

KELLEY, STIGER & CO.

First Fall Display of Fall Dress Goods and Silks.

BLACK NOVELTY DRESS FABRICS

Our Special Leaders for Monday in Ladies Hosiery and Silk Mitts Call for Particular Attention—Mullins and Sheatings at Cost.

ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY OF AUTUMN AND WINTER DRESS FABRICS AND SILKS.

We have just received our first importation of French and German novelty dress fabrics.

We have for your inspection Monday, on our dress goods counters, the latest fashions in dress goods. Superb colorings. Rich, soft shadings for the braiding autumn months.

See our rich silk cloth. Silk and wool hosiery. A departure from former styles. Exquisite dress patterns, direct from Europe.

Superior dress fabrics at popular prices. The new weaves. The latest shades.

Active, pretty, popular prices, and styles, just imported, on display Monday, for the first time.

FIRST FALL DISPLAY OF COLORED DRESS SILKS AND SATINS.

Beautiful lustrous satins in all the new colors, now displayed in our silk department.

Satins at $1.45 that are bargains. Our rich colors—Assortment large in superior French faille. A great bargain at $1.45.

We shall continue our black China and India silk sale for this week.

Remember, those worth $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 during this week.

SEVENTY-NINE CENTS. SILKS AND SATINS.

BLACK AND COLORED. FOR AUTUMN AND WINTER.

Our silk department, in which the stock is always so well supplied with the best and the most reliable market articles.

We have just added and display on Monday:

New black dress silks from the low grades to the best in all the popular weaves.

Peau de soie, Alma royal, Royal amure, Faille Française, Gros grain, Rhadama, Satin, etc.

These are dress silks that we can warrant. These are silks that are the best value in the market.

GRAND BLACK SILKS AND BLACK GRAND BLACK SILKS DISPLAY.

Black novelty dress fabrics carefully selected and directly imported from the most reliable foreign manufacturers.

Popular prices as usual this season. OUR SPECIAL LEADERS FOR NEXT WEEK.

Three styles of ladies' fine fast black hose, never sold on earth for less than 50c per pair, viz:

A ladies' fine black lisle hose, with high spliced heels and spliced soles, plain or fancy drop stitch.

MONDAY'S PRICE 39c.

A ladies' fine ingrain cotton hose, medium or heavy weight, with all white feet or white soles, your choice.

MONDAY'S PRICE 39c.

CHILDREN'S HOSE.

Fast black ribbed cotton hose, 6 to 94, worth up to 30c Monday all sizes at 19c.

Children's black ribbed cotton hose, light, medium or heavy weights, one and one rib or two and two rib, 35c quality, 25c; 50c quality, 30c; 60c quality, 40c; 70c quality, 45c.

These prices for Saturday only.

SILK MITTS.

50 dozen silk mitts, our regular 25c quality, 18c.

50 dozen silk mitts, our regular 35c quality, 25c.

25 dozen silk mitts, our regular 50c quality, 35c.

We are still selling Cheney Bros' silk socks at our entire stock at this price. No reserve.

All our handsome parasols at a discount of 50 per cent.

MUSLIN AND SHEETINGS AT COST. 250 pieces fine.

STANDARD DRESS STYLE GINGHAM.

Never sold less than 15c and 16c, MONDAY, 10c.

50 pieces dress style GINGHAMS.

Regular 10c quality in every particular. MONDAY, 5c.

KELLEY, STIGER & CO., Cor. Farnam and 15th street.

Latest Music at Hope's.

Complete stock of foreign and American music published.

Miss Soull has returned from her vacation and is now ready for business at 2513 Farnam street.

Sam'l Burns is offering this week 200 china cups and saucers at 12c, formerly 25c, and 200 at 25c, formerly 50c.

Dr. Hoxie, speciality diseases women, also lung, heart, kidneys, 40 Douglas blk.

