ALLEN CASE STILL HANGS FIRE

Jury Unable to Agree After Seventy-Two Hours Confinement.

OTHER CASES IN DISTRICT COURT

A Recreant Husband Impressed with the Dignity of the Court-Grading Injane . tion Granted-Preparations for Adjournment.

After having been locked up for seventy (we consecutive hours the jurors in the case of the state against Clara Allen were brought before Judge Keysor at 5 o'clock last night. As the twelve men filed into the large court room their appearance indicated that the long confinement was telling upon their constitutions and as they dropped into the seats which they deserted days ago, with a seats which they deserted days ago, with a smile the judge asked: "Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"Not yet," smiled several of the men as they replied to the question.

"Is there a prospect of an agreement?" further interrogated the court.

"That is hard to say," answered half a dozen of the men in one voice. Then the twelve true and tried men voluntered the information that when they first went into information that when they first went into the room the vote stood six to six, but that it had changed, and since yesterday it had been five to seven.

"I dislike to keep you any longer," remarked the court, "but, owing to the magnitude of the case, I think that you ought to deliberate for a while longer." With this parting injunction the jurors were sent back to their room, where they will remain until sometime today, unless an agreement is reached.

After the men had departed Judge Keysor said that it was too good a jury to discharge. and, besides, there had been an intimation that an agreement was not an empossibility. 11:30 the jury was discharged, being unable to agree

Brou ht Him to Time. During the session of court yesterday

Judge Walton took occasion to impress a former defendant in a divorce suit with the fact that an order of the court must be respected.

At the beginning of the term of the district court the case of Barnes against Barnes was tried before Judge Irvine, and an order made that the husband should contribute $25 each mouth to the support of his wife. Since the order went into effect three mouths have passed by and not a cent h s Mr. Barnes bail over, notwithstanding the fact that he has been drawing $125 out of the city treasure such and earn mouth Vastorials Rames ury each and every month. Yesterday Barnes was brought before Judge Walton to show cause why he should not be fined for contempt. In defense of his position Barnes told the court that he had been helping a father, a mother, a sister and a dozen other relatives, but not a cent had he paid to the wife. This stirred up the ire of the court and an order went upon the docket instructing the city treasurer to pay Mrs. Barnes $25 each month and charge the amount against the saiary account of Mr. Barnes until further notice.

Grading Injunction Issued. Otto Bell and fifteen other plaintiffs have hired a lawyer who has secured an injune tion restraining the city from proceeding with the grading of Twenty-fourth street, where that street intersects Hickory and Pacific streets. They allege that they are all property owners in the vicinity and that if the grading is done in accordance with the plans and specifications provided for in the contract with Ed Phelan it will work a great hardship upon that portion of the city.

The petition sets up the charge that when the grading of the streets was proposed the intention was to bridge Twenty-fourth street at these two intersections. Since then the council has determined to fill Twenty-fourth street, which will make the intersections

For an Engineer's Death. J. C. Cowin, administrator of the estate of George Gleason, deceased, has brought suit for $1,995 against the Union Pacific railway company. The petition in the case contains the statement that during the month of May, 1891, Gleason was an engineer in the lower yards. He was given a new engine, and white it was being driven over the tracks in the yards it tipped over. Gleason was thrown beneath the machine and was crushed to death

District Court Notes. The jury in the Frank Ray arson case brought in a verdict of guilty yesterday afternoon.

Judges Scott, Davis, Hopewell and Keyson adjourned their divisions yesterday and all of the jurors not engaged in the trial of causes were discharged.

Judge Ogden is not ready for the final adjournment and undoubtedly will be upon the bench during the greater portion of next week, hearing motions for new trials and passing upon exparte matters.

Judge Ferguson of the equity division announced from the bench yesterday that he would not adjourn his section of the court until one week from today. His reasons were that he had a large amount of work on hand which would have to be disposed of before the close of the present term. Judge Ferguson has overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of James Talcott against Samuel R. Bennett. This case was tried during the early days of the present term of court and a verdict for the defendant was returned by the jury. The plaintiff had sued on a claim for $1.627 and asked for interest on the same since November, 1869. The jury held that there was no cause of action.

