They Think the Workings of the New Freight Law Will Hamper Them.

PREPARED TO PROTEST IMMEDIATELY

Meeting to Be Held Today to Devise Means to Prevent the Enforcement of This Clause of the Metmum Rate Law.

Lincoln, July 24.—[Special to The Pre.]—The wholesale merchants of Lincoln have finally decided to make a united protest against the proposal of the railroad companies doing business in the state of Nebraska to enforce the provisions of the new maximum rate law, which goes into effect on August 1. Saturday a committee was appointed to visit the railroad headquarters at Omaha, but since that time word has been received from the railroad managers which leaves no doubt as to the intention to put the new rates into effect. Secretary Dilworth of the State Board of Transportation also brought word from Omaha yesterday that the new rates would go into effect promptly on time. In view of these facts the local jobbers will hold a meeting in this city tomorrow evening to protest against the rates. The following call was issued this

We are reliably informed that tife railroad companies doing business in Lincoln have adopted new tariff rates on freight into this city, to take effect August I, that if but in operation will be of licelleulable injury and of such direct and vital importance that Lincoln's business supremacy and its very existence as a manufacturing and jobbing point is doomed. Its effect will not be confined to manufacturing and jobbing interests only, but will include every interest represented and dependent upon the life of this city. We, therefore, request that a meeting be called at Lincoln hotel on Tuesday, July 25, at 8 o'clock p. m., to discuss this matter fully and agree upon what seems necessary to overcome this injustice.

The World-Herald of Sunday morning contained a list of the measures passed by the last legislature which become effective on August 1. Among the bills referred to was senate file No. 14, introduced by Senator R. E. Moore of Lancaster county, providing that juries in murder cases may exercise discretionary powers in bringing in a verdict of either death or imprisonment for life. The World-Herald comments on the bill in a manner which Mr. Moore feels is unjust and unwarranted in the light of the real To a BEE representative this morning he stated that there was a marked dissimilarity between the measures introduced by Mr. Watson and himself. Mr. Watson's bill provided that the death penalty should be abel-ished in this state. Senator Moore's bill simply gave the jury the right to substitute imprisonment for life for the death penalty. Senator Moore introduced his bill on January 14, the first day upon which bills were intro-duced after the organization of the senate. He had prepared it before the legislature convened. It was passed by the senate on February 20. Mr. Watson's bill was not introduced until January 17 and was not reported to the senate until March 30. The amendment which the World-Herald credits to Mr. Watson was prepared by Sen-ator Moore after the bill reached the house and was handed to Representative Me-Kesson. The amendment did not affect the purpose of the bill in the slightest degrees being simply a saving clause providing that the law should not apply to any offenses committed prior to the taking effect of the Senator Moore states that he does not claim any credit for originality in preparing the bill, because it was taken from a law once on the Nebraska statute books. He had become impressed with the necessity of rendering the laws against murder more effective. Under the present laws the jury in all cases of murder in the first degree practically decide between the death of the accused or acquittal. There were frequently mitigating circumstances which had great weight upon the minds of jurors, and, in such cases, verdicts of acquittal have been rendered in cases of murder in the first degree simply because the law provided no intermediary punishment and the jury refused to hang a man who had enlisted their sympa-thies. His object was to endow the jury with some discretion in the premises.

Mr. Watson's bill was at no time received with favor in the senate. A careful canvass was made by Senator Moore to see if it could be passed. When it was received in the senate it was referred to the judiciary committee, and a few days later it was re-ported back with the recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed. This report was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Visited the World's Fair.

Auditor Moore returned yesterday from Chicago, where he went Friday evening to yisit the World's fair incidentally and the Nebraska exhibit especially. He made one of the quickest trips on record and, of course, caught but a fleeting glimpse of the great exposition. He was not on a sightseeing lour, however, and merely went to make a personal inspection of the Nebraska exhibit and the way it is managed. He returned with his views as to the needless expenditures of money unchanged. He found the Nebraska building apparently clear and well kept. The force of help he considers entirely too large for the showing made in the way of exhibits. For instance, he found the following people at work and presented the list to THE BEE, not as a complete one, but

