Hard on the Western Union As the Louisiana lottery existed only-through the use of the United States mails, and died when their use was cut off, so the pool rooms could flourish only through the facilities extended to them by the telegraph company. To that company they brought an enormous annual revenue with the lowest cost of collecting it. Their prothe lowest cost of collecting it. Their pro-prietors were at the mercy of the company, and they never troubled it with litigation. They paid on the nail for everything and paid heavily; and it was natural that the company should give to such good pay-ing patrons all possible facilities for their business. No department was more thor-soughly cornelized than the grandling departcoughly organized than the gambling depart ment, and none paid better. But as the Louisiana lottery finally became, through its corrupting influence, a stench in the nostrils of all decent people, and so, despite its lavish outlays of money, was finally suppressed; so the pool rooms became a cry-ing evil, and the law has stepped in to make an end of them. Now that the state of New York has set the example it will surely be followed by the great majority of the states.

Consolation for the Company. How much the Western Union company has made in the past by its encouragement of these gambling places throughout the country, and how much it still makes, is not easy to conjecture. It certainly is no inconsiderable proportion of the dividend it pays, Of course it may be said that the company is not a censor of the public morals, that the pool rooms existed and it simply gave them business facilities. This is true, but when it is considered what they were charged for these facilities, how promptly and uncomplainingly the charges had to be paid, and how thoroughly their business (which wholly depended upor the use of the telegraph) was or-ganized, it is easy to see that they were a favored class of customers. They have been wholly suppressed in this state, they soon will be in nearly all the states with corresponding gain to the public morals; if the Western Union is a loser thereby, pecuniarily, even a large loser, its officers will at least have the consolation of knowing that what is their loss is the public gain.

WALL STREET CONCERNED.

New York Financiers Discuss the Monetary Situation.

NEW YORK, April 22.-Naturally enough in view of the continued heavy exports of gold to Europe and the uncertainty of the treasury policy, Wall street today concerned itself almost entirely with the various rumors in regard to the attitude of the New York banks toward the government. The sum of $100,000 gold was paid into the subtreasury in New York today by the Seamen's Exchange bank. The withdrawals were $1,100,000.

The most important event of the day was a two hours conference between the bank presidents and Assistant Treasurer Conrad N. Jordan at the clearing house this afternoon. After it was over it was learned that Henry W. Cannon, president of the Chase National bank, had a conference with Mr. Jordan last night and had gone to Washington as an emissary from the bankers here to President Cleveland. This morning President Cleveland. This morning
Assistant Treasurer Jordan issued an invitation to ten of the leading bank presidents to meet him at the clearing house for a conference at 2 o'clock today. At the meeting the financia situation was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided that the parity of gold and silver must be maintained and that the govechment must meet its obligations in gold at any cost. It was practically decided among the bankers that they would advance no more gold to the treasury without an in-vitation, and even then not a large amount without a bond issue. A Patriot for Profit.

Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle recently received an offer to deposit gold in the sub-treasury at San Francisco, which he ac-cepted. The gold was turned in and pay-ment for it to the correspondents in New York of the depositor was authorized by telegraph. The correspondent appeared at the subtreasury here and received green-backs, which he returned today and de-manded gold for them. Thus a transfer of gold was made from San Francisco to New York with a saving of freight and five days interest and a patriotic offer of gold was converted into a transaction for profit,
Mr. Carlisle will be here Tuesday or

Wednesday to participate in the naval demonstrations, and, it is thought, will have a conference with the leading financiers.

The usual ten days statement of customs payments at the port of New York shows a further slight decrease of payments made on treasury notes and a decrease in the re-ceipts of United States notes, almost equal to the receipts of silver certificates. The figures are: Gold, 21 per cent; gold certificates, 4 per cent; silver certificates, 20 1 per cent; United States notes, 47.6 per cent, and treasury notes, 26.2 per cent. Rockefeller of the Standard Oil company who has business interests all over the world, says: "I do not believe President Cleveland will let us go off a gold basis. He can keep gold and silver at a parity by selling bonds, and I believe he will do it. Aside from the gold question, I believe the administration will have to issue bonds, anyhow, to meet the expense of the government.

