Policemen and Prisoners Are Shivering at the Station.

The police authorities complain that the city jail during the last three nights has pot been a fit place for either prisoners or "At the best, this basement is an unhealthy place, fliled with sewergas, damp air and mould condusive to maiaria, diphtheria and kindred diseases," said one member of the force. Investigation by a BEE reporter disclosed the fact that the sewer connections, water mains and other pipes are in the basement, and the upper four stories are used as a and the upper four stories are used as a hotel. The elevator pipes are leaking and water from any heavy rain runs down under the floor. There are from ten to fifty pris-oners in the cells and ten officers on duty every night at the jail.

They are compelled to endure all these menaces to health, but since the recent cold snap this place has become unfit for occupaney. The place is as cold as a barn in the winter and the officers are compelled to wear winter and the officers are compelled to wear their overcoats to enjoy personal confort. Captains Cormick and Mostyn have asked the lessee to heat up the place, but last night no warmth had been furnished. Sey-eral female prisoners have been locked up recently. They were scantily attired in most instances and suffered from the damp, chilly atmosphere. The officers have nearly all contracted severe colds, which is one the causes for the many police reported on e sick list every month.

In speaking of the matter last night Chief Police Seavey said: "While the city is turing to spend money for the benefit of idle workmen it would not be a bad idea for the officials to build a new city jail. We anced it bad enough, and the city is paying more than enough for rent to pay the inter-est on $75,000 or more which could be put into a decent jail. Any other city the size of Omaha has a better jail than we have."

M'CAGUE SAVINGS BANK

Will Reepen Its Doors Possibly Within a

Few Days. Yesterday the supreme court made an order permitting the McCague Savings bank of this city to open for business at once. No definite time has been set for the bank's reopening, but Examiner McGrew, who has been in charge since the failure, says the institution will be opened vithout delay.
Mr. John L. McCague said: "We expect to reopen for business very shortly; just when I am not at liberty to say this afternoon. Tomorrow, however, we will publish an extended statement of the condition of affairs and will set a definite date for the reopening of the bank which will take place, as I said, very soon. This bank it will be remembered went down in the crash, closing its doors on the same day that the American National suspended. At the time it was the depository for many of the school teachers and laboring people of the city. The opening of the doors will be glad news to these people, none of whom, however, had an idea that they would lose their money, as they believed the bank people were honest and would pay ut as soon as possible.

With the opening of this bank, it leaves may one of the Omaha institutions with closed doors, the American Loan and Trust Company's Savings bank.

THE PLATTE RIVER CANAL.

PLATISMOUTH, Neb., Sept. 26.-To the Editor of OMARA BEE: I notice in the SUN-DAY BEE a communication from W. S. Poppleton on the Platte river canal project.

His first complaint is that on account of the water used by irrigation ditches the river is lowered. This is an assumed fact not sustained by practical experience, as irrigation does not demand the use of water, except to a very limited extent, after about the last of July of each year, hence these ditches cannot be the cause of low water at this season of the year.

In query two, he asks how are you to evade section 6 of chapter 93 of the Compiled Statutes of 1893, entitled "Water Rights and Irrigation." Experience has os-Rights and first that all water used in irrigation returns to the parent stream by percolation, except what is lost by evaporation: that the course of the water is, with rare exception, diagonal from the point of absorption to the parent stream, always following the same general course as if upon the surface of the earth, hence as it upon the surface of the earth, hence the point at which the water would naturally reach the Platte river after being discharged from your proposed canal would be below any point on the Platte where it could be utilized before it empties into the Missour

From this it is evident that the discharge From this it is evident that the discharge of water from your canal would be, in fact, conforming to the statute and not evading it. For illustration: You propose to take water from the Elkhorn river hear its mouth. Strict compliance with the statute requires that the water be returned to that stream, which is impossible; also impossible to return to the Platte after carrying to the point of proposed use, as the course of percolation, which depends of course upon the topography of the country would return it to topography of the country would return it to the Missouri river or near the mouth of the

Being a resident of Plattsmouth and expecting to derive some benefits from the canal, at the expense of Omaha, I trust some one will answer the remaining querries as I have not looked them up. BYRONCLARK.
