rof. Emerson of Amherst College Among Those Who Received Fatal Injuries -Brief Details of an Awful Rallway Disaster.

FREMONT, O., Aug. 6 .- A terrible wreck occured last night shortly after 10 o'clock at Lindsey, a village eight miles west of this place, on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad. An engine and three sleepers were badly demolished and three people were killed outright, while fully twenty-five were more or less badly injured.

The wreck was caused by the collision of a west-bound passenger train and an eastbound freight. The Pacific express, due at this place at 9:50 o'clock, left about ten minutes late. The coaches and sleepers were all well filled with people, many of whom were on their way to Chicago. At Lindsey, the next station west of this place, the train passed a local freight, No. 74, which had been side-tracked to await the passage of train No. 9. The train was running at full speed and passed safely, until the sleepers neared the switch, close to the freight, when the first three sleepers jumped the track and ran into the engine of the freight. The engine was wrecked and the sleepers crushed like egg shells. As the sleepers were filled with passengers, it seems a miracle that all were not instantly killed.

Agony for All. The scene that followed the collision was heart-rending. The groans of the dying, the shricks of the injured and the hissing of escaping steam combined to add horror to a sight that will long be remembered by those who witnessed it. Work was at once begunto render aid to the injured and those who were imprisoned in the ruins. The disaster was immediately reported, and an extra composed of an engine and coach was made up at this place. Drs. William Caldwell, F.U. Hilbush, M. Stamm and R. B. Meek had in the meantime been summoned, and the party at once proceeded to the scene of the wreck. The sight that greeted them was terrible.

The track for some distance was covered with debris, beneath which several persons were imprisoned. Legs, hands and arms protruded here and there from beneath the ruins.

Dead and Wounded.

It was later learned that the dead were Engineer Edward Lafferty of the local freight, Charles Spane, a brakeman on the same train, and Porter Robertson, porter of the sleeper Erie of Chicago. On arrival of the medical party the injured were at once taken care of with the united efforts of the physicians of this city and Drs. Woll and Steirwalt of Lindsey. About fifteen of the injured who had received wounds of a less dangerous character, after receiving medical attention, proceeded on their westward journey on that part of the passenger train which had escaped damage. The others who received serious injuries were taken to the hotel Nichols and private residences where they are now receiving the best of care.

MET ON THE TRESTLE.

Serious Collision Between Freight Trains on the Peoria & Eastern Illinois. DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 6 .- Train No. 44 on the Peoria & Eastern Illinois, Conductor McCauley, eastbound, coming up a heavy grade into Danville about 2 o'clock this morning, broke in two upon a trestle half a mile long and seventy-five feet high. Before the trainmen could get the rear portion of came upon the bridge, dashing into the rear of train No. 4 on the middle span of the trestie. McCauley was across the bridge, but could not get back far enough to prevent No. 42 coming on to the middle bridge. The middle span was completely destroyed and also twenty-five cars of grain, two cabooses and Break of a Great Reservoir Brings Death to Four People.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 6.—The great reservoir of the Portland Water company on the eastern promenade, burst this morning, letting loose 20,000,000 gallons of water in the space of about fifteen minutes.

The immense mass of water thus suddenly loosed dashed with mighty power upon the two houses occupied by the families of Michael Lappin and Dennis T. Connelly, The buildings were crushed as if they had been made of cardboard and four persons lest their lives.

MRS. DENNIS T. CONNELLY. MISS AGNES CONNELLY. MISS MAMIE CONNELLY.

JAMES MOSELY.

The two houses were under the walls of the reservoir. Edna Hutchins, who lives near the reservoir, and Mrs. A. M. Jones of Lewiston, who was visiting her, had arisen very early, about 5:30 o'clock, and went out for a walk. As they passed by the reservoir Miss Hutchins heard a hissing noise and saw a stream of water bubbling forcibly from the ground at the foot of the reservoir wall.

"What is that? A spring?" said she to Mrs. Jones.

Warning the People.

"A spring! The reservoir is bursting!" cried the older woman as she saw if and immediately ran with all her speed to the Lappin house and aroused the inmates and then aroused the Connellys. This done, Mrs. Jones begun arousing neighbors on the other side of Walnut street, and in less exposed localities. It was probably a quarter of 6 when Mrs. Jones warned the Lappins. The stream at that time was only about as large as a man's arm, but almost the next instant it was the size of a man's body. The members of the Lappin family evacuated their home with fortunate celerity. They took refuge on the other side of Walnut street, where a few neighbors were already arriving.