Lowest Chicago Rates Via the Northwestern

Chicago rates greatly reduced on both one way and round trip tickets via the Chicago & North Western railway. These tickets are first class in every particular. Extra accommodations for World's fair travel via this line. City ticket office 1401 Farnam street.

World's fair souvenir coins of 1893 for sale at First National bank.

A convenient and pleasant place to obtain luncheon. Baldwin, 1529 Farnam.

Before Buying a Piano see the new scenic Kimball piano at A. Hope's music rooms.

BOSTON STORE DRESS GOODS

A Great and Extraordinary Sale of New Fall Dress Goods Tomorrow.

NEW DRESS GOODS AT HALF PRICE

Hard Times Cause Two Merchants to Cancel their Fall Dress Goods Orders—We Buy Them at Half Their Contract Price.

YOU GET THE BENEFIT. This purchase includes 200 pieces of new fall dress goods in every weave and color, the lowest retail value of which is from $1.50 to $2.50 a yard. Help yourself to any in this lot at 75c a yard.

50 pieces imported all wool hosiery, all the new shades, greens, browns, purples, reds and blacks, at 50c, worth $1.00.

60 pieces imported iridescent 48-inch hosiery, elegant two toned coloring, nothing like these hosierys ever shown in Omaha, all worth $1.50, go at 75c.

50 INCH HOSIERY $1.25. 50 yard imported hosierys, only five yards required for a full dress pattern, all in the latest new greens, heliotropes, wood shades, marines and blacks, worth $2.50, go at $1.25 a yard.

YOUR LAST CHANCE AT SILKS. 50 pieces imported all silk, worth $1.50 to $2.00 a yard, go at 75c.

To close out 5,000 yards of 22 and 24 inch printed India and China silks, real value 75c, will go tomorrow 50c a yard.

Heavy double warp sarahs, all silk, in black and white, 60c a yard, go at 35c.

Cheney Bros' 24-inch black China silk, worth $1.40, at 75c.

22-inch sateen khadams and sateen duchies in black and colors, 75c worth $1.50.

SATEENS AT 30c. Tomorrow we place on sale an immense pile of trimming sateens, in black and all shades, for 30c a yard. These are all worth 75c if bought regularly.

Evening shades in 21-inch wide crystal bonelines, worth $1.00, go at 50c.

Elegant 21-inch wide crystal bonelines for street wear, beautiful lustre and heavy goods, 98c a yard.

CHILDREN'S WHITE MERINO. To close out all the remaining children's underwear from the wreck we will sell all sizes up to 20 at 10c and all the larger sizes at 15c.

All the ladies' fall weight Swiss ribbed underwear, with long sleeves and high neck, go at 50c, 25c and 35c.

BOSTON STORE, N. W. Cor. 16th and Douglas.

A Tit in Congress.

Here is a scene of the silver debate as reported by the Congressional Record:

"Is not this the most prosperous country on the face of the earth?" asked Congressman Gear of Iowa.

"It is often said to be," replied Mr. Harter of Ohio, "but I want to ask you all a question. Is there a man in this house who can today take his note for $1,000 to his bank, and, with government bonds for security, get it discounted for three months? If there is such a man here, let him stand up, I want to see him."

There was an impressive silence. Members on both sides looked at each other inquiringly, nobody stood up. There was no applause and no laughter, but Mr. Harter had referred to a cold fact that struck home to every man in the house.

"I rise to a parliamentary inquiry," said a gentleman from Iowa.

"The gentleman will state it."

"Is this a congressional debate, or a civil service examination?"

"O, yes, of course."

"No, of course, when Annie raised those big blue eyes of hers to his own and asked, with a little tremor in her voice, if he would not show her how to forget her sorrow in helping others, I felt it was going entirely too far. The ideal! When I was wearing myself to the sofa with her window shades lowered, I felt that over his odious free kindergarten."

"Yes, and braving all manner of unpleasantry by begging money from your father for the children's hospital he was in the hospital."