In Cleveland's Hands, "Our present trouble comes from the simple uncertainty of the situation. If President Cleveland came out in a straightfor-ward way and stated that he proposed to keep the currency on a gold basis by issuing bonds it would answer the purpose. I believe, with such a statement alone, the situation would be relieved enough so no bonds would need to be issued to maintain the parity. The general situation throughout the country is in good shape so far as our dealings go. Our exports with Europe have never been so large as they are today. As to the report about our demanding gold in paying bills, this applied only to our goods sold abroad. This situation has always ex-isted in our dealings with Europe. In our isted in our dealings with Europe. In our domestic trade domestic currency applies. It has always been this way. Europe may

rency on the Financial Situation. OTTAWA, Ill., April 22 .- On the eve of his departure for Washington to assume the duties of onice, Hon. James P. Eckels President Cleveland's recently appointed comptroller of the currency, was tendered a farewell banquet by the citizens of Ottawa where he has resided for twelve years past. Among the 100 guests were many Illinoisans of prominence in financial and political

In response to the toast, "Our Guests," Mr. Eckels presented his views concerning the conduct of his office. He said in part "The office bestowed upon me, unsought though it was, is not unappreciated, nor its responsibilities underestimated. From its creation under the exigencies of the civil war to the present the office of comptroller of the currency of itself has ranked high in the estimation of the public and gained in h enor and dignity by the character of those who have heretofore filled it with great credit to themselves and benefit to the Criticism has been passed by many that a practical lawyer, rather than a skilled finan cier, has been placed at the head of a bureau distinctively a financial one, and the intimation has been thrown out that the banking system must suffer serious impairment through the rashness of the comptroller in taking action without a sufficient under-standing of his duties. No impairment to any system can be brought about by an honest and rigid enforcement of the law which governs it, and those most strenuous in their criti-cism must not complain if the national bank act as it stands upon the statute book be the rule and guide of the comptroller. The danger to the public, the danger to the banks, has never been the rashness of the comptroller, but has always had its source in the indifference of bank officials to keeping within the restrictions of the law. I venture the statement that the history of bank faitures since the organiza-tion of the first bank will prove that the loose methods of the officials of failing banks or their patent dishonesties have caused the great majority of bank disasters. If those most interested in the national banks desire most to serve the public and themselves, let them insist that those placed in direct control of those institutions be not only tech-THEY COULD NOT COMPROMISE nically bonest, but absolutely so.

the point where we can view the business side of every public question apart from its political one, we will be freed from the troubles that have more than once returned to plague us. Who can doubt but that the less of politics and more of business judgment would have prevented the placing upon the statute books of the United States an act which today is giving the secretary of the treasury hours of anxious thought to maintain the nation's credit! Democratic partisans and republican partisans striving for party advantage gave to the special silver interests the Sherman law as against the business judgment of even the author of it himself, and, as a result, the financial world is agitated to the very center at the prospect of a silver monetary system here in opposition to that of every nation of recognized commercial standing. The disasters of its continued operation now

Strikers Still Unwilling to Accept the Ultimatum of the Road-The Meeting Was Indefinitely Postponed-Less Hopeful Feeling.

> The expected settlement of the Union Padiffic shopmen's strike failed to materialize resterday and the end is apparently as far off as ever. In fact the men are not as hopeful as they were Friday night, when it was the universal opinion that they would all be back at work Monday morning. Gate City hall, the headquarters of the strikers, was crowded all yesterday morning with men waiting for some word from the executive committee, but no word came, and at noon no notice had been posted of a meeting in the afternoon, which the strikers construed unfavorably, although they all expressed a wish that they might go back to work on Monday. As a boiler maker said, "we pay the executive committee for looking after our interests, and we have confidence in their ability to bring things around all right. i can stand this idleness for another week, and then if nothing happens to lift the strike I will have about $5 left to hunt a new job.

Nothing Developed in Conference. At 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the executive board of the striking machinists again went into conference at Union Pacific headquarters with General Manager Dickin-son, Superintendent McConnell and Judge Kelly, Earnestness of discussion charac-terized both sides, and it looked at times as if a settlement was not a probability. At 4:30 one of the officials in conference said "I cannot predict what the outcome will be. We are making some progress, but the result is as yet wholly uncertain. There is no telling how long we shall be in session."

Another said: "They don't seem to have got down to business yet. They are discussing matters in a general way and each side seems to be hanging off a little and unwilling to yield to the other."

Strikers Are Anxious. At Gate City hall as much or even more concern was exhibited than on Friday. The strikers kept dropping in during the whole afternoon to learn whether any tidings had been received from the conference. When 5 o'clock came there was some uneasiness. All waited patiently, however, for 60 clock to roll around, and when it arrived and no tidings came it was construed as a good omen, the men thinking the deliberations were draw-ing to a close and that both sides expected to finish at that sitting. But such was not the case. At 6:30 o'clock the executive board bank of New York, is in the city, his errand came strolling feisurely up Douglas street being, it is understood, for the purpose of with downcast look and sober countenance conferring with the secretary of the treaswhich told as plainly as words could tell it that their efforts had been unsuccessful and ury, and, if possible, the president, upon the financial situation. Mr. Cannon could not be seen tonight, and it is not known that that there was some vital point upon the strikers and the company could not agree.

