Thomson-Houston Bill Knocked Out—Lively Debate Over Allowing the City Electrician the Privilege of the Floor—Session in Full. The members of the Omaha city council were confronted last night with six vetoes from Mayor Bemis. The veto messages were all lengthy and important and terse. Some of the councilmen who are not in accord with the vetoes in this honor were considerably perturbed...

President Bechel held that in view of the objection the electrician could not address the council and that Mr. Howell under the rules was compelled to vote. Mr. Howell was wroth by this time, and he said: 'It is wrong to ask a man to vote on a question and at the same time deny him the privilege of securing information when it is at hand and to be had. I am generally opposed to a man being forced to believe I can be heard, and in this instance as generally as old Nick himself. You can drive a horse to water, but you can't compel him to drink. That is the case here. It is wrong to force me to vote, and at the same time deny me information which I desire.'

The mayor also vetoed an ordinance ordering the paving of Jackson street from Thirteenth to Sixteenth street, for the reason that there was no majority petition presented designating the paving to be done within thirty days. This veto was not sustained.

Crime in High Places. It is not strange that some people do wrong through ignorance, others from a failure to investigate as to the right or wrong of a matter. But it is strange that individuals and firms, who are fully aware of the rights of others, will persist in perpetrating frauds upon them.
