It has just been learned that Jay Worden, who is under indictment for committing half a dozen burglaries, has had similar experiences. An Omaha officer who looked into the county jail recently identified Worden as a boy who was arrested in Omaha a year or so ago on the charge of burglary. He spent about three months in jall at that time, but was finally discharged on account of a tech-nicality. This fact will tend to discrease what little sympathy the public now feels for him on account of his extreme youth.

THE DAILY BEE NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury in the Recent Motor Accident.

His Actions Criticised by the Citizens-Motorman Parr and Superintendent

Stone Held to the Grand Jury-

Where the Blame Rests.

STRANGE CONDUCT OF THE CORONER

The coroner's inquest over the death of E F. Helmes, who was killed in the Main street motor accident, was completed yesterday afternoon, instead of in the evening, as was announced at the close of last Friday's session. What happened is not known in detail save to the coroner, the jurymen and the witnesses, for the coroner issued an order excluding all outsiders from the proceedings. Reporters and representatives of the dead man's estate were alike under the ban, and the only record that is kept of the proceedings are the very imperfect notes kept by the coroner himself, the short hand reporters who took notes of all the preceding days sessions having been included in the order of exclusion.

J. E. Bixby, J. W. Hoyman, Herman Parr, the motor man, George Burke, the conductor, and Miss Maud Bryant were the witnesses examined. Miss Bryant stated that just be fore the accident the motor stopped and then started up again suddenly, conveying the impression to her that the conductor saw the train and was trying to pass ahead of it. distance cast of the crossing he received a severe shock from the brake, and ran the rest of the distance intervening between the switch and the crossing without his hand on the brake, so as to avoid any more shocks. When he saw the train he put his hand back on the brake, but sustained another shock that almost paralyzed his arm and covered his eyes with a sort of film that prevented him from realizing just what was going on about him.

The conductor, Burke, when asked why he oid not pull the trolley from the wire when he saw the danger impending, stated that he thought the motorman was trying to reverse his current, and saw that for him to pull off the trolley would be to frustrate the otorman's plans. After the evidence had been heard the urymen retired and soon after returned a verdict in which they held that the motor company was partly responsible for the accident and recommended that the case be turned over to the grand jury at its next session. It also directed that both Superintendent A. K. Stone and the motorman, Herman Parr, be held, the former because he revoked the old rule requiring conductors to flag the trains, and the latter because he attempted to cross in front of the freight action of Coroner Seybert in this case. It has been evident from the start that he was opposed to giving the case the sifting it deserved, and during the last day or two it has been just as evident that he desired to pre-vent the public, and even the friends of the dead man, who had a right to be interested, from learning the facts that might be brought out during the inquest. The end of the matter has not yet been reached by any means, however, and the information that the friends and family of the deceased have been deprived of will come out in another

City Council Finally Makes a Pass at the

O. & C. B. Bridge Company. The city council held its regular monthly meeting last evening-a meeting which will pass down into history as the one at which the councilmen, for the first time in their lives, made a bold stagger at bringing the motor company to terms. The first biff was not a very hard one, but it was something. Alderman White introduced an ordinance that read as follows:

Be it ordained by the city council of Council Bluffs, In.: Section 2—No corporation or person—owning Section 2—No corporation or electric motor section 2—No corporation or person owning or operating a street car or electric motor line over and along Broadway street and avenue A or part thereof of the city of Council Biufls, In., shall demand, charge or receive more than 3 cents for the transportation of any person from the intersection of Broadway and First streets to the western boundary of the state of Iowa or for any part of such distance.

Sec. 2. Any corporation or person owning or operating a street car or electric motor line over and along the streets and avenues or any part thereof or either of them referred to in section 1 hereof, violating the provisions of section 1 hereof shall be subject to a fine of $100 for each and every such violation.

Some one suggested that Main street, Fifth avenue and all the other streets where the motor company is operating ought to be included, and the ordinance was referred to the city attorney for revision.

The city engineer was instructed to report a grade on Monona and Test streets. The city marshal was instructed to abate the nuisance on Ninth street near Broadway in the shape of water and coal piles. The matter of doing away with the Man-awa motor switch at the same place was referred to the city attorney to ascertain what rights the city has.

Alderman Smith introduced an ordinance requiring all motor trains to be stopped not less than twenty feet from railway crossings and the conductor to precede his train over the crossing, and fixing a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100 for each viola-tion. The ordinance was passed under the suspension of the rules.

An ordinance requiring the park commis-sioners to make annual reports to the city council of all money received and expended by them was passed under a suspension of the rules.

An ordinance forbidding the offering of any diseased or unwholesome meat or vegetables for sale and providing for a fine of not less than $25 for violations, was read three times and referred to the health committee The meat and milk inspection ordinance was amended by the addition of certain sec-tions, requiring the inspector to visit each dairy in or about the city twice a month during the year and see that the cattle were free from disease and supplied with proper

The city meat and milk inspector reported that the apparatus now owned by the city for testing milk was insufficient and recom-mended that the city purchase a Babcock tester.

A resolution thanking Colonel Addison Cochran for his gift of the west end park to the city was unanimously adopted.

C. The committee to which was referred the matter of fixing boundaries for herding cattle recemmended that all ground west of Twenty-sixth street and between the Union Pacific tracks and Fifth avenue, be allowed to be a second for the second to be used for herding purposes. The report was concurred in and an ordinance contain ing the desired provisions was passed.

