Gone for Good.

Although Sheriff Hazen and his deputies prolonged their search for George Welch, the county jail prisoner who skipped out Wednesday evening, until yesterday morning they have secured no clew, and it seems from later developments that when he left he had no idea of returning. He wrote a note to his brother in another town. time ago, asking for money. As he had been allowed a great many privileges about the jail yard he had no difficulty in sneaking off to the postoffice to mail his letter or to get the reply when it came. With the money which his brother furnished him he bought a ticket for Chicago over the North-western, although the sheriff has reasons for thinking that he did not go that way Welch had been in jail for about six months for the larceny of a suit of clothes but his term would have been up in nine days. His action in running away at this late day is peyond the understanding of the officials.

Speech Making of the Usual Sort-Other Business Trausacted at the Meeting.

The democrats of Pottawattamie county held their convention yesterday in the south room of the county court house. It was fairly well attended, a round dozen of the voting precincts being unrepresented at the time of calling the meeting to order, just one hour later than the time set in the call issued by the chairman of the county central ommittee.

Chairman J. J. Shea of the county central ommittee called the meeting to order and made an anthusiastic speech. When he had finished his arraignment of the republican party and of certain newspapers that had been guilty of allowing anony mous communications to creep into their columns, he reforred to an article that appeared in THE BEE a few days ago to the effect that there Bis a few days ago to the effect that there was a split in the democratic party over the chairmanship of the county central commit-tee. He did not deny that there was a split, or that there was dissatisfaction in certain quarters with the work he had done while chairman. But in order that the question of who should fill the office next var might not disput the party ennext year might not disrupt the party entirely, he took that opportunity of putting his 'resignation in the hands of the conven-tion, in order that the office, with all its magnificent emoluments, might pass into the hands of some one better able to sub-serve the interests of the democratic party."

Temporary Organization.

This formality over, Mr. Shea proposed Mr. William Groneweg for temporary chairmap, and Mr. Groneweg for temporary chan-map, and Mr. Groneweg was elected unani-mously. When he took the chair he made a speech in which he said that the only way the state of Iowa would ever be rescued from the ban of prohibition was by democratic votes. He did not even give the samulting sendit He did not even give the republicans credit for common honesty, saying that no matter what sort of a platform they might be elected on they would let their consciences go to the winds as soon as elected and go back into the prohibition camp. The only way to get out of the financial and tariff difficulties tay in the same direction. In short, the only salvation the country could look for was in the hands of the democrats. John H. Mithen was elected temporary secretary. Later on the temporary organization was made permanent. A committee was appointed to examine credentials and when it had been put to work a recess was voted until 1:30 p. m.

Afternoon Session.

When the committee on credentials made its report at the opening of the afternoon its report at the opening of the afternoon session, it was learned that eleven precincts were not represented, as follows: Cresent, Center, Hardin, Kane, outside, Norwaik, Rockford, Washington, Waveland, Wright, Sixth ward, Second precinct, The report was adopted, whereubon Cuppy of Avoca, moved that in selecting delegates, fourteen should be chosen from the country and twolve from Council Buffs.

HARDLY A HOLD-UP.

the Story of Hansen and Nelson Reads in the Clear Light of Day. he hold-up, of which Peter Hansen and s Nelson were the heroes and victims out midnight Wednesday night, does not scem to be much of a hold-up after all, in the light of later developments. When Nelson was brought to the station City Physician Macrae was called to attend him and found him in such a condition that a plow with a feather would have laid him out had the supposed highwaymen never run across him. He was suffering from a jag, which was colossal in the extrome. After sponding a night in the refrigerator he pleaded guilty to being drunk and paid the fine which Judge McGee assessed with an air that indicated he thought the fun worth the fine. Hausen was not so badly decomposed, and was able to take his friend down to the corner of Willow avenue and Eighth street yesterday noon and look over the spot where the trouble took place. The horse which the two men were driving Wednesday night ran away and dumped them out upon the pavement. They were considerably braised by their fall, but not seriously injured. While they were tinker-ing away at their rig the three alleged highwaymen came along and commenced talking to them. The officers are now of the opinion that Hansen, who is somewhat cranky at times, made an insulting reply. The three fellows then started out to give him and his companions a few pointers in the art of po-liteness and left them in a highly dilapidated condition. Hansen is the man who shot one Madison at a dance on South Main street about three years ago, but was acquitted on the ground of self defense. As for the money that Hansen claimed to have lost, he recov ered all but 5 cents of it.

Client and Lawyer.

A petition was filed in the district court vesterday by the firm of Kleine, Timberman & Co. asking for a judgment of $1,000 against the law firm of Wright & Baldwin of this city. In it the plaintiffs allege that they placed a note for $1,800 in the hands of the defendants for collection in 1883, and that some time later the defendants collected $1,187 on application. This amount was not turned over to the plaintiffs at the time, owing to the fact that Wright & Baldwin were garnished by some of the creators of the parties who had executed the note. In 1890 the garnishment proceedings were dis-posed of, but Wright & Baldwin have never allowed their clients to look upon the $1,000, which was left after the expense of collection were paid. A MODERN MERMAID.

