Senator Stewart is a millionaire-in silver mines, mortgages and real estate here. Speaking of the Leiter mansion I am reminded of a bit of gossip in real estate cir-cles. Mr. Leiter has lived in Paris many years and has come to the conclusion that his family Parisianized, as has James Gordon Bennett, who, after inheriting a fortune from his father in New York and making another one with his great newspapers, went to Paris a decade ago and has become a citizen there, establishing an Americanized news paper which publishes for the English-speaking readers of Europe all the news of the United States, included to bring our country and people into ridicule and drag down our securities and respectability. It is not likely, however, that should Mr. Leiter go to Paris to live he will follow the example of Mr. Bennett and do so much to injure American interests.

Allegations Filed.

The allegations filed go at great length into the relations which existed between the plaintiff and Mr. Breckinridge, as she charged, until recently. The birth of the two children (who died) and the premature birth of a third child are alleged as a result of this intimacy. She further alleges that after the death of the children she came to Washington, and bhat after the death of his wife she was again in a delicate situation, and with protestations of love and affection he induced her to continue their relations and promised to marry her as soon as it would be proper to marry her as soon as it would be proper for him to do so, in a sufficient time after the death of his wife. It is alleged that he solemnly promised that there should be a secret marriage on the 31st day of May. 1891, and that the marriage should take place in the city of New York, but after that, on the place of her condition, the time appriated for the marriage so because and appointed for the marriage was postponed until the following December or January. From time to time, she alleges, the date o marriage was postponed until on the 10th of July, she avers, Mr. Breckinridge wrongfully and injuriously married another woman, Mrs. Louisa Wing, who was then a resident of the city of St. Louis.

Leiter's Fine Residence for Sale.

"Well, as I was about to say, Mr. Leiter, just as he has completed his great and mag-nificent residence here, which he intended to make his home, has concluded to live in and so wants to sell his house to the federal government for a white house or residence for the president. There has been a great deal of agitation for years in the direction of purchasing a residence for the family of the president, and it would not be strange if the Leiter residence, which has not yet been occupied by any one, and which is admirably located and designed for the purpose, is purchased as a presidential man-sion. It has spacious grounds, occupying as it does, a whole "flatiron" square, is built of white stone and marble, is larger than any other residence in Washington, is in the

could be tickled to have it as his official family abode. Just across Massachusetts avenue from Senator Stewart's house is the beautiful residence of the late Mr. Blaine-a house he built with a view to occupying when he was elected president.

Down Massachusetts avenue a short disance is the beautiful residence of ex-Senator Van Wyck of Nebraska, now occupied by Chief Justice Fuller. A little further on is the large and handsome residence of Senator Proctor, the millionaire gentleman from Vermont, who has made his fortune in granite. Senator Manderson lives on a fashionable corner within a short distance of Senator Proctor. Then there is in the same neighborhood Colonel Tom Bayne of Allegheny City, Pa., who has served many years in congress and is taking things easy with a splendid competence. Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania is overhauling his magnificent residence overloof ing the square in front of the white house. It is another senstorial palace. Around the It is another senatorial palace. Around the street a short way is the Corcoran house, oc-cupied by Senator Brice of Ohio. It is still another veritable palace. And Senator Quay another veritable palace. And Senator Quay of Pennsylvania has bought a lot and will build a $100,000 dollar residence, so as to be a little more comfortable.

In Princely Style.

At the corner of K and Fifteenth streets Representative Hitt of Illinois owns a large and handsome Washington residence with spacious grounds. He lives princely. Across the street Representative Tom Johnson of Ohio lives in true Oriental style.

There are a hundred men in congress who have Washing on homes of their own, and many of them live extravagantly. They would not suffer much in any kind of weather, and the work they have to do is not onerous. But there are others in the other class of congressmen who really suffer from the services they are called upon to perform. They live in cheap boarding houses, have to do their own clerical work and are either rustling through the executive departments, in the com-mittee room at the capitol, or at their lodging house desks from early morning until late at night. They are hard workers. There are a hundred men in congress who until late at night. They are hard workers, and are trying to economize. But these are the men who work at home. They are the ordinary lawyers or merchants or farmers. They must work for their livelihood wherever they are, and so it is not an extraordi-nary hardship for them to be here in this extraordinary session of congress, unless it b from the extra expense they must carry in tourd bills, etc. These men could live cheaper at home, though they may live cheaply. The men who complain most on account of the extra session of congress are, however, the rich fellows, who are chaing under the heat and would rather be at the seaside. Heard it Previously.
