

WAS REMOVED BY THE BISHOP

After Seven Years in Omaha, Father McCarthy Goes East.

LETTER TO A PROMINENT PARISHONER

Many Years of Work Abandoned Because of a Difference on Financial and Parish Matters—What Bishop Scannell Says of the Matter.

Rev. Father Patrick F. McCarthy, who has been pastor of St. Philomena's cathedral in this city for the past seven years, has resigned and intends going to his home in Newark, N. J.

The reason that he resigned is found in the following extract from a personal letter dated July 4 from Father McCarthy to a prominent member of his parish:

By the time this note reaches you I shall have departed for my home, and I regret to say that I have not had time to write you more fully than I have done.

This morning I went on request to see the right reverend bishop. Previously I had sent him a financial report of this parish from January 1, 1893, to July 1, 1893.

As soon as I was seated he began to discuss my relations with Revs. McLaughlin and Judge. He pronounced my financial report as one of the best he had ever seen.

Rev. Patrick F. McCarthy was born in Newark, N. J., February 22, 1852. His theological studies covered a period of nine years, beginning in 1868 and closing in August, 1877. The first four years were at St. Charles' seminary, Elm St. City, Mo.

His first year at Mount St. Mary's seminary, Baltimore, Md., and the last three at the Seminary of St. Vincent, near Pittsburgh, Pa. Here he was ordained August 17, 1878.

He arrived in Omaha on the 3d of September following, and has since labored in Nebraska. His first mission was at Tecumseh, beginning September 1, 1879, and continuing until May 23, 1879, and was transferred to the cathedral in this city, where he served as assistant for three years.

He was again transferred to the cathedral and made pastor October 5, 1885. Father McCarthy has the honor of serving as pastor of the cathedral for a much longer period than any of his predecessors.

Father McCarthy ranks high as a theological and historical scholar. He is a voracious reader, and is blessed with a most retentive memory. Whatever is stored in his recesses comes up at call, a faculty that makes him a dangerous opponent in controversy.

He has prepared a sermon in advance. His addresses are mainly explanatory and instructive. Oratory is not his forte, yet his thorough knowledge of biblical and secular history serves to illuminate and lend a distinct charm to his impromptu sermons.

At the meeting of the county board, to be held this afternoon, the commissioners will make the levy for the year 1893, and while they have not yet completed their calculations, they are of the opinion that they will be able to reduce the taxes for the next year in quite an amount.

Last year the levy aggregated 16.7 mills upon all of the taxable property, but the fractions now are that for this year the fraction will be dropped and the levy will stand at even 16 mills, which will be the lowest it has been for a number of years.

This reduction will not be on account of an increased valuation, but simply because the commissioners have pursued a policy of retrenchment and are of the opinion that there can be a still further curtailing of expenditures.

Chairman Stearns yesterday gave the financial prospects of the county were never so bright as at the present time and that within thirty days the county's treasury would be above par.

Last year when the levy was made the county owed $100,000 of a floating indebtedness, which had to be paid out of the first money that reached the treasury from the levy of that fiscal year.

Now the county is in better shape, as the sum that is outstanding, aside from the bonded indebtedness, which is the same as last year, will not exceed $25,000. All of the interest that is due has been paid and the county starts in on the new fiscal year with a clean set of books, with the balance on the right side, and the 16 per cent reserve of 1892 will be available as soon as the levy for this fiscal year is made.

This reserve is sufficient to wipe out all of the floating indebtedness and leave a balance in the treasury. Last year all of the funds were ordered drawn, but this year the situation is different, as there are good sized balances in the road, bridge and sinking funds.
