TWO SIDES TO THE STORY ARE PLAIN

Witnesses Tell Things that Do Not Reflect Much Credit on the Accused Parties—Study Transactions Hinted at by Several.

The investigation of the charges preferred against Y. Mos, the newly appointed clerk of the police court, was completed last night. The testimony developed nothing new or startling and was in line with that adduced at the first meeting of the committee.

C. A. Patterson had known Mos for six or seven years, and first met him in the office of the Nebraska and Iowa Insurance company, when he was at the note desk. It was stated that Mos had trouble in the office over the fact that he had given the company a mortgage for $100, and witness understood that it was to cover a shortage in his accounts with the company. Patterson did not remember whether Mos continued in the employ of the company after giving the mortgage. The witness thought L. B. Williams could give information on the subject.

In reply to a question from Mr. Mos, Patterson said that all he knew of the transaction was from the report of the train driver, Bernard Riley, of Riley Bros., said Mos had been employed by the firm and had charged of the books and cash. There was a deficit in the sales on three days, amounting to $10.75 the first day, $2.65 the second and $1.00 on the third. He watched Mos, made the discovery of the shortage, and Mos was discharged. Witness had not known of false entries. He had traced with Mos about seeing his report to his brother and witness had told Mos to close the deal, as he was ill and unable to attend to it. Mos had stated that the witness' brothers were attempting to do him up on the deal.

About a Cash Item. Michael Corcoran, who succeeded Mos as bookkeeper for Riley Bros., was there the day Mos had the cash drawer. On that occasion an item of $25 was taken from the cash drawer by Andy Riley, who said he had placed it in the safe. Mos proved in black and white that Riley had not placed the money in the safe, as there was not that much there. He had charge of the cash drawer and it was the practice for members of the firm to take money out of the drawer for expenses in some cases and in others no charge was made. Witness told of a transaction which he said he was asked by Andrew Riley to make a false entry in the books with the intention of defrauding Bernard Riley, a member of the firm. Corcoran refused and left the employ of the firm yesterday.

P. W. Simpson had been acquainted with Mos six or seven years in a business way and had always found him honest and truthful. A. M. Miller, who was employed by the elevator, and a neighbor, testified as to Mr. Mos' good character, and in business had always found him honorable and honest. Nathan Stevens, who had worked for Mos for six years in a business and social way and had always found him straightforward and upright.

His Own Version. Mr. Mos explained how he came to give the $400 mortgage to the Nebraska and Iowa Insurance company. He was employed by Hart for the company in December, 1886, and continued in the service until about the last of June the year following. His salary was fixed at $70 a month. Before the month had expired he received a proposition from C. E. Mayne to enter his employ at a salary of $200 a month. He accepted this offer and Hart agreed to pay him a salary of $100 per month and an additional $200 quarterly. He succeeded in getting the books and cash from Hart and had testified as to the mortgage, and since that time bitter feeling had existed between them. He was in charge of the books and cash and had received the $200 quarterly. He had never been requested to do, and then commenced a search for the $200 quarterly. He was in receipt of the $200 quarterly, and he had never been requested to do, and then commenced a search for the $200 quarterly. He was in receipt of the $200 quarterly, and he had never been requested to do, and then commenced a search for the $200 quarterly.

No Very Marked Change in the Great Boot's condition, it must be admitted that he is slowly falling.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS. Ex-Senator A. S. Paddock is in the city. Bishop Worthington has gone to New York.
