THE GREAT NAVAL REVIEW.

The next event commemorating the discovery of America that will command the interest of the country is the great proposed naval review in New York harbor in April, which will take place at the appointed time unless congress fails to make an adequate appropriation, and it will hardly do this after the government has invited other nations to participate and they have accepted.

The Navy department has received information of the arrival of the gunboat Bennington and the cruiser Newark at the Canary Islands with the Columbus caravels Nina and Pinta in convoy. The department has also just been notified that the Italian government will send three vessels to take part in the review.

Great Britain will be represented and is expected to send some of her finest war ships. France has a fine navy to draw from and will undoubtedly send over several of her best vessels. Spain will be well represented, as will Germany, Portugal, Japan, Chili, Brazil and the Argentine republic, all of which have accepted the invitation, and it is expected that Russia will be added to the list.

As now intended the United States will have nearly all of its new war vessels in the review, with the New York as the flagship. If the plan as proposed is carried out this will be easily the greatest naval review the world has ever witnessed, and as an exhibition of all the great naval powers of the world it will be by far the most interesting ever held.

It is estimated by Neal Dow, the apostle of prohibition, that there are now 2,000 habitual drunkards in Maine, after forty years of alleged enforcement of prohibitory law.

The excitement in Des Moines over a grave robbery in which several men of more or less prominence were connected is entirely unjustified. Public sentiment does not and should not approve of body snatching, and punishment of the severest kind should be meted out to the ghoul who practice it.

A RECENT magazine contains a thoughtful article designed to discourage young poets. It is a waste of energy to argue with a person addicted to the poetry habit, and, after all, whose affair is it if a young person wishes to make rhymes?

THE action of congress in decreeing that the World's fair shall be closed on Sundays is a severe blow to Chicago and is keenly felt. "How shall we provide for hundreds of thousands of strangers," says a newspaper of that city, "if they are not to be left to the wiles of gamblers and the lures of drinking places?"

was affected directly by them, and his counsel determine the approval or disapproval of the president. The more important acts he would consider as now by the entire cabinet, or the president alone. The only difficulty in the way of such an arrangement would perhaps be an objection on constitutional grounds to the increase of the responsibility of the heads of departments, but as they are the advisers of the president it would seem that this would be quite within their proper function.

Such facts serve to dispel the common impression that the presidential office is something of a sinecure, and that when its occupant takes a vacation it is not because he needs rest, but simply that he desires a change of diversion. The truth is that the president of the United States is one of the hardest worked men in the world and no European ruler is burdened with more cares and anxieties.

IMMIGRANTS ARE WELCOME. It is a significant fact that the tide of immigration to Nebraska has set in much earlier than usual this year and that an uncommonly large number of people in various portions of the east and south are making preparations to settle in this state.

There is now in progress a strong movement of farmers from central Illinois to this state. They are leaving a comparatively old state which has a fertile soil to make homes for themselves in a new country where the land is equally productive, and where farms may be had at prices far below those to which they have been accustomed.

A GERMAN inventor is said to have found a process for the automatic and smokeless consumption of coal, of which great things are expected. There have been a large number of processes invented and patented in all countries during the last thirty or forty years with this end in view, but they have not been successful.

THE TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS. The promoters of the congress of representatives of states west of the Mississippi river, which is to meet in Ogden, Utah, April 24, are pushing the preparations, and the indications are that the congress will be the most largely attended of any yet held.

IT WILL doubtless be found that the brains and good judgment of the majority of railway employes will oppose any organized effort to take advantage of the World's fair traffic as a means of gaining the concessions which they desire, no matter how just their demands may be.

THE POPE AND THE CONFEDERACY. HARTISGTON, Neb., Feb. 21.—To the Editor of THE BEE: In an article in an issue of the Liberty, published some weeks since, a statement is made, in effect, that Pope Pius IX. recognized the southern confederacy.

forward more rapidly, in material development. These gatherings of western men should supply all this needed information. It is expected that the governors of the twenty-two states and territories will be present at the coming congress, and undoubtedly a number of them will attend. Nebraska should be well represented by a strong delegation of practical men.

