the Anti-Silver Forces.

HE SPOKE AGAINST REPEAL

HUMOR AND SARCASM WERE HIS WEAPONS

Democratic Members Twitted on Their Conversion from Bimetallism to a Beltef in a Single Standard-Proceedings of the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31 .- The speech of Mr. Wolcott against the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Shorman act was delivered in the senate today in the presence of almost all the senate and a large lobby. The telling parts of it, and those that interested his hearers, were some humorous and sarcastic touches in which he depicted the conversion of democratic statesmen from their belief in silver and their devotion to bimetallismsto the gold monometallism belief of the president.

The next speech was on the opposite side of the question and was by Mr. Caffery, the successor of Mr. Gibson of Louisiana. This was his first appearance in the senate as a speechmaker, but the speech was remarkable as a pronounced declaration in favor of unconditional repeal of the Sherman law, although he admitted the position taken by him might not meet the approval of his state and might put a bar to his further po-Intical career.

Mr. Cockrell introduced a concurrent resolution directing the secretary of the treas ury (under section 259, Revised Statutes). to issue certificates, not to exceed 20 pe cent of the amount of gold coin and bullion in the treasury, and to use and spend the same in payment of interest on the public debt or anything else it was needed for. He allow the issue of from $25,000,000 to $35,000, 000 in gold certificates. Laid on the table. Mr. Voorhees moved that the senate proceed to the consideration of the house bill to repeal the Sherman law.

Wolcott Takes the Floor.

The motion was agreed to. The bill was taken up and Mr. Wolcott addressed the senate in opposition to it. After considerable persiflage, in which he twitted the senators on a change of views on the sil-ver question to suit the ideas of the administration, he declared that Mr. Hill's speech might have been as well made against silver, as he knew that free coinage was impossi ble by separate act under this ad-ministration. He quoted a former utterance of Mr. Voorhees to show the inconsistency of that senator on the silver question. He de-clared that Voorhees and Sherman were for the first time in accord, that Sherman would be in fact the chairman of the finance com-mittee instead of Voorhees. All the senators knew Mr. Cleveland would veto an inde-pendent sliver coinage measure. He hinted that if this bill passed the free silver men might vote against protection in any form It seemed unaccountable that in a panic the banks should object to an increase of the volume of money. Their plan was, after repeal, to ask and probably get an issue of $100,000,000 in gold bonds. The speaker then proceeded to controvert the argument that there had been an overproduction of sliver in the world at big profits. He showed, in the case of Leadville that $104,500,000 in silver had been produced at a cost of $121,500,000, the loss being changed to only a fair profit by the value of other products. If only the silver states were concerned they would acquiesce without protest, but it was a national question, and measures or the committee on banking and currency during the coming session. The time honored custom in the house has been to make the reports of the committee on appropriations and ways and means privilezed matters and when the new rules were being considered today Mr. Springer, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, suddenly sprung an amendment, extending the same favoritism to the committee on banking and currency. Mr. Kilgore followed with an amendment also, including the committee on coinage. including the committee on coinage, although these amendments were sharply opposed, the last was adopted by a vote of 133 yeas to 95 nays, and the original, as amended, adopted by a vote of nearly two to one. Not until it was all over did the house generally realize the immense victory gained by the bimetallists. Under this rule the committee on coinage can report a silver bill at any time and force its consideration by the house and the committee on banking and currency will have the same right.

Takes Away Part of Its Powers. Incidentally, also, the house, by the adoption of these amendments, has broken away from the leadership of the committee on rules, presided over by Speaker Crisp, and has declared it will no longer be in the power of that committee to determine if free coinage bills shall be accorded recog-nition. The roll call of the house today shows that many members who voted for the Wilson bill supported these amend-ments, thus justifying their declarations that they favor the principles of bimetal-lism, but voted for immediate repeal of the purchasing act as a means of restoring con-fidence. Among those who thus voted was Mr. Springer, the originator of the movement today carried out by the house giving the right of way to silver legislation. When the house met this morning it resumed consideration of the rules and Mr. Pickler's amendment to increase the membership of the committee on rules was re Mr. Hooker's amendment to increase the nembership was also lost. On motion of Mr. Kilgore an amendment was adopted giving the committee on ways and means jurisdiction over all measures to raise revenue. Mr. Hooker moved to strike from the rules the section which refers all opposed action touching the order of business to the committee on rules. This, he said, would take from the great standing committees of the house all authority and vest all in one con mittee of five. It simply meant to give to five members all the powers of the house.

