BURIED BENEATH THE RUINS

Many More Bodies Supposed to Be in the Debris of the Chicago Fire.

VICTIMS OF THE DISASTER RECOVERED

Efforts Will Be Made to Fix the Blame for the Awful Affair - Measures Being Taken for Relief of the Sufferers.

CHICAGO, July 11.-The fall of night still finds the ruins of the cold storage building unexplored, and it is just beginning to be realized that the full extent of yesterday's disaster cannot be ascertained until this mountain of rubbish is carted away. At some points the accumulation is fifteen to twenty feet high and it is impossible to know how many charred bodies may rest beneath until these heaps have been thoroughly examined. The search is necessarily slow and tedious.

Complete List of the Dead.

The complete list of dead so far as known is as follows: CAPTAIN JAMES FITZPATRICK. LIEUTENANT JOHN H. FREEMAN. WILLIAM DENNING.

PHILLIP B. BREEN.

TOHN WERRIDES JOHN CAHILL. PAUL SCHROEDER. CAPTAIN BURTON E. PAGE. LIEUTENANT CHARLES IL PURVIS. JOHN A. SMITH.

CAPTAIN JAMES A. GARVEY.

JOHN CAMPBELL. EDWARD FOWLER. JASPER STANFORD of Buffalo. R. A. DRUMMOND.

CHARLES HUTTON. LEWIS FRANK, one of the injured firemen. is in a precarious condition tonight. The other injured men are in a fair way to get well. Thirteen Bodies Recovered.

In all, thirteen bodies have been recovered from the ruins. Besides these three firemen died at the hospital. It is now definitely known that a number of workmen employed in the building ascended the fatai tower with the firemen, and how many were lost no one knows.

The central attraction at the World's fair today is something not down in the guide books. It is the ruins of the cold storage building burned yesterday with such fearful results in loss of life. Ten thousand people gathered around the debris this morning watching the search, which still goes on for bodies of victims. Early this morning the remains of three more unfortunates were recovered.

This discovery opens the question of how many persons besides the firemen lost their lives in the burned building. The total dead bodies so far recovered number tbirteen, but the search in the ruins thus far has been very slight because of the heat and confusion and there is no doubt that the list is still incomplete.

People Who Are Still Missing.

The Columbian guards on duty at the scene during the fire have constantly main-tained that several World's fair visitors and electrical employes and other workers were caught in the flames, and today's discoveries lend color to their contentions. It is certain there were a number of visitors and workmen in the building at the time the fire broke out. It has therefore been decided to make a minute examination of the ruins foot by foot as rapidly as possible. pany had a number of men in the lower part of the building stringing wires when the fire broke out and several of these are still missing. Four Columbian guards are still unaccounted for. At least 100 people who have missing relatives or friends are around the ruins trying to identify the bodies discovered. In numerous instances these are World's fair visitors whose friends do not even know they were in the neigh-borhood of the building, and it is therefore probable that most of them will turn up safe. Many inquiries come from Spring-field, Ill., as to the fate of Lieutenant John H. Freeman of fire company No. 1. There is no longer any doubt as to his fate. He was one of the first to reach the top of the burning shaft and was consequently one of the first victims of the fire. His charred body has been recovered and in some way dentified by comrades, though features and form are unrecognizable. Freeman only entered the World's fair fire department a few weeks ago. He was for many years chief fire marshal of Springfield, but recently lost position through a change in adminis-

Locating the Blame. The examination of the remains and the structure this morning reveals its firmsy character and many condemn the construc-tion department of the World's fair for allowing it to go up in that form. It is said the council of administration had been warned time and again of the dan-gerous character of the structure, including once by Marshal Murphy, and that the cour cil, to cut down expenses, ordered the with drawal of the Columbian guards on duty there in spite of the protest from the com mander. Butfrom the favorable direction of the wind yesterday it is believed nothing could have prevented the fire from sweeping right through the whole city.

The council of administration was in secret session all morning, and from the tone of the voices heard from within it was evident the session was stormy. Director of Works Burnham was before the council an hour.

He declined to say what was asked him.