The Connelly family were not so fortunate. The family consisted of Dennis Connelly, his wife and two daughters and a son John and wife. They were warned in time. Mrs. Connelly was already up and dressed when the warning came. The other members of the family got up at once, and supposing they would surely get out, Dennis Connelly started for the barn to rescue his horse.

How the Victims Were Caught. The younger Mrs. Connelly did get out in her nightdress, hastily folding a wrapper about her as she went. She went across the street and fell fainting there. The elder Mrs. Connelly, with her two daughters, appeared next at the door. They were holding each other by the arms and seemed to be about to come across the street, while there was yet time But for some reason they did not go. The water was already dashing against the door sill and perhaps this terrified them, or perhaps they thought the house would be the safest place. The reason will never be known. The horror-stricken neighbors saw them draw back and draw the door.

Met a Hero's Death. Young James Mosely, James Lappin's adopted son, comprehended that the Connellys were lost unless they could be gotten out of the house at once. He dashed across the street through the increasing water and went into the doomed house. He was never seen again alive. Mr. Connelly had just got his horse untied when the flood was upon him. He and his horse dashed out through the torrent and escaped. The flood also tore up the street to the depth of fully six feet, the water going down the steep bank into the cove.

The bodies of the four victims were re overed.

The break is supposed to have been caused by a leak around the overflow pipe.

The reservoir cost $120,000, was designed by J. H. Shedd of Providence and was built under his supervision. The damage to the reservoir is about $25,000.

NEBRASKA'S SAND HILLS

Tobias Castor's Scheme to Prepare Them for Settlers.

WILL BE LEASED IN LARGE BLOCKS

Certain Improvements to Be Made as Rent with a View of Turning the Land Over to the Homesteader Later.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE,)

513 FOURTER STREET, WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. Democratic National Committeeman Tobias Castor of Nebraska, in speaking to THE BEE correspondent today of the propositions to people the sand hills of northwestern Nebraska and make them productive, said ; "I think the only practical procedure for the federal government is to lease the lands in large blocks for grazing, agricultural, or other purposes, and require as rent that certain improvements shall be made from year to year so as to bring the lands in time up to a point where they would be acceptable to the homesteaders.

"I believe it will be necessary in order to secure the desired improvements in the way of timber growths, irrigation, etc., to least the sand hills by counties and for long enough periods to warrant substantial and thorough improvements. If a county could be leased for say fifteen to twenty-five years, the lease would warrant seed im-provements and would not only benefit these lands decidedly, but the surrounding counry. The leases should be as long as the life f a fence anyway, which would be ten to fifteen years. I would not recommend the immediate sale of the sand hills nor do I think it feasible to consider irrigation or timber growth by the government. It is useless to talk of homesteading these lands in their present condition upon any terms. It is understood that Secretary Morton en tertains views similar to those expressed by Mr. Castor.

Castor Starts Home Today.

Tobias Castor told Tur Ber correspondent tonight that he had definitely concluded to leave Washington tomorrow evening. 'I shall go direct to Lincoln," said he, "re main there a couple of days, and then leave for the Tongue river in Montana, where I shall fish for ten days. There is the finest trout fishing on the Tongue river in Montana you can find in this country. No. I shall not be back in Washington soon, not before De cember. Tomorrow morning I go to the In-terior department, where an effort will be made to arrive at a conclusion as to what three land districts and offices in Nebraska shall be abolished. I then go to the Department of Justice for a few minutes, to see what I can learn about the United States district attorneyship in Nebraska and then am ready to leave.

Pull of the Shiver Men. After as careful inquiry as could be made during the past week and today among the congressmen who have arrived in Washing ton, The Bee correspondent is led to believe that the chances are three to one that even the house will not pass an unconditional re-peal of the Sherman silver purchasing act; that a compromise will be effected in the way of a suspension of the silver purchase clause for a while, until permanent legislation is effected, and that free coinage under an increased ratio probably about 20 to 1. will be the outcome. Should the house pass an unconditional repeal the senate is almost sure to adopt a substitute on free coinage lines. There are many men in congress who would vote for the unconditional ceneal of the silver law who would vote for anything to stop the hard times and restor-confidence, were it not that they know no bill favoring silver currency could then be while Mr. Cleveland is in the white house.

To Protect National Banks.