THE syndicate of eastern capitalists seeking control of the Nova Scotia coal mines are having a rather troublesome time in carrying out their plan. They got a bill favorable to the scheme through the Nova Scotia legislature, but this did not quiet the opposition, which has sent a protest to the governor general of Canada and threatens that if this is not sufficient the matter will be laid before the imperial government.

THE shooting of John W. Mackay, the famous San Francisco millionaire, by a man who wore the snow of life's winter upon his head and had evidently joined the army of eranks, is another illustration of the dangers which attend the possessors of great wealth.

A VERY objectionable feature of the Hawaiian annexation treaty is the provision for paying the deposed queen $20,000 a year during her lifetime and of giving the young princess who would have succeeded her a lump sum of $150,000.

RENDY CHAFF.

There is more than one clause in the Hawaiian treaty stipulated or with the avowal of profound thought and care. The 400 in Noah were not of the elect. The cut the ancient mariner and remained "in the swim."

Philadelphia Record: "That was a case of touch and go," as the man said whose friend borrowed $2000 for one day and sailed forthwith for Europe. Washington Star: "Pacifism as at present conducted must impose a good deal of extra work on the dividend departments of the telegraph and telephone systems."

Troy Press: "It is a good thing for the rest of us that civil engineers can't be members of all-time survey." Chicago News: "First Hotel Chamberlain—Why are you so sorry because the young man in No. 23 is going away? Ain't a man, is it? Second Dito—No much. But it was him as uses such delicious tooth powder."

New Orleans Picayune: "The bad writer who signed himself 'More Aron' is the correspondent to the 'dreaded'." Philadelphia Record: "Only enough, it is the conversation with no point to it that bears the quickest." Galveston News: "There will be race troubles in this country just as long as man beats on the wrong horse."

Boston Transcript: "When a man eloped with Biggs' wife, he exclaimed: 'Well, I can't blame him, poor fellow. I was awfully infatuated with her myself once.'" THE GREATEST MOONLIGHTER. Said the peeler to Pat: "There's ten pounds at a blow, if you know it." "You know it." "Faith, sergeant," says Pat, "As to me, I'm the greatest moonlighter that ever was seen." "That's all right, you say." "And he took up the tin." "Now, sergeant, I don't consider you're done." "The greatest moonlighter I know is the sun."

Cincinnati Commercial. There's a change about to come. Clear the way! I'm out of fashion-dom, So they say. Skirts have been worn close and flat (But they're not worn any more that). Oh, its ermine they're at. Clear the way! Build the street cars good and wide, Even then the men outside Have to stay. And they're making a dreadful fuss, Just because within a bus There is only room for us. Clear the way!

Married men with wives to dress (Hills to pay). Are the pictures of distress— That if certainly will take Just as much again to make (Bring home the proper shape). Clear the way! Ruffles go from him to waist. Clear the way! Just to suit the wearer's taste (For display). Merchants wear a frowny grin (But they're not any more that). When the ermine comes in. Clear the way!

Bees in the bonnet never horn. Peace dies the moment envy shows its head. It is never hard to find people who want to play first fiddle. Their religion that is used for a cloak has no warmth in it. Every time a stingy man looks at a dollar it shrinks his heart. A lie is always an enemy, no matter how well meaning it may look. The man who makes a hobby always wants the whole role for himself. It never hurts the cause of the devil a bit for a stingy man to talk in church. No man can name his children without telling the world something about himself.

Only Camp Followers. Scampy Quill (Ind.). When the Herald man gets knocked out on all sides, he then says that the Quill belongs to a party which has as leaders such men as Vandervoort and Elder. The Herald man should know that they are not leaders in any sense of the word and gain public notoriety by their large amount of gall, which they use on all occasions. No party is clear of such trash and is not to blame for their shortcomings as long as they are relegated to the rear. Because Boss Tweed or Jeff Davis or J. Wilkes Booth were democrats does not make a democratic principle and milliners' bills! Never! Let the goddess keep her robe and her esteemed consort his peace.

More Than Carried Out Her Wishes. Chicago Dispatch. Some time ago the republican papers were ringing the changes on a statement claimed to have been made by Mrs. Lease, advising the farmers of Kansas to raise less corn and more 'n—'. If the lady ever had the statement her advice is being followed to the letter.
