The services were conducted by Rev. G. W. Snyder. There were a number of fine floral offerings from the Veteran legion.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Awful Fate of the Little Daughter of Peter Nelson.

SUFFERINGS ENDURED BY THE CHILD

Playing with Matches the Little One Ignites Her Clothing and Before Help Could Reach Her She Was Fatally Burned.

A little 2-year-old daughter of Peter Nelson, who lives on the "Babbitt place" on East Washington avenue, was the victim of a distressing accident yesterday morning. Mrs. Nelson went to the barn to do the morning milking, but was soon called back to the house by the little one's screams. During her absence the baby had found some matches on the floor and went to playing with them. One of them became ignited and set fire to the little one's clothing, burning it all off from her body before assistance could be rendered. The child's body was horribly burned, and all efforts to save her life were unsuccessful. Her death occurred at 11 o'clock. The funeral will take place Sunday morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Thomson on East Broadway.

St. Louis has raised the largest entertainment fund on record, and is offering inducements of the most tempting character to tourists. All roads have direct connection with St. Louis, and no matter from what point the visitor to the World's fair starts St. Louis should be included in the route. Its conveniences and its carnival and other attractions are so great that to avoid visiting St. Louis would be a positive blunder.

A Chickens' Policeman.

A patrolman who is supposed to look after the safety of the citizens of Upper Broadway after night and see that there is no liquor in sight after 12 o'clock, had an adventure Thursday night which has wasted a great deal of energy in keeping to himself. While in search of wrongdoers he wandered into one of the poker rooms on Upper Broadway, that have been strictly stamped out by the city administration for the past two years. His first motive for entering the place was simply an official one, but before he had been there long he became so interested in a game of poker that he was going on that before he knew what he was about he had taken a hand and was busily engaged in picking up chips. Some of his friends kept him posted as to the time, and every hour he went out to the proper patrol box and made his report, returning like a pendulum to the place from which he started. It was well that he had friends, for before long the liberal potatoes he was supplied with began to hurt his brain and long was exploring the mysteries of a wild-eyed tot. Yesterday morning when he came to himself he found that his club was missing. Any information as to its whereabouts may be left at the Bee office. It was borrowed from another officer, and the Upper Broadway policeman is consequently doubly anxious to recover it.

A Debt of Honor.

Advice from the sick bed of Secretary Rose are to the effect that there is no prospect of any speedy improvement. At the best there is a long illness before him. In view of his condition it is a matter of regret that the Young Men's Christian association of Council Bluffs should owe him $400 for services rendered as secretary. There should be no delay in raising and paying this amount, for Mr. Rose not only needs it and it is his money, but it is money which he has more than earned by his efficiency and self-sacrifice. Any method adopted by the association to promptly meet this debt of honor should be heartily supported by the citizens, and of all the claims against the association it seems that this is the one whose merits and necessities should entitle it to immediate action.

Feetition Was No Good.

F. O. Gleason, in his contest with J. J. Hathaway for the office of alderman of the Third ward, was ruled out of court yesterday morning by a decision of Judge Deemer. The arguments of the attorneys on the demurrer filed by Hathaway were completed and the demurrer was sustained. This finally holding that the objections raised to Gleason's petition were sound. His attorney was given time in which to draw up a new petition remedying the defects, and this will have to be fought again from the beginning.

RUNNING OF MOTOR TRAINS.

Investigations of the Coroner's Jury Into the Recent Accident Yet Unfinished.

Another session of the coroner's jury was held yesterday and some interesting evidence was brought in to show just how much responsibility attaches to the motor company for the death of E. F. Holmes. T. J. Evans, a former stockholder and director in the motor company, stated that a rule was adopted when the trains were first operated by the conductor to run ahead of the crossing of the Burlington and Northwestern tracks and not to board the train again until it had passed the crossing. Every train had to come to a full stop before the crossing was reached. This rule, he said, was in force for four years, and was changed by the present superintendent. The same rule was observed all over the country. He considered the present action as showing a large amount of secretiveness to the employees of the company as to whether they should stop the trains demoralizing in the extreme and dangerous to the public.

MANUFACTURERS EXPOSITION.

This is the Last Day of the Great Exhibition at the Coliseum.

Every pleasant evening since the opening of the exposition the Coliseum building has been well filled and last night was no exception to the rule. The afternoon attendance was about 10,000, and in the evening the crowd was out in full force and there was just room enough left to admit of the people passing back and forth without any delay. The exhibition is a very interesting and valuable one, and many very flattering comments on the success of the exposition were heard on every side.

A lady crowd appears to put the manufacturers in good humor, and they never seemed to grow weary of explaining their exhibits, even going into the details of manufacture to satisfy the curiosity of the visitors. All the manufacturers having exhibits were out looking after them, besides having their salesmen and clerks on hand, so that visitors could easily obtain all the information desired.

A band of twenty pieces rendered a highly entertaining program during the evening. Music is a new feature at the Manufacturers' exposition. It has, however, proven to be quite an attraction.

At 10:00 the Coliseum was closed and the Manufacturers' exposition will close its doors, and the exhibits will be moved out on Monday, some of them to be returned to the factories and others to be placed in the building at the World's fair.

Several thousand Omaha people have not yet seen the exposition, and it is their last chance. Among the stay-at-homes are many prominent business men and bankers, who have been wont in the past to lament the fact that they could not get to the exposition. The exhibition has been a success, although the average attendance has not been what was anticipated, and it is due to the unfavorable weather. Every pleasant evening crowds have been the rule, and the only trouble has been that there were not enough pleasant evenings to bring the attendance up to what it should have been. The manufacturers regret that the attendance has not been greater, as the exhibition is designed to be an educator and the more people that visit it the greater will be the good accomplished. The money derived from the gate receipts, after the payment of expenses, is used to carry on the campaign for Nebraska factories so the whole state is interested in the success of the exposition.

We're all growing old together.

Not to do honor then to old age is to tear down the house in which we are to sleep at night.

All of us want to live forever, but none of us want to grow old. The reason for this is that old age has long been associated with feeble stomach and kidneys, and rheumatism.

In the past, weakness and various disorders were supposed to be inevitably connected with old age. Little was attempted to relieve senile feebleness.

But in 1893, sickness, whether in youth or age, is considered unnatural.

There is now no reason, say the highest medical authorities today, why the nerves should not act as smoothly, and the blood run as purely, in old age as in middle life—since the discovery of the remedy that makes the sick well.

Edward E. Phelps, M. D., J. L. D., of Dartmouth college, earned an enviable reputation by his discovery of Paine's celery compound for the cure of nervous complaints, dyspepsia, rheumatism, debility.

According to well known ethics of reputable physicians, this prescription was freely presented to physicians in good standing, and the formula is gladly given them today.

For that reason Paine's celery compound has never been included among patent medicines. Coming from so high a source, and so successfully tried and recommended, physicians have long employed it as unhesitatingly as they have used their official preparations.

It drives the poison-systems of deep-seated disease from the blood.

It brings buoyancy of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency.

It allows the overtaxed system to start fairly on the road to health.

It prepares the system so necessary to brain and nerve centres.

It strengthens.

It gives new tone to the system.

Makes the blood healthy.

Is food for the nerves.

It makes people well!

Thousands have been benefited, thousands have been cured by Paine's celery compound, when everything else has failed.

Try it.