She is in the Swim and Shows Off to Good Advantage.

Clara Beckwith is a young woman who proudly asserts that she is in the swim now, always has been and always expects to be. Last week she disported herself in a glass tank and floated about in the water with an appearance of cool comfort which on warm nights was very exasperating. A woman who can swim nine miles at a stretch, who eats, drinks, sews, per-forms athletic feats, and, in short, seems as much at home in the water as most people are out of it, is interesting. Miss Beckwith calls herself "The Modern Mermaid," and next to swimming she likes to talk about swimming. She gave a woman reporter of the New York Sun a long interview the other evening and told a very interesting story of her natatorial career. "How did you happen to learn to swim?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, it's born in me, I guess. You know I am English. I was born in Lambeth and we lived right near the beach. My father was the champion swimmer of England for ten years and then he gave way for my brother William, who is the champion now."

"What is the longest swim you ever attempted 2"

"Nine miles. That was on the other side. I swam from the mainland to a ledge of rocks nine miles away. It took me five hours and a half, and when I get there my eyes were so bloodshot I could scarcely see and my face was so eaten by the salt water that it was almost raw. Speaking of eramps, I don't think a careful swimmer need to fear them. I have been in very cold water and I had no trouble.

"How long can you stay under the water without coming up for air?" "Two minutes and thirty seconds. What is the most difficult thing to do? Oh, I don't know. Nothing seems hard to me in the water. It seems to me that I couldn't sink. It looks as if walking on my hands with my body straight up was difficult, but while it requires care and precision it is easier in the water than out of it, because the water assists in balancing the body. "By the way, why don't more of the American girls swim? In England three-tourths of the women know how, but here it is the exception to find one who isn't 'deathly afraid.' as they say, of the water. It is the best prescription a doctor could give them. I haven't known a day's sickness in eleven years, and it is all because of my swimming.

The flies, entired by the smell, soon swarmed around the scheming batrachian and whenever one passed within two inches or so of his nose his tongue darted out and the fly disappeared. The plan worked so well that the toad made a regular business of it.

UP WITH THE LARK.

The Medicine of Sleep Far Better Than Early Rising.

The Hartford Courant has a charming round column reaching to the sun, the diameter of the column would be nearly two and a half miles. The Pacific would form 53,000,000 miles of its total rhapsody on the delights of getting up early in the morning. One extract will show the tenor of the article. It says: 'One knows but a half of one's self, and length of 93,000,000, and the Atlantic that not the better half, who has not 18,000,000, gone forth alone and fresh with sleep If it were a column of ice, and the eninto the early morning and let the voices of that joyful hour make music to the ear. It is no injustice to the other phases to say that the morning burst of sunshine, freshtire heat of the sun concentrated upon it, it would be all melted in one second ness and fragrance is the divinest thing nature does for man. It is the hour

This is a fine composition, comments the Philadelphia Press, and if there were no other parts of the day except people in 1892 to stand: the morning, or if they were not filled with nerve straining duties we would feel disposed to add some high flown Maine New Hampshire rhetoric to the rhapsody of the Courant and advise everybody to get up early in the morning and enjoy nature. But, as it happens in this hur-rying modern life of ours, there Massachusetts. Rhode Island is an almost constant call for the ex-New dersey Pennsylvaula. Delaware Maryland penditure of nerve force, and as this force can only be laid up during sleep or bodily rest it follows that the average man must have a certain amount of sleep and rest or he becomes nervously exhausted. It is a lack of enough of this time for recuperation that makes the American people prema-turely old and sends thousands of them to the insane asylums every year. They are worn out, physically exhausted and their neruous systems broken down at an age when they ought to be in good realth and enjoying life and all because they denied themselves the sleep nature demanded.

There is nothing like sleep to store up nervous energy and to put flesh on the bones. In an article published some years ago, and generally ascribed to Oliver Wendell Holmes, it was recommended that nervous women be put to bed and compelled to stay there while they were fattened with nutritious foods, just as a chicken is fattened for market. With the acquirement of fat and the filling up of the reservoirs of nervous strength the fidgety, emotional, whimsical woman will get up from her bed another being, Thomas A. The relative size of the areas of the whole surface of the earth, of the whole sea, the Pacific and the Atlantic are represented by circles the diameters of which are in the proportions to one another of 158, 133, 93 and 62 respectively; or by a crown for the surface of the earth, a half-crown for the surface of the whole sea, a shilling for the surface of the Pacific, a three-penny piece for the surface of the Atlantic.

How the Health of Children May Be Preserved.

Mothers of Omaha, read what's here. There is an epidemic of indigestion and cholera infantum in this and other states Health boards everywhere are reporing a startling fatality from cholera infantum.

