FRANK CANTON'S ACCUSER

One of the Sequels of the Wyoming Cattle-men's Trouble. Why Charles Basch Left the Country. Rustlers Desired His Testimony to Convict the Alleged Murderer of Tisdale—His Memory Could Not Be Depended Upon.

BUFALO, Wyo., April 15.—[Special to THE BEE].—The disappearance of Charles Basch, the Johnson county ranchman, has been much discussed in the western press, and the reasons therefor are being given in a class of partisans, who have no evidence to take into court, prefer to try their cases in the newspapers, have made it the excuse for a great deal of reckless misstatement of a case that till lately was pending in the district court of Uintah county, Wyoming. Now the case is at an end and it is time the public should know the real facts and that an attempt be made to restore the name of the entirely false impressions sought to be created in advance by the falsehoods and cunning innuendoes scattered broadcast through the country.

In December, 1891, two men were shot on the road between Buffalo and a point about sixteen miles south. They had been shot from ambush on different days and at different points on the county road. It was claimed by the Wyoming cattle-men and the rustling fraternity that these men were peaceful and law-abiding citizens and innocent of any offense against the stockmen. These were true facts, which were established at once by the testimony of the stockmen and the rustlers, who were both well known to the community.

Almost as soon as the tragedy was discovered it was whispered that the perpetrator of the crime was Charles Basch, a well known stockman, who had been seen near the scene of the crime. This rumor was spread so widely that it was necessary to make a search for him. As a matter of fact no attempt was made to follow the guilty party beyond the scene of the crime. The only person who was seen near the scene of the crime was Charles Basch, who was seen near the scene of the crime.

NEW QUARTERS IN PROSPECT

Commercial Club Will Occupy the Board of Trade Building. Will Be at Home After May 22. Another Housing Meeting Held Last Night, at Which Many Plans for Future Development Were Discussed—Many New Members.

If there is one thing more than another which characterizes the new Commercial club of this city it is enterprise. Six weeks ago a few of the leading business men of this city, seeing the necessity of greater effort on the part of the citizens in matters concerning the prosperity of the city, got together and resolved upon the formation of a club which would take in not a single class or interest, but all classes and all interests represented in Omaha. It was so broad in its scope, so unlike anything which had ever been attempted, that those very men themselves hardly realize yet what it means for the city. They organized. They gave two noon lunches and a mass meeting and its members rolled up their sleeves and started out for reinforcements. Today it has practically 500 members enrolled, with a good prospect of as many more within another six weeks. And what is more, a proposition was accepted last evening from the Board of Trade for the renting of the top floor of the Chamber of Commerce building and a determination formed that, if possible, the club should be in possession of its quarters by May 22, the date of the opening of this city of the Manufacturers and Consumers exposition.

Some Important Work. The meeting last evening was a meeting of the executive committee only. A. L. Gibson, president, and fifteen of the thirteen members being present, together with several from other organizations. Its purpose was to consider the proposition submitted by the Board of Trade directors and a determination formed that, if possible, the club should be in possession of its quarters by May 22, the date of the opening of this city of the Manufacturers and Consumers exposition.

Ample Support Pledged. The report of those who had solicited subscriptions was then read. It showed a total of $10,000. The members of the club were then given a good prospect of at least eighty more from South Omaha.

LOCKED-OUT MEN CONFIDENT THAT THEY WILL WIN THEIR FIGHT

LA JENNA, Colo., April 15.—Very few of the locked-out Santa Fe men have called for their checks, which were ready for them yesterday. A bulletin was issued this morning by Master Mechanic Conroy, stating that applications for reinstatement would be received up to 1:30 today, after which none of the old men would be taken back. The company will not accept any more men. It is rumored strongly, with a parent feeling, that the men who have been locked out of the mine will be taken back to work for the interest he had shown and the work he had performed in their behalf.
