these tests will be read with interest and will prove of great benefit to housekeepers by enabling them to distinguish the pure from the numerous impure and un-wholesome powders found in the market.

Cheap Rates for the Inauguration.

For the inauguration of Cleveland and Stevenson at Washington on March 4, excursion tickets, reading via Baltimore & Ohio railroad, "The Picturesque Route," will be placed on sale at the ticket offices of principal railroads of the west, as well as the ticket offices of the Baltimore & Ohio company. The fare from Chicago will be $17.50 for the round trip. These tickets will be sold from February 28 to March 3 inclusive, and will be valid for return journey until March 8 inclusive.

The Baltimore & Ohio is the shortest route to Washington from nearly all points west. Its trains are vestibuled from end to end, and carry Pullman sleeping cars.

No railroad in America is better equipped than the Baltimore & Ohio to transport with dispatch, safety and com-fort the large crowds which will visit Washington to witness the inauguration ceremonies. Its long experience in transporting crowds to former inaugurations, Grand Army of the Republic encampments, Knights Templar conclaves and similar gatherings on an extensive scale, will prove most valuable in arranging for the coming inauguration.

HEARTS MADE HAPPY.

Two Victims of Cruel Fate Assured Tender Care. Through the exertion of Police Matron

Cummings and others, two inmates of the county poor house are provided with more congenial quarters. Jimmie Boyer, a 9-yearold boy, has been at the institution for nearly eighteen months, and was confined to his bed by a spinal disease which baffled the skill of the physicians. His patience and fortitude in his affliction won him many friends, and little Jimmie was a well known character among the dwellers at the farm. Wednesday he was removed to the Clarkson hospital, where he will have the best of care and far pleasanter quarters than the poor farm afforded.

Minnie Harpster, a young girl, was taken to the poor farm about three months ago from St. Joseph's hospital. She was a suf-ferer from spasms brought on by a nervous affection resulting from overlifting. She was a very pretty and modest girl and had a father living somewhere in the city who promised to take her out of the poor house in a few weeks and then paid no more attention to her. The cashier at the Board of Trade restaurant and another young lady who had become interested in her case, cir culated a subscription paper and secured enough pledges of small weekly contributions to pay the expense of a cot at the Clarkson hospital. These payments are to continue until the unfortunate girl recovers, and she is already enjoying the benefits of the hospital.
