Upheld the Everett Pair.

The Heutenant governor held that there was no law governing the matter of pairs. That was a question between the senators themselves. If Senator Everett wished to themserves. If Schatter Everet white the violate his agreement with Schatter Thom-sen he couldn't be prevented from so doing. He therefore recognized the pair. Senator Young then moved that the senate go into committee of the whole for the conderation of house roll 33. Senator Pope raised the point of order that this forenoon the senate had considered senrisen with the request for leave to sit again on the same bill. The chair held the point on the same bill. The chair held the point of order not well taken. Senator Pope then moved as an amendment that the senate go into committee of the whole on the consideration of senate file No. 72.

Senators Dysart and Stewart raised points of order in attack of Pope's amendment and both were declared not well taken. Senator Dale then moved to table Pope's amendment. amendment. Senator North raised the point of order that under the action of the senate this morning senate file No. 72 must take pre-cedence of house roll No. 33. The chair held the point of order well taken and Dale withdrew his amendment. Senator Mullen denounced in vigorous terms the efforts made by the opposition to delay the consideration of the railroad bill. Senator Pope replied with some spirit. He declared that senate file No. 72 should be considered first in justice to the author of the bill, and claimed there would still be time later in the afternoon to consider the railroad bill.

Finished the Sugar Bounty Bill.

The question recurred on Pope's amend ment, but North interposed an amondment providing that seaste file No. 17 be also con sidered in committee of the whole. Senate file No. 17 was one of the favorite bills of the independents and they have vainly tried on several occasions to bring it up, bu were not at all anxious to consider it but the North's amendment was not agreed to, Pope's motion was carried by a vote of 17 to 15. Thereupon the senate went into committee of the whole on the consideration committee of the whole on the consideration of senate file No. 72. At the end of a half hour the committee rose and commended the bill for passage. Senator Everett then stated to the senate that he had just been talking to Senator Thomsen by telephone and that the latter had requested that the pair between them be declared off on all measures except the stock yards bill. He therefore stated that he would be at liberty to vote on all questions relating to house roll 33.

Took Up the Measure.

Senator Dale moved that the senate solve itself into committee of the whole to consider house roll 33. Senator Moore demanded a call of the house and the roll call showed that all sena-tors were present with the exception of Senator Thomsen. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of the sergeant-at-arms, but before he left in quest of the absent senator the call was suspended and the senate went into committee of the whole with Senator North in the chair.

The clerk commenced to read the long bill and after he had proceeded ten or fifteen minutes Harris moved that the reading be senator Mattes objected and the chair held that the objection of any one senator would prevent the suspension of the reading. Again the reading proceeded and at the end of half an hour Lobeck offered an amendment to line 439 changing the classification on britannia ware, but before it could be put Pope wound the members in a parliamentary tangle by moving that the committee rise. Senator Mullen, as the leader o' the independents, promptly offered an amendment to the effect that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again.

Peculiar Parliamentary Practice.

On the vote the chair held that Mullen's amendment had carried. Senator Pope excitedly domanded that the vote be taken over again. Chairman North ordered the vote taken again, and with a sheepish smile spreading over his countenance announced that the recount showed the amendment lost. The satisfaction on the republican side of the house was short lived, for North was a moment later compelled to announce that Pope's motion that the committee rise had failed to Senator Lobeck's amendment was ther agreed to, and the reading proceeded for another five minutes. Then Mattes tried his hand at dissolving the senators on the opposite side of the chamber. They insisted that their oppo-nents should consent to have the report of the committee so amended to give the committee leave to sit again on house roll 33. The opposition refused to accept the terms and everybody settled down for an all night session. Most of the members sent out and ordered supper sent to them. Shortly after 7 o'clock, however, the oppo-

Shortly after 7 o'clock, however, the oppo-sition capitulated and agreed to allow the re-port of the committee to be amended in accordance with the wishes of the independ-ents. They only stipulated that the bill should not be taken up tomorrow. At 7:30 the call was suspended, the report amended and the senate adjourned.

Routine Work Occupies the Day-Will Not Whitewash Mailon.

LENCOLN, Neb., March 21.- Special to THE BEE ]-Bills on third reading occupied the attention of the house this morning. The following bills were passed:

Senate file No. 236, by Lowley, to amend ection 5,586 of chapter ill, section 5,593 of chapter iv, section 5,600, section 5,612 and section 5.616 of chapter v of the Criminal Code of Nebraska as the same appears in Cobbey's Consolidated Statutes of 1891 and to repeal said sections as amended; by a vote of 84

House roll No. 502, by Gaffla, to appoint a ommittee of three to investigate all state institutions in the state of Nebraska, and to appropriate moneys to defray the expenses thereof: by a vote of 67 to 15.