When they arrived at the Arcade hotel a short conference was held, and again when they reached the corner beyond. Three hundred people were waiting anxiously in Gate City hall to hear the result. The com-mittee had evidently not thought of them, for it was breaking up, when Dave Stevens called to President Broderick and asked him what he proposed to do about the people up

The president returned, held a short con sultation with the others, hurried across the street and up the stairway and announced the result of the conference. The crowd immediately came down upon the streets, gathering in little groups and earnestly and soberly discussing the situation, and others dispersing to their homes. In ten minutes

all had gone. No Hope on the Horizon.

Judge Kelly, when seen shortly afterward, aid: "There is nothing new in the situa-ion. We are still at work, and believe the deliberations will yet result in an adjust-ment of the differences. We adjourned to no particular time, but I presume, of course, another consultation will be had

Thus matters stand. The bright prospects of Friday and Saturday are overcast by a cloud of doubt and disappointment, which probably only a change in the demands of the mechanics can dispel. It is not likely that a conference will be held today, be-cause it is well known that at least one of the officials is a strict Sabbatarian. The fact that go particular time was appointed for re-suming the work of the conference is construed as evidence that the proceedings were unfavorable to the strikers. tion assumed by the company evidently ing in the nature of an ultimatum, upon which the executive board is given time to ponder One thing is certain, the pass stipulation in the new articles of agreement submitted for signature on the part of the federated trades to the officials, will not be agreed to on the part of the company. As one official said, it would mean 30,000 passes a year, "not confined to our own system, but passes on foreign roads, which it would of course, be impossible to secure. The company cannot grant that clause, I assure you." Whether other concessions will be made it is hard to say, but as yet nothing has been done except talk. Mr. S. H. H. Clark, who expected to leave yesterday for Boston to attend the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Pacific, has given up his trip for the reason, as he says, that he does not want to turn his back on the difficulty which the road is at present experiencing.

Not Endorsed by the Federation. W. B. Musser, grand organizer of the American Federation of Labor, is not pleased with the statement which has been made public to the effect that his organization has taken a hand in the Union Pacific shops strike. In speaking of the matter Mr. ser said that the Federation had nothing to do with strike, as none of the men belonging to that order had gone out, and the probabilities were that they would not The facts were, he said that none of the Federation men had a grievance, as their aim was to secure shorter hours and employ ment, while the contention of the strikers was for longer hours and the letting out of a certain number of men, that they, the strikers, might make more money while their brothers were idle. Mr. Musser added that the fact of the strike being in progress had not been called to the attention of the Federation and if it had been it would not have been authorized for the reason that the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor did not affiliate.

Around the Shops.

A tour through the shops at quitting time disclosed nothing new. The men were hopeful that a settlement would be reached dur ing the day, but many there were who feared the conference would result in disagree ment. "If the conference fails in its purpose will you join the strikers?" was asked of a sheet iron worker.

"No, sir, I don't believe we will. The majority of the boys seem opposed to the idea,' was the reply.

During the present lull in the shops extensive repairs are being made and a general painting and cleaning-up process is going on. Should those who are now out go back they will behold quite a different appearance in their accustomed haunts and will un-doubtedly be much pleased with the change. The engine which, as it was said, had such a disastrous fall the other evening, has been repaired, and is out upon the tracks again The gates are all guarded as strictly as ever. Those entering, unless well known, are es-corted to the superintendent's office and obliged to give some satisfactory reason for

New York, April 22.-The International Association of Hotel Waiters met today, it having been reported that the men in several hotels had made up their minds to strike. General Secretary Sekel sent committees to the men, notifying them not to strike until Thursday. Later in the day he said that the committees had succeeded in inducing the men to remain at work, but it

A movement was started today by the International association to organize the waiters employed in the fashionable apartment houses. The strike next week will not effect the cheap restaurants and hotels. The very cream of the hotel business is aimed at. Some of the med expect that the struggle will be a short one. From now on they claim there will be a very great boom in the hotel business. Wifter the naval review the city will be crowded right along by visitors on the way to Chicago and this has inspired the strikers with the hope of a speedy victory over hotel proprietors. QUIET AT NORTH PLATTE.

This morning it was passed along the line that "good news for the strikers came this " But, following it up, one cannot find anything particularly reviving.

In an interview with Mr. Barnum, super intendent of motive, today, he said that the particular grievance of the men had been re-moved on the 13th, four days before the men went out, when the following order came by

It has been said that this was an after-hought. But the fact remains that the instructions as above were posted on the bulletin board in the machine shop on the 14th. Answering a question as to how many men had gone out, Mr. Barnum sain twenty-seven machinists, eleven—boilermakers—and also have some in reserve by reason of stock business usual at this time of year. The strike is remarkable for the quiet, gentle-manly conduct of those out and the absence of feeling between them and those who are at work. A FEAST FOR DEATH.

