Representations were made from the start that the purpose of the entertainment was to furnish funds to the secretary's back salary, and it was with that understanding that a great many attended the meet and offered prizes to the contestants. Mr. O'Brien's statement has been given for the purpose of setting at rest all doubts on the subject.

Alleged Train Robbers.
Chief Scanlan never knew until about midnight Wednesday night how much he looked like a train robber, and the circumstances under which the resemblance was noticed leaves some doubt as to whether the joke is on him or on a certain motorman for the Omaha and Council Bluffs Bridge company. A conductor on the motor line ran across Officer Wier at a late hour Wednesday night and informed him that he suspected that a gang of men had laid their plans to rob him near Trenton, where they had a Fifth avenue car and went as far as the corner of Twenty-first street and Eighth avenue, where they were arrested. They had had nothing to do with the robbery during the trip and that fact, together with their tough looks, had led the conductor to think that their presence bore him no good. Chief Scanlan and several other policemen got a rig and went to the place mentioned in the outfit in a saloon about midnight and managed to bag three of them. Scanlan sent them up town in charge of the other officers while he waited for a motor train to take him home. The three men, by the way, and it was evident from the rate at which they were moving that the motorman was not very far from Trenton when Scanlan planted himself by the side of the track and waved his arms wildly in the attempt to get the motorman to stop. Just as the motor pulled up, the three men seemed to recognize something familiar about Scanlan's face and he stopped, but the motor was going at such a rate that it went nearly a block before it could be brought to a standstill.

JESSE CARPENTER DROWNED.
Sad Death of a Lad Who Went for Sport with His Playmates.
"Jesse Carpenter is drowned" exclaimed Clarence Anderson, a son of J. Q. Anderson, as he reined up his horse in front of the police station yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock.
Young Carpenter was the only son of Mrs. L. Carpenter, who works at the Evans Laundry, and he was about 12 years of age. He went out to Masonville yesterday with a number of other boys to go swimming. The swimming hole was not far from the Chautauque grounds, about four miles east of the city. The boys were all walking along the edge of the creek, when they came across an inlet. In some way, none of the boys could say just how Carpenter lost his footing and fell into the water, which was about sixteen feet deep. No one saw him fall, but he was missed a moment later and it was not until some time later that he was found in the water. He had met with an accident.
Young Anderson was immediately dispatched to the city to get help. Miriam and William Stevens and Officer Murphy of the police force, who are uncles of the drowned boy, got down to the water and commenced a search for the body. From 5 o'clock until 8:30 the search went on without interruption, and at last the body was brought to the surface. It was brought to Estep's undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be held this morning. The dead boy was only 12 years of age.

A Garçon's Paradise.
When the wheelmen selected one of the beautiful groves in the Klein tract for the site of the recent picnic, it was the first notice given the public that the locality abounded in natural parks suitable for picnics. A hundred or more enthusiastic wheelmen have since been sounding the praises of the place and public attention has been attracted to it more than ever. Since the bridging of the Chautauque creek and the opening of the new roads all parts of the magnificent tract are accessible and many people drive out that way to enjoy the beauty of the drive and the magnificent scenery. All the hillsides slope to the southwest and east, and from the tops of the wooded knolls Lake Manawa, Council Bluffs and Omaha are visible. The tract is only a few minutes drive from the city, and the many beautiful drives and exquisite views are a revelation to the public, and even to people who are familiar with the sylvan beauty that clothes the hills around Council Bluffs. The entire tract is a paradise for gardeners, for whose convenience and profit it was laid out. The surface slopes down from the sunny hillsides, that could be made to grow with their loads of grapes with little cost of time and money, to the rich and marvellous garden in the west, and the whole tract is a revelation to the public, and even to people who are familiar with the sylvan beauty that clothes the hills around Council Bluffs. Tracing Her son.
Mrs. J. O. Forrest, living at 128 West Sixth street, Kansas City, is in the city looking for her 17-year-old son who left home a month ago. He had been thinking of pulling out for Nebraska or Iowa for some time, but his plan met with little encouragement from the people at home that he resolved to pack his grip and leave on the spot. A boy answering the description of the missing one was in the city on the day of the Sons of Veterans parade, looking for work, but he introduced himself as coming from Red Oak. He had partially learned the printers' trade.

Big Breeze at Bloomer.
A farmer living in Bloomer township brought in word yesterday of a heavy storm that took place at home on the evening of the fourth. It was one of the severest ever known in that locality, large trees being snapped off at the ground, houses unroofed, fences blown down and crops destroyed. The wind was from the west and it was in process of erection for some time past, was moved by the wind two feet from its foundation and the cellar wall caved in.

WORK OF THE CITY COUNCIL
Lively Debate Precipitated by a Resolution Introduced by Mr. Ellasser.
WANTED MR. CONNELL INVESTIGATED
An Evening that Would Delight Jawbreakers—Everybody Talked City Garbage Question—Quarters Are Satisfied—Proceedings in Detail.