"Yes, indeed; why, he ought to have been more attentive to me than he was, for I told him that I saved it all out of my allowance. That was meant to serve a double purpose, you see; he would think papa mean if he would not give me such a large allowance and that I was an angel to save it for the hospital."

"I see; what a wise girl you are!"

"Wait until you hear all. You see, I felt my duty to protect him from Annie's schemes, and I told him that she was a good deal older than I—"

"Of course; you were—"

"Well, things went on nicely until I was taken ill. Of course he was called in to attend me, and, O maud, I lay on the sofa with the window shades lowered and a big bunch of carnations on the table at my elbow, and wearing the loveliest tea gown. The very tone of voice in which he asked to see my tongue and the way in which he held my hand while he felt my pulse told me that I was succeeding. I could see that Annie was steadily losing ground."

"Of course, but—"

"Yes; but she would hover around all the time he was in bed, and she would water, but the sly thing just ran the oil for it. Finally, one day, when I was convalescent, he said something out of the year he graduated and his a at the time, which showed he was a success in his profession, and that Annie would say something, so I broke in hastily: 'Oh, Annie, dear, will you run upstairs and bring me the book on my table; there is something in it which will interest you.'"

"Of course, I would. Of course she couldn't refuse, and I knew I would get a few minutes alone with him at last!"

"Well?"

"Well, he leaned over the sofa and though he only asked if my head ached his voice said volumes. Then I looked up and saw Annie in the doorway with a book—'O, I thought I should die!'"

"But I don't see—"

"She was holding it out to him and smiling as she said: 'Here it is, doctor, and I am sure there is something in it which will interest you.'"

"Well?"

"Well, the book she had brought was the family bible, and all our ages were written in it."

The Color to March.

Detroit Press. A man went into a dry goods store on Woodward avenue and was waited on by a very pretty young woman.

"I want two yards of ribbon an inch wide," he said.

"What color?" she inquired.

"I don't know."

"What is it for?"

"I don't know that, either."

"Well, who is it for?"

"My wife."

"Why didn't you ask her what color she wanted?"

"I didn't think of it."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"Haven't you some idea what color I ought to get?" he asked, helplessly.

"Yes, you'd better get a whole bolt of green," she smiled, and he went and telephoned to his wife.

SHERIFF'S SALE OF CROCKERY

The Great Bankrupt Sale of Crockery, Glassware, Lamps, Etc., Comes Tomorrow at

THE BOSTON STORE--IN THE BASEMENT

We Promised You Bargains—Imagine that Goods Will Be Sold so Cheap that You'll Feel Like Begging Pardon for Buying Them.

And still when you come You'll find the prices even still lower than you imagined they could be—And the bargains still greater.

There are fully $10,000 worth of china, glassware, crockery, lamps, etc., in this store.

Here are a few prices: A dozen tumblers for a dime. Cups and saucers a cent each. Glasses 1 cent each.

Butter dishes 5c. A dozen half gallon fruit jars 65c. A dozen jelly tumblers 15c. Wine glasses 2c.

Decorated china fruit saucers 6c. 15c glass goblets go for 4c. 25c glass plates worth 25c go for 4c. Cuspidors 6c.

Sirup jugs 5c. Half gallon water pitchers 12c. Lamps all complete for 15c.

JAPANESE TEAPOTS, 8c. Decorated teapots containing 18 pieces go for 6c for the whole set.

Dinner sets worth $3.00 will go for $1.50.

Fine chamber sets worth $16.00 go for $7.50.

Magnificent dinner sets marked to sell at $12.00 go for $6.00.

Fine tea sets worth $6.50 go at $3.50.

Decorated chamber sets worth $10.00 go at $5.75.

Beautiful 6-piece chamber sets, worth $3.50, go at $1.89.

Complete hanging lamps, worth $8.00, go at $3.50.

Elegant banquet lamps, worth $4.50, go at $1.95.

Fine nickel stand lamps, all complete, worth $3.00, go at $1.15.

Superb banquet lamps, real value $7.00, go at $3.45.

