Council Meeting. The city council held a short meeting last evening for the purpose of transacting a few items of business that were to come up for special consideration. The principal item was with reference to the proposed settlement of the suit of Bennet C. Tabor against the city, involving the ownership of a piece of ground upon which the city building is located. Tabor had offered to settle and dismiss the suit on the payment of $100 and the costs, and City Attornoy Hazelton and the judiciary committee recommended that his offer be accepted, as there was good ground for believing that in case the suit was pressed to trial the city would come out second best. Local Banks Not Affected by the Omaha Financial Flurry.

BUSINESS MEN RETAIN CONFIDENCE

Not a Particle of Excitement in the City-Banks Prepared to Meet a Run Should One Start-No Cause for Alarm.

Notwithstanding the financial difficulties yesterday in Quaha, the banks in Council Bluffs went along the even tenor of their way, and so far as could be seen there was not the slightest uneasiness felt in business circles. The latest news from Omaha was asked for with the greatest interest, but no one had any thought of drawing out his deposits from the local banks. "There is not the slightest reason for any depositor to draw out his money," remarked a well known banker yesterday. "We shall not be effected in the least by the shutting up of the banks on the other side of the river, and we do not expect any trouble. We are prepared for it, however, if it comes, and if any crazy man should succeed in starting a run on us we will pay every cent. The banks will be the only ones who will reau banks will be the only ones who will reap any benefit from a run, consequently for every cent's worth of interest which comes due the 1st of next month will be forfeited by those who draw out."

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

Interesting Program of Exercises Arranged by the Papils.

This is the crowning day of glory with the members of the graduating class at the High school, for it is today that they will appear upon the platform of Dohany's opera house in clothes that were built especially for the occasion and in the presence of an applauding multitude of friends bow themselves out of school into active life. The excreises this year will be even more interesting than usual, and from the way in which seats were gobbled up yesterday morning within an hour of their being placed on sale, there will be a crowd at both afternoon and evening sessions that will fill the opera house to overflowing. No Bathing at Fairmount. The park policeman at Fairmount park has had his hands full for several weeks past to keep at a respectable distance a crowd of boys who have persisted in using the cosy little lake as a bath tub, in spite of the orders to the contrary. Monday night the lake was full to its brim with laughing, struggling boys and the park policeman thought it was a good time to make a raid. He accordingly sent a telephone message to the city building and in a minute several policemen were on their way to the park. In going down the bank to the water's edge Marshal Temploton missed his footing and slid on various parts of his anatomy for a distance of about twenty feet. Officers Weir and Murphy followed suit, and the crashing of boughs and the boom of profanity gave the small boys warning that something was about to happen, but left them no time to prepare for it. The whole gang was speedly gotten out of the water and taken to the city jail, where, after a good scaring, they He accordingly sent a telephone message to gotten out of the water and taken to the city jail, where, after a good scaring, they were allowed to go free on condition that they would be on hand at the opening of police court. A lecture from the court was the climax of their punishment. All were boys belonging to respectable families, but they gave false names. It is hardly likely that any of that crowd will try the sport again.

Celebrate the Fourth COUNCIL BLUFFS, June 13 .- To the Editor of THE BEE: The "glorious Fourth" is rapidly approaching, and what are our cities going to do toward celebrating it, in a proper manner! is a question which deeply interests a great many people at the present time. The cities of Council Bluffs and Omaha certainly ought to do something in this respect. They have been frequently put to shame by much smaller cities and towns and in order that this may not occur again, would it not be possible for the two cities, Omaha and Council Bluffs, to unite in making one grand demonstration, such as has never been seen in the west before, and which would redown to their honor and credit and be of a vast amount of benefit, particularly to the business portion of the population. If such a union can not be effected, then let Omaha, she being the larger population. If such a union can not be effected, then let Omaha, she being the larger city, make an appropriation for this purpose and I am quite sure she will receive the hearty co-operation of the citizens of Council Bluffs. If the city will not make the necessary appropriation, then we appeal to the business men to do it. It is for your benefit, and I am sure you are enterprising enough to come forward with the needed amount. If the appropriation can be obtained, there are hundreds of willing hands ready and wait-ing to perform the work. Now, then, let us, as citizens of our respective cities, wake up and have a demonstration on the Fourth of July that will bring honor to our city and credit to ourselves. W. S.

Frank Peach Discharged. Frank Peach was tried in the district court yesterday on the charge of stealing a lot of tools from Hermann & Brown's carpenter shop near the court house. The charge in the indictment was burglary, but there was no evidence brought out in the trial to show that he had broken into the place, though it was shown that he had pawned the tools in Omaha, and had the pawn ticket in his possession when arrested. The case was given to the jury and after an absence of several hours a verdict of not guilty was re-turned. There is still another charge to be ventilated against Peach at this term of court. He is accused of steady

The coroner's jury held an inquest yesterday afternoon in the case of Anthony Kasper, who was killed last Saturday by the Rock Island flyer. The evidence of the train men was heard, and the circumstances attending the tragedy were related about as they have already appeared in the news-papers. At the close of the inquest the jury retired and brought in a verdict soon after finding that the deceased met his death by being struck by the Rock Island train while he was walking upon the tracks contrary to repeated warnings from the management of the School for the Deaf, of which he was a pupil. No blame was attached to the employes of the railway company.

