HOW THE STATE LOST LARGE SUMS

False Vouchers Said to Have Been Prepared by the Steward in Connection with the Parchage of Food.

I LINCOLN. Oct. 16. - [Special to THE BEE.]-The first one of the asylum cases wherein the state was robbed of a great many dollars, and from which grew the late impeachment trial, was called before Judge Tibbetts this afternoon. The case under con-sideration is that of Dan kauer, late steward of the asylum, and he is charged with forgery and ottering forged transfers of property. The charge of forgery arises from the allegation that Laner forged the names of farmers who furnished beef cattle to the asylum to war rants and vouchers, besides making the false vouchers and certifying to their correctness. Frank Hubbard, late boss of the asylum farm, who was inducted with Lauer, will be tried separately, though the charges in both cases are the same. In all there are fourteen indictments against the

With Every Aid that Forethought of Philanthropists Could Device the Youngsters Enter on Seven Days Indisputed Possession of the Fair.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16 .- Everything was in readiess for the successful inauguration of children's week at the fair today, and the preparations for the reception of the young folks were complete.
Instructions have been issued that all chil-

Those children whose parents cannot afford to send them to Jackson park will not be debarred from seeing the glories of the White City. The committee which has undertaken to see that they are cared for is meeting with much encouragement and success in providing means for their entertainment, and all of them will be afforded an opportunity of seeing the fair.

With the school children taken care of, attention is being called to another class of young folk who are deserving of consideration. They are the cash boys and girls in the big downtown stores. Nature Smiles on the Younsters.

This was a beautiful morning for the children. Nature smiled on them and the ac-tivity and bright faces caused more than one staid person to stop and beam on them. They were everywhere; up in the Ferris wheel, through the plaisance, in the buildones, who had hoarded their pennies for this day, proudly purchased their own tickets for a ride in the gondolas or electric launches. If the day holds out as fine as it opened scores of thousands of little ones at opened scores of thousands of little ones will pass through the gates. Several philanthropic gentlemen and business firms provided special trains and wagon transportation for the pupils to the fair. Several thousand tickets were given them by others, and the school teachers presented the tickets to those in their classes who behaved most commendably the past week. Kohlsaat, the big baker, provided many of the children with bread and cheese, so that they had everything they needed to make the day happy without expense.

Some of the teachers came with their classes, and a great many had the protection of their parents. The school exhibits were made the central visiting points. The children were shown what those less fortunate than they had accomplished, and they were told what children

The reduced admission fee has been made effective for those under 18 years of age, so that those of the higher grades and the high schools will be able to put in one week at the fair, at a cost a trifle above one day's admission at the ordinary gate. Principal Wadham of the Tilton school has arranged with the Chicago & Northern Pacific to carry the pupils of the entire school to and from the fair