s a sample: S. P. Mobley, $240 per month; D. L. Cartan, $210 per month; E. T. Hartley, in charge of the forestry exhibit, $120 per month; Elizabeth C. Langworth, $90; Mcs. McDonald, $60; Mrs. Wells, postmistress, $75; Miss Wortham, $60; Mrs. H. J. Smith, $60; Elizawortham, $60; Mrs. 11. J. Smith, $60; Elizabeth W. Irwin, $60; Mrs. Stewart, $60; J. B. Stewart, in charge agricultural exhibit, $120; H. M. Weiss, in charge agricultural exhibit, $120; D. P. Ashburn, in charge dairy exhibit, $150; his son, also in charge dairy exhibit, $150; T. M. Crowley, guide, $75; O. D. Ward, T. D. Perin and Walter V. inter, messengers, $40 per month each. Miss Emma Gillespie, in charge visitors' register, $75; A. D. Gregory, Janitor, $60; two other janitors at $40 per month each; Alex Kohn, in charge forestry exhibit, $120; E. G. Clement, in charge forestry exhibit, $90; E. Whitcomb, $150 and T. H. Pratt, $75.

Most of these employes, especially the "superintendents," have charged sleeping car fares to and from Chicago, while their railroad fares, meals enroute, hack hire and baggage transfer have all been paid by the state. Many of the employes, said Mr. Moore, were apparently supernumerary. Moore, were apparently supernumerary None of them appeared to have much to do Miss Gillespie, for instance, merely copied the names of the visitors who registered during the day. The two high priced men in charge of the dairy department have a sinceure in the opinion of the auditor, while the three men who have "charge" of the forestry exhibit at a monthly expense of $330 ave a veritable picnic.

Educational Opinion.

Superintendent Goudy today rendered an Superintendent Goals, salmost a new one apinion in a case which is almost a new one apinion in a case which is almost a new one in the educational jurisprodence in Ne-braska. It seems that a school director in a country school district at Dwight had be elected by acclamation at the annual elected by a can ago. This year at the annual meeting the voters attempted to elect a director by ballot. The old director entered a rector by ballot. The old director entered a protest, claiming that he was the director of the district, de jure as well as de facto. The case was appealed to the superintendent of public instruction. In deciding the dispute the superintendent wrote as follows:

"I am of the opinion that the manner of the selection of the director last year was illogal and void, the statutes requiring directors to be elected by ballot; that the present acting director has never been elected to that ofthe office by suffrance of the votors of the Amended articles of incorporation of the Hussey & Day company of Omaha were filed with the secretary of state this afternoon. Bogus Manufacturing Notes.

Another chapter was added to the history of the Capital National bank failure today by the filing with the clerk of the district court of the answer of Receiver Hayden to the large number of cases brought against him to recover amounts due upon the bogus notes issued by the "Western Manufactur-ing company," of which C. W. Mosher was ing company," of which C. W. Mosher was the leading spirit. These notes were issued in various amounts ranging from $1,000 to $12,000 and were signed by C. W. Mosher and one Hurlbut, who was at the time Mosher's confidential acent and clerk. Then the notes were endorsed upon the back by C. W. Mosher as president of the Capital National bank. They were thus given a status in the financial world and were readily disposed of at the smaller enstern banks. It is estimated that from $150,000 to $240,000 of this manufactured paper is held by banks in the eastern states. When the bank failed all the holders commenced attachment proceedings against the property deeded by Mosher and Outcalt to their friends and suits were also against the property deeded by Mosher and Outcalt to their friends and suits were also instituted against the receiver. The suits are important, for if won by the holders of the notes, they will share on a prorata basis with the depositors of the bank when the final division of the assets are made.

In his answer filed this afternoon Receiver Hayden denies that the "Western Manufacturing company," of which one E. Hayden denies that the "Western Manufacturing company," of which one E. Hayden denies that the "Western Manufacturing company," of which one E. Hayden denies that the "Western Manufacturing company," of which are the state of turing company," of which one E. Huribut, jr., was manager, ever had an existence. He admits that there was a "Western Manufacturing company," but that Huribut had nothing to do with it and had no authority to sign notes or other instruments as it manager. The answer alleges that C. W. Mosher, with a deliberate intent to defraud the corporators, stockholders and depositors, conspired with Hurlbut to falsify, forge and issue notes similar to those issued by the genuine Western Manufacturing company. Some of these forged notes do not anywhere appear upon the records of the bank, either as discounts or bills receivable. Some of the notes are recorded on the bank, or the house are recorded on the books of the bank, but in these cases they were marked paid on the books before being sold to eastern creditors. Receiver Hayden further alleges that the Capital National bank never owned or possessed the notes involved in the present suits, that they are void as to the bank be-cause of the fraudulent manner in which they were uttered, that they were and are ultra vires or beyond they ultra vires, or beyond the power of the person signing the notes to do so as the officers of the bank, and that Mosher's unlawful act in the face of the provisions of the law