An amendment to the national banking law is to be offered in congress with a view to its early adoption which will tend to proect banks from runs and forced clos times like these, when no laws of good bank ing have been violated and the institutions ire solvent. It is proposed to reduce amount of reserve required and to give panks time to make turns when checks ther bills payable are presented under cer tain conditions. There is very little doubt that the national banks will be given circu-lation to the par value of bonds deposited. The republican members of the Nebraska wa delegations in congress favor these propositions and it is that most of the democrats would also, as they realize that the present administration and fear of destructive democratic legisla ion are the causes of the present financial E. WRIGHT COUNTY SENSATION.

Accusations Against an Iowa Man Causing Considerable Trouble.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Aug. 6 .- Special Tele gram to THE BEE |-The Board of Supervisors of Wright county has been called upon to investigate some sensational charges against County Treasurer Hartshorn of Clarion. It is alleged that Hartshorn has been using the county's money to carry on his own speculations. The county treashis own speculations. The county treas-per, has a balance of about $40,000. It is claimed that shortly after Mr. Hartshorn took possession of the office he purchased 800 head of cattle with the county's money. At the June settlement the treasurer had the required amount of cash on hand but his accusers claim to be able to prove that $3,000 of it was borrowed from a neighboring bank for use on that oc casion only. Mr. Hartshorn is a candidate for re-election this fall and claims the charges are part of a plan to prevent his nomination. He claims that he has always kept—the full amount of his balance in the national bank f Eagle Grove and that the story orrowing money originated in the fact that the Eagle Grove bank secured some cur ency from out of town, that was used at the settlement. Republican Delegate Elected.

GOVERNOR COSTA SCARED.

Provincials of Buenes Ayres About to Put that Official to Flight. [Copyrighted 1893 by James Gordon Bennett.]

VALPARAISO, Chili (via Galveston, Tex.,) Aug. 6.-[By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald-Special to THE BEE. |- The Herald's correspondent in Buenos Ayres telegraphs that Governor Costa of the province of Buenos Ayres is still shut up in the city of La Plata and has little chance of escaping. His forces are demoralized and it is believed that the siege will end within a few hours with the evacuation of the city by the provincial governor's troops. Three thousand civico nacionales are encamped outside of Temper ley, ready to march into La Plata. They are well armed and have several batteries of gatling guns.

Bosch, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, asked the cabinet to send a war ship to LaPlata to aid the governor in defending the city, but the request was not granted. Governor Costa suffered the humiliation of having the government directly refuse to aid him. Members of the cabinet informed his representative that the national government would maintain a strict neutrality between the combatants in the disturbed provinces. Governor Costa is thoroughly frightened now that the national government has refused to aid him in controlling the province.

With the strong force which the civico nacionales have near the city, the demoralization of his own troops and the refusal of ald from Buenos Ayres, his chances winning are small. He has steamer anchored near the city and pro poses to escape in her rather than run any chances of becoming a captive of the revolutionists. Dr. Irigoven, leader of the radical party of Buenos Ayres, in an interview

today, told me the civico nacionales, radi cals and the national government were working together harmoniously. This view seems also to be taken by Cafe ferata, ex-governor of Santa Fe, who was overthrown by the revolutionists. Cafferata declares that the revolution is under the protection and is being fomented by the members of President Saens Pena's cabinet. The families of many of the followers of Governor Costa have left the city of Buenos Ayres, fearing that, the civico nacionales troops may make trouble there.

IN EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Fifty-Third Congress of the United States Will Assemble Teday in Washington.

MANY NEW NAMES ARE ON THE ROLL CALLS

Statesmen of Former Congresses Will Not Be There-Little is Expected to Be Accomplished at the Start-Where It Will Begin.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 .- For the twelfth time in the history of the country, congress will tomorrow be convened in extraordinary session. The history which the session will make for itself will probably justify that title in more senses than one. Convened for a single specific object—the repeal or modification of what is popularly known as the Sherman act-it will not be restricted to that bare program, but will have, in connection to legislate, upon the whole subject of finance, including probably a thorough revision of the tariff. Those two subjects, distinct and yet connected, will supply material enough to occupy the attention of congress for many months to come.

While the senate will have the great advantage of being guided and controlled by experienced leaders and debaters on both sides of the chamber, it will also contain many members entirely new to its proceedings. Its presiding officer Vice President Stevenson, when he took the gavel on the 4th of March last, from the hand of the retiring vice president, Mr. Morton, had had no familiarity with the rules of a legislative body, except that de-rived from his service in the house of representatives during two sessions of congress and six weeks of an extra session, but in case of necessity Mr. Stevenson will have a reliable substitute to call to the chair in the person of the president of the senate, pro tempore, Mr. Harris of Tennessee.