The council finally adopted resolutions of respect for the bravery of the men who lost their lives and of sympathy with the bereaved, and recommending that the excosition committee contribute to the relie fund and that suitable medals be presented to the survivors who showed special bravery

The coroner's jury was impaneled, viewed the bodies and adjourned till Thursday to give time for a proliminary investigation The coroner says he understands the first plans of the burned building called for steel lath, but that other plans subsequently allowed of wooden lath, of which the building was constructed. Great crowds surrounded the morgue all

Many came to identify the many out of mere mobid curiosity. The bodies recovered from the ashes this morning have been identified as follows:

NORMAN N. HARTMAN, electric linemar of Nevada, Ia., said to be only one of the thir-teen linemen in the building at the time who lost his life. HENRY GEDOULIG, painter. BERNARD MURPHY, bollermaker.

Aid and Honors for the Survivors. Mayor Harrison is arranging to receive subscriptions for the families of the unfortunate firemen. The World's fair officials have also approved the subject of all passholders next Thursday on entering the grounds to deposit the amount of admission to the fair for the same purpose. On the assembling of the national comassembling of the national com-mission President Palmer expressed the opinion that there were several buildings from which it would be impossible to take from which it would be impossible to take people off in case of fire if the elevators were effected, and suggested an inspection of buildings on the public is in the habit of going and the resolution to that effect was passed; also a resolution of respect for the memories of those who perished in the flames.

It has been determined by the council of administration to maintain the department of promotion and publicity until the close, with Major Moses P. Handy as its chief.

Yesterday's Attendance.

Attendance at the fair yesterday was 125,924, which wes over 100,000 greater than the corresponding day at the centennial.

The Board of Lady Managers wish it widely announced that it wishes those persons holding receipts for payment upon order of souvenir coins to present or forward the same to the Merchents Loan and Trust commany. These is a good demand for Trust company. There is a good demand for coins, the comparatively small number and their unusual beauty making them eagerly Judge Jenkins today in the United States circuit court handed down a decision in the suit brought by Wanamaker & Brown to restrain the World's Columbian exposition directors from opening the fair gates on Sun-day. The issue was a demurrer filed by the defendants, alleging that the complainants as stockholders had elected the directors and could not now question their discretion. Judge Jenkins sustained this position, throw ing the case out of court.

By a vote of 54 to 6 the national commis

ion adopted the following resolution at their afternoon session:

Resolved, By the World's Columbian commission that the ruling now being enforced by the World's Columbian exposition for the purpose of opening the gates of the exposition on sunday has not been approved by this commission and is in violation of the rule jointly adopted and promulgated by said exposition and said commission, and is being enforced without the assent or authority of the World's Columbian commission.

FEAR THEY HAVE PERISHED.

C. B. Moore's Family Thought to Have Been Lost in the Chicago Fire. While it is as yet impossible to state definitely whether the family of C. B. Moore met death in the fire which destroyed the Hercules Iron company's building at the World's fair grounds Monday, indications are that Margaret, Emma and Ora were in the building at the time of the conflagration, and the gravest fears for their safety are expressed. Mrs. Moore was carried out of the death trap considerably burned about the head and upper portion of the body, but whether the children were in the building at the ne is impossible to ascertain until Mrs

Yesterday a rumor was current on the streets that Mr. Moore had entered the building while the fire was raging to ascertain the safety of the family and had not been seen since. Dr. Duryea, who has been the paster of the Moore family and knew them very well, tele graphed to Mr. Moore's assistant as to the whereabouts of Mr. Moore. Yesterday he received a telegram from the assistant stating that Mr. Moore could not be found and was last seen in the building This becoming noised about town at once gave color to the rumor that Mr. Moore and his family were all in the ruins of the cold storage structure. THE BEE, however, to set at rest all doubts as to the result of the fire, at once asked its representatives in Chicago to throw some light or the dreadful disaster and its direful effects in Mr. Moore's case, with the result that at noon a telegram was received stating that the Hercules Iron company reports that C. B. Mcore got out of the building all right. But beyond this meager information nothing can be learned of the fate of the three daughters who are known to have lived with their parents in the upper portion of the building Franklin P. Waish and his wife, Irene Moore Walsh, but a day or so ago moved to the fourth floor of the structure and these two well known young Omaha people are also unaccounted for. Mr. Moore was interested in putting throughout the World's fair grounds a nickle in-the-slot lemonade machine. The building was used by Mr. Moore as a warehouse for these machines, and in order to be on the ground when set up he took rooms on the third floor of the building, which he has occupied since the opening of the fair.