Whereas, Distress heretofore unknown has made itself manifest in every part of our land, chushing the hum of andustry, paralyzing the willing hand of labor, and changing the happy homes of American workingmen into scenes of despair and want; and

Whereas, We feel assured that this distress is largely due to the unfriendly attitude of many governments toward the use of silver as money; and

Whereas, It is a self-evident fact that what is desirable and scarce is hard to obtain, and the scarcer money becomes the harder it is to get and the less readily it is invested in productive enterprises and the employment of labor; and labor; and ductive enterprises and the employment of labor; and

Whereas, It takes all the world's present store of coined money, both silver and gold, to pay one year's interest on the world's bonded indebtedness; and
Whereas, All legislative attempts to destroy the full money quality of silver have made money scarcer and harder to obtain, and have therefore been in the interest of the money lender and fatal to the welfare of producers, laborers and craftsmen; and
Whereas, Work without pay is slavery, and work for half pay is half slavery, and under the demonetization of silver wages have been maintained at living rates only by the constant efforts of labor unions; and
Whereas, The unconditional repeal of the so-called sherman act, without provision first being made for the extanded use of silver as money, would destroy, at a blow, one-half the country's ability to pay its debts or the interest.

money, would destroy, at a blow, one-half the country's ability to pay its debts or the inter-est thereon; would double the scarcity of money and rivet upon the debtor the chains of perpetual debt and upon the workingman the serfdom of scarce employment at inadequate wages, and would deduct from the world's in-sufficient supply of gold the 30 per cent of our country's total gold product which comes from silver mines;

silver nines:

Now, Therefore, we respectfully pray that congress pass a law which shall provide for the free and more extended use of silver as money of ultimate redemption and thereby check the centinual contraction of the currency which has been and now is sinking the free labor of our country deeper and deeper into the mire of enforced idieness, penury and despair.

Personal Cheeks Don't Go.

The wholesale merchants of Lincoln today sent their customers the following communi-cation as a result of the rule recently adopted by the bankers of Omaha and other Missouri river points:

Missouri river points:

Lincola, Neb., July 22.—The banks having notified as that all private checks will not be received as cash, but accepted for collection only, and which collection charge will be debited to us, we are compelled to announce that we cannot accept your checks in payment for bills, but must have draft on Lincoln, Omaha, Chicago or New York. This departure you will readily see is forced upon us by the action of the banks, which is not confined to any one city but is general on the Missouri river, and a charge by the banks on every check makes an expense that we cannot seford to stand. We therefore request your careful attention to this matter and send us exchange, as mertioned, until the banks will again agree to clear your private checks.

SPECIAL FAIR ATTRACTIONS.

Program for the Week at Jackson Park-Weather Warm but Pleasant.

Curcago, July 24.—The weather continues beautiful, though warm. This is Indiana editors' day at the World's fair, and they are to be given a week of enjoyment. They went by steamer to the park this morning and this afternoon held a reunion, with speeches, at the Indiana state building, which was gaily decorated for the occasion.

Tomorrow will be commercial travelers' day: Wednesday will be turnerbund day and a large number of those in attendance on the festival at Milwaukee are expected to take part in the exercises.

Tuesday will be poor children's day, the waifs being given free admission. Liberia has a unique program arranged for Wednesday.

FORD THEATER DISASTER.

Col. Ainsworth, Contractor Dant, Supt. Covert and Engineer Saste Indicted. Washington, July 24 .- The grand jury has found a true bill against Colonel Frederick G. Ainsworth, chief of the record and pension division of the War department; George W. Dant, contractor employed to make the excavation for the electric light plant; W. E. Covert, superintendent, and Francis Sasse, engineer, holding them responsible for the old Ford's theater disaster last June, in which twenty-three persons lost their lives and a large number were injured.

Awards Will Be Instructive CHICAGO, July 24.—The chief object of the bureau of awards of the World's fair, as disclosed in a statement issued today, is not to cater to the commercial side, but the instructive side. For instance, grains will be chemically examined to discover if the farmer is utilizing his land for the best purposes. Wool will be experimented on in a laboratory to ascertain the value of its fibre and the propriety of raising certain grades of sheep in certain localities and under certain conditions. Food products will be examined and their physiological values determined. No such examination has ever taken place in connection with any exposition.