Physicians say that in nearly every case the child is poorly fed and nour-ished, and hence the disease.

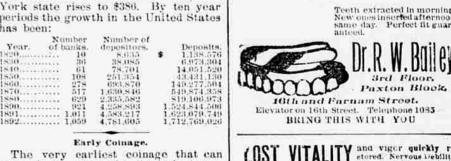

"It is absolutely certain," says a phy-sician in one of the medical journals, speaking of the alarming summer mortality among his patients. "that the cause of this high death rate among infants is indigestion." At the beginning of summer, the best physicians gave warning that pure food must be used for babies. That this warning did not reach every city in this state is evident from the high infantile death rate. But in those places where the newspapers published discussions that were going on, large quantities of lactated food were sold and this best of diets for children was used. The result is, statistics show that fewer deaths have occurred in those towns and cities where the larger amount of lactated food was used.

Comparisons of this sort are abso lutely convincing. August is a fatal month for the little ones, and unless lactated food is used. the local physicians say that the dreadful mortality and increasing amount of sickness among children will continue. The one safe plan is to feed infants on lactated food.

A Frog's Cauning.

A naturalist paper relates an interesting incident of a frog's cunning. A brood of chickens was feu with moistened meal in saucers, and when the dough soured ing the past twenty or thirty years Their stock of vitality has increased and they live longer. And while there are other reasons for this change the chief one is that people sleep longer and rest more. The hours for work have gradually grown fewer. Factory operatives are no longer compelled to hurry to their work at 5 o'clock in the morning and work until 7 in the evening. Business and professional men go to their counting rooms and offices an hour or more later and leave as much earlier in the afternoon. The result is more time for sleep and better health. But there is still more room for improvement in this way. Walter Besant, the English novelist, said a few weeks ago at Harvard university, when commenting on the graduating class: "A fine, noble looking lot of young men. They are unlike our English university students physically. I think our young men, as rule, are bigger, heavier, stouter men, while yours have more nervous activity than ours. They are slighter and perhaps taller, but they seem to be more highly strung nervously." That is the trouble with a majority of graduates.

letic spirit in colleges, too many young men go out into life too "highly strung nervously." There is no better medicine than good sleep and plenty of it, and many a boy and man is crippled in energy by an unwise habit of getting up too early in the morning. The American people would be happier, there would be just as much work done, the insane asylums would be half empty and there would be less crime committed if people slept longer. It is time the so-called sluggard had his rights and the man who prefers his morning snooze to a morning cocktail is estimated at his proper value.

THE SIZE OF THE SEA.

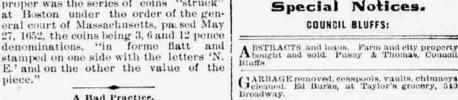

Facts that May Weil Instruct as Well as Astonish.

One gallon of water weighs ten pounds. so the number of gallons in the Pacific is over 200 trillions; an amount which would take more than a million years to pass over the falls of Niagara. Yet, pat into over the falls of Niagara. Yet, put into a sphere, the whole of the Pacific would only measure 726 miles across, says Longman's Magazine.

The Atlantic could be contained bodily in the Pacific nearly three times. The number of cubic feet is 117 followed by seventeen ciphers; a number that would be ticked off by our million clocks in 370,000 years. Its weight is 325,000 billion tons, and the number of gallons in it 73 trillions. A sphere to hold the Atlantic would have to be 533 miles in diameter. If it were made to fill a circular pipe reaching from the earth to the sun-a distance of 93,000,000 miles -the pipe would be 1.837 yards, or rather over a mile; while a pipe of similar length to contain the Pacific would be over a mile and three-quarters across Yet the distance to the sun is so great that, as has been pointed out, if a child were born with an arm long enough to reach the sun it would not live long enough to know that it had touched it for sensation passes along our nerves at the rate of 100 feet a second, and to travel from the sun to the earth at tha rate would take a century and a half

The rest of the sea includes the India ocean, the Arctic and Antarctic seas, and various smaller masses of water, It covers an area of 42.000,000 square miles, and would form a circle of 7,800 miles in diameter. The average depth may be put at 2,000 fathoms (12,000 feet), and the contents at 95,000,000 cubic miles. It trillion gallons, while it would form a beaver skins were reckoned as lawful currency. In 1645 the assembly of Virginia met and declared that it "had maturely weighed and considered how advantageous a quoine (coin) would be to this colony, and how much better it would be than a sole dependency upon tobacco and pelts." After this they provided for the coinage of copper coins of the denominations of 2 pence, 3 pence, 6 pence and 9 pence | but this resolution was never carried into effect. The first coinage in America proper was the series of coins "struck" at Boston under the order of the gen eral court of Massachusetts, passed May 27, 1652, the coins being 3, 6 and 12 pence denominations, "in forme flatt stamped on one side with the letters 'N.
