

GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS

Hubbard and Lauer Charged with Swindling the State Generally.

MORE CASES LIKELY TO BE MADE OUT

With Money Alleged to Have Been Obtained by Forging Transfers of Property—How the Work is Said to Have Been Done.

Lincoln, Neb., May 11.—[Special to The Bee.]—The indictments recently found by the grand jury were today filed for public inspection. They are not as numerous as the charges found by the first grand jury, but as that body has not concluded its investigation, there will probably be more of the same kind brought in.

The charges of forgery and uttering and holding forged transfers of property are eight in number with names, dates and amounts as follows: That on May 7, 1891, Hubbard forged a note Lauer aided and abetted, the name of John P. Higgins to a voucher for $443 1/2; January 7, 1891, the name of E. D. Shaffer for $172; same date, the name of S. L. Southwell for $190; January 9, 1892, the name of S. D. Park for $140; April 11, 1891, J. Goope, for $294 1/2; September 18, 1891, the name of E. G. Park for $223.50; same date, Richard Fling's name, for $42.80; same date, the name of S. P. Leos, for $63. The last three name Lauer as the one who did the forging, and Hubbard as the aider and abettor.

It is also charged that Lauer and Hubbard on August 18, 1891, fraudulently procured a mortgage on the property of S. P. Leos had furnished cattle to the value of $261, when the real amount was only $20; that on January 7, 1891, S. E. Southwell was said to have furnished cattle to the value of $172, when none were furnished; that on January 7, 1891, they represented that E. D. Shaffer had furnished beets to the value of $172, when none were furnished; that on September 18, 1891, they represented that E. G. Park had sold cattle to the value of $294.50, when but $182.50 worth was furnished; that on April 11, 1891, J. Goope was represented to have sold beets to the value of $223.50, when but $180 was the real amount; that on January 9, 1892, they represented that S. L. Southwell had furnished cattle to the value of $190, and on March 8, 1892, represented he had furnished cattle to the value of $300.90, when in neither date had he furnished any supplies whatever.

The indictments against W. D. Sewell charge that on May 4, 1892, he fraudulently represented to the board of Public Lands and Buildings that he had furnished flour to the value of $29.10, when in fact none whatever had been delivered; and that on January 9, 1892, he represented he had allowed a bill of $30.25 for flour and corn meal, but of which $25.05 had been supplied.

Hubbard was arrested today, and this afternoon was still in the custody of the sheriff awaiting the appearance of his bondsman, P. J. Foss.

Selected Headquarters.

The grand lodge of the jurisdiction of Nebraska of the Ancient Order of United Workmen ended its labors this morning with the installation of the officers elected yesterday. A spirited contest arose between Grand Island and the city lodge for the honor of the grand lodge headquarters, but Lincoln won with comparative ease. It was also decided to hold the next biennial session of the lodge at Omaha. The meeting has been a successful one, nearly 40 delegates being present.

Before the State Printing Board.

The state printing board met today and listened to the protests against granting of the contracts on the basis of the lowest bid for action. H. D. Hathaway and Editor Sedgwick of York and other interested bidders were present defending their interests. It was claimed by the protestants that if the lowest bid on this year's program was accepted it would be an excess of from $17,000 to $20,000 over last year's accepted bid.

The State Journal Company, through Mr. Hathaway, claimed that on the work received by this company last year they did not make a cent, in fact lost several thousand dollars. A written argument will be presented to the board on Saturday against awarding the contract on the old basis and an answer will be given by the Journal and others interested on Monday. State Treasurer Bartley and Auditor Moore constituted the members of the board present.

Received His Commission.

General Victor Vifianin, who was adjutant general under the Boyd administration, received his commission from President Cleveland naming him for the position of chief quartermaster. The president has secured his passport and will sail from New York for his new field of labor about May 30.

City in Relief.

In the criminal side of district court today the case of the state against Joseph Middlebroth, Albert Wagner and Peter Hanson, charged with stealing peach brandy, was called and is now in progress. Ed Tvernie was not guilty of burglary, but guilty of petty larceny. The case against Henry Miller, charged with crime against nature, was called, but the prosecuting witness recanted his story. It was continued until Monday to find out if he prefers telling the truth or standing trial for perjury.

Lightning Struck.

Lightning struck Joseph B. Barr in the northern part of the city and entirely destroyed it. The Capital hotel also suffered from a slight stroke, while the telephone, electric light and street railway companies were partially disabled by the lightning's strokes.

The staff of 1610 P street is looking and longing for the return of her gold ring, which she allowed her domestic, Jennie Perkins, to wear to the show. Jennie never returned, and it is supposed that she has gone to her home in Lisbon, Ia.

The city of Lincoln is in a heap of trouble over the matter of patronizing the two hospitals, one run by Protestants and the other by the Catholic sisters. Four years ago when the Catholic hospital was opened the city, as an encouragement, entered into a contract to send all patients to that institution. Recently the Protestants opened a hospital, and the city agreed to allow all its charges to select which hospital they desired to be taken to. The Protestants, however, with their contract, and the councilmen will probably have a lively time explaining matters to the satisfaction of the public.

Work on the O Street Viaduct was begun this morning. Some dissatisfied property owners near by have threatened injunction suits, but they have failed to materialize as yet.

Death of Two Veterans.