House roll No. 388, by Casper, by request, egalizing the Nebraska State Poultry assoiation, to define certain duties of said assoclation, to deduce certain outles of said asso-clation, to make an annual appropriation therefor, and fixing a penalty for the mis-appropriation of any of the money thereby granted, by a vote of 53 to 25. House roll No. 126, by Jenkins, joint resoation concerning the return of direct tax;

by a vote of 82 to 0. House roll No. 142, by Barry, to provide for an examination of the office of county treasurer; by a vote of 66 to 11.

Stuck on the Appropriation.

The only one over which there was any disussion was No. 502, Griffith's bill, appropriatng $10,000 to push the investigation of state officers and institutions, and naming a committee to superintend the work. The opposition contended that the measure was unconstitutional in that it created new offices and filled them, whereas the appointments should be left in the hands of the governor. A motion to recommit the bill to have this correction made was de-feated by a vote of 38 to 49, and the bill then passed with an emergency clause by a vote of 67 to 15. Mullen's Several senators on the independent side claimed a mistake and demanded a recount, but this time North was not so accommodating and ignored the demand and proceeded to put the original motion made by Mattes. The vote stood 15 to 15 and North declared the motion lost.

North Helped Them Out.

For the fourth time the clerk resumed the reading of the bill. In the meantime Sena-tor Eggleston walked up to the desk and held a brief whispered conversation with North. Returning to the little group of sena-tors who were engineering the opposition to the bill, another whispered conference was Eggleston's con-ference with Chairman North bore fruit, for Mullen's usual amendment was lost and the vote on Moore's motion resulted in a tic. Exercising his prerogative as the presiding officer, North cast his vote in the affirmative and the committee rose.

Tom Majors in His Element.

Lieutenant Governor Majors took the chair and then followed a scene which has never been equale d on the floor of the senate, and only equated in the house by the exciting scenes two years ago.

Senator Tefft moved that the report of the committee of the whole be adopted. Senator Dale amended with a call of the house, but the lieutenant governor put Tefft's motion to the senate. The affirmative vote had been taken when a dozen independent senators sprang to their feet. Some of them demanded the yeas and nays on Tefft's motion, while others insisted on a Again the lieutenant governor ignored the demands for a call of the house and ordered the secretary to call the roll. The roll call proceeded, but the voice of the secretary as he called the names of the senators was lost in the stantorian demands of Dale, Stewart, Mulien, Dysart and others for a call of the house. The confusion became so great that the secretary was obliged to suspend the roll call.

Confusion Confounded.

Then and not before the lieutenant gov-ernor stated that he would recognize the senators who demanded a call of the house at the proper time. The secretary again at-tempt to call the roll, but again he was in-terrupted by the demands for a call of the house. By this time matters had taken a and the charter of the second upon the chair.

upon the chair. Senator Dysart angrily protested against what he declared an outrageous as-sumption of power upon the part of the presiding officer, and as no spoke he held a bottle of mucilage in his hand, his arm drawn back in a menacing at-titude. Independent members of the house were pouring into the senate chamber and for a brief instant of time it seemed as if a riot could not be averted.

Pushed His Advantage.

Pounding vigorously on his desk with the gavel, Majors peremptorily ordered Dysart to sit down and be in order. In an equally firm tone of voice he ordered the secretary to proceed with the roll call. For a moment quist was partially restored and the roll call was completed. Then and not until the re-sult of the ballot had been placed in his hands did the lieutenant governor recognize Senator Dale's demand for a call of the

if they would let him get up. Miller said he would, and the hold on his throat was re-leased. With a bound like a panthor Miller jumped for Cory and was met with a good hard fist backed with plenty of muscle. The surprise was a little too much for Miller and he quieted down. When placed in a cell Miller commenced his crazy actions again and continued them until Officer Key-sor threatened to turn the hose on him. This brought the unruly prisoner to time and he suitated deeree and he quieted down. Dr. Towne called later and diagnosed the case as simple cussedness.

Meetings at the Shops. The Tuesday noon meeting at the Union Pacific car shops yesterday in the absence of Miss Miller was presided over by Mrs. Woodward of Seward, superintendent of work among railway employes for the National Woman's Christian Temperance union. After singing and prayer by Rev. Louge, Mrs. Woodward expressed her entire satisfaction with the work done and very dially thanked the employes for the kind and noble manner in which all had aided Miss Miller in her work, and also referred to the fine advance being made in the line of shop meetings in Nebraska, and that as soon as possible the different railroad temperance associations would have a meeting and be organized more broadly. Rev. Bross con-cluded the meeting by a most appropriate address.

These meetings are held in the carpenter shop, Mr. C. A. Leary, foreman, to whom all are greatly indebted for continued courtesy