Cadillac Day at Detroit. DETROIT, July 24.—The city today for the first time, celebrated the two hundredth anniversary of the arrival here of Antoine de la Motte Cadillac, the first settler on the site of Detroit, and it will hereafter be known as Cadillac day. The celebration began this afternoon with a parade of military and civic societies, state and municipal officers, etc., followed by addresses, historical and otherwise at the Auditorium.

Hotel Lincoln Guests Narrowly Escape Death as a Result of the Affair-One of the Boys Under Arrest.

LINCOLN, July 24 .- Special Telegram to THE BEE !- Chief Clerk Whitmore of Hotel Lincoln passed through an experience about So'clock this evening which nearly cost him his life. Two small boys, Oscar Brown, a colored lad, and Raymond Levi, both about 9 years old, had secured several large gua cartridges. Levi gave the colored boy three of them and told him to put them on the street car track. He did so and the motorman of the next car that came along nearly fell off the platform at the series of explosions which followed each other in quick succession. One of the heavy bullets passed through a large, heavy plate glass window in the hotel a half block away.

Mr. Whitmore and two guests of the hotel were sitting in front of the window when the bullet whizzed through between their heads. The plate glass window was shat-tered on a level with their heads the ball burying itself in the wall on the opposite side of the room. The colored boy was GREAT EXHIBIT OF TWINS. Four Sets of Doubles Bound for Chicago and the Fair.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Twelve twins. Many peculiar combinations have been brought to light in connection with the World's fair, but this one of doubles is the most unique that has discovered itself to a public always yearning for new sensations. The cowboy race created a great deal of noise and was a fizzle; a man pushed a wheelbarrow from the to Chicago; a one-legged bievelist passed through the enroute from San rrancisco to New York; on the way from Texas to Chicago are a number of milch cows racing to see which can get here first to give a sample of her butter; a woman will soon start from Denver on a broncho to break the cowboys' records; another woman, accompanied by her husband and another man, all armed to the teeth, is footing it from somewhere in the wild west to the fair. But the twins are not running a race to Chicago. They are from the great state of Kansas, will probably come in a buffet car, and will stop at a prominent hotel. William and Edward Stiles are brothers and wealthy real estate men of Wichita. They are twins, and in addition are so much alike that people who have known them intimately for years constantly mistake one for the other. In the same town lived two school teachers who were sisters and twins. The authority for the story, A. M. Burton of Kansas, who is in Chicago, says that it is difficult to tell them apart. The four twins met, fell in love and married. Each twin married the twin with whom he or she was in love, though a little mixing made discrimination impossible. Many stories too long to be retold here are related of them during the courtship, but suffice it for the present narrative to say that, in order to avoid mistakes, William and the young lady to whom he was engaged assigned Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights as their nights for courting, and Education the state of living. Don't let my friends have my body, for I hate them all. Yours, and Ed called on the remaining nights of the week, so there would be no mistake. They were married by the same preacher at the same time. The gentle-men were dressed alike and so were the The preacher got a little mixed and had to refer to his notes, but the high contracting parties are satisfied that they got the ones they wanted. The father of the boys presented them colts that were twins, and Mr. Burton says that any day these gentlemen. looking exactly alike and driving horses and buggies wherein no difference can be detected, may be seen in the streets of Wichita, where they are known to nearly everybody in the town.

Welt, twins have come into those two households, and it is gravely asserted that each set of twins cannot be determined from the other. They have all four been in one house and the visiting mother has taken two babies home with her, and if they become mixed they comfort themselves by saying, "It is all in the family anyhow." children are satisfied with either one of the ladies as a mother. When either one of the gentlemen meets any of the four on the street and it calls, "Hello papa," he don't know whether it's his or not. Eight of these twins, for, of course, the horses are to be left in Wichita, are coming to see the fair. At the hotel are two negro boys, twins, who are to be assigned especially to wait on them. Complications are looked for, as one of the boys once had a broom at the door when a gentleman ordered a brougham and the other brought a sick man a bible when he asked for a barber.

Marriage While You Wait. At Topeka, Kan., matrimonial agen des are accredited institutions and carried on like the real estate business. On each side of the door are black poards on which the good things of th day are chalked up.