Fort Niobrara, Neb., May 11.—[Special to The Bee.]—George W. Gardner, troop G, Sixth cavalry, a member of Colonel Wood post, Grand Army of the Republic, No. 52, died at the post hospital Sunday night of valvular disease of the heart. Mr. Gardner was one of the oldest soldiers in the Sixth cavalry, having first enlisted on May 19, 1862. He has filled every position an enlisted man can fill, and of late years has been clerk of the post. The family settled at Niobrara. His funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the post turned out en masse to show their respect for a man who served wherever his troop was stationed. Deaths of Two Nebraska Women.

West Point, Neb., May 11.—[Special to The Bee.]—Mrs. Ferdinand Walter, one of West Point's early settlers, died at her home in this city of dropsy, Monday, at the age of 41 years. Mrs. Walters was born in Quincy, Ill., in 1852, was reared and educated in that city and was married to Ferdinand Walters of West Point. The family settled in West Point in 1878, where they have always resided.

Appointed by Commissioner Garneau.

The continued illness of Mr. Seth Mobley in Chicago has made it necessary to appoint some one to assist in looking after the interests of the Nebraska people in the city. Commissioner General Garneau has asked Mr. D. L. Cartan to assume the position of secretary during Mr. Mobley's illness and Mr. Cartan left yesterday afternoon for Chicago.

Arguments that Would Not Be Listened to by the Chief Executive—Rawlins Resigns His Seat in Congress—Changes that Are Needed.

WASHINGTON, D. Rawlins of Utah has telegraphed to Governor West his resignation of his seat in congress.

HE FIRED HIS WHISKERS.

Mayor Harrison's Peculiar Way of Driving Away an Office Seeking Alderman. CHICAGO, Ill., May 11.—Mayor Harrison has invented a new method of ridding himself of office seekers. It will not work with all men, but it settles things when the visitor is adorned with whiskers. Mr. Harrison's plan, as practiced yesterday, was very simple. He touched a lighted match to the whiskers and the office seeker departed at once.

When Mayor Harrison came to his office in the afternoon it was fairly choked with office seekers. He had difficulty in forcing his way to the door of his private room, and as he did so was followed closely by Alderman "Little Mike" Ryan, who wanted an office for one of his constituents.

"Keep away, Little Mike, keep away, my boy," I say," remarked the mayor as he raved on the door of his office for admission.

The alderman smiled as much as he could. "It's only his way; I'm solid with him."

But the mayor did not regard the matter in that way, he repeated: "Go away; I won't see you."

Some one inside opened the door, and the mayor stepped over the threshold. Alderman Ryan followed, and when Mr. Harrison attempted to close the door Ryan put one foot inside and defied the mayor's attempt to bar him out.

Mr. Harrison looked down at the alderman and advised him a third time to go away. His cigar had gone out during the conversation. He took a match from his vest pocket, struck it and relighted his pipe.

Alderman Ryan's head was thrust half way in the door. His long gray beard stuck out in a tantalizing way, and quick as a flash the mayor jabbed the match into the center of it. There was a puff of smoke, a crack of flame, and a strong smell of burning hair and singed cuticle filled the air as the alderman wildly beat at the flames that lost some of their heat through the language employed by the alderman as he pranced about the floor until he had put out the fire.

Mayor Harrison paid no attention to the matter. He slammed the door and went on with his work, just as if setting fire to aldermanic whiskers were ordinary municipal business. The alderman left the city hall in search of a drug store to buy a new beard, with every motion of his scorched under jaw.

Many of the congressmen themselves, it is said, would welcome a change in the system.

REVOLUTIONISTS WIN.

They Overthrow the Nicaraguan Government—War Ships Ordered There. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—Secretary Gresham received a dispatch from Mr. Newell, consul at the capital of Nicaragua, which stated that the revolution in Nicaragua was a success and that the revolutionists are now in control of the government.

Dr. Gresham, the Nicaraguan minister, has received similar advice. It is understood he had a long conference with Secretary Gresham at the State department today and they exchanged information.

Mr. Newell's dispatch in substance is as follows: "The revolution commenced April 28, headed by ex-President Zavalla. The revolutionists hold Granada, Managua, Rivas, Contales, Matagalpa and San Juan del Norte. They are well armed, having a good supply of Gatling guns. The government forces number 2,000 men, poorly organized and led, while the revolutionists number from 3,000 to 5,000, commanded by prominent generals. The government forces made some unsuccessful attacks on Managua. Martial law has been declared and a decree has been issued for a forced loan of $300,000.

It is further stated that the revolutionists are in possession of the Nicaragua canal. It was upon this information, and that received from Minister Newell, that the Secretary of State ordered the steamer Herbert to another vessel to be sent to Nicaragua.

The Atlanta, now at New York, has already been ordered to proceed to Nicaragua, on the east coast, but as the revolutionary movement is nearer the west coast, it was deemed best to dispatch a vessel to that part of the coast of Central America. Two vessels were sent by telegraph today to the commander of the Alliance at San Francisco, directing him to proceed at once with his vessel to a point on the west coast. It is believed will promptly make her headquarters at San Juan del Sur.

No apprehension is felt in official circles that the new rulers of Nicaragua will fail to protect American interests. They will naturally seek to obtain early recognition from the United States, and this consideration, aside from international obligations, it is believed, will prompt them to adopt a policy of friendliness and property of citizens of this country.
