

TOO MUCH OF MOTHER-IN-LAW

Dr. Merriam's Answer to His Wife's Petition for Alimony.

HER REASON WAS AFFECTED BY MORPHINE

The Doctor Says His Practice Has Fallen Off on Account of Domestic Troubles, and He Has Other Relatives to Support.

The domestic troubles of Dr. Laureston A. Merriam and his wife have been dragged into the courts again by the doctor filing an answer to the petition of his wife, in which she asks the court to compel the husband to provide the necessary money that she may successfully prosecute the suit.

In his answer the doctor alleges that his wife, Mattie, has been indulging in the excessive use of morphine to such an extent that she has injured and impaired her reasoning faculties. In addition to this, he avers that there was a mother-in-law who was at the bottom of considerable of the trouble. He avers that he and his wife got along as happily as two little birds in the same nest until the early spring of 1892, when this mother-in-law, a Mrs. Carter, invited, upon the scene, and she remained there upon the scene.

In speaking of Mrs. Carter, the doctor says that she is a divorced woman who has held misanthropic ideas respecting men in general and that long ago she formed a dislike for the defendant. Shortly after Mrs. Carter invaded his household, the disposition of his wife changed and she became morose and irritable. On account of these charges and the strained relations that existed between himself and the mother-in-law, he did not tarry at home any more than he could stand it no longer. That morning he went down to his office and did not return until evening, but when he did go back he found the mother-in-law cold and the house deserted and the furniture, which was of the reasonable value of $1,250, had been sold, and up to a chain of circumstances he found that some of the furniture had been sold, while a greater portion had been shipped to Cresco, Ia., to which place the wife and the mother-in-law had gone.

Regarding the alimony, the doctor says he cannot afford to pay a cent, for the simple reason that he had a large portion of it has been lost on account of the false reports that his wife circulated after she left his bed and board. Then he declares that while the wife and the mother-in-law were plotting to make his life miserable the former incurred bills at the stores in the city, all of which he has been called upon to pay. If this were not true, the doctor says that there is another reason why he should not be called upon to put up the money to fight the other side of the case. The last reason, so he avers, is that he has an aged mother and an invalid sister depending upon him for support, and with the circumstances as they now are his income is not sufficient to support them and himself.

CITY ENJOINED.

Taxpayers on Leavenworth Street Object to the Brick Paving.

The long promised law suit, growing out of the repaving of Leavenworth, from Sixteenth to Twenty-ninth street, has been commenced and the city has been enjoined from levying the tax, in order that Hugh Murphy, the contractor, may be paid for doing the work.

At a late hour Tuesday night E. L. Robertson, W. H. James and thirty-two other property owners brought suit against the city, securing the restraining order from Judge Scott. They allege that they all own property abutting the street, that the brick are below the standard size, that they are not vitrified, that they were laid during the freezing weather, that the concrete is of the poorest quality, that the sand is not what it should be, and that the whole of the pavement is worthless. They ask that the city be enjoined from levying and collecting the tax which has been assessed upon the abutting property at the rate of $3.42 per front foot.

Burglars and Fireing Sentenced.

James Bennett and Ed Dean, the ring-leaders of the gang that robbed Sven Alstadt's store at Sixth and Pierce, pleaded guilty yesterday and were sentenced to terms of two years each in the penitentiary. Their associates, seven in number, pleaded guilty to petit larceny and were given terms of thirty days each in the county jail.

District Court Callings.

In the case of the state against John Waybright, William Van Ness and C. W. Coffey the jury yesterday returned a verdict of not guilty. The three men were charged with having stolen $300 worth of brass and old iron from the burned machinery in the Drexel stone yards.

Charles W. Stevens, a farmer living in Douglas precinct, is suing the street railway company for $10,300 damages. While on his way home about two weeks ago he collided with a motor, which smashed his wagon and cut and bruised himself and horses.

B. W. Helgeson, who was hangedman at the Union Pacific depot, failed to show up for duty as jurymen, and this morning will have a chance to tell why Judge Ogden should not fine him for contempt.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

On a first sight of "Cleopatra," as presented by Miss Fannie Davenport at the Boyd this week, the beauty and grandeur of the spectacle divert attention from the performance; a second view reveals the excellencies of acting. Miss Davenport and Mr. McDowell as Cleopatra and Antony prove themselves histrions of the highest merit. The death of the "serpent of old Nile" is a particularly successful scene, managed by Miss Davenport with rare art. It is realistic in the extreme, but modified by a fine poetic feeling that softens, yet sufficiently emphasizes, the dread pathos of the incident, winning from the stilled audience that sign of sympathy with the queen. Only three more opportunities may be seized of seeing this supreme triumph of theatrical art. This and tomorrow evenings the curtain will rise at 8 o'clock, and at the Saturday matinee, for the last production in Omaha this season, it will be rung up at 2 o'clock.

"The Nabobs" opens a three nights engagement at the Parkam this evening. "The Nabobs" has no plot, it needs none. It is a farce comedy, said to be full of laughter-provoking "bits" and replete with genuine wit. It has its share of nonsense, it teems with clean, incisive humor and brilliant, sparkling repartee, lots of dashing and dashing music, and many good take-offs on the latest songs. The people John E. Henshaw is a whole team, homely as make-up can make him at first, and as handsome as any of the stars of the stage. Miss Clara Randall completes the duo of stars of the first magnitude that sparkle in the comedy. Henshaw introduces his great song, "The Breeze," with splendid success, and "The Maid in."

At the Parkam street on Sunday and for three following nights, Irish Comedian Thomas E. Murray, of "Our Irish Visitors" fame, supported by one of the strongest comedy companies ever put together in this class, of an attraction will present "The Voodoo." The theme of the story is based on superstition and it is claimed to be one of the funniest, brightest and cleanest comedies of its kind on the American stage.