Widower wants housekeeper; if suitable will marry her." "Young farmer owning a quarter section of land wants a wife; good milker preferred.

"Strong healthy woman with $200 wants a husband. Is not afraid to work. 'A widow with one child wants a husband; will go into the country.' These represent the sober necessities of the occasion as the wording indicates. A traveler who has just returned from Kansas says before these blackboards are two distinct crowds, elbowing and tiptoeing to see over one another's houlders, men looking over the available wives and women inspecting the lists of offered husbands. In these groups no one but strangers seemed to find anything strange or entertaining.

Thinks He is Playing. Washington Star: "I hope," said Mabel to her brother, "that Algernon does not play cards for money." "No." replied the young man, "I can safely say that he does not."
"I am so glad to hear it. But are you sure?

Yes. Sometimes Algernon thinks he is playing for money, but it is really the other man who is so occupied."

SECOND BIDS NOT SATISFACTORY

Supervising Architect O'Rourke Inclined to Refer the Matter Again to Congress and Secure More Funds for the Work.

Washington Bureau of The Bee, 513 Fourteenth Street, Washington, July 24. Supervising Architect O'Rourke today took under consideration the bids which have been submitted for the construction of the new federal building at Omaha. The various samples of stone which the several bidders propose to use in the construction of the new building have been received and are being inspected and tested by the supervising architect.

Senator Manderson, when the first set of bids were received and it was found a granite structure could not be erected within the appropriation, insisted that bids should be readvertised. Under the responses to the second advertisement the situation has not changed materially, the bids on granite not being any lower than under the original ad-

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that no material except granite will with-stand the rigor of Nebraska climate and it is the desire of the supervising architect to build the new building of that stone, but it appears that the existing appropriation is not large enough. It is thought that the entire matter will be held in abeyance until entire matter will be held in abeyance until the meeting of congress. When congress convenes it is probable Senator Maneerson will introduce a joint resolution increasing the appropriation and immediately upon its passage a contract for a granito structure will be let.

George Wright Died Leaving a Letter Making Light of Himself.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—George Clifford Wright, a man of 31 years, was found dead in bed at his room in the rear of 523 Race street early this morning and the coroner will make a post mortem examination of the body to determine whether death was due to natural causes or premeditated suicide. The man was in the last stages of consumption, and it is possible that he had a premonition of his approaching death. for preparation for his demise had been made. On the table were several letters. One was remarkable and was directed to the "Professor of Hahnemann Hos-pital." It was as follows:

Dear Sir—Cut my body up and show the cranks how a chump is made. I have been a chump ever since I became a man. I am tired of being imposed upon. I owe nobody

A CHEMP Another letter was written to the proprietor of the boarding house where Wright boarded, accusing Fletcher of failing to help him in his trouble. Alongside this pile of letters was a phograph of two women. The face and head of one of the females was cut out and on the back of the card was written: "She is the cause of my trouble."

West Point Soldiers Battle. CRANSTONS, N. Y., July 24.—Twenty West Point soldiers of company E engineers, and a similar number from the cavalry detachment, engaged in a handto-hand light at Nissens, the notorious dancing pavilion in this village, last night. The fight was the culmination of a feud that has been brewing between the two companies, growing out of jealousy of the standing of the two bodies. The engineers were put to flight. Village constables who took a hand were badly used up. A number of the combatants had to be carried from Panie oo a Steamer. NEW YORK, July 24. - The Long Branch steamer Mary Patton, on her return trip to this city from Long Branch, became disabled off Sandy Hook and caused a great panic among the passengers, which the officers had much difficulty in quieting. There was a mad fight for life preservers and women and children were trampled on indiscriminately. The disturbance was tinally quieted and the steamer towed in.

DRS. COPELAND & SHEPARD,

A visir to this spot, which is now a national cemetery, is extremerly interesting. Here seventeen years ago General Custer and five companies of the Seventh United States cavairy, numbering over 200 officers and men, were cut to pieces by the Sioux Indians and allied tribes under Sitting Bull. The battlefield, the valley of the Little Big Horn, located some forty odd miles south of Custer, Mont., a station on the Northern Pacific railroad, can be easily reached by stage. If you will write Charles S. Fee, St. Paul, Minn., inclosing 4 cents in postage, he will send you a handsomely illustrated 100 page book, free of charge, in which you will find a graphic account of the sad catastrophe which overtook the brave Custer and his followers in the valley of the Little Big Horn in June, '76.