If it was adopted the title of the committee on rules should be changed to the "steering committee.' Mr. Catchings denied that much of the declaration, that under the proposed rule, the committee on rules could control the other committees. The motion was lost by a vote of 28 to 97. Mr. Stockdale offered an amendment, requiring the committee on rules to report a proposition referred to it upon the request of one-fifth of the members present and voting Lost.

Mr. Springer's Amendment. Mr. Springer now offered an amendment, giving the committee on banking and cur-rency the right to report at any time on matters relating to banking and currency He said the committee on accounts, which had in charge merely the accounts of members and of house employes, had a right to report at any time. The same privilege should not be denied the committee which had charge of the accounts of the government. Mr. Kilgore made a motion to include the committee on coinage, weights and measures. Agreed: Yeas, 133; nays, 95. Then the vote occurred on Mr. Springer's amendment and it was adopted by a vote of 102 to 53.

Mr. Hooker moved to strike from the proparty. posed rules the clause which permits the speaker to decide a dilatory motion. He was unwilling to vest the speaker with any such power and he was unwilling to em-barrass him by giving him any such power. He did not wish to put the present speaker in the same embarrassing position that had been occupied by the distinguished speaker of the Fifty-first congress. This rule, he contended, imposed upon the speaker a duty

SCHEME OF THE POPULISTS

Nebraska Members Alloge that They Did Not Refuse to Accept the Yellow Coin Because They Are Preludiced Against that Metal.

WASEINOTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.

There was a rumor around the capitol today that the baker's dozen of populist congressmen, believing that they should give evidence of their faith in silver and hatred of gold, had refused to receive gold coin in payment of their salaries. This was payday in Washington for all who drew salaries from Uncle Sam, and gold com was paid to all classes. Inquiry failed to disclose any concerted action or understanding among the populist congressmen as to receiving gold coin, but it was found that a number of them had actually refused to receive the yellow com from the paying clerks of the two houses of congress. Representatives McKeighan and Kem of Nebraska stated that it was true that they had refused to receive gold soin in liquidation of their salaries, which amount to little over $416 a month, but both denied that they had refused gold because they were prejudiced against that class of money. They said they did not want it because it was bulky. Mr. McKeighan accepted a check against the government and Mr. Kem simply deposited his coin with the sergeant at-arms of the house. It is very likely that the populists attempted to act in concert and show their hatred for gold, but later they concluded to put another light upon their action.

An effort will be made by the extreme silver senators to secure an organization of their forces with a view to talking the reseal bill to death and preventing a final vote. If they fail in this they will prac-tically give up their fight. They acknowl edge that they are in the minority now in the senate by a margin of eight or ten, and that their number is constantly decreasing by the proselvting influences of the adminis tration and the pressure from the country. If they could all get together and resolve to stand firm and do all that lies in their power to defeat a vote, they might win, but without that organization defeat is certain, and within the next three or four weeks. It is hardly likely that an organization can be effected, as nearly every one of the demo, cratic senetors have given notice to Senators Teller, Stewart, Jones of Nevada, and Dubois that they will do nothing in the line of filibustering; that they will only talk and vote and will do nothing to delay final action. The outlook of the free coinage fight s discouraging for its friends. The popution lists, feeling that the repeal of the present silver law will augment their ranks, are re-ported to be anxious for a final vote against the bill. They believe that repeal will be the cause of many republicans and democrats eaving their parties and joining the populist Important Cha ges in the Rules.

