The republicans contented themselves with removing Mr. Stewart from the appropriations committee. He remains as a representative of the minority in other committees, and is the ranking member of the minority in the committee on irrigation and reclamation of a rid lands. Mr. Teller, as will be seen, gives up his place on the committee on privileges and elections of which mittee on privileges and elections, of which been dispersion member, and goes to the foot of the list on the appropriations committee.

Higgins is substituted for Mr. Teller on the elections committee. The republicans retain all their members of the committee on judiciary by reason of the fact that it has been increased from a total membership of

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

Committee Appointments as Made by the Democrats Agreed On.

Washington, D. C., March 15.-The open session of the senate today was comprised within the space of half an hour. Meeting at noon and disposing of some morning business, an executive session was ordered, and (while in executive session) a recess was taken until 3:30 so as to give time to the republican caucus to complete its party assignments to committee places.

When the senate reassembled Mr. Gorman, acting for the democratic majority, offered a resolution declaring the construc tion of the standing and select committees. and the resolution was agreed to and the senate then adjourned until tomorrow.

A communication was presented from the Interior department in answer to a resolu-tion of last session inquiring as to whether permission for Sunday concerts in the pen sion office had been given. The communica-tion states such permission had been applied for and had been expressly refused, and that the building had not been used on Sundays for such purposes.

Beckwith's Credentials Filed.

The credentials of Mr. Beckwith, appointed as senator-elect from the state of Wyoming, were presented by Mr. Vance and were laid on the table, to be referred to the committee on privileges and elections when

The vice president laid before the senate the resolutions of the Massachusetts legislature favoring the annexation of the Ha-waiian islands. After they were read the suggestion was made by Mr. Sherman that suggestion was made by Mr. Sherman that they should have been presented in execu-tive session. They were laid on the table, and then the senate proceeded to executive business, a list of nominations having been previously received from President Cleve-land. Soon after the doors were closed a recess was taken until 3:30 o'clock in order to afford the republicans an opportunity to complete their committee lists. When the doors were reopened Mr. Gor-man immediately offered a resolution naming the committees of the senate. The resolution was agreed to and the senate then adjourned until tomorrow.

Sunday Opening of the World's Fair. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.-The propo sition embodied in a bill introduced in the Illinois legislature to open the Illinois state exhibit at the World's fair on Sunday, which it is expected, may result in the opening of the entire fair on Sunday, has attracted little attention here so far. An explanation of this apparent remissness may be found in the fact that few of the senators and reprethe fact that lew of the senators and repre-sentatives who have opposed Sunday open-ing are now in the city. But the real friends of the fair here look with disfavor upon this last move, and their views were expressed by Senator Cullom today, when he said that the Springfield bill would not pass, and further, that continued agitation of the Sunday opening proposition would certainly result in disaster to the fair. Safe in Their Political Opinions.

Washington, D. C., March 15.-Secretary Carlisle today made the first enunciation of the policy that will govern his action in the matter of appointments in the lighthouse and life saving service. The announcement was made in connection with the applications for positions in the lighthouse service: The secretary writes:

"In reply I beg to inform you that the positions for which Mr. Green and Mr. Berger apply are not vacant and no cause for the removal of the present incumbents is known.

It has been and is the policy of the depart-ment and of the lighthouse establishment to encourage and insure a high standard among the members of the service during compe-tency and good behavior and by promoting them and transferring them to better sta-tions as rewards for good service. Unless some incompetency or neglect on their part is shown they are not disturbed in their tenure in office.

"No lighthouse keeper will be disturbed by me in his official position merely because of his political opinion."

CLEVELAND'S CALLERS.

Episcopal Bishops Talk with Him About the Chinese Exclusion Act. Washington, D. C., March 15 .- "You are very much in the minority," said Mr. Cleveland this morning when Representative publican senators went into caucus this | Houk of Ohio called with a friend and announced that neither of them were looking for office.

The majority was represented in un diminished force this morning and Mr. Cleveland was very busily occupied until lunch time.

A very dignified delegation was introduced to the president by Bancroft Davis, the recorder of the supreme court. It was composed of four bishops of the Episcopal church, Rt. Revs. Paret of Maryland. Potter of New York, Whitaker of Pennsylvania and Hare of South Dakota. They were shown into the private parlor of the house and the president and Secretary of State Gresham joined them there. The object of their visit was to discuss with Mr. Cleveland the Chinese exclusion law with relation to its bearing on American interests in China.

