AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Council Passes Several Hours in Consideration of Routine Business.

Mrs. Cain Will Have to Fight for Her Claim—Decorative Day Celebration—Bohemians Seeking a Church Site—Notes and Personal.

The South Omaha, city council met last night and, although it took several hours, considerable routine business was transacted.

In regard to the opening up of O street from Twentieth to Fourteenth, Mr. Bulla, as chairman of committee, recommended that the petition be not granted, and his report was adopted.

Mr. Wyman introduced a resolution allowing the attorney Van Dusen $20 per month for office rent and $10 a month for typewriting service. Adopted.

Property owners on P street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth, petitioned that P street be cut to grade at once.

A petition was read to have Q street graded from Seventeenth to Twentieth.

The mayor returned with his veto the contract of Attorney Van Dusen $20 per month for West S. and T streets from Thirty-third to Forty-third streets.

City Attorney Van Dusen reported on the amount of $100,000 for the proposed opening up of Archer avenue.

The chief of police was instructed to notify Dan O'Neil, who is building a barn at the west end of the L street viaduct, to box a bill of $40 to Thomas Hector.

Mr. Freeman appeared before the council and his proposition was to present the proposed opening up of Archer avenue.

Bills will be advertised for the construction of sewers in districts 101 and 102 at once.

Caught a Canary. Billy McKee, a conductor on the South Omaha line, made a novel catch this morning.

His train pulled out for the north he heard a squeaking noise underneath one of the seats, but thinking that some of the machinery simply made a little rattling sound he paid no more attention to it.

News Notes and Personal. C. R. Newcomb is back from a trip west.

Foreign. The international congress of miners opened its session yesterday at Brussels.
