Judge Walton's Recent Decision Discussed and the Charter Cited-

CITY ENGINEER ROSEWATER'S VIEWS

He Holds that the Charter Provisions Have Not Been Properly Presented to the Courts - Sections that Have Never Been Considered.

City Engineer Resewater, in commenting upon the opinions of both the district and supreme courts in relation to the proper interpretation of the city charter of this city and Beatrice, cites from the charter in support of his position. He holds that it is not necessary to have a petition from three-fifths or any other number of the property owners in order to create a paving district, but that when such a district is created and the city neglects to pave it, the property owners can compel the city to go ahead with the work napped out by a majority petition. Or when they desire the city to pave where a district has not been created by the council, the property owners can, by a three-fifths petition, authorize the mayor and council to go ahead, the property owners in that case assuming the entire expense. Beatrice Case Cited.

In speaking of the opinion of the supreme ourt in the Beatrice case, the city engineer said: "The court based its opinion on the fact that certain signatures to the petition represented county and school property, which, it was alleged, was nontaxable, and therefore could not be properly regarded as constituting a part of the necessary majority to call for the ordering of the work. The court held that after trying to find from the statutes what constituted nonassessable property, it could find nothing that would come under that head expressly designated by the charter, and expressly designated by the charter, and therefore construed nontaxable property to be such as the general statutes exempted from taxation. After so classing this property in controversy in the Beatrice case they excluded it, and held that the petition was therefore lacking in the number of feet represented and thus also void. Now, I hold that this law was framed for metro-politan cities, and as such was copied by Lincoln and Beatrice.

Exempt from Assessment. "The position of the court is erroneous in The position of the court is erroneous in determining what is nonassessable property, as it is not that which may be exempted from taxation, but is that which cannot be assessed, even by the legislature. There is nonassessable property in Omaha and Lancoln, and there is in every city where the government owns a postoffice. The legislature coded to the government all state rights in connection with the postoffice property here, even to the middle of the streets passing it, and no policeman, constable or other state officer has a right to arrest a man there, nor can the city assess for improve-ments made there. That is what is meant by nenassessable property, and here is the clause relating to the course of procedure in such cases: 'If in any city of the metro-politan class there shall be any real estate not subject to assessment of special taxes for paving purposes, the mayor and council shall have the power to pave in front of the same and to pay the cost thereof that would otherwise be chargeable on such real estate, in the same manner as herein provided for the paving of intersection of streets and paying therefor.' I am satisfied that the court would not have rendered its decision in the Beatrice case had its attention been called to this class of nonassessable prop erty to which reference is made in the char-

Discusses the Situation. "Now, as to this decision made by Judge Valton. He holds that before the paving can be done it requires a three-lifths peti-tion of the property owners to create the paying district. Again I am compelled to Here is what the charter says about the matter in section 69:

"The mayor and council shall have power to improve any street or alley, or part thereof, in the city, and for that purpose to create suitable street improvement districts, which shall be consecutively numbered, such work to be done under contract and make the such work to be be consecutively numbered, such work to be done under contract, and under the superin-tendence of the Board of Public Works of the city. Said improvements shall consist of pav-ing, repaving or macadamizing, as well as curbing, if such are necessary on any street or alley ordered by the mayor and council.

"When the city council neglects to pave or improve a district once created by it, the charter provides as follows: "When the city council neglects to pave or improve a district once created by it, the charter provides as follows:

"Whenever the owners of the lots or lands abutting upon the streets or alleys within the street improvement district representing a majority of the foot frontage thereon shall petition the council to improve such streets or alleys, it shall be the duty of the mayor and council to improve the same, and in all cases of paving, repaving or macadamizing there shall be used such material as such majority of the property owners shall determine upon; provided the council shall be notified in writing by said owners of such determination within thirty days next after the passage and approval of the ordinance ordering such improving. In case such owners fall to designate the material they desire to use in such improving in manner and within the time above provided, the mayor and council shall ditermine upon the material to be used. Provided further, that whenever the property owners representing three-fifths of the feet frontage of lots or lands upon any street or alley, or part thereof, shall petition the city council to create an improvement district including street and alley intersections, if any, and to have the same improved without cost to the city, then and in that case the council shall have power to create such district and cause a contract to be made for such improvement, and to assess and levy a special tax upon all lots or lands within such improvement district so created, to pay for the said improvement within the same, including the intersection of streets and alleys, if any. The mayor and council may, in their discretion, include all the real estate to be charged and assessed with the cost of such improvement in the improvement districts in this section hereinbefore provided for, but they are not required so to do; and the mayor and council may in their discretion, in determining whether the requisite majority of the owners, who are hereinbefore authorized to petition for improving and to de

