C. N. Dwight was picked up on Lower Broadway yesterday on the supposition that he was insune. He has all the symptoms of insunity, and from the indications his malady has been caused by long continued dread of some danger. He starts up at the least sound, and looks around as if expecting some one to kill or injure him. He will be given an examination by the commissioners of insanity this morning.

A water main bursted at an early hour yesterday morning on Harmony street near the corner of Logan. It overflowed for an hour or so before it was discovered and another hour or so before the water works men could shut it off. When the flow was finally stopped the east end of the city could as if it had been visited by a small section of the old original deluge. No particular damage was done.

Frank Keeler was picked up by Marshal Templeton yesterday afternoon while wandering about the streets apparently in a demented condition. He told an incoherent who had gone back on him, and now he was evidently looking for the girl and the ring. He was investigating the houses along East Pierce street. He was locked up out of the cold and will probably be given an examina-ation by the insane commissioners today. Some time ago a number a number of con-tributors to the work of the Union Christian Complications Growing Out of the Execution of a Chattel Mortgage.

C. M. OBERHOLTZER'S FAILURE RECALLED

Suits for Damages Brought Against the Creditors Who Placed Attachments Upon His Stock of Goods-An Interesting Trial in Prospect.

A damage suit wherein the plaintiff wants $10,000 damages for an affeced malicious attachment is now on trial in the district ourt. It grows out of the failure of C. M. Oberholtzer something over a year ago. Just before the failure Oberholtzer, or rather his brother, H. R. Oberholtzer, who was the real party in interest, executed a chattel mortcage on his cigar stock for the sum of $5,000 n favor of his father, H. H. Oberholtzer, This was immediately the signal for all the creditors of the firm to jump up and very attachments on the stock to satisfy their various claims, alleging fraud in the execution of the chattel mortgage. H. H. Oberholtzer now demands a judgment for $10,000 from C. M. Kinports the attaching crediter, and J. P. Hess, his bondsman, alleging that the attachment was fraud Nent and malicious. The trial will be resumed this morning.

EXPOUNDING THE DOCTRINE.

General James B. Weaver Explains the Belief of the People's Party. General James B Weaver, the populist andidate for the presidency at the last election, addressed a couple of hundred mempers of the party and others last evening at Hughes' hall. There were a number of ladies in the audience, and his effort re-ceived close attention. However little one may agree with him in his beliefs, the ad-mission must be made that Mr. Weaver has about as smooth way of presenting his falla-cious doctrines as any one could wish to see, and even while one is disposed to smile at the agility with which he rides on entirely different platforms, one must admire the racefulness which he manifests in his polit-

He said he had belonged to only two parties, the republican and the peoples. With reference to the greenback and the union labor parties, he did not consider them distinct parties. In fact, he considered his position about the same as that of a man who married a wife whose name was Sarah. He might call her Sallie, or Sadie, or-Aunt Sallie, but the charge of bigamy would never stick.

The power of regulating commerce between the states, which is given to congress by the federal constitution, he thinks extends to the telegraph and the railroads as well as to the postal system, and he thinks congress should take immediate steps toward expressing its rights.

toward exercising its rights. With regard to the result of the vote in the last election, he did not think the figures would bear out the theory that democratic principles were adopted by the majority of the citizens of the country. The republicans and the populists together cast more votes than the democrats, so that it was merely an accidental victory for democracy.

Dropped Dead. Alice E., wife of J. B. Heft, who drives a wagon for James Jacoby, died yesterday morning at 5 o'clock very suddenly. She and her husband had just arisen and were in the act of dressing when, without a word or sound of warning, she fell to the floor. Her husband at first supposed that she had merely fainted, and lifted her onto the bed, but an examination ilited her onto the bed, but an examination showed that life was already extinct. Coroner Seybert was notified and went to the house, 806 Avenue H. He made a full investigation of the affair and pronounced the death caused by heart disease, to which Mrs. Heft had been a victim for years. The deceased was born in Illinois a little less than forty-nine years ago, and was married to her husband in 1865. Since 1872 she has resided with her husband in Council Bluffs. WEATHER CROP BULLETIN.

Facts Concerning Temperature and Precipitation from the Weather Bureau.
Washington, D. C., March 3.—Mark W.
Harrington, chief of the weather bureau, has issued the following concerning Febru ary's weather:

The month of February, 1893, has been colder than usual throughout all sections, except the southern portions of the south Atlantic and east Gulf states and New Mexico. Over the region named there has been a slight excess of temperarue, but over all other agricultural districts the daily mean temperature ranged from 3° to 9° below the normal. The coldest region includes Montana and adjoining states, where the departure from the normal ranged from 60 to It was unusually cold in the central Mississippi valley, where the departure from the normal exceeded 69, while in the Atlantic coast districts and on the Pacific coast, the month, although coider than usual, the mean temperature differed but slightly from the normal.

"Oh, how my head nches!"

Far too often is this exciamation made by some suffering woman. She is weak and nervous, and some excitement, some strain on the nerves, has brought on a racking headache. She has chilly feelngs, a sickness at the stomach, and other painful symptoms, but above all she has this throbbing, this nerve-splitting aching of the head which nothing seems to relieve. Can nothing be done to relieve this terrible agony? "Yes," is the answer given by Dr. Laury McHenry, a celebrated physician who has devoted a lifetime to the study and cure of just such trubles as these.

"Yes, you say, I would gladly try anything to be freed from the suffering 1 endure, but how is it to be done? What shall I take for it? There are so many remedies, how am I to choose the right one? These are reasonable questions; there are so many tonics, nervines, sarsaparillas, and other concoctions claimed to be ready reliefs, but which, in reality, only make matters worse. Physicians will tell you that there is only one safe and reliable cure known to medical cience that really does soothe and nourish the wornout nerves, permanently cures headache of every kind, and strengthens the system. What this great remedy is and what it will do for suffering women is best told in the words of some who have tested it. Here is what a few well known women have to say about its wonderfu! powers:

Helen Ashland Kean, who wrote, "When the Tide Comes In," and many other popular songs, and who resides at Hartford, Conn., says: "One year ago I lay at death's door, a complete mental and physical wreck. I had neither hope nor ambition enough to desire life. My dear little children had ceased to give me joy or cheer. I was moody by day, despondent and sleepless at night. At times I fell into a sort of trance, losing all power over nerve or muscle. My feet and hands were like ice and heart aimost pulseless. In such a state, my nurse and friend administerd something for which I was always profoundly gratesul. The first dose imparted warmth to my body. I began to gain visibly, rapidly and steadily, day by day. I feel now as if I could endure everything without its tiring me, and it is all due to that grand discovery, that wonderful specific for the nerves that conquers all prostration, Paine's celery compound.