Mr. C. B. Moore was one of Omaha's best known grocers, having occupied for years a store room on Dodge street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth, later removing to the Bachelor Quarters.

He had a most charming family and hundreds of friends are today anxiously waiting

Muskegon, Mich., July. 11.-[Special Tele gram to THE BEE.]-Misses Carrie and Pearl Plant, sisters, left Muskegon this morning to tramp to the World's fair. About 309 people assembled to see them off, many accompanying them a short distance on their journey. They wore walking suits with skirts to the ankles, and stout shoes, and bundles to contain the necessaries for wear. One carries a map of the route they propose to take along the line of the Chicage & West Michigan to Benton Harbor, where they follow the shore. Each is armed with a revolver. They expect to reach the fair

RABID UTTERANCES OF THEIR ORATORS

Proceedings of the Great Mass Meeting at Denver Entivened by Incendiary Speeches by Governor Waite and Others-A Lively Gathering.

DENVER, July 11.-The mass meeting called by President Merrick of the State Silver league and joint committees of the Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate and Stock exchanges met at the Coliseum hall at noon today. The building was crowded with a thousand delegates from every section of the state who had come to see what could be done toward crystalizing sentiment in Colorado on the establishment of the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Among the delegates were the leading men of the state, like Senator Welcott, Congressmen Beil and Pence, Governor Waite, David H. Moffatt, president of the First National bank, and many other bankers and members of the Colorado general assembly. There appeared to be but one feeling in all the gathering, and that was, "free coinage or nothing.

President Merrick's Remarks,

In his address calling the meeting to order President Merrick said: "We ask for jusice, for the restoration of our rights. We will accept nothing less. The ploneers of Colorado have had their contract violated. Petitions and demonstrations have been unavailing. The crime of 1872 has gone on all these years unpunished. We are here to demand an early and speedy settlement of the silver question."

Following his remarks the committee on organization was appointed and a motion made to take a recess until 2 o'clock. At this point some of the extremists attempted to introduce a resolution. This created an uproar which came near terminating in a

Ex-Congressman Belford finally secured the floor and said: "Gentlemen, the world is watching Colorado at this moment. We must be dignified and earnest; no passion should prevail. Remember, resistance to tyranny is obedience to God. I beg of you to adjourn."

This seemed to bring the angry crowd to its senses and the recess was taken. On reassembling, it could be easily seen that the spirit which controlled the delegates at the morning session was not under control, but only awaiting an opportunity to break out again. After order had, in a manner, been restored, the committees ap-pointed in the morning made their report except the resolution committee, which will report at tomorrow's session. Address of the Chairman.

Hon. Charles S. Thomas, democratic national committeeman from Colorado was made permanent chairman. In assuming the chairmanship, he said: "To preside over a convention like this, which knows no party and alleges no creed, save the welfare of the people, is an honor of which any man may be justly proud, for to my mind the im-portance of this gathering and the work it shall accomplish is beyond the horizon of any human judgment. It is to record the protest of a free people against the tendengies of the times, which recognize the chim of a few against the prosperity and freedom of the many.

face to face with a crisis which has had but few parallels in the history of this country, so deep, so broad and so far-reaching that it does not involve exaggeraion to predict that it means another phase of the old question of slavery over again is a stagnation of business, a paralysis of

This stagnation, Mr. Thomas went on to show, was from the failure to restore silver to its legitimate ratio of 16 to 1. "It may be that the road of free coinage is long and weary," said Mr. Thomas. "It may be beset with many difficulties and dis-advantages, but if it is the mournful pleasure of the stalwart people of the west and the south, that they who have attempted to involve this country in ruin must, like Samson, go down ensiaved beneath the ruins of the times. There is no argument that can be advanced against the re monetization of silver that is worthy the re lection of any patriotic citizen, and not one advanced against it that is not tinctured by some individual class and aimed at the masses of this country."

Governor Waite's Inflammatory Talk. At the conclusion of Mr. Thomas' remarks some delegate called for Governor Waite. The echo of this one voice was taken up in a mighty shout from 1,000 lungs, which was carried to the galleries, where as many more joined in the demon-stration. As the old gray-haired governor started down the aisle to the platform the scene presented is beyond the pen's descrip-tion. Men whose future depended upon the result of the cause for which they were fighting stood in their seats and yelled until exhausted. The executive, who comes from Aspen, one of the leading silver mining camps of the state, in his remarks confined himself to the question of silver and its de conetization and to those in the cast and Europe who would not only ruin the west but the entire country by forcing such a policy upon us, concluded by saying: "If the money power shall attempt to sustain its surpation by the strong hand we will mee that issue when it is forced upon us, for it is better infinitely that blood should flow to the horses' bridles rather than our nationa liberties be destroyed.

