Complaints of Citizens Against a Disorderly Baloon Bear Fruit.

CHARLES JONES GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

Public Sentiment Against His Place Was Strong Enough to Force Bim to Close It-A Disgraceful House Shut Down.

The complaints of the people residing in the vicinity of the Phoenix saloon, 803 South Main street, of which mention was made in yesterday's BEE, have borne fruit and they will be bothered no more by the noisy and disgraceful carryings on which have disturbed them in the past, at least for some time. Deputy Marshal Fowler visited the place yesterday and notified Charles Jones, the proprietor, that he would not be allowed to run his place any more, and that if he persisted in keeping open contrary to his orders proceedings would be instituted against him in the courts under the provisions of the state law. Jones accepted the inevitable and last evening the establishment was hermetically seared.

A message was received at police headquarters last evening asking that watch be kept for a 10-year-old boy named Frank Vroman, who had run away from home with a horse and buggy belonging to his father. The boy said he took a notion that his rig. The boy said he took a notion that he would like to pay a visit to Royal Kinney, who lives at 604 Mynster street. He went to the barn about noon and harnessing up the horse left for Council Bluffs without mentioning his intention to his parents, and without taking the trouble to put on a coat. He covered the distance, thirty-nine miles, in about four hours, and the horse, which was a common country plug, was about ready to be taken to the repair shop when he arrived here. The boy went to the house of his Mynster street friend to stay during the night, and his father, who was immediately notified, will be here on the morning train to take

Made Himself at Home. Officer Murphy ran across a valise filled with clothing yesterday afternoon in the hall of the Marcus building. He supposed it to have been stolen and hidden away for future reference by the thief. On opening it was found to belong to Harvey Ouren, who had left it in one of the rooms in the building during his visit to Chicago. Some one had evidently been using the room during Mr. Ouren's absence; and without his leave as it was noticed that the door was alar Thursday morning. Some of the clothing that was found in the value had been left by its owner hanging up in the room, and how it got into the valise was more than he could imagine. It has not been ascertained yet whether anything is gone from the room excepting what has been recovered.

Century Run Tomorrow. A number of the Council Bluffs wheelmen take emphatic exception to the statements made in some of the city papers that the century run to Sloux City, which was blocked but for tomorrow, is to be given up for the sake of a picnic in Omaha. Unless it rains between now and Sunday at least half a dozen or so of the Ganymedes will start from the club rooms at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning in the hope of being able to stick by their wheels for a distance of 100 miles. The certificates are to be paya-ble through the clearing house.

The meeting of the third plenary council of Baltimore, nine years ago, was the only meeting of prelates and clergy ever held in this country that will exceed in importance the coming congress, and the gathering of representative laymen is likely to exceed in numbers the first Catholic congress held in Baltimore four years ago on the oc-casion of the establishment of the Catholic hierarchy of the United States. For the past year the arrangements for the congress have been going on under the direction of the organization committee appointed by the archbishops, of which Most Rev. P. A. Fee-han, archbishop of Chicago, is chairman, Hon. W. J. Onahan of Chicago secretary and William W. O'Brien of Detroit treasurer. Headquarters were established at the Grand Central hotel in Chicago, where the work of the committee has been done.

The lay delegates have been appointed by the archbishop or bishop of the diocese or vicariate in which they reside, and have received credential cards duly accrediting them to the congress.

Baltimore and Washington are especially well represented in the matter of lay delegates, there being among the delegates some of the most prominent persons in religious and social circles of those two cities. Besides the delegates who will take an active part in the daily proceedings of the
