C. S. Lawson returned yesterday from California, where he has been receiving for a few weeks his mother, who has been spending about eight months there, returned with him.

During the past month there have been reported 130 cases of contagious disease. Nearly all of them were measles, the only others being two of diphtheria and nine of scarlet fever.

The dress of Contractor M. A. Moore has delayed the paving of Fourth avenue for some time after it was expected that it would be finished. The property owners are becoming somewhat impatient.

Mr. P. H. Fotheringham of the Boston Store has returned with his bride from Fort Dodge, where they were married last Wednesday, after a honeymoon at their friends at 221 South Seventh street.

Ethel, 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tietje, died yesterday at the family residence on the corner of Broadway and Twentieth and Twenty-first avenues. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Nathan Phillips, assisted by Miss Oliver, Miss Rice, Miss Reynolds and Miss Richmond, will entertain St. Paul's Guild at her home on Bluff street this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Patricia Williams has just returned from the School of Music at Jacksonville, Ill., will sing.

The appellate court of St. Louis has sustained the order of the United States circuit court in this case in the case of Granville J. James against the Union Pacific Railway company. The suit was pending in court for a long time and the amount of $7,500 in favor of the plaintiff was finally rendered last September.

The merchants of the city have donated a number of prizes to be given at the field day exercises to be given on the Fourth at the driving park, under the auspices of the Young Men's Athletic association. The prizes, which are now being circulated, give the names of the donors, and all who wish to inspect the prizes can find them at their respective places of business.

John W. H. Kelley, who has been appointed general agent for western Iowa for the United States Masonic Benevolent association and the Guaranty Fund Life association, returned yesterday from a trip over his territory. He reports the condition of the country throughout, the entire western half of the state being unusually prosperous, with the farmers declaring the climatic conditions to be the most perfect in twenty years.

Sheriff Hazen returned yesterday from Fort Madison, where he went to take four prisoners to the penitentiary. While there he met a number of old acquaintances, among them Fred Krieger, who presented him with a finely made and polished "billy." Bill Criss, another Council Bluffs man, has just begun to let his hair grow, and it is quite amusing to see his return to his old habits on the 30th of next month.

Charles Bovee, who was mentioned in The Bee some time ago as having driven his wife home by his threat, will be arrested Thursday night while he was creating a disturbance at the residence of his wife in the city. While enroute to the city jail in charge of Deputy Marshal Fowler he remarked that he made the mistake of his life when he had the chance to zhop her head off and didn't do it.

Rosetta Day and Alva R. Miller had a hand-to-hand combat yesterday. Mrs. Miller, wearing a large, ornate, and expensive dress, took advantage that her antagonist had her arms and face covered with various patterns of black and blue ornaments. Mrs. Day's handmaiden, the office of Justice Vile and filed an information charging Mrs. Miller with assault and battery. It was a family feud, Mrs. Miller and Day being sister and brother.

The managers of Courtland beach, the new pleasure resort, have appealed to Marshal Templeton to shut up the saloons that have been established around the entrance to the place, claiming it gives an air of toughness which they do not at all approve of. There is a saloon inside the resort, but they have agreed to close it up if the same should be done with the outside joints. The marshal has declined to interfere, and the managers have accordingly decided to move the entrance to the east side of the grounds, thus turning the cold shoulder on the objectionable places.

They Are a Tough Couple. HENNINGSON, Ia., June 30.—A sensation was created here by the publication of a special from Terre Haute stating that two of the five safe blowers there were "Red" O'Brien and Miss Florence Wilkins of Burlington. They are well known here. O'Brien is believed to be a burglar who broke into and robbed the treasurer's office at Fort Madison, and Miss Wilkins became notorious in a shooting scrape three years ago, in which she was seriously wounded by her lover, Clyde Lutz, in a quarrel.

Didn't Intend to Snub Cleveland. EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 30.—J. H. Shanklin of this city was seen in regard to the rumor that he had been appointed to the consulship at Hong Kong. Mr. Shanklin acknowledged the place had been offered him, but he had refused it for purely personal reasons and not from any desire to snub the president. He said the place was valuable and worth any man's taking who desired an office.

Lowest Prices in Forty Years. BALTIMORE, June 30.—Until yesterday the lowest price on new corn or wheat at the Corn and Flour exchange during the last forty years was 60 cents. Yesterday millers bought all the new southern sayers at 68 and 69 cents for fair and 70 cents per bushel for prime dry. A few consignments of damaged wheats sold at 60 and 62 cents.

Train Robber May Confess. BRECKINRIDGE, Tex., June 30.—J. D. May, the train robber who attempted to hold up the San Antonio & Aransas Pass train and who killed Frank Martin, the fireman, is in jail here and is being guarded to prevent his being lynched. He made a full confession and the officers expect to capture all of his companions.

Female aeronaut, Courtland beach. Dede Millman turns Embelizer. NEW YORK, June 30.—Lieutenant Watson Cockran, one of the most prominent members of the Seventh regiment, and for many years credit clerk for G. & G. Gunther's Sons, fur dealers, is a G. & G. member.

Electric Fan in His Head. Mr. Hester filed a complaint with Sheriff Bennett today of an electric fan in his head. The condition of Charles Anderson and that officer yesterday drove to South Omaha and took charge of his victim. Anderson has been engaged as janitor and roustabout for Hester in his saloon. Of late he has shown signs of insanity and Hester thought it safest to have him removed. He was examined by the commissioners on insanity.
