CROWDED GALLERIES AND CORRIDORS

Much Interest Taken in the Proceedings of Both Houses-A Rush of Business Disposed of in the House and Senate.

Washington, D. C., March 8 .- When the house met at 11 o'clock the galleries were crowded with visitors, but the attendance on the floor was not unusually large.

After recess the corridors and galleries were jammed with people. The conference report on the deficiency bill was read to the senate. It showed an agreement-supon all points except the French spoilation claims, the Pacific railroad budgets and the clerks for senators—all these being reserved for further action.

The conference report was agreed to and the senate voted to insist on the amend-ments not settled in conference and to have representatives of foreign governments as might be in this country during the year. Two amendments from which the senate conferees had receiled were those to pay a year's salary to the widows of Chief Justice Waite and Justice Miller of the United States supreme court. There were now in contro-versy only five amendments, and after the senate had agreed to the conference report he would move that the senate insist on these amendments and ask for further con-

The report was then agreed to and Mr. Allison proceeded to make a long statement as to the amendments relating to the Columbian exposition. The first of them appropriated $201,000 for the completion of the government's exhibit at the World's fair. If the fair was to be a success the government was bound to make further appropriations. Mr. Butler inquired as to the amount involved.

Mr. Allison—About $1,000,000.
Mr. Sherman—We gave $3,500,000 at the last session, and now, to hesitate about the expenditure of $1,000,000, would be an act of folly, which I trust this congress will not be

Senator Hoar thea called up the message of the house, announcing that it had passed over the president's veto, the bill providing for the appointment of a district attorney and a marshal for the middle district of Alabama.

Senators Hoar and Pugh stated that the veto was based on a misapprehension of the provisions of the bill. It was passed over the veto—yeas, 58; nays, 1 (Frye); and

Mr. Sayers moved to suspend the rules and nonconcur in senate amendments to the general deficiency appropriation bill. Agreed o, and the bill went to conference. Mr. Holman submitted the disagreeing conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill and the report was agreed to. Mr. Durborow moved that the house recede from its disagreement to the senate amendment providing for the government's exhibit at the World's fair.

Mr. Springer said that since the exposition had been authorized by congress the conditions on which that exposition was to be held had entirely changed. It was then supposed that $15,000,000 was all that would be required. But a national commission was appointed for the purpose of conducting the fair. The fair was tobe held under auspices of the government of United States and would be greatest exposition of the kind ever known, or that would be known for the next 100 years. The people would be proud of it, not as a Chicago fair, not as an Illinois fair, but as a national fair.

Mr. Sayers submitted the conference re-port on the general deficiency bill. The main point of disagreement was the senate amendment for the payment of the French spoliation claims. The conference committee reported a difference on this question, but Mr. O'Neil moved to recede from the agree-

IN THE SENATE.

Many Important Measures Considered and Disposed Of.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—The last legislative day of the Fifty-second congress opened in the senate with crowded galleries and with a pretty full attendance of senators. The first business that came up for action was the conference report on the legislative appropriation bill. The report was read in full without yielding much information as to what it all meant.

Mr. Cullom expressed his surprise and regret at learning (not from the report, but from the senator in charge of the bill) that the senate conferces had "given away" an item inserted by the senate making provision for temporary clerk hire in the office of the Chicago subtreasury, which was absolutely necessary to run the office.

Mr. Dawes, in charge of the bill, said that they had yielded to necessity rather than to Denver's Offer of Aid.

Denver's Offer of Aid.

Mr. Teller, in order to prove the ability and desire of the west to help the government, read a dispatch which had been received from the Clearing House association of Denver, Colo., offering to exchange $1,000,000 in gold coin for $1,000,000 in legal tender notes. He said that he had communicated this dispatch to the secretary of the treasury and received this answer:

"Will receive gold in Denver. Amount of express charges on eurrency will be $150, which Denver parties will have to pay. The gold will be sent through the postoffice at no cost to the government. If I should pay express charges it will be equivalent to paying a premium on gold—a thing I do not like to do.

Charles Foster."

Mr. Teller's response to this (entirely on his own responsibility) was: "I don't think the Denver banks will pay the expense you mention. I can see no reason why they should."

In view of that correspondence Mr. Teller thought that the pretended strait of the Treasury department was entirely unfounded. He was authoritatively informed that several millions of gold could be had in the same way from the extreme west if the Treasury department desired it. If the west did not get all it wanted in appropriation bills, it contributed more to the growth of the country than any other section Conference Reports Acted On. The vote was then taken, and the conference report on the legislative bill was agreed

The house bill to continue the duties of 35 per cent on linen containing 100 threads per square inch (the rate now approved by law), was passed with an amendment making it take effect in 1895, instead of 1894.

The McGarrahan bill was again taken up and Mr. Morrill moved an adjournment, referring the case to the United States court for the southern district of California, instead of the court of private land claims.

Without disposing of the bill the senate took a recess.

The conference report on the sundry civil bill was then presented, showing several points on which the conference had been unable to agree. Mr. Allison, in charge of the bill, explained the report. The senate conferees had receded from the item of $25,000 for the suitable entertainment of special guests invited into the World's fair by the president of the United States. The senate conferees had also receded from the other item of $25,000 for the entertainment by the government of the United States of such distinguished representatives of foreign governments as return first to the white house with Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and take luncheon with them. When this part of the plan is executed the hour for the departure of the special train will be known. A number of friends wish to see them off at the station. He was sorry to leave the superintendency of the charities of the District of Columbia when they were just be. trict of Columbia when they were just be-ginning their usefulness. The citizens of the District and those interested in the different institutions had been of great help to him in the discharge of his duties and he had nothing but pleasant words to say of them. Will cure You, is a true statement of the action of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, when taken for diseases originating in impure blood; but, while this assertion is true of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, as thousands can attest, it cannot be truthfully applied to other preparations, which un rincipled dealers will recommend, and try to impose upon you, as "just as good as Ayer's." Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's only, if you need a blood-purifier and would be benefited permanently. This medicine, for nearly fifty years, has enjoyed a reputation, and made a record for cures, that has never been equaled by other preparations. AYER'S Sarsaparilla eradicates the taint of hereditary scrofula and other blood diseases from the system, and it has, deservedly, the confidence of the people.

Sarsaparilla

"I cannot forbear to express my joy at the relief I have obtained from the use of AYER'S Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with kidney troubles for about six months, suffering greatly with pains in the small of my back. In addition to this, my body was covered with pimply eruptions. The remedies prescribed failed to help me. I then began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and, in a short time, the pains ceased and the pimples disappeared. I advise every young man or woman, in case of sickness resulting from impure blood, no matter how long standing the case may be, to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla."-H. L.