"Three things are very plainly stated by the charter in the section quoted. First, the mayor and council can go ahead at any time and create paving districts and order paving regardless of property owners or petitions. Second, if, after districts have been created the council concludes not to go ahead with work, or refuses to do so, a majority the foot-front owners can compel that body by petition, to go on with the improvement. Third, a three-fifths majority of the foot front owners in any undistricted territory can at any time authorize the council to create a paving district, the property owners in such district to pay the entire cost of the improvement, whereas under other circum-stances they would have to pay for but part of it. Here is a clause that some of the law interpreters seem to have stumbled upon: 'Curbing and guttering shall not be ordered or required to be laid on any street, avenue or alley not ordered to be paved, ex-cept on the petition of a ma-jority of the owners of the property abutting along the line of that portion of the street, avenue or alley to be paved and guttered. The whole work, including pav-ing of the street, can be ordered without petition, but if it is only to be curbed and gut tered and the paving left until some other time, it requires a majority potition. I am thoroughly convinced that the position of the court is erroneous because the facts have not fully been presented in the cases tried, and that the majority petition provision of the charter is very generally misunderstood."

Contractor's Opinion. The decision of Judge Walton in the case of Beard against the city of Omain calls forth a vast amount of adverse comment, and it is the unanimous expression that it will greatly delay all public improvement this year even if it does not prevent it entirely. One of the principal paving contractors said vesterday.

tractors said yesterday:
"It is something ridiculous to hold that the Board of Public Works cannot advertise for bids until the property concers have declared their preference for a certain material, on the ground that the contractors cannot bid intelligently contractors cannot bid intelligently until they know what material is to be used. It ought to be apparent to any one that a contractor can bid on any material, no matter whether it is to be used or not, for he never knows when he bids whether he or some one else will get the contract. It is however, of the utmost importance to the property owner to know what the bids are on the various material before he can dead on the various material before he can decide as to which one he wants, as the cost is what influences him in nine cases out of ten, and not his individual preference as to the bare

"If that opinion holds good and the city goes ahead on that theory, and material is selected for the various districts before bids are asked for, what protection would the property owners have! Why, they would simply be skinned alive. Suppose you and I simply be skinned alive. Suppose you and I were brick contractors, an adistricts were ordered paved with a bids asked for. We would agree that as the districts on, say the south side, were handler for you, and that as I would get my material over the Missouri Pacific the north side would be better for me We would bot bid on all k districts, but I would bid out o sight on the outh side and you would slap the price away up on the but I would bid out o sight on the outh side and you would slap the price away up on the noth side, and we would each get what we wanted, even the winning bids being a good advance ever any that have ever been accepted by the board." "But the board could reject all the bids if it thought them too high?" it thought them too high?"

"Woll, it might be argued that way, but it would not pan out in practice, for the contractor would mandamus the city and compel the award of the contract. The bids might be rejected once or twice, but a contractor could make a winning showing if it was persistently sought to keep him from from getting the contract after the property owners had declared for his material and the board had advertised.

"You see, after the property owners have 'You see, after the property owners have selected their material their rights have been fully exercised and they have no further protection. The only way that the city can hope to get the most favorable bids is by putting the various materials in competition with each other, for when all but one are barred in a certain district that one is going in at a stiff figure. I understand how going in at a stiff figure. I understand how it happened that the decision is as it is. The city was not properly represented in the case. The city attorney did not call a witness, or make any showing from the offices of the city engineer or Board of Public Works, and the court was left entirely in the dark as to the real facts in the case. It is not to be expected that the court would be as familiar with the matter as the facts. be as familiar with the matter as city of-ficers whose duties relate to it almost en-tirely, but for some reason the city did not call them and the case practically went by

MR. GARNEAU REPLIES.