The council has started another of its periodical investigations. This time it is City Attorney Connell, whose official name is included in the title of the resolution introduced by Mr. Ellasser, composed of Saunders, Wheeler and Haack. Since the fact has been ascertained that the paving case before the supreme court had been permitted to go over until September, rumblings of dissatisfaction have been heard. It remained for Mr. Ellasser to act, which he did by presenting to the council last evening the following resolution:

Resolved, That the city council of the city of Omaha has learned with great surprise that the city attorney, J. Connell, has, without the authority or consent of the council and mayor, stipulated with opposing counsel for the supreme court and contrary to the terms of the supreme court and contrary to the terms of the time fixed by the judges of the supreme court, to consent to a continuance of the case of the city of Omaha against P. W. Birkhauser et al to the September term of the supreme court, and that such stipulation and subsequent continuance of said case was contrary to and in violation of the duty of the city attorney, and that the city council of the city of Omaha is hereby authorized to and does hereby instruct the city attorney to make such stipulation and to consent to a continuance of said case as shall best serve the best interests of the whole city, without regard to the interests of any individual.

ON THE AMAZON.
Perils of Navigation on the Famous Stream.
I looked down the precipice on the edge of which we were hanging, says a writer in Lippincott's, and as the untried hawser snapped like a rotten thread the launch was hurled back into the churning waves. One minute we were threatened with destruction in the mad whirl of a giant sucking whirlpool, and the next saw us spinning off at a tangent and being against a more terrifying wave, that seemed bent on ending our career. But the Intrepid rode the water like a duck, and after every assault of the flood bobbed up undaunted for another encounter.

German Council Dies in the Ditch.
EYANSON, Pa., July 6.—Wm. A. H. Goebelen, a German count, an inmate of the poor house, died in a ditch a short distance from the institution yesterday. The deceased was a member of the German nobility and his father possessed a title and an estate of over half a million dollars. He spent years of his life in Germany when 27 years of age and became a naturalized citizen. He was finely educated and a prosperous man in the past. Drink was the cause of his downfall and finally landed him in the poor house and a pauper's grave.

Young Thieves Arrested.
Detectives Savage and Dempsey last night arrested John Kelley and Frank Bain, two suspicious characters who were loitering around the corner of Fourteenth and Douglas streets. Young Kelley is wanted for robbery in Council Bluffs, where he snatched a pocketbook from a woman on the street the other day, and when arrested was in possession of clothing stolen from Tom Bitterson's room yesterday. Bain was held as a possible accomplice.

Don't.
Don't forget to try as hard to keep as you did to win love.
Don't forget the future while you are planning for it.
Don't marry a man who drinks, no matter what he promises.
Don't hope to reform after marriage what you cannot succeed in doing during courtship.
Don't do these things, says the Janness-Miller Magazine.

CRIME IN HIGH PLACES! It is a strange thing that some people do wrong through ignorance, others from a failure to investigate as to the right or wrong of a matter. But it is strange, that individuals and firms, who are fully aware of the rights of others, will persist in perpetrating frauds upon them. High-toned, wealthy manufacturing firms will offer and sell to retail merchants, articles which they know to be infringements on the rights of proprietors, and imitations of well known goods. We want to sound a note of warning to the retailers to beware of such imitations and simulations of "CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS." When they are offered to you, refuse them; you do not want to do wrong, and you don't want to have your name attached to a lawsuit. Hon. Franklin said "Honesty is the best policy." It is just as true that "Honesty is the best principle."

Big Buildings in New York.
James Gordon Bennett's rapid recovery is good news to architects and builders, for had the accident proved fatal it would have stopped the present twenty-story building scheme. The premium Bennett offered for plans leads to the construction of a building, when finished, will be one of the architectural wonders of the present age. If Bennett does not drive his tall building project with all possible rapidity he may be distanced by that granite structure which will crown the old Atlantic Garden (foot of Broadway) with a business structure of twenty-six stories. The lot, whose area is three-quarters of an acre, will be entirely covered and the building will rise square twenty stories with a six-story tower in the center—thus making the whole height twenty-six stories. The estimated cost is $4,000,000, and a company will be formed for the purpose, the present New York postmaster being one of its most ardent promoters.

was sustained. Mr. O'Haves will secure his money when the squatters have moved.
Two bids were received for feeding city prisoners. J. Danbaum bid 10 cents and Thomas Casey 9 cents for each meal. Referred to a committee on police after Mr. Munro had thrown his bid to the winds, while Mr. Ellasser hurled back with vehemence.

The bids for cremating and removing garbage for ten years were read as follows: Newton Niday & Co. offered to collect all garbage and dead animals and remove the same from the city for ten years for the sum of $2,000 per year, in addition to the amounts now paid for such service. Also to gather and cremate for ten years for the sum of $3,000 per year, in addition to the fixed charges, and for the privilege he is willing to pay $5,000.
City Garbage Quot on.
Frank Dungan offered to gather and remove the garbage from the city at the following prices: First year, $100,000; second, $115,000; third, $130,000; fourth, $145,000; fifth, $160,000; sixth, $175,000; seventh, $190,000; eighth, $205,000; ninth, $220,000; tenth, $235,000.
The bids were referred to the committee on police.

Homestead's Anniversary.
Just a Year Ago Today the Battle with the Pinkertons Was Fought.
HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 6.—Will rumors went around last night. Today is the anniversary of the Carnegie strikers battle with the Pinkertons, and it was given out that it would be commemorated by an attempt to burn the mills and that other incendiary acts would be committed; that the militia were under arms, etc. Consequently the streets were thronged all night, very many not going to bed at all. It appears that the fears were entirely groundless, however, as the mills were in full operation today and there was nothing unusual in appearance. A picnic in a grove, a few speeches this evening and flowers on the graves of those killed in the encounter were the only commemorations of the event.