New Talent in the Cast. The state of California will have two new men in the senate to look after her interests
-Mr. White, who succeeded Mr. Hearst, and Mr. Perkins, who has just been ap-pointed by the governor to fill the place of Mr. Stanford; Kansas has joined to her populist senator, Mr. Peffer, a man on whom the democrats rely—Mr. Martin; Kentucky has a new senator, Mr. Lindsay, elected to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Carlisle's resignation; Louisiana has one in Mr. Carrery, who took last January, the seat made vacant by the death of Mr. Gibson: Massachusetts has one in Mr Henry Cabot Lodge, who succeeded Mr. Dawes; Nebraska has Mr. Allen, elected in the place of Mr. Paddock; New Jersey, Mr Smith, elected in place of Mr. Blodgett; New York, Mr. Murphy, elected in place of Mr. Hiscock; North Dakota, Mr. Roach in place of Mr. Pierce; West Virginia, Mr. Camden, who, however, served a former tecm in the senate from 1881 to 1887, and Wisconsin one in Mr. Mitchell, who, filte the vice president, has had two terms experience in the house of representatives.

In addition to those new senators there are three others, as to whose admission the question was left undecided at the close of the extra session. A precedent has to be established in the case of senators appointed by the governors of Montana, Washington and Wyoming.

Stars of the Troups.

But it is to the old leaders of both political parties in the senate that the public will look for action. Foremost on the republican side is Mr. Sherman, who gave his name to the act now to be the subject of condemnation—an act which he has de-fended as a compromise measure, and now willing anxious to see repealed. He will be supported in whatever position he takes on the silver question by such able adjutants as Messrs Frye, Hoar and Morrill and he will be as ably antagonized by such republi can senators as Messrs. Jones of Nevada, Teiler, Wolcott and Stewart.

There are quite as many experienced de baters and parliamentarians on the demo cratic side including senators Gorman Gray, George, Harris, Morgan, Pugh, Vest, Vance and Voorhees, but they will range themselves not on party lines, but on their individual and state views of financial policy How It May Start.

The first business in order after the senat s called to order will be to administer the ath of office to the senators and the secretary of the senate. The senators who will take the oath are Mr. Perkins, who succeeds Senator Stanford, Mr. Pasco of Flor ida, who has been re-elected after serving a interim under a gubernatorial appointment and Mr. Quay of Pennsylvania, who was no present during the last extra session and so has not yet qualified. As soon as notice is received from the house that it has organized the proper committee will be appointed to await upon the president and notify him that congress is ready to receive any cor munication he may care to make. the senate is disposed to go earnestly work from the start it has before it, as already stated, the privileged question of the right to seats of Senators Mantle of Mor tana, Beckwith of Wyoming and Allen of Washington. Should the republicans insist upon the disposition of these cases nothing can be done until they are acted upon. Another privileged motion pending is Mr Hoar's resolution touching Senator Roach's character, with Mr. Gorman's substitute and still another is Mr. Chandler's resolu tion of a similar nature concerning Sen-ator Powers. So far no line of policy has been adopted by either party on these subjects, and it is probable that in both the senate and the house the parties will caucus during the week to agree upon their respective lines of campaign. Hundred New Men in the House.

The house will be called to order by Clerk Kerr, who has been selected by a caucus o his party for re-election, but who would nevertheless, have performed that duty under the law, as the holding over clerk of the last house, even if he had not been chosen for re-election. When he calls the roll he will look upon nearly 100 new and untried men and will find many familiar faces ab-

Prominent among the missing are: James

Blount of Georgia, chairman of the com-mittee on foreign affairs and postofiles n the previous congress, who, after nearly twenty years of continuous service. tarily retired from congress to seek other fields of ambition, and who is now on his way back to the United States from his duties as commissioner paramount and minister to Hawaii; Mr. Herbert of Alabama, promoted to a seat in the cabinet; suave and gentle General Forney of the same state, who declined re-election after sixteen years of valuable service, chiefly on the appropriation committee; John E. Ketchum of New York, familiarly known as "Whispering Jimmy," whose misfortune has not prevented him from being an obedient servant to the public for fourteen congresses: courteous Peet of Arkansas, chairman of the committee on Indian affairs of the last con gress; Shakespearean Henry Byron of Nev gress; Shakespearean Henry Byron of New York, chairman of the banking and cur-rency committee of the last congress and the uncompromising opponent of free coinage; Massachusetts' noted quartet of culture, Henry Cabot Lodge, transferred to the sen-ate, Sherman Hoar (appointed district at-torney), John F. O'Neill. But John O'Neill expects to get back by a contest. Last, boyish, smooth-faced, "Where-am-Lat" Tom Watson of Georgia will be on the roll call of the missing from the Fifty-third congress.