"If it is true that the United States is unable to carry out its governmental policy without the dictation or consent of foreign powers: if we are a province of European monarchies, then we need another revolu-tion, another appeal to arms and we have won the battle. If war is forced upon us, we will send to Halifax a far greater army of British tories, according to our popula-tion, than our forefathers sent there after the revolutionary war.

"The war has begun; it is the same war that must always be waged against op-pression and tyranny, to preserve the liberties of man. The address created a sensation and a scene of great confusion followed, the aplause being deafening.

Judge Kerr of Pueblo got the floor and spoke in the same inflammatory vein as Governor Waite. He endorsed the recent revolutionary telegram sent by Edward R. Holden to the east, in which the latter declared that if the war upon silver continued, it would result in the west repudiating all her obligations; that 150,000 men would be paupers and 500,000 people upon the verge of starvation, and a revolution be the fina

Would Not Listen to Reason,

When he had finished, J. Cook, jr., with difficulty got the floor. His first sentence created a furore and the convention seeme disposed to hoot him down. He said: "W are liable to do things we may regret. I appeal to you as men not to do today what you will regret tomorrow. We are excited. We hardly know what we are doing. ["No, no," cried the audience.] Let us be reasonable and act as intelligent men. We are going east as men to educate men in the east. If we fail, then is the time to act. There is time enough to talk as you feel now.

Then the convention went wild again, and cries of "We know what we are doing," "You are a gold bug," were heard.

Mr. Cook concluded his remarks with a heroic effort to secure moderation, but it was apparent that he had made no impression upon his audience.
It was then moved that the convention endorse the remarks of Governor Walts. The motion was carried amidst the greatest en-

INGALLS' ATTACK ON REID.

What the Defeated Vice Presidential Candidate Has to Say About It.

CHICAGO, July 11.-Hon. Whitelaw Reid, ex-minister to France, who, with his family has been seeing the World's fair for some days past, was caught last night by a reporter just as he was starting back for New York.

Mr. Reid expressed great delight with the fair. The reporter asked Mr. Reid if he had read ex-Senator Ingalls' criticism of his candidacy for the vice presidency.

"No," said Mr. Reid, with a laugh, "but you know I was not in favor of that nomination myself, so probably the ex-senator and I would not differ materially."

The reporter then showed Mr. Reid the passage in which Mr. Ingalls speered at him as "uxorious and aristocratic," objected to his address, manners and ways, and spoke of his "surreptitious insults to the laboring men."

"That," said Mr. Reid, with more seriousness, "is absurd. I have been a laboring man myself, far more than Mr. Ingalls ever was, and he would probably be puzzled to specify any insult, surreptitious or otherwise, that I ever effered to labor, or to any honest laboring man. All this talk about hestility to the national ticket last year on account of the lifteen-year-old strike, which was settled to the satisfaction of the laborunions themselves, is sheer clap-trap anyunions themselves, is sheer clap-trap anyway. There never were 1,000 votes affected by it in New York, even when it was an open question. To say when it was sattled that the labor unions still carried it into politics is to accuse them, not merely of bad faith, but of a systematic violation of their own cardinal principles and is thus offering them the grossest insuits. Of course, our opponents made a great hubbuo about it, but most of those whom they claim were affected were enlisted already on their side. I doubt whether Powderly or any other reputable and responsible labor leader will say that the question turned a thousand abor votes in the United States last fall. Cer tainly it gid not turn one where a single

"What about the 'uxoriousness and aris tocracy? "asked the reporter.
"O, pshaw!" said Mr. Roid, "whoever heard before of a rational man attacking a candidate because he was decently fond of his wife? The rest of Mr. Ingalls' complaint seems to be that in other particulars, also, I act like a gentleman. Well, out in Kansas they surely did not bring that accusation against him. And yet, when he was last a candidate, although he abandoned his supposed principles and crawled in the dirt before them, Mrs. Lease and Mr. Peffer thrust him into the gutter. He has been ying there ever since, shouting murder and oad language.' "What can be his motive for the attack?" pursued the reporter.