Some things will be sold for a cent—some even still less.

This is the greatest bankrupt sale of crockery ever held in Omaha, and we propose to make it a most astonishing sale, one to be remembered for a life time.

All on sale tomorrow at BOSTON STORE, in the Basement, N. W. cor. 16th and Douglas.

THE SMOOTH YOUNG WIDOW.

How She Checked the Matrimonial Schemes of an Elder Sister.

Chicago Tribune: "Do you think it wrong to tell stories about your age?" asked the girl in the white linen suit.

"Not unless you are found out," replied the girl with cherries in her hat.

"But what has happened that you ask?"

"I'll tell you. You see, it is bad enough to have your younger sister a widow, without having her interfering with your flirtations."

"I should say so. Why, there ought to be a law against it."

"So there ought. I was furious when she asked Ned to help her with her Latin, but when she got to making eyes at young Dr. Wiseman it was too much. You see, his father is philanthropic, and I had been trying for months to make him think it was mine, too."

"You poor girl, that is awful bore!"

"So it was, but I knew it would be easy enough to drop it once we were married."

"O, yes, of course."

"No, of course, when Annie raised those big blue eyes of hers to his own and asked, with a little tremor in her voice, if he would not show her how to forget her sorrow in helping others, I felt it was going entirely too far. The ideal! When I was wearing myself to the sofa with her window shades lowered, I felt that over his odious free kindergarten."

"Yes, and braving all manner of unpleasantry by begging money from your father for the children's hospital he was in the hospital."

"Yes, indeed; why, he ought to have been more attentive to me than he was, for I told him that I saved it all out of my allowance. That was meant to serve a double purpose, you see; he would think papa mean if he would not give me such a large allowance and that I was an angel to save it for the hospital."

"I see; what a wise girl you are!"

"Wait until you hear all. You see, I felt my duty to protect him from Annie's schemes, and I told him that she was a good deal older than I—"

"Of course; you were—"

"Well, things went on nicely until I was taken ill. Of course he was called in to attend me, and, O maud, I lay on the sofa with the window shades lowered and a big bunch of carnations on the table at my elbow, and wearing the loveliest tea gown. The very tone of voice in which he asked to see my tongue and the way in which he held my hand while he felt my pulse told me that I was succeeding. I could see that Annie was steadily losing ground."

"Of course, but—"

"Yes; but she would hover around all the time he was in bed, and she would water, but the sly thing just ran the oil for it. Finally, one day, when I was convalescent, he said something out of the year he graduated and his a at the time, which showed he was a success in his profession, and that Annie would say something, so I broke in hastily: 'Oh, Annie, dear, will you run upstairs and bring me the book on my table; there is something in it which will interest you.'"

"Of course, I would. Of course she couldn't refuse, and I knew I would get a few minutes alone with him at last!"

"Well?"

"Well, he leaned over the sofa and though he only asked if my head ached his voice said volumes. Then I looked up and saw Annie in the doorway with a book—'O, I thought I should die!'"

"But I don't see—"

"She was holding it out to him and smiling as she said: 'Here it is, doctor, and I am sure there is something in it which will interest you.'"

"Well?"

"Well, the book she had brought was the family bible, and all our ages were written in it."

The Color to March.

Detroit Press. A man went into a dry goods store on Woodward avenue and was waited on by a very pretty young woman.

"I want two yards of ribbon an inch wide," he said.

"What color?" she inquired.

"I don't know."

"What is it for?"

"I don't know that, either."

BOSTON STORE BASEMENT

Tomorrow We Will Politely Close Out Every Remaining Dollar's Worth of

SUMMER COTTON GOODS AND WASH GOODS

Prices Cut Fearfully—Our Sole Object is to Close Out These Goods at Once to Make Room for Fall Stock.

100 pieces of dark colored dress gingham and apron check gingham, 36c yard.

An immense lot of dark colored printed wash goods and fine American printed lawns, 24c yard.