Some Old Timers Return.

The onlookers from the galleries will also see familiar faces which have been missing for years in the halls of legislation. Chief among them is homely Joe Cannon of Illinois. When he is seen again in his favorite attitude, one foot on his chair and his sleeves pulled up to his elbows, pointing his skinny dexter finger at the speaker, he is sure of a hearty welcome from political friends and opponents alike. Mr. Updegraff of lowa, whom Sunset Cox used adroitly to put forward, comes back after a long absence. So does grizzled, earnest Governor Gear of Iowa. Henry Blair of New Hampshire will now have an opportunity of airing his eloquence on his educational bill on the house side. Veteran Dan Sickles of New York re-enters the legislative field which he left many his skinny dexter finger at the speaker, he the legislative field which he left many years ago.

Will Take it Easy.

There will probably be little done in the house the first week, owing to the non-existence of committees.

It is not likely that the message will be sent in tomorrow as the afternoon will probably be occupied by drawing seats. After the message is read both the house and senate will probably adjourn for three days.

SENATOR STEWART'S BILL, His Measure Declares for the Free and Unlimited Coinage of Silver. WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 .- Senator Stewart of Nevada, who has just arrived from Chicago, where he attended the silver conference, has already prepared a bill "to restore the right of coinage," which he will introduce at the earliest opportunity, tomorrow if possi ble. The first section reads:

"Be it enacted, etc., that the fourteenth section of January 18, 1837, be and the same is hereby re-enacted, which reads as follows: That gold and silver bullion brought to the mint for coinage shall be received and coined by the proper officers for the benefit of the depositors provided that it shall be lawful to refuse at the mint any deposit of less value than $100, and any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint, and provided also that when gold and silver are combined, if either of these metals be in such small pro portion that it cannot be separated advantageously, no allowance shall be made to the epositor for the value of the metal."
The second section repeals the silver pur-

Portion of a Saint's Body on Exhibition i New York. NEW YORK, Aug. 6.-Rev. Father Tetrean. whose zeal in establishing the French Canadian church of St. Jean Baptiste in this city, of which he is pastor, and the altar a shrine sought by the afflicted from near and far who believe in the power of the saint to heal, is delighted over the arrival today of another well authenticated relic Mgr. Marquis of Quebec who has been Rome and France, and who arrived today on the La Champagne, brought with him for St. Jean Baptiste's the largest portion of the body of the saint which has been cut from the remains which are believed to repose in the Basilica of Apt, in the province of Avig on. Since Father Tetrean obtained the ting particle of the saint's body which is in the shrine of the church, he has been en denvoring to get a much larger piece. Mgr. Marquis and Father Tetrean are great friends, and soit came about when former went to Rome the latter asked him to intercede with the archbishop of Avignon for a very considerable portion of the saint's body. The monsignor was successful in his mission and there is great rejoicing at the Marquis has brought is eight or ten inches long and is the larges fragment outside of the Basilica of Apt The piece now in the church is a mere fragment about two inches in length This gift, said Father Tetrean, takes or especial significance from the fact that the tomb of St. Anne recently opened in Jeru-salem was found to be empty, which partly confirms the tradition that Mary Magdelene Martha and Lazarus in fleeing from the city carried the body with them and landed at Marseilles, the capital of the province

LOCATED AN ABSCONDER.

Milwaukee Bank Cashler, Supposed to B Dead, Seen in Denver. DENVER, Aug. 6 .- The police have not yet een able to find John B. Koetting, cashier of the South Side Savings bank of Milwaukee, who is accused of having absconded with $40,000 of the bank's money. There is no doubt that he has been here and may yet be in hiding in the city. Friday he was seen on the streets by two Milwaukee people who are now residing here and who knew the ex-cashier. The police were notified but waited to hear from Milwaukee before arresting him. In the meantime he disappeared. Officers are on the alert for him and telegrams have been sent to outside points to arrest him if possi ble. Koetting's presence here is an em-phatic denial of the story that he suicided some time ago at Waukesha, Wis.

o'clock this morning Sam and Bill Conrad arranged a reception for a surprise party. The party went to call on the Conrad boys with a rope and the Conrads reversed the usual order of things by opening up a fusilade. There was no lynching, the boys escaped and the mob carried home four dead men and one wounded, as follows:

EDWARD HOUSTON. WILLIAM WISEMAN. JOHN TIMBERLAKE. ISAAC HOWE.