School Board Resents the Interference of Health Officials.

Some of the members of the Board of Education take exception to the action of the Board of Health in forbidding the use of the Smead system of dry earth closets in the public schools and even intimate that what the health officials don't know about dry earth closets would fill a big book.

Dr. Somers seems to labor under the impression that the Smead system is the only system in which the dry closets are used. As a matter of fact, there are five other buildings, two of which are now almost com-pleted and three are in process of construcpleted and three are in process of construc-tion, in which the dry closet system will be employed and in which the work is being done by the Fuller & Warren com-pany of Chicago. These buildings are: The West Omaha, Lothrop, Sarrstoga, Franklin and Windsor. The only school buildings in the city heated and ven-tilated by the Smead system are the Kellom and the Cliston Hill, both of which have the dry closet system.

Architect Latenser was seen with regard to the possibility of changing the plan of the buildings now supplied with the dry closet system to that of flush and sewer closets. "All of these buildings can be supplied with flushing closets with but slight expense," said the architect, "in case the board decides to make the change. I have been very particular to see that these new been very particular to see that these new buildings were so constructed that we could have sewer connections if necessary for water closet use. In the Clifton Hill building he would have to construct a cess pool, as the building is a very long way from any sewer connections whatever. At the Kellom we could connect with the sewer and still use the Smead system, now in use in that building. At the Lathrop building we could also change to the flush closet and retain the Fulier & Warren system, now in the building.

Promoters of home industry. MANUFACTURERS MEET.

Arrangements for the Exposition Are Progressing Satisfactorily. A meeting of the directors of the Manu facturers association was held at their rooms in The Ben building yesterday afternoon. The following were elected members of the association: Kendall & Tefft, millers, Havelock; Omaha Portland Cement Pipe company: Kearney Milling and Elevator company: Kearney Plow and Manufacturing company; Hub Printing company, Kearney; Ed B. Williams, tailor, Omaha; The Noble Diphtheria Remedy company, Blair; The Haller Proprietary company, Blair; Gothenburg Water Power and Investment company, and the Tecumseh Milling contpany.

The committee on invitations reported that Secretary of Agriculture Morton would be invited to be present at the opening of the exposition on May 22.

It was also reported that the Omaha Street Car company had agreed to donate $500 toward the expenses of the exposition.

The subject of having a fish exhibit at the exposition was then taken up and discussed at length. It was represented that there ought to be some attraction at the exposition in addition to the regular exhibits of the manufacturers. President Page re-ported that it would cost $500 at least to put in a good fish exhibit. Mr. May of the State Fish commission had promised to furnish the fish if the manufacturers would build tanks for them. Several of the manufacturers present who had seen similar exhibits were greatly in favor of the association going to the expense, and the president and secretary were instructed to arrange for the fish ex-hibit. The fish will be exhibited in six large iron and glass tanks.

Mr. Hodgin of the State Business Men's association was present and stated that he had talked with Mr. Gibbon of the Commer cial club and with other business men about calling a convention of his association during the time of the exposition. This would bring into the city 300 delegates of the association, which is composed of Nebraska retail merchants. It was the intention of the State Business Men's association not to hold any convention this year, but it is proposed to offer the officers and the delegates of the association free tickets to Omaba if they will meet here, the money for the same to be raised by subscription among the jobbers and manufacturers of the city. The Manufacturers association voted to sub-scribe $300 to the fund to be used in bringing in these delegates, provided the balance of the money is subscribed by the jobbers and citizens of Omaha. A resolution was passed isking that the business men of Omaha con-ribute to the fund. President Page reported that fifty, the mijority, of the spaces had been taken for the exposition by manufacturers outside of Omaha. The manufacturers of Omaha have not been called upon and hence only have applied for space. The general opinion among the manufacturers present was that the building would be crowded and that it would be hard work to find room for all who will want to make exhibits.