Commissioner General Responds to the Criteisms of the State Auditor. Mr. Joseph Garneau, jr., may not be the author of a "Brady Letter Writer," but he knows a thing or two about polite correspondence. So when he read in THE BEE yesterday the epistle of State Auditor Moore concerning the expenditures of the Nebraska Columbian commission, he proceeded to turn out a sample of what might be called a "response to a letter concerning personal mat-ters, in which the writer has indulged in some critical allusions." It follows:

some critical allusions." It follows:

OMAHA, June 21.—Hon. Eugene Moore, State
Auditor, Lincoln, Neb.: Dear Sir.—Your communication of the 17th, but post marked Lincoln, June 20, 5:30 p. m., was received by me this morning. I note a reproduction of this communication in The OMAHA DAILY Bee, morning issue of the 21st. As you have committed the discourtesy of addressing a personal communication through the columns of the newspapers, I will reply to you through the public press. It seems to be preferable to you.

Commissioner General.

Commissioner General. This being intended as a sort of an appe-tite raiser, the commissioner general proceeded to supply a square meal in the following: OMARIA, June 21.—Hon. Eugene Moore, State Auditor Public Accounts, Lincoln, Neb.: Sin— I note in this morning's issue of The Beg a communication addressed to me under date of June 17.—I have received a similar communition from you through the malls under date June 17, but post marked Lincoln, June 20, 30 p. m., and consequently not received until its morning. this morning.

During my visit to Lincoln yesterday for the purpose of cashing a state warrant of $5,000, I made a social call upon you, and in discussing matters with reference to expenditures ac-

In made a social call upon you, and in discussing matters with reference to expenditures account of the World's fair you mentioned some of the complaints contained in you communication which I thought were fully explained, and was unaware of your premeditated and unjust attack, as you made no mention whatever of the communications in question.

The law requires that a special report of the duties of my office, together with expenditures of same, in fact, a general recapitulation, shall be made to the governor at the expiration of my term, hence it is not necessary to explain to the public at this time the vouchers which you call into question, besides which of an ord disposed to be catechised by you, nor will I give you the gratification of answering your questions, which are not proposed under the proper authority. The numblest novice in commercial life, after reading the third section of the act under which my office was created, would realize immediately that the functions you propose to assume in questioning either the litens of expenditures of my vouchers are an assumption of authority unwarranted and entirely presumptious on your part. It occurs to me that an officer elected to represent the great state of Nebraska as auditor should at least know the first principles of commercial and municipal law. In quoting from the legislative act, I note as follows:

"Section 3. The appropriation provided for in this act can only be drawn from the state treasurer on estimates made by the commissioner general, and no one estimate shall exceed the sum of $5,000, except in the case of emergency, and then only on the approval by the governor, showing the items of expenditure paid by him, giving the date paid, to whom, and for what purpose each in this act, which warrants shall be drawn in favor of the commissioner general."

You will note from the reading of this section your powers are not judicial but ministerial, and there is no provision for an exercise of your desires in the premise of the state complying fully with count of the World's fair you mentioned so of the complaints contained in you commu cation which I thought were fully explain

It is very distasteful to me to be obliged to write personal or open letters of this character, but have come to the conclusion I will no longer permit my actions or motives (when executed directly under the law) to be assailed, and I say to you, sir, I have no desire to hime from notice a single official act of mine, and stand today prepared to defend myself unon any proposition which entails the interest of Nebraska.

My sincerest regret is that this controversy should be promoted by one of the chief officers of the state in the person of its auditor's ignorance of the law. Respectfully, Joseph Garnau, Jr., Commissioner General.

For twenty cents you can insure yourself and family against any bad results from an attack of bowel complaint during the summer. Repairing Washouts. In less than two months it has cost the city $8,000 to repair washouts in the streets. May 12 the council set aside for the use of Street Commissioner Winspear, in repairing the streets, $3,000. Three weeks later $5,000 additional was voted for the same purpose, and last evening the commissioner asked for $2,000 to complete the work. This makes a total of $10,000 Mr. Winspear will have expended by the lat of July.
