EDUCATIONAL.

New York and Brooklyn are short on pubic school buildings. The legislature of Wisconsin is considering bill to pension teachers. Harvard did a big business in athletics ast year. The receipts were $58,441.59, but the expenses were also big. Julius Sterling Morton, whom President Cleveland has appointed secretary of agriculture, is a graduate of the University of Michigan, class of 1858. He was private secretary to Lewis Cass before moving to Nebraska.

The faculty at Wesleyan has taken a favorable view of the project of associating the undergraduates with the faculty in matters of college government. No definite plan has yet been adopted, but very satisfactory progiess is being made.

Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears of Boston has added to the $500 prize awarded to her by the New York Water Color society and given it to a teacher in Boston who had not had a vacation in fifteen years to enable her to make a trip to Europe. The chair of oratory in Cornell university has been tendered to Duncan C. Lee, who was graduated at Hamilton college in 1891, and has since then been teaching in the Cascadilla school in Ithaca. Mr. Lee receives the title of assistant professor. William Weightman of Philadelphia has made a conditional offer of $100,000 to the trustees of the Pennsylvania Museum and

School for Industrial Art toward the pur-chase of certain buildings once used as a deaf and dumb institute. The condition is that a like sum be raised by the trustees. Williams college has just received from F. F. Thompson a gift of $5.900 toward an infirmary for the students. In addition to this, $2,000 has been already raised by subscription, and it is expected that the erection of a suitable building will be begun early in the spring on some part of the college land. In a speech made at a banquet of the Har-vard club in Washington last week it was announced that a prominent man had left $2,000,000 in trust for Harvard. All efforts to get the name ended in failure, but last week the announcement is made that Gor-don McKay, the millionaire sewing machine man, is the donor. Russell Sage is about to build a dormitory for the Troy female seminary which will accommodate 100 boarders. Verily the mil lionaires are not without virtues and they are beginning to show that it does not requite the dynamite treatment to make them disburse their wealth for noble purposes. The semi-annual apportionment of the state school fund to the various counties of Minnesota was completed last week by the state superintendent of public instruction. The total amount of money so apportioned was $224,337.69, and the number of pupils of the state entitled to draw school footed up 233,685. Now that the trustees and Miss Mary Gar rett have come to an agreement about the qualifications of students entering the examination lists for admission to the proposed medical school at Johns Hopkins, the work on the building will soon begin. This new branch of the university will be opened next October, although the special building for it will not then be completed. A certain man of influence in edu-cational circles, being slightly rejuvenate, was so bubbling over with joy at the ordered the caterer to prepare a bowl of properly brewed punch. He did so and the hospitable bowl was placed in a position thought of what I could do for my dear Of course all my selfish (?) plans for a easily accessible, and where it was soon empried. At that time another gentleman, well known for his strong opposition to the nigher education had to be laid aside; but I was young and there was time to use of intoxicating beverages, discovered the empty condition of the late flowing bowl, and supposing it to have been previously I first paid up the mortgage which, fortunately, was not a very large one. Then I engaged the best dector I could filled with lemonade, as a part of the enter tainment, ordered it refilled, which was find to treat father. I also engaged a one. Again the bowl was drained by the thirsty pedagogues, and again another un-sophisticated cutertainer ordered it filled, good man to help my father until he should be able to use his arm again. Aland so it happened in the course of the even-ing that some six gallons of punch were drunk by the thirsty and guileless educators. though this used up all my hard won savings it enabled father to keep his business running and by working extra hours I was enabled to begin saving

A TALE OF TWO DIRECTORIES Hastings, Neb., Feb. 23, 1891—[Mr. J. H. Gienn.]—Dear Sir: At a session of the city council, February 18, 1891, the following resolution was presented and read: Whereas, J. H. Gienn has complied a city directory for this city: and Whereas, He has had the printing and binding of the same performed by mechanics in this city; and Whereas, We have carefully examined the same and find in it a full and complete city and county directory; therefore.

Resolved, That we extend to the said J. H. Gienn our thanks for the care and patronage he has given in compiling for this city and county this satisf, ctory work.

A motion to adopt the same carried by unanimous vote. W. W. MILES.