In the illustrated lecture, "Russian Political Exiles," which Mr. George Kennan will deliver in Exposition hall, Thursday evening next, the stereotyped views will include portraits of exiles whose acquaintance Mr. Kennan made while in Siberia and with whose history he is familiar. These pictures of high-minded and scholarly men preach a powerful sermon from the screen as their wrongs are recited by Mr. Kennan with an earnestness that cannot be questioned.

SWINDLING WORKING GIRLS.

Serious Charges Made Against J. B. Smith's Employment Agency.
Trouble has begun for J. B. Smith, an expert accountant in the Shively block, who is accused of swindling working girls out of various sums under pretenses of securing them employment. Miss Clara Randall was victimized by Smith during the month of January and after repeated efforts to obtain either the promised position or the refunding of her money has appealed to the law for protection.

Miss Randall has a letter written to her by Smith on January 5 in which he represented that he had secured a situation for her in a leading house at $9 per week which would be ready for her by February 1. In consideration of this she paid him $10 for "instructions" and an additional $1.50 for books and material. Smith put her off on one pretext or another when she inquired concerning the promised situation and she is still waiting for the job.

This is not the first time that offenses of the same description have been reported as committed by Smith, but heretofore he has managed to avoid his business as to evade the law. The criminal law draws a distinction between a "pretense" and a "promise." Obtaining money by promises does not come under the operation of the statute, and Smith seems to have been well acquainted with the fact.

In this case, however, he made a mistake, and obtained Miss Randall's money by pretending that he had a position for her, and not through a promise that he would secure one in the future. It was a slight difference, but sufficient to start her. As a result, when Miss Randall inquired the name of the firm with which the pretended position was secured Smith refused to tell her, but put her off, saying that it would be ready for her after a while. She said she knew of another girl who had been victimized in the same manner, but who had since left town.

Smith refused to refund Miss Randall's money, and she had him arrested. He offered to return her money and pay court costs if she would dismiss the charges, and the case was continued till this morning.

PARTNERS FALL OUT.

Iowa Man Accused of Embezzling $300 of Firm Money.
A difficulty between the partners in the Jamova Coffee company, whose establishment is located at Newton, Ia., culminated in the arrest of M. J. Bradley, the senior partner, in this city yesterday on a charge of embezzlement preferred by the junior member, George C. Tennant.

Tennant declares that Bradley has collected about $300 belonging to the firm and appropriated it to his own use. He followed Bradley to Omaha and found him at the Paxton hotel. Bradley accompanied him to the police station and was locked up until an investigation could be had.

At the station Tennant was very much under the influence of liquor and abused the prisoner until he was threatened with arrest himself when he became more docile. Bradley is an honest appearing middle aged man and is evidently not right in the upper story. He shows tears when arrested and protested against it as an injustice which would never have occurred had his partner not been intoxicated. He is well known to several people in this city who claim that he is perfectly honest and if there has been anything crooked in his actions it is due to his half crazed condition.

The Nation's Police Chiefs.
Chief of Police Seavey has received letters from over 170 police superintendents relative to his proposed national association of the heads of police departments to be formed at Chicago during the World's fair.

Chief Seavey expects that the initiatory meeting at Chicago, May 18, will be attended by at least 150 chiefs of police.

Frank Adams Taken to Boston.
Inspectors Leggett and Gladden of the Boston police force arrived in Omaha yesterday after Frank Adams, who is wanted in that city for a large jewelry robbery. They will leave for the east with his prisoner today.

The inspectors say that Adams is one of the smoothest confidence men in the country, and that he works in confidence games to obtain the jewelry that would have done credit to the best of them.

An Impostor at Large.
Some smooth swindler is working the Broken Bow branch, posing as a nephew of W. A. Page, and collecting money due the W. A. Page Bank from non-paying merchants. He is branded as an impostor by Mr. Page, who is trying to effect his arrest.

Had a Slot Machine.
M. A. Dillon, the druggist at Sixteenth and Howard streets, was arrested yesterday for running a gambling device in the shape of a nickel-in-the-slot machine. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

Harvey Got Jail.
The Harvey-Alton shooting case was called in police court yesterday at 2 p. m. Harvey waived examination and was held to the district court. He gave bonds at once and left the city.

Potter's Clay.
NORTH GALVESTON, Tex., March 29.—At a depth of fifteen feet beneath the fertile soil of North Galveston there lies a strata of the very best quality of real pottery clay. The supply of this material is unlimited, and is a valuable resource in itself. The clay answers admirably for foundry purposes, being equal to the best moulders' sand.

Truly it requires Columbus to discover the wonderful natural wealth of the industrial city and to require no alchemist to transform these resources into gold.

Incorporated for Big Business.
The United Real Estate and Trust company with a capital of $2,500,000, has been incorporated by Herman Kountze, Luther Kountze, Charles B. Kountze, Charles T. Kountze and Fred H. Davis. The capital stock of the company is divided into 25,000 shares of $100 each. The life of the company is fixed at 100 years, and its objects, so far as the articles of incorporation are concerned, cover the whole range of business to be invested in buying and selling real estate, constructing roads, ditches, canals and flumes. The principal office of the company will be in Omaha, where three of the directors are compelled to reside.

Mr. Herman Kountze, in speaking of the purposes for which the company was organized, said that it was purely a private business enterprise and had no connection with any ditch or canal scheme.

To Investigate the Charges.
The committee to investigate the alleged attempted bribing of the paving committee will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the council chamber, and the Board of Health will investigate committee this afternoon at 2 o'clock in committee room A.