They said that strict enforcement of the law would be apt to endanger the property and lives of Americans. They told the pres-ident that they came to him, not as representatives of the church, but as citizens and they had no suggestions to make, bu had simply come to confer with him, and Mr. Cleveland said in reply that he had to enforce this as well as the other laws of the country. The bishops admitted this, but suggested that it might be possible to mitigate in some degree the severities of the laws in operation. The president told them he would do all he could, and the interview terminated.

Marshall Ramsdell of the district, who has only recently returned from his trip to Indiana, whither he accompanied President Harrison on his return home, called upon Mr. Cleveland for the purpose of tendering his resignation. The president asked many questions about Mr. Harrison's homeward trip, and spoke in warm terms of the many courtesies which had been extended toward himself by his predecessor. He also congratulated Mr. Harrison upon the choice which he had made in the form of recreation, and said that he believed duck shooting to be one of the most enjoyable of sports. ing to be one of the most enjoyable of sports.

MISTAKES IN ENROLLING.

Errors in Appropriation Bills Cause Serious Trouble for the Government.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15 .- It is probable that the clerks and some other employes in the bureau of engraving and printing, not directly employed in the production of greenbacks and other government obligations. will have to take certificates of indebteaness instead of cash for their salaries for the balance of the current fiscal year as the resuit of an error in the enrollment of the deficiency bill, by which the word "thousand" is left off after in appropriation intended to be $37,000 for deficiency in the pay of clerical and other help at the bureau of engraving and printing. It is presumed that the employes will not be dropped from the rolls for the balance of this fiscal year, as they are necessary to the working of the bureau. It is said at the appropriation committee room it is likely this will be considered a case wherein the government officers are authorized to reside the said at the second considered as the said at the said a cers are authorized to create an indebtedness under the statute providing that no govern-ment officer shall incur an indebtedness for the government except to save life and prop-erty. It may be held that the employment erty. It may be held that the employment of these clerks is necessary to save "prop-erty." The clerks will then be given cer-tificates stating that they have rendered service to the value named. These they will probably be able to get discounted by local many lenders, who will get reimbursed at money lenders, who will get reliable the next session of congress.

Several other errors in the enrollment have been discovered in the pension appropriation bill. An appropriation of was intended for examining surgeons. In enrolling the word "five" was left out, so the item read "three hundred and thousand dollars"—a deficiency of $5,000 from the proper amount. This will not be serious in view of the smallness of the amount and of the fact that it was made on estimates which in any event may be too large or too small, and which can be remedied next session before the money actually appropriated is exhausted. These are but a few of the mistakes that have been committed in the enrollment of appropriation bills and others are expected to come to light every day.

MORTON MEANS BUSINESS.

Useless Offices in His Department to Be Abolished-Washington Notes. Washington, D. C., March 15, -Secretary Morton of the Agricultural department found time to familiarize himself with the duties of nearly all the employes of the department. There are several places that are regarded by him as sinecures and he does not propose that the incumbents shall much longer draw a large salary without giving the government a fairer return. He has concluded that several of these positions are not essential to the success of the depart-ment and will shortly notify the incumbents that their places are vacant. The secretary says he intends to run his department on a ousiness basis.

The presidential postmasters sent to the senate today comprise all of the cases now complete and ready for action. The post-master general has notified senators and members of the house of representatives that he will hereafter require in addition to their recommendation some local expression of the patrons of the office as to the fitness of the applicant.

Secretary Smith today directed that all orders heretofore issued by the commissioner of the general land office, making cases special, be revoked. Hereafter cases before the general land office will be taken before the general land office will be taken up and disposed of in their regular order. Rear Admiral David B. Harmony has been relieved from command of the Asiatic sta-tion and ordered home. Some time ago he applied for retirement, and his request was granted. Rear Admiral Irwin, now com-mandant of the Mare Island navy yard, Cali-fornia, has been ordered to relieve Admiral Harmony.

