The Kilpatrick-Koch Dry Goods company expect to start up the East Omaha overall factory on Monday. They have engaged a force of skilled help and will add to it as fast as they can. The underweat branch is being particularly attended to just now, as there is plenty of evidence that supplies throughout the country are small, the long winter having led to a distribution that kept pace fully with production. One house reports having booked its first orders for next fall underwoar over a month ago, while last year the first orders were not booked uatil the end of April. There is probably another reason for sending

It is stated that the jobbing trade of St.

The Omaha grain market is very quiet, in fact there is very little grain moving in the state. The demand for corn is light and dealers are complaining that they have sel-dom seen as quiet a time at this season of the Some arc of the opinion that corn is The reported damage to the winter wheat

FROM DUN'S STANDPOINT.

Omaha as She Appears in Eastern Eyes Chances for the Future.

Mr. W. H. Roberson, Omaha manager of R. G. Dun & Co., returned from a short visit in the east yesterday and in an interview SBYS:

"It was a source of no small satisfaction to me, representing the mercantile agency here, to find throughout the east that Omaha stands so well with the trade. I visited St. Paul, Chicago, Albany, Binghampton New York City and found and all their people very much interested in Omaha's prospects. Down east they have learned to expect a great deal from this city, and surprise is expressed on all sides at the remarkable recovery made by the state of Nebraska from the depression caused by bad crops. It is remarked on all sides that m no other state in the union would recuperation be so complete in so short a time. The trade in New York and Chicago particularly are quite awake to Omaha's importance as a distribut ing center and congratulated me upon the evidences of prosperity shown by the growth of our wholesale trade and the steady and large increase in bank clearings. You may be sure that I gave them no reason to The discouraged over the prospects here, for in my residence of a single year in the city I have become convinced that Omaha will be one of the large cities of the country, unless her people by indifference, hack of Omaha of the enterprise or too great confidence in her natural position permit civals to take away from her the trade which the transportation facilities and topography of the country warrant her in calling her own.

"I find here by brief inquiry among trade people that the record continues good in nearly every line. At the banks money is nearly every line. At the banks money is not so plentiful as a few months ago and this is true of all cen-ters in the country. The tendency of the funds seems to be toward the farming sections and the smaller towns, but by the ist of May it is quite probable the movement will be the other way though it is not anticipated that the money market will again be so inactive as last year will again be so inactive as last year.

"Retail dealers report a better week and while they do not anticipate a very large trade for the summer very few if any feel discouraged over the prospects.

The opening of the building season promises employment to a very large number of wage earners who will be engaged in putting up the several structures of which men tion has hitherto been made, and work upon the public streets. The East Omaha railway enterprise is mov-ing along most satisfactorily and this will be a source of employment also for a considerable number of people. By the way, I hear that this corporation or persons connected with it have purchased tracts in the interior of the county which would indicate a purpose to move out from the city toward the west or northwest.

"Speaking of railway enterprises brings to mind the fact but little more than a fort-night remains within which time the Neto mind the fact but little more than a fort-night remains within which time the Ne-braska Central can show its purpose for the braska Central can show its purpose for the Omaha are especially interested and are preparing to make a most interesting showing of their products. The millers of the state held a meeting at the rooms of the Manufacturers association on Friday to consider the question of making a large exhibit at the coming state exposi-tion. The attendance was not large, but those present determined to make a great effort to show Nebraska flour to the of the state and convince them that there is none better. It was decided to let each mill make a separate exhibit instead of combining in one large exhibit. Letters were read from several millers who were unable to be present at the meeting, in which the writers promised to agree with whatever action might be taken by the moting and do their share of the work. Mr. Peters, manager of the Bemis Omaha Bag company, was present and said that his company would aid the millers in making their exhibits to the extent of $300 at least.

Kearney manufacturers have signed for space and say that they will make a showing of the industries of that city that will be hard to beat. The cotton mill will send down a loom and weave cotton cloth during the exposition. The weaving of cloth is something that few people in the state have ever seen and will be of great interest. The Broom Manufacturing company proposes to carry on the manufacture of brooms during the exposition. The Kearney Plow factory will put in a furnace, a chemical bath for tempering, an emery wheel and other machinery necessary for carrying on the manufacture of plows. The Kearney Milling com-pany will have a flour exhibit and the Hub Printing company samples of book binding. The Board of Trade will show a miniature canal, an exact representation of the Kearney canal, together with the different fac tory buildings located along its banks.