"How do I know? And what's the use of guessing? He seems to lack employment since he was thrown out of office-holding, and I suppose the man must make a living by lecturing or writing for the syndicates We have dozens of such statesmen out of a job applying to us for work after every election, and I taney your paper has the same experience," and, with a cheery good-New York editor swung into a cab and started for his train.

TROUBLE EXPECTED.

Kansas Coal Miners and Mine Owners Again Fail to Agree.

Pittsbung, Kan., July 11.-The striking miners held a delegate convention today to vote upon the proposition made by the mine owners to settle the strike. The offer made by the owners was that the 54 cents a ton should be paid for mine run coal the year around. The proposition was voted down by a unanimous vote. The delegates will meet again tomorrow and will make a counter proposition to the owners.

Fifty more miners went back to work today in the mines of the Kansas & Texas Coal company at Litchfield, the largest in the district. The company is preparing to fill the strikers places, with new men and have ordered the strikers to vacate their houses. Seven evictions were made toda by a deputy constable and the feeling beginning to run high. The company tonight sent armed guards to its mines to protect its men and its property. It is believed trouble will follow if the company persists in evicting the strikers.

July 11 .- [By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald-Special to THE BEE.]-Dispatches from Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, via Montevideo, say that an assault has been made upon that town from the land and sea by the revolutionary forces. This assault was foreshadowed when I cabled the Herald that Admiral Wardelkolk had formally declared in favor of the revolutionists and had appeared in front of the town of Rio Grande do Sul in a steamship with 500 armed soldiers aboard. When the news of the admiral's arrival on the steamship Jupiter spread in the town the citizens were terror-stricken. They feared an immediate attack. Many of them abandoned their nomes and sought refuge in the country back of the town. Admiral Wardelkolk postponed the bombardment of the town from the sea until the arrival of Insurgent land forces under General Saraiva. the preconcerted plan being to begin an assault from the land and sea at the same Meanwhile the rebel admiral's force was increased by the crew and officers of the guaboat Camocin, who declared in favor of the revolutionists and put their vessel under his command. The government tow boat Manuel Diablo, while trying to enter the harbor, was fired upon from the gunboat Camocin.

General Saraiva's battalions began massing back of the town yesterday and last night the bombardment was opened. Seized the Telegraph Office.

The result of the fight is not known because the government officers in Rio Grande do Sul seized the telegraph office and refused to allow messages to be sent.

There is much alarm in Montevideo over the report of the great troubles in Rio de Janeiro. The censorship placed on the telegraph wires by the Brazilian government makes it impossible to confirm the report, but the situation has been serious for some time and it would not be surprising if the story should prove true. The Herald's correspond ent in Buenos Avres, Argentine, telegraphs that Colonel Gil has been sent to La Plata to enforce the decree recently issued, requiring the disarmament of military forces in the various states. The governor of La Plata is willing to disarm the state forces, but the state legislature is resolved that this shall not be done. PANAMA, Colombia (via Galveston, Tex.), July 11 .- [By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald-Special to THE BEE.]-The attempt of M. Mange who represents the liquidator of the Panama Canal company to dispossess the squatters on lands between Panama and Colon, claimed to be included in the concession to the canal company, has caused great excitement and is the subject of some interesting correspondence with the government of Colombia. In the village of Gorgono the canal agent notified the entire population, including the local judge and mayor, to move out. These officials appealed to the governor of Panama. The governor declared that M. Mange had no right to evict the squatters on the lands in Gorgono on the ground that the property had never been formally demanded by the company for the use of the canal. The Herald's correspondent in Guatemala writes that General Terrencio Sierra, one of the leaders in the recent revolution in Hon duras, is still in that country awaiting ; chance to return to his own country and renew the fighting. In an interview General Sierra denied the story that he had quarreled with General Bonilla, who organized the revolt. He said he had never necused Bonilla of being a coward. He believed however, that the revolution failed on ac count of Bonilla's lack of firmness in dealing with the provisional authorities in Teguci gains and his overconfidence in the impar tiality of then Acting President Aguerro. whose later actions proved that he was act ing in an underhand way during the entire war.