The grade is very steep just south of Pierce street, and at the foot of the hill runs the motor track. A motor was approaching, but the bell did not ring and she had no notice of its approach until she was within twenty feet of it. It was then too late to stop. The pneumatic tire of the machine collided with the rear car and rebounded, and as it struck the young indy seized hold of one of the upright pieces and held on. The wheel escaped damage, while its rider was not injured, pting for a shaking up and a number of bad bruises.

HIS ANXIETY FOR THE CLERKS' COMFORT

Mandamus Proceedings Begun by the Colonel to Compel the Coroner to Permit Him to Be Present at the Inquest.

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- The proceedings in the district supreme court in the Ford case today were interesting. The petition filed by Colonel Ainsworth gives in detail the condition of the building and his participation in the work, which is the first statement bearing directly on the case he has made since the accident. Colonel Amsworth says he heard certain rumors touching the *ecurity of the eastern wall of the building when he assumed control and he made diligent inquiry among officers of the War department and learned it had been made perfectly secure and the entire building was in every respect safe. The reports were confirmed by the architect of the capitol, Clark, District Building Inspector Entwistle and Civil Engineer Green. He placed additional confidence in these statements because he knew the walls and floors for many years, up to 1887, had safely sustained the great weight of the United States war museum and library.

To further promote the comfort of employes in the building, he had procured an electric light plant, and for the purpose of locating this plant and to improve the ventiocating this plant and to improve the venti lation of the basement, it became necessary to excavate a space about twelve feet in width between the partition walls in the basement. This, he says, required to be underpinned. He caused specifications to be made, and submitted them to the War department. Bidders were required to do the work without danger, and amid all the fourteen bidders, Colonel Ainsworth says, there was no intimation of any probable danger. Was Cantious.

Out of abundant caution, the colonel says, during the progress of the work he had frequently gone into the basement in case there should appear the slightest indication of danger he might warn all occupants in the building. In addition to this he required the superintendent to constantly watch the work and instructed him to report immediately any indication of danger. Upon inquiries by both they were repeatedly asured that the work was progressing with absolute safety. Colonel Ainsworth denies that any of the occupants of the building made any surges-tions of danger to him or any one else to his knowledge until after the accident. Concerning the space roped off, he declares he gave no directions, nor was any one authorized to do so, with respect to the move-ment of clerks in or about the building during the progress of the work.

Colonel Ainsworth says he is convinced that an investigation of the affair will result in his acquittal of all blame. He asks that the deputy coroner be commanded to permit him to be present with counsel and add such measures as are necessary to protect his life, which is said to be threatened.

District Attorney Barnet filed a demurrer, claiming that Colonel Ainsworth's petition did not set forth any matter that entitled him to a writ of mandamus.

The court took the matter under advise ment until tomorrow morning.

Indignant Clerks Tell of the Unsafe Condition of the Old Ford Theater. WASHINGTON, June 13.—The inquest into the cause of the Ford theater disaster was resumed today. A squad of police was present to preserve order. The testimony so present to preserve order. The testimony so far developed nothing new.

Ernest Berger, a clerk, told of the belief among the clerks that the building was dangerous. Talking to Clerk Fred Collins on the subject, he said if it did collapse Ainsworth ought to be under it. The stairs were by no means adequate, and he had noticed a bulge in the rear wall.

Edward Bayer another clerk, told of Edward Bayer, another clerk, told of employes' fear. He had not made a complaint, because he feared the consequences. He knew of a cierk who had asked to be reusrters and who moved to safer quarters, and who had been told his only recourse was to resign. The clerks felt strongly against Colonel Ainsworth and Jacob Freech, because they had not been furloughed while the excavation was going on. The witness knew of a petition which had been circulated, asking for a furlough, and said the clerks refused to sign it because they were afraid of the cenit because they were afraid of the con-E.F. CRIME IN HIGH PLACES! It is not strange that some people do wrong through ignorance, others from a failure to investigate as to the right or wrong of a matter. But it is strange, that individuals and firms, who are fully aware of the rights of others, will persist in perpetrating frauds upon them. High-toned, wealthy manufreturing firms will offer and sell to retail merchants, articles which they know to be infringements on the rights of proprie tors, and imitations of well known goods. We want to sound a note of warning to the retailers to beware of such imitations and simulations of "CARTER'S LIT-TLE LIVER PILLS." When they are offered to you, refuse them; you do not want to do wrong, and you don't want to lay yourself liable to a lawsuit. Ben Franklin said "Honesty is the best poli-"; it is just as true that "Honesty is the best principle."

It is a fact worthy of mention that Mr. Ford is the fortunate possessor of nearly forty barres of the diest whisky in the United States, in 1820 he bought seventy-five barres of Keatucky C. F. C. Taylor whisky, and it was not until about three years sign that he placed the goods on the market. Of this stock he has left about forty barrels, and experts all pronounce it absolutely the timest whisky in the country. He sails it mainly to families for modicinal use, as it is too costly for the regular trade. It is worth over 510 per gallon. There is not another brand of such whisky in the U. S.