Schroeder reports an active goose market. Poultry is quoted a little higher than a week ago, but 1 cent would cover the advance. They seem now to be getting a little anx lous to move that enormous crop of California oranges. Combination or no combination, they can't afford to stand on their dignity much longer. The peanut market has advanced from 200 to 300 per cent during the past few weeks. The cause for the sudden rise in values would appear to be the near approach of the fircus season on top of a partial crop failure ist vour.

It seems strange that shippers will send n game and dressed poultry by freight when the weather is so warm. Several shipments of that kind have been received during past week. Of course they were a dead loss and hall to be carted away to the dump.

The berry growers of Dyer, Tenn., are pre-baring to try a new scheme for the disposal of this season's berry crop. Last year there was quite a large berry shipping business done at that and near by towns, but it was all done on the old commission plan. The berry growers have just issued the following circular to commission merchants settin forth their plans for the coming season: "We, the fruit growers and shippers of Dyer, Tenn., do hereby invite all honorable and reliable commission merchants of Chicago, St Louis, Kansas City, Milozaukee, Clevoland, Omaha and St. Paul to come to Dyer this season and bid on our strawberries, as we propose to sell on platform. Both ventilated and refrigerator cars will be in on siding a that purchasers can use either. We have 700 acres of berrics. A remark of a commission man was pub there was nothing surer to lose a shipper than a consignment of popcorn. The last issue of Branch's contains the following on the same subject: We always exclaim "rais"—we can't help it—rats and popcorn are so inimately associated. But what we are so intimately associated. But what we write is: We cannot handle your popeorn to any advantage; there is really no market for it in Omaha. Very little is used here or sold by commission merchants. Don't ship it It is only fodder for the rats, and generally a commission house has enough for them to eat any way. Money, onlet at 6527 per cent. Exchange on New York, 900 premium. thing points to a continuation of strong prices, but present prices are strong, and the ques-tion bothering the trade is how much. If any, lower will the packers force the market before they begin paying big noney again. Of the past whiter's packing in the west the Chech-natl Price Current says: "The aggregate number of hogs packed in the west the Dast winter, as shown by full final returns, varies but slightly from the approximation offered the 1st of March. The total is 4,653,-000, the decrease being 3,128,000 com-pared with last year. The deficiency thus shown is without precedent. The average weight of hogs has falten somewhat below general expectations, being 19,91 hs, highter than last year. The decrease in yield of lard is 3,03 lis, per hog. The in-creased average cost of hogs is $2,53 per 109 lbs. There was a very marked advance from the earlier portion of the season to the later portion."

Peculiar Conditions that Mark the Cattle SATURDAY, April 8.

SATURDAY, Anrill 8.SATURDAY, Anrill 8.There has been a decrease in receipts of all kinds of stock this week compared with last.
Compared with a year ago the eattle supply shows a moderate increase and the run of sheep was about the same. Hog receipts show a small decrease. The official figures are as follows:Today supply was light and the quality
some buyers stild was the poorest of the week.
Although there was only a hoderate shipping and speculative demand, other conditions favored an advance, but the trade was hardly prepared for the loc to 20e advance that was realized. The market today was over at an earlier hour than the trade usually opons.
Chicago was considerably higher, and with only a small supply in sight buy-res lost no time in corrating the offerings at the advance. Good medium weight and heavy hors soid at $6.90. Common to good light stinff and mixed packing grades old ative throughent, and closed up strong your special attention to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is sold on its merits. This assertion is warranted by its sales, which surpass any preparation of a similar nature. I hear nothing but praise from customers who have used it." The above is what Eugene P. Unangst, the leading drug-The above is gist of Bethlebem, Pa., says in a circular to his customers. He has sold at retail over 1.000 bottles of this remedy during the past year, and knows it to be without an equal. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use is what makes it popular.

The original treaty made by William Penn with the Indians will be shown in the Penn-sylvania state building in the World's Coumbian exposition. The treaty bears the signature of Penn in his handwriting and the signatures made by the indians in hiero-glyphics. The celebrated painting of the reaty will also be placed on exhibition in this room. The old liberty bell will be placed on a handsome raised platform, surrounded by a gilt railing, in the center of the rotunda of the state building. The platform will be built on rollers so that the bell may be rolled out of the building in less than three minout of the building in less than three min-utes in case of fire.