Further Complications Arist over the French Shore Troub St. Jonn, N. B., July 11.-Th Jony is threatened with more serious co cations arising out of the shore question. The French flagship Naide, Admiral Elamornaix, arrived here on Saturday to particlpate in the anniversary of the establish-ment of the French republic on Friday next, and also to arrange the recent difficulty over the French shore.

Five weeks ago the French lobster packers received large quantities of trade implements by the steamer Harlow, then on the bay They refused to pay duty thereon, claiming that Frenchmen's goods were exempt. The Newfoundland government seized the goods for non-payment of duties and sold them at auction. The French admiral yesterday demanded from the government the return of the goods and gave them until 5 o'clock in of the goods and gave them until 5 o'clock in the afternoon for a final answer. None ar-riving at that hour ne hoisted his anchor and left the port, refusing to attend a dinner sarranged in his honor and a ball Wednesday. The flagship Cleopatra, Com-modore Howe, also came here to receive the Niade and tender proper courtesies. The Cleopatra's officers are indignant at the ac-tion of the French actuary, who threatened tion of the French admiral, who threatened all sorts of terrible things. Admiral Elamornaix has gone to St. Pierre to report to the governor, thence he will sail to the French shore. The Cleopatra awaits instructions from England and then will fellow the Niade.

It is believed the matter will result in considerable friction, possibly an outbreak, when the two warships meet.

Faral Floods. Vienna, July 11.—Fatal floods have occurred in the Kulstein and Zilerthal districts in the Tyrol, and it is feared that the damage will be great. The village of Briz-legge, at the confluence of the Alpbach with the river Inn, has been partly devastated by the rushing water. The flooded rivers brought down enormous quantities of debris, and the lower parts of the village were overwhelmed. Ten of the villagers are known to have been drowned. Others are missing.

LYNCHERS AFTER DEBANY.

Genoa Wife Murderer Narrowly Escapes a Mob at Fullerton.

FULLERTON, Nob., July 11.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE |-A mob of fifteen of twenty masked men made a raid on the Gay hotel this morning about 3 o'clock with the intention of lynching Debany, the wife murderer, who was being guarded by Deputy Sheriff Bake, W. C. Benson and William Long. The prisoner was located in an upper room of the hotel. The mob demanded of the officers daission to the room, which was promptly refused, whereupon they proceeded to break in the door with a short ladder. The guards succeeded in keeping between the mob and the prisoner for a while, when suddenly the deputy sheriff discharged his revolver in the air to intimidate the crowd. One of the gang fired a revolver at the officer hitting him in the side of the head just back of the ear. As soon as they learned that the deputy was shot the mob dispersed, forgetting the prisoner who had secreted himself under the bed, While the citizens here feel that Debany should hang for his crime one and alstrongly denounce the action of the mob. Mr. Bake's physician says the wound his patient received is not necessarily fatal, but may prove so should blood poisoning set in. Debany had his preliminary examination this morning at 10 o'clock before County Judge Edgington. The state was represented by County Attorney Critchfield and J. W. McClelland. Mr. Moudy of Genoa and T. C. Reid of this city appeared for the prisoner. Through his counsel he waived examination, and after the state had introp duced positive testimony showing the defendant guilty of the murder of his wife on July 4 he was held to district court and committed to Platte county jail to await trial October 30.

Convening of the Twenty-Seventh Saengertest of the North American Stengerbund. CLEVELAND, July 11 .- The long anticipated twenty-seventh saengerfest of the North American Saengerband opened today. The city is gaily decorated in honor of the event. Tonight seventy-one German socioties, from as many cities, had arrived.

In the evening the big saengerfest hall on Wilson avenue was the center of interest. There the reception concert was given, being participated in by 1,000 singers and listened to by an audience of 6,000. Mayor Bliss welcomed the visitors to Cleveland, and Governor McKinley then did a like duty for Ohio. The governor's address was ap-plauded long and loud.

J. H. Deiler of New Orieans presented the banner of the National Singers union, as tormer president, to Paul Schneider, the president of the Saengerbund. The concert was a great success. Mile Rita Elanda, prima donna, received an ova-tion, to which she responded by singing, "Home, Sweet Home," the more feelingly, be-cause Gleveland is her home.

Miss Lena Little, the contralto, Baron Berthold, the tenor, and Gustay Berneike, the basso, fully vindicated their high reputations as vocalists. The festival reception chorns of Cleveland singers and the Philharmonic orchestra did their work well