OFF FOR HAWAIL

Congressman Blount Will Sail for the Islands on a Secret Mission.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—Ex-Representative Blount of Georgia left Washingington last night for San Francisco, accompanied by Mr. Ellis Mills, confidential stenographer of the State department. He is, it confidentially asserted, bound for Honolulu on a secret mission, an appointment which required no confirmation by the sen-

The selection of Mr. Blount for this mis-sion indicates that Mr. Cleveland is not yet satisfied that Hawaii should be annexed to he United States, but he has not made up his mind to oppose it. Mr. Blount will make a very thorough in-estigation of the situation and the presilent's future action on the subject will probably be governed by his report.

Mr. Biount and Annexation. As chairman of the foreign affairs committee, when the matter first came before the house, Mr. Blount took a very conservative position, refusing to commit himself on the subject of annexation without further information.

More than a year before the overthrow of the queen a delegation from the Hawaiian legislature came to this country without public announcement, seeking some indication from this country of what support the tion from this country of what support the revolutionary party might rely on if they would overthrow the old government and establish a provisional government as has been done. The ultimate object, as they then disclosed it, was to secure annexation to this country, as they did not hope of success in the permanent establishment of a new government. Air. Blount was among the few persons with whom they talked, and he then refused to commit himself to any plan. then refused to commit himself to any plan of the sort.

There is no doubt that since the overthrow of the queen he has had some suspicion that this government may have encouraged the revolution and might possibly be accused of having a part in the establishment of the new government of the islands with which we are asked to treat.

The question of how the overthrow of the The question of how the overthrow of the government was brought about, and whether the provisional government actually represents popular sentiment, will, it is understood, be theroughly investigated. First of all, the fact will be established that this government, pending the ratification of a treaty giving the right to do so, will not interfere in any way with the affairs of the islands, except if need be, to defend them from foreign encroachment, the idea being that a government claiming to represent the that a government claiming to represent the people of the islands must be strong enough to maintain itself if we are to treat with it. The probability is that we will do nothing to maintain the provisional government against any other government of the people of Hawaii themselves, that might be, or seek to be established. But if it is found that the provisional government is really the chosen established. But if it is found that the provisional government is really the chosen government of the islands and is not dependent upon the support of the United States for its existence, the proposition for annexation may be favorably regarded and an amended treaty may be sent to the senate at the next session. However, apart from other considerations the desirability of annexing the islands will be investigated. annexing the islands will be investigated.

Why the Treaty Was Withdrawn. It is said that the administration early re ceived information which was deemed to be reliable that the overthrow of Queen Lilino-kalani and the establishment of a provisiona government were the result of a plan form iated by the sugar producing elements of the islands and which was furthered in San Francisco. Upon receiving this information the withdrawal of the treaty was deter-Cipher distatches went out last night from

The last sundry civil bill contained a ture. The last sundry civil bill contained a clause prohibiting this information being given. "It is law," said Secretary Morton, "and we will adhere to it closely, although for my my own part I think it would be a good thing if documents thus distributed gratuitously from a department of the government should inform the citizens receiving them as to their source and intent."

Carlisle's Financial Schemes.

Washington, D. C., March 15 .- The Star says: "Secretary Carlisle expects to have ready to submit some financial propositions by the time congress meets which will form the basis of an agreement between congress and the executive on the financial problem. Gentlemen who have talked with him on the subject say that he has a plan pretty well outlined in his mind which will involve a complete reorganization of our financial system. It is said that it will include the repeal of the law compelling the purchase of silver by the government and will provide for the deficiency of currency by providing for the repeal of the state bank tax and the issue of currency for banks under state charter under the general supervision of the general government, the security and currency provided for under the laws of the state, requiring the approval of the governand the executive on the financial problem. state, requiring the approval of the government.

and Sunday Prescriptions for Intoxicants Are Under the Ban-Stricter Regulations for Gambling Places and Disreputable Houses.

The saloons, gambling places and houses of ill repute will be subjected to a police surveillance even more rigid than heretofore. and Chief Seavey declares he will make an onest, determined effort to carry out the instructions of Mayor Bemis.

