Fred Witchey of Valley Mysteriously Disappears from His Home.

FUNDS OF THE INSTITUTION ALL RIGHT His Friends Fear that He Has Been Foully

Dealt with by Tramps-Not the Slightest Clew to the Mystery.

VALLEY. Neb., May 27 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-Fred W. Witchey, who has for the past two years been assistant cashier in the Farmers and Merchants bank of this place, has disappeared. Mr. Witchey was a very Quiet and steady young man, of no apparent ad habits. He was married only a short time ago to a Miss Moon, who resided with her mother a short distance east of town, where he, too, has made his home since the marriage. Last Wednesday evening, May 24, about 7 o'clock, Mr Witchey left home, telling his wife he would not return until late, as he expected to attend lodge that evening. He was seen in a store down town told some of the boys that he would soon be up to lodge. He also made the remark that he had to meet the west-bound train, which was due at 8 o'clock. As the time for the train approached he passed out of the store and has not been seen since. Nothing serious was thought of the disappearance until Thursday evening, when a search was begun by the citi-zens. Telegrams have been sent to his rela-tives in different parts of the state, but no trace can be found. The stockholders of the bank held a meet ing and found that the funds of the bank had not been molested. The missing ma did not even take an overcoat or a change of clothing with him. His people fear there has been foul play in the deal, as trampe has been foul play in the deal, as tramps have been very numerous around town the past week.

Grand Island News Notes. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., May 27 .- [Special to THE BEE. |-Grand Island is to have a new German paper, the Nebraska Post, Messrs

Emil Barth and Fritz Becker, two young men, will be editors and proprietors. A few days ago an advertisement ap peared in a local paper saying that George W. Bruner had lost a pocketbook containing $400, notes and papers and that he lost it between Hastings and Grand Island. The pocketbook was found in the ladies' closet of the Union Pacific depot, but it was minus the money. The depot men think the pocketbook was picked up on a seat in the train by some woman, who later kept its contents and hid all evidence of the find in the closet. Despite the warnings of the local press to the farmers in Hall and adjoining counties the lightning rod agent is putting in his work. Felix Geisinger, a farmer of the county, told a BEE reporter his tale of woe yesterday. He related in language a great deal less elegant than emphatic, how the first agent came around and wrote out a con-tract for him that he would rod his house for $13.40; how the second agent followed with the rod and presented a note for $15 which the astonished agriculturist was asked to sign and, when the latter hesitated, how, with a careless smile, the agent in-formed Mr. Gelsinger he would be sued. ### ANXIOUS TO GET AT MOSHER

Lincoln Attorneys May Have an Opportunity to Cross-Examine Him

SUBPŒNAED TO APPEAR AT ONCE

He Will Be Questioned as to the Alleged Transfer of His Real Estate on the Eve of the Capital National's Collapse.

Lincoln, Neb., May 27 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-Judge Tibbetts' court room was the scene of a very lively and interesting argument this morning. It will be remembered that the first attachment on the property of Mosher and Outcalt was secured by the People's National bank and the Dixon (III.) National bank and afterward Mosher, Outcalt, Thompson and others filed long affidavits in support of a motion to dissolve the attachments, the affidavits setting up that the transfers were made in good faith and for debts due and owing.

The attorneys for the banks thereupon filed a motion to compel all of the men who had made these affidavits to come into court and submit to an oral examination as to the transfers and mortgages. The motion was aimed especially at Mosher, as Attorney Burr has been itching for three months to get a chance to impale the ex-bank president on the spear of his cross-examination, but hitherto without avail.

the attachment proceedings and all motions to dissolve them must be heard on affidavits, and fought vigorously against any orde compelling their client to appear. The court held, however, that Mosher must appear and submit to an examination as to the various transactions connected with the transfers of his property. The plaintiff also sought to secure an order from the court compelling him to summarily appear, but this was denied, the only thing being to order the issuance of a subpoena for his appearance. If proper service is secured upon him he must appear or liable for contempt of court.

It was this motion which was argued today. Mosher's attorneys contended that Will Cough Up the Cash.

City Attorney Abbott received word from General Manager Holdrege today to the ef-fect that the railroad companies interested in the projected O street viaduct will advance the money recently demanded by the council to meet current expenses. Two drafts have, by order of the council, been drawn by the city treasurer upon Mr. Holdredge, one for $10,000 and one for $15,000. The first one came back a few days since with Mr. Holdrege's refusal to pay. The second has not been heard from. The coun-cil wanted the money covered into the city treasury to meet expenses. Mr. Holdrege wanted to pay the expenses himself upon vouchers approved by the council and the engineers of the roads interested. Mr. Holdrege intimated that the local magnates of the road while are anxious to see the contract between th city and the companies fulfilled, the eastern officials of the Burlington would gladly be relieved of the company's obligations. By this contract the Burlington and the Union Pacific put up the cash for material and actual construction of the viaduct on condition that the city shall maintain it forever and vacate five blocks of Ostreet underneath it. Since Mr. Holdrege has yielded the disputed point to the council the only remaining obstacle to the building of the viaduct is tne suit recently instituted by property

HILL'S FRIENDS OFFENDED

They Assert that President Cleveland Gives Them no Consideration.

MACHINE POLITICIANS SELECTED

New York Senators Refuse ta Make Recommendations Because They are Satisfied Applicants Will Lose by the Operation.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BRE, 513 FOURTEENTH STURET, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.

New York state democrats, who belong to the Hill or "snap" element of the party, assert that the president delivered to them a direct slap in the face when he appointed John B. Riley of Plattsburg as United States consul general to Ottawa today. Riley was an "anti-snap" democrat who lost his office as chief examiner of the New York state civil service commission through his allegiance to the cause of the anti-machine element in the state. He was backed for a consulate by such men as Mowrey, Tracey, Weed and others of the anti-machine element in the politics of the state.

His appointment emphasizes the report that all the machine element are to be "turned down," and that no man who is known to have been affiliated with the Hill wing of the party will receive any considera-It is probably that a knowledge of the president's determination is responsible for the fact that Hill and Murphy have declined to make any recommendations. The latter, in a letter to a friend here received this week, declares that he believes it useless to endorse any one, as his endorsement might do msre harm than good.