By the adoption of a single provision in the new rules for the government of the house, that body today killed all efforts which may be made to pass the anti-option and compound lard bills. In this congress, under the rule, the speaker must refer to the committee on ways and means all measures which, on the face, provide for the raisnittee is opposed to both of these measures and would not report them, while the committee on agriculture, which has hereto-fore had jurisdiction over them, has always been for those bills. The rules also make i

When this has passed we shall be represented in the second at silver, but joint now we shall be quiet. The committee has not had a meeting and none has been called." ANOTHER PENSION RULING. Commissioner Lochren Makes a New Rule As to Suspension from the Rolls. WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Commissioner Lochren of the pension bureau has issued an order modifying the practice of the office. The most important change is that which directs that hereafter there will be no suspensions except in cases where the record shows on its face the soldier was not entitled to any pension whatever. It is thought, however, the number who will come under however, the number who will come under this class will be very small. In speaking of this new order today the commissioner said that the change had been made at the request of the secretary, who questioned the fairness of the old pactice of the bureau, which suspended pensioners during investigation. A larger number of pensioners were found liable to suspension under the old practice than had been antici-pated, and cases were found where persons pated, and cases were found where persons have been suspended whose disabilities have and who are now entitled to remain on the rolls. In every instance as soon as these cases were called to the attention of the bureau the correction was made, but it was feared the suspension might work hardship by preventing the payment of pensions to those who at present are legally entitled to the same, though they were not at the time the pension was granted.

THE BEE |-For several days there has been n progress at the Grand Pacific hotel a meeting of a committee of the creditors of the Union Loan and Trust company of Sioux City. The failure of the trust company, with liabilities of $6,000,000, caused the industrial collapse of many enterprises of that city and especially of a number of projected railway enterprises whose securities at held as collateral. Chief among these was the $3,000,000 railway bridge over the Missouri river. The creditors of the company appreinte the fact that their only hope of securing their interest is in the N. Y. accomplishment of the enterprise, on which considerable money has already been exended. The committee appointed consists of Mr. Silverthorn of Warsaw, J. C. Combs of Boston, General Hughes of Missouri and Judge Wilmot of Chicago. These concluded their preliminary work today and will endeavor to carry out a gen-eral plan of relief. Mr. Silverthorn this evening said that, in a general way, the plan suggested by the creative metalum at thick suggested by the creattors' meeting, at which suggested by the creations meeting, at which this committee was appointed, contemplated a reorganization of the loan and trust company, and for this purpose a number of gentlemen representing a syndicate of railroads would guarantee to underwrite 50 per cent of the present col-lateral, now held by the assignce of the trust company, to the amount of $1,500,000, providing that Sioux City would guarantee the payment of the $100,000 subscription to the Wisconsin, Sloux City & Chicago rail-road, and to provide for a general plan of reorganization and resumption of the work or the bridge, and completion of the Work of the bridge, and completion of the Sioux City, & Northern railroad, the Sioux City, O'Neill & Western railroad, the Pacific Short Line bridge and the Sioux City Terminal Railway company, for which the committee was appointed.

APPALLING ROLL OF DEATH

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 31 .- A special from Beaufort, Fla., says: Over 390 dead bodies have been found on islands around Beaufort and Port Royal. Over $2,000,000 of property has been wrecked. Both are the direct result of the storm, which swept along the Atlantic coast Sunday. Every one of the fifteen or more islands lying around Port Royal and Beaufort are in mourning. On every doorknob there is crepe and on every hillside there are fresh graves. The beaches, the undergrowth, the trees, the marshes and the inlets are revealing dead bodies every time an investigation is made. Of the many disasters that have visited this section none has been half so horrible. Those at all posted about the country and the people of the storm-visited sections have predicted the death roll will run as high as 500.

Where Death Reaped His Greatest Harvest As the waters go down and people move Geeper into the woods the ghastly remains are uncovered. It is around Beaufort and Port Royal the death list is largest, but in other towns many lives were lost. Around the two towns there is a complete chain of islands and it was over this that the angel of death hovered for hours Sunday night.

TERRIBLY DESTRUCTIVE.

Belated Reports from the Storm Swept Districts of the South.