Twenty-Five People Fatally Poisoned by

Boiled Custard at a Colored Wedding. HOLLY ? PHINGS, Miss., April 22.-News has just been received here of a wholesale poisoning of negroes who attended a negro wedding on the Duke plantation, about twenty miles south of Holly Springs. Twenty-five negroes are lying at the point of death today. and the attending physicians have but little hope of saving one of them. The poisoning was purely accidental. It was caused by eating boiled custard that had stood for some hours in a new tin can. Soon after partaking of it the negroes were taken violently ill with symptoms of a chill. There were over 100 negroes at the wedding, but only twentyfive were poisoned. The negroes who are in a critical condition live in almost every part of the county.

sued by the Denver & Rio Grande, reading from Puebio to Kansas City over the B & M. from Denver, with the Pueblo coupen cut off. These lickets were all being sold at from $5 to $7 under the regular rate. The Atchison announces that, if these tickets are not taken off the market by May 1, it will, immediately after that date, make similar reductions in the regular rates from Denver to Chicago and St. Louis. This means the actual opening of a fight, which is bound to last or demoralize rates all through the period of the World's fair, if it is once allowed to begin. The roads which have opposed the Atchi on in the fight of that road against the Denver & Rio Grande are not particularly favorable of the rate of $100 announced from California last night by the Atchison. They say that it will not stick, and this, council with the speck of war at Denver, is ominous of a general upheaval. All the roads are of a general updeaval. All the roads are now working desperately to get their tickets out in time to be on sale on Tuesday next. They are all being issued with instructions to agents to demand their rightful proportion f local rates:

Mr. Roberts was asked if he thought the ailroad companies would not be benefitted by the World's fair, and said: "The World's fair should tend to stimulate the movement of traffic throughout the country, and if the assenger rates are properly maintained etween the different lines, they ought to reap some benefits from it."

Action of the Rio Grande. DENVER, Colo., April 22.—In an interview

today, President Jeffrey of the Denver & Rio Grande company, states that it is probable that before very long his company will announce a $45-rate between Chicago and Colorado common points, in both directions, for the purpose of promoting World's fair travel. It has been known for some time that the Denver & Rio Graude management is of the opinion that the rate between the points named should be no higher than $45.

The Modern Man-o'-War's Man.

As a rule, the man-o'-war's man takes his pleasures seriously, soberly and in discreet company, for the old tar of fiction and of song, like Great Pan, is dead, says Harper's Weekly. You will see him no more fresh from the Spanish main, garbed quaintly, striking attitudes like a master of dance and combat, shifting quids, hitching trousers, damning eyes and scattering double handfuls of doubloons and moidores you will see him no more cross-gartered and pigtailed, sword-girded and bepistoled, save in the weird melodrama, where the gods still love and believe in him. He is no longer a dual-natured being, a man with the virtues of a child, a child with the vices of a man. He is alert vicerous self-religat frank est, brave, soher. The type figuring in the mind as a dichard is the exception; and be sure that the shore rovers carrying lee gunwales under with a press of canvas and backing and filling-filling especially-along the hospitable channelways of the Bowery are not true representatives of our Yankee tars.

Plenty of Successors.

The largest royal family in Europe is that of England. Queen Victoria's family circle numbers fifty living descendants including sons and daughters, grandsons and granddaughters, great-grandsons great granddaughters, whom she has four sons-in-law, four daughters-in-law, five grandsons-in-law and one granddaughter-in-law. The queen has lost one son and one daughter, five grandsons, one granddaughter, one great-grandson and one son-in-law. If these were living her family circle would number seventy-four. There are now seventeen members of the English royal family available as necessors to the throne. The next largest European royal family is that of Denmark, King Christian having six children and twenty grando children. Edward I. was the father of eighteen children and George III. had fifteen sons and daughter. The oldest royal family in Europe is that of the ducal house of Mecklenburg, which traces its descent from Genseric,

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 22.—The story sent out last night of a bloody riot at Mor rillton was erroneous. It had been reported in the afternoon that the negroes were or ganizing at Menifee for the purpose of marching to Morrillton and burning the town. About midnight last night a construction train on the Little Rock & Fort Smith railroad pulled into Morrillton and a large force of negro laborers began to unload a lot of cross ties. In doing so they made a great noise. The sheriff was alarmed and buring the excitement a pistol was dis-charged in some unexplained way, the bullet from which struck Sheriff White in the leg.

This was the extent of the trouble, Made a Bad Start.