"With reference to the houses of ill fame," he said to a Bee man. "I think they are under as complete police supervision as is possible. For the past three years these matters have been kept well in hand by the police department, and that was never more true than at the present time. Not long ago I issued orders, to my men to arrest any woman who appeared in the windows of the bawdy houses or in any way attempted to solicit patronage from the street. These orders were rigidly enforced. Last Sunday I sent a special officer, who spent the afternoon in the burnt district and kept close watch, to see whether this rule was being obeyed. During that time he only saw one woman and she came oat of one of the houses dressed in street attire and went up town.

"There is once in a while a landlady who attempts to get outside of the district prescribed by law. In most cases she is detected and arrested, and in fact these instances occur but seldom. In obedience to the instructions of the mayor I shall detail an officer to make a thorough search of the city for cases of this kind and when found I shall not only cause the arrest of the years. city for cases of this kind and when found I shall not only cause the arrest of the women but also of the owners, agents or lessees of the building which has been rented for such purposes. I have made a thorough personal examination of a number of other cities and find that this evil is under far better government in Omaha than in any other city of its size in the west. I do not say this because I am chief of police, but because it is a fact which any unbiased person will confirm."

Sunday Liquor Selling Must Stop. A delegation of notel men and saloon-keepers called upon the chief of police yesterday to inquire as to his understanding of the law as applied to them and of his probable action in the premises. The hotel men claimed that they had a right to provide their guests with fluor in their rooms on the Sabhath day, and the devents on the Sabbath day, and the druggists thought that it was perfectly legal for them to sell liquor on a physician's prescription. The chief read them the statute governing the liquor business, which declared that it should be unlawful to sell or give away any vinous surjetivous or malt become whatever on vinous, spirituous or malt liquors whatever on the first day of the week, and informed them that in obedience to the instructions of the chief executive of the city he had no re course but to enforce the law as he found it This means that the hotel guests must provide themselves with a stock of drinkable over Saturday night or go without. For some time past the bars at the leading hotels have been run wide open all day Sunday, the rear door being left open, but according to the new order of things this will be strictly forbidden. In discussing the alleged violation of the Sunday law the chief said there was no doubt that there were saloons which disdoubt that there were saloons which dis-pensed liquor every Sinday, and in justice to those proprietors who did observe the law, if for no other reason, the law should be enforced. But the police department was handleapped in several ways. There was no allowance for funds with which to secure evidence against these people, and with only twenty-five men to watch 250 saloons it was difficult to watch all of them all of the time. difficult to watch all of them all of the time. The violations of the law were for the most part in the outlying districts where there was but little police protection. Some of these saloons paid men for no other purpose than to watch outside and give warning of the approach of an officer. When the officer arrived all suspicious signs were gone, the

Another question which is pertinent at this time was raised in an interview which was printed in The Bee several weeks ago. It was in regard to the practice of the houses of ill fame of selling liquors at all times of the day and week without any license whatever and without molestation, while the saloons, which pay a license of $1,000 a year, are not allowed to sell after midnight or on Sunday. It was claimed that this was an injustice to the saloon men and that the law which applied to saloons should also be enforced as against the more dis-

About four years ago a law was passed covering this point and a determined effort was made by Chief Seavey to effect a conviction under its provisions. Officers in citizens clothing were detailed to collect evidence against a dozen or so of the leading bagnios and search warrants were issued with which and search warrants were issued with which these houses were searched and a large amount of liquor confiscated and removed to the old police station on Fourteenth street.

The dealer who sold the beer to the bagnios tried to replevin the liquor, claiming that it belonged to him and had been left there in trust. Every effort was made to effect a conviction, but the defendants were released conviction, but the defendants were released in each case and a suit was inaugurated against Chief Seavey and his bondsmen for damages sustained by the arrest and confis-cations. The case was tried in justice court and a verdict rendered against the chief, who appealed the case to the district court, where it is still undecided.

Challenging the Crusaders. "Why don't some of these people who are agitating this question take hold of it them-selves?" said the chief this morning. "The law is that any property owner can swear out a search warrant and proceed to search one or all of these houses for liquor. All he has to do is to get out a warrant and it will become my duty to see that it is carried out. become my duty to see that it is carried out.

I tried it on my own responsibility once and made a dismal failure of it, being unable to secure a conviction in a single case and coming out with a big lawyer's fee to pay and possibly heavy damages when the suit against me is decided. It is easy enough to ask why this and that is not done, but the difficulties will be better understood if some of the most clamorous reformers would try it themselves."