Wounded: WILLIAM MAY, shot through left side; will

About four months ago the township was greatly incensed against the Conrad brothers owing to the current belief that they had murdered their father. His dead body was found one morning in the woods near the Conrad farm house, with ugly wounds in the head inflicted, as the coroner's jury agreed, "by some persons unknown,

An investigation by the sheriff, however, led to the arrest of the sons. At that time popular feeling was so strong there came near being a lynching, but better counsel prevailed and the prisoners were allowed to await the action of the jury that was to pass upon the case. The trial was ended a few days ago in the acquittal of the Conrads. They returned to their farm homodown near where the Ohio wends its peaceful way,

Prepared for Trouble.

But before going the boys, as a precautionary measure, took along a pair of doublebarreled snotguns and enough ammunition to keep the flies off of prospective callers. The boys took turns as sentinels. The verdict of the jury fanned into a more furious flame the wrath of the Boone people. They believed the evidence against the Courads to be conclusive and talked of packed juries and law that was not justice. There used to be an order of white caps in the township a long time ago and the ringleaders are said to have been Howe and Wiseman. These men passed the tip from farm house to farm house for a midnight meeting and after the women and babies had been put to sleep all over Boone township the wild meeting was adjourned after a plan of action had been outlined and, headed by Ed Houston, several hundred horny-handed farmers set out torches in hand and well armed for the Conrad homestead. They intended to fire the house and, if the poys escaped cremation take them to a nearby tree and string them up. The boys had kept a tireless vigil. The maddened mob had failed to act with caution, no resistance being anticipated. A solid body of them marched straight to the front door and rapped. Replied with Bullets.

There was not a word from the inside. No sound of warning came till two shots awoke the echoes and Houston and Wiseman fell at almost the same moment. Another fusilade laid three more men low, and then the boys emptied a pair of pistols. A panic seized the crowd and it scattered. There were fears that the boys had been reinforced, and Al Williams, one of the men who made up the party, stated he felt sure there were half a dozen men in the house. Before a concerted plan of action could be agreed upon the Conrads had made their escape.

The mob set fire to the farm house, picked up their dead and cared for those who sustained wounds, and have organized another party to scour the woods for the Conrads. It is a determined man hunt that is in progress in Boone township tonight. Very little information in addition to what has been related can be obtained tonight. The men who composed the mob, it is learned, were from three townships. There were about 100, all mounted. Houston Hved in Taylor township, Timberiake and Wiseman in Heth and Howe in Boone. All were farmers, wealthy and well known, May, the young man who was wounded, is the son of the best known resident of Boone. It seems he was shot through both eyes and left to shift for himself until the mon returned after being dispersed. The mother and sister of the Conrads lived in the house with them. They remained behind. There was little or no evidence against the

The old man was found in a ditch with his skull broken, a heavy club beside him. No motive for a crime so brutal could be found to present to the jury. There was some proof that the sons mistreated old man Conrad, but beyond this there was nothing except that they might have wished to get rid of their duty in supporting him. It seems a threatening letter was sent the brothers the day they were acquitted, ordering them to leave the country on pain of death.

AT QUARANTINE STATION. Saveral Hundred Passengers Transferred to

Hoffman Island from the Karamania. QUARANTINE STATION, S. I., Aug. 6.-There have been no developments at quarantine today beyond the transfer of the remaining 263 passengers of the Karamania to Hoffman island. The men, women and children were given a bath and their clothing was put through the customary process of steam disinfection. The 255 men, who were removed from the Karamania yesterday were in good condition this norning. The vessel, which will be allowed to remain at the upper station with her crew, was put through a thorough disinfection after the removal of her passengers. The hedding of the crude bunks and the temporary wooden lattines, which were hung over the sides of the suip, were also disinfected, removed and burned in the vessel's furnace. All of the exterior portions of the ship were washed with a solution of bi-chloride of mercury and the cabins closed and filled with steam.