COLUMNUA, S. C., Aug. 31.-Accounts continue to come in of general havoe by Sunday's storm. Mr. R. Robinson of Kerrison's establishment gives the following story of the effects of the storm in the low country. He had just arrived from Waterboro and stated that from Bishop's place on the Edsto river to Jacksonboro two negroes floated the whole distance on the top of their shanties, and reported that all the negroes on the place in the low lands had been drowned, in all about 100 men, women and children. They related a terrible experience and furthermore state that all of the dwell-ings are destroyed and the place in abject desolation. At Waterloo, Mr. Robinson said, many of the houses had been washed from their foundations out into the streets, and all of the rice fields overflowed. The steamboat Pilot Boy, familiar to every southern soul on the island route between Charleston and Savannah, has been stranded and injured. The pilot fleet of the harbor is wrecked or stranded. The phosphate works, which are located on the banks of the neighboring river, are in little better plight than those Port Royal, lying on a tongue of land fur-

Fort Royal, lying on a tongue of land fur-ther down the Beaufort river, must have been even more exposed to the fury of the tempest. The place is practically in ruins. The great loss of life which resulted from the storm on every shore of the islands is greatest here. Thirty odd negroes were found dead on the beach and the number was expected to be largely increased soor. Croos were infured tarefully. Fifty new Crops were injured terribly. Fifty per cent loss would probably not be too large an stimate. Several gentlemen from the city at those places and the neighboring sea islands have been fearful. The death roll

He was proud of the position of his native state on the money question. She had always been sound, and if his feeble effort would avail she always would be. Sorel tempted, she refused in 1879 to repudiate the principal of her bonded debt. Mr. Cullom said he should be glad to aid the senator from Indian 1 in securing a vot at any time, whether he had made a speech on the bill or not.

West Virginia had two years ago uplifted his volce in denunciation of the Fifty-first congress. After these two years the gentle-man, by an enormous mentai effort and by the aid of stenographers and typewriters. Mr. Voorhees said he was aware it was the intention of senators to indulge in a good deal more debate. He trusted there uld be a liberal allowance for full debate had evolved the remarkable literary collec-tion which the house had just listened to. He congratulated West Virginia on having for full intelligent discussion, and said that after it was manifest the discussion was exhausted and that it was only kept two such statesmen, one (Mr. Wilson) to lead the house and the other to bring in the rear. [Laughter.] up ii order to consume time, he would insist on a vote at every time. There would be no interference with men who wanted to dis cuss the bill, but there would be with the purpose of senators to delay action

After a colloquy, from which it appeared that if Mr. Peffer's motion was agreed to it would displace the repeal bill, the form of the motion was changed so the repeal bill should be informally laid aside and the reso lution as to national banks taken up. The motion was agreed to, and then the motion heretofore made by Mr. Voorhees that the resolution be referred to the committee or finance was carried-yeas, 35; mays, 21-ar Yeas-Aldrich, Allison, affery, Camden, Carey, follows: burn, Caffery, Cainden, Carey, Cullom Dixon, Fautkuer, Frye, Gallinger, Gibson Gordon, Gorman, Gray, Hale, Hawley, Hig-gins, Lodge, McMillan, McPherson, Mitchell of Oregon, Mitchell of Wisconsin, Palmer, of Oregon, Mitchell of Wisconsil, Annan, Pasco, Power, Proctor, Ransom, Sherman, Squire, Stockbridge, Vilas, Voorhees, Wash-burn and White of Louisiana-35. NEW YORK, Aug. 31 .- The wholesale and the communication of United States Consul

Ernest. The dealers say it is absurd to prohibit the importation of figs from Smyrna, because it is a fact there are large consign ments on the way which have been con-tracted for. These shipments have been made prior to the cholera scare. It was said in the Mercantile exchange today that a strong protest had been sent from Cali fornia to the Treasury department against the importation of all kinds of dried fruits. The large San Francisco dealers have, it is said, signed the protest, and copies will be sent into the fruit-growing sections of the country so as to make it a large document.