Our entire remaining stock of wash dresses, consisting of gingham, sateens, chambrays, printed mulls, and in fact all classes of wash goods that sold up to 25c, go tomorrow at 5c.

$5.00 CHEMISE CURTAINS, $1.89. Tomorrow we place on sale 100 pair elegant new chenille portieres, in all the latest colorings, regular $5.00 goods at $1.89 a pair.

Also 200 pair new chenille portieres at $3.98, $4.50 and $4.98, all worth double.

IN OUR BASEMENT. 50c WOOL DRESS GOODS AT 12c. Tomorrow we put on sale in our basement 100 pieces early fall wool dress goods that were worth 60c, at 12c a yard.

$1.00 DRESS GOODS FOR 30c, and hundreds of pieces of 44-inch real imported and Jamestown worsteds that are worth up to $1.00, go tomorrow at 30c.

BARGAINS IN BLANKETS. $5.00 wool bed blankets, $1.98. 1 case Dr. Wilson's elegant golden brown, fine medicated, combed wool blankets that always sell at $5.00, go tomorrow at $1.98 a pair.

Full size gray bed blankets, 59c a pair. Extra large and heavy white and silver gray bed blankets, 98c a pair.

Extra size, white fleecy wool blankets, $1.25 a pair.

Extra heavy white wool blankets, $1.98 a pair.

Fine bed of silver gray, Michigan wool bed blankets, $2.50 a pair.

BOSTON STORE, N. W. cor. 16th and Douglas.

GOOD USE FOR CIGARS.

How a Shrewd Wife Shortened Her Husband's Hours at the Lodge.

Living somewhere on Webster street in Oakland, says the California World, is a gentleman whose Christian name is Frank, and he is a strict business man.

He is one that has his own peculiar ideas about married life. He thinks is a man provides liberally for his wife that ends his obligation.

Several years ago he took unto himself a wife who married him for love alone, expecting to be with him always when his day's work at the office was over.

Everything went along smoothly until one morning when he joined the Masons. He proved to his wife that it was a matter of business for her benefit.

In the first place it was one of the largest orders and would be the means of bringing his firm increased patronage.

He had been a member of the lodge for some time, and he was a man of good character and standing in the community, to say nothing of the benefits she would derive after his death.

After considerable persuasion he gave his consent to join.

One morning the inquirer with this family partner, opened his eyes when Mrs. Frank asked for four of his best cigars, paying for the same $1.

Now, if Mr. Frank is cranky on any subject, it is his intense hatred of tobacco in any form whatever, and his innocent looking little wife knew this.

Why, when he engaged a gardener the first question he would ask was: "Do you smoke or chew tobacco?"

The man who did not smoke or chew tobacco was the one he would employ.

When lodge night would arrive the young wife looked sad, as she thought of having to stay all alone until 10 o'clock.

Later on Mr. Frank did not arrive at home until a very late hour, but the explanation was always: "Had to stay until the meeting was over, dear."

His dear, however, began to get suspicious that the meetings closed earlier than her better half said, and that the explanation which he gave her was not true.

One day, indeed, she thought to have been more attentive to me than he was, for I told him that I saved it all out of my allowance. That was meant to serve a double purpose, you see; he would think papa mean if he would not give me such a large allowance and that I was an angel to save it for the hospital."

"I see; what a wise girl you are!"

"Wait until you hear all. You see, I felt my duty to protect him from Annie's schemes, and I told him that she was a good deal older than I—"

"Of course; you were—"

"Well, things went on nicely until I was taken ill. Of course he was called in to attend me, and, O maud, I lay on the sofa with the window shades lowered and a big bunch of carnations on the table at my elbow, and wearing the loveliest tea gown. The very tone of voice in which he asked to see my tongue and the way in which he held my hand while he felt my pulse told me that I was succeeding. I could see that Annie was steadily losing ground."

"Of course, but—"

"Yes; but she would hover around all the time he was in bed, and she would water, but the sly thing just ran the oil for it.