The committee on the proposed Indian creek bridge on Mynster street recommended that action be postponed one year on account of lack of money in the bridge fund. The

THEY THOUGHT IT WAS DYNAMITE.

Hangers-On in the City Clerk's Office Bave A lot of city records that were taken to the court house a number of years ago for safe keeping and have there accumulated must and dust, were moved to their new resting place in the city building yesterday morning. E. J. Abbott was superintending the job of moving them and putting them aways in the city's archives. Several men who were doing the socialbility act in the city clerk's office were surprised by the sud-den appearance at the door, of Abbott, with blanched face and chattering teeth.

"W-w-w-hat d'ye snppose this is!" said he,
as he held a long, dark object out to the view of the spectators. It looked as though it might be a piece of gas pipe, and there was a mysterious look about it that instantly brought the word "dynamite" to the lips of someone. There was a scatteration, and no one seemed anxious to relieve Abbott of his unwelcome burden. Gradually, however, the crowd gathered around and began to speculate as to what the bomb might contain, and what object anyone could have in trying to blow up the court house or the city building. "Let's have it," finally exclaimed City Clerk Zurmuchlen, waving a screw driver in the air, and as he spoke a determination to die for his country if necessary spread over his face and made his careworn features almost beautiful. The crowd gathered about him at a respectful distance and watched him pry away on the sealing at the end of the pipe, fully expecting to see his head and his heels part company and start out to see the world in opposite directions. But they were woefully disappointed. There was not the slightest sign of a sensation of that kind, and when at last the scaling was broken and a dirty, whitish cake of powdery stuff fell out there was a look of disgust upon the features of the people who had been fully expecting annihilation a few min-utes before. The "bomb" was ignominiously chucked out into the street and fell with a d—, s— t— that proclaimed it entirely harmless. It was a sample cake of cement, a reminiscence of public improve-ments of by-gone years.

Dangerous Man Trap. There is a place in the western part of the city which demands the immediate attention of the city authorities. It is the Indian creek bridge on Seventh avenue, The south fout-path connects with the road on the east end, but on the west there is a jumping off place which would drop a man three or four feet. Luckily it is the north side of the bridge which is used almost entirely, so that accidents have so far been avoided. There is nothing in the world, however, to prevent the south side from being used as well, excepting the fact that there is no sidewalk on that side of the street. Any one unacquainted with the lay of the land passing along on a dark night would very likely be hurled over the end of the bridge and a big damage suit against the city would be the inevitable result. It is a pure matter of luck that such a thing has not happened already. The city authorities, who lost the city $3.600 a week or so ago by their recklessness in allowing the Interstate Street Railway company to keep North Eighth street obstructed with its pieces of track, have learned a lesson, it is to be hoped, and will doubtless do something to prevent more expensive litigation. city would be the inevitable result. Supervisors Meet. The June session of the board of county supervisors opened yesterday morning, and all of the members were present, with the exception of J. R. Black, who appeared dury ing the afternoon. Routine business of but little public interest formed the larger part of the day's labors. A petition was pre-sented from the residents of Neola, asking that the Neola Reporter be made an official organ of the board and allowed to print no-tices for its benefit. The petition was granted and the Reporter will be allowed to charge half the regular advertising rates. The judges of the district court had a petition in asking the board to purchase a set of lowa reports and digests for the Avoca court house. This petition was also allowed and County Auditor Matthews was authorized to make the purchases. Most of the afternoon was taken up with the report of the county assessor and the equalization of assessments.

Found a Cure Long Sought. The Brilliant Saying of T. G. Appleton, Boston's Great Wit.

Not everybody knows that the bril-liant saying, "Is life worth living? That depends on the liver," originated with the late Thomas G. Appleton of Boston. There's enough wisdom in the pun to set up a college of physicians. The liver, indeed, makes one see things through rese-colored glasses, or through the smoky glass of disease. In the weakness of shutting one's eye to the beginning of liver troubles be know him. He has been in poor health for a long time, and his improved condition is the subject of general remark. Clarence T. Kirby is a drugglst in Towanda, and he says that when Harris went to him for two bottles of Paine's celery compound last May, before he started for a visit to his daughter in Orwell, he was in very bad shape, and he would not have been surprised if Mr. Harris had never come back to court again. Let Mr. Harris tell his story: He says: 'I have been troubled for years with what the doctors call Bright's disease, and my right kidney has bothered me terribly; my knees pained me so that I could hardly bend over at all I had dizziness in my head, although never was much troubled with head-ache. I have been so dizzy as to fall off my chair and had to be helped up by others. In these dizzy spells I would apparently see specks flying in the air. and I was troubled very frequently in this manner, both on the street and in the house. I had cramps nights so terribly that I could not get to sleep until 3 o'clock in the morning. I first read of Paine's celery compound about a year ago. Having tried nearly all the medicines and consulted several physicians without getting relief, I had little confidence in anything, but I spoke to Drug-gist Clarence T. Kirby about it, and he said he was having a great demand for it, and I concluded to try it. I purchased two bottles and took it to Orwell with me and used it according to directions. I began to feel better at once. When two bottles were gone I could get no more at Orwell and discontinued its use until I came back to Towarda. But certainty had less pain in my kidneys. had no cramps, and could sleep and rest nearly all night. When I went into the court house on my return. Judge Peck and all the court officers congratulated me on my improved appearance and told me I was getting young again. And I certainly feel younger now. I am taking my third bottle of Paine's celery com pound, and shall continue its use. It has done me more good than all the other medicine I ever took, and to it I owe my present improved condition of health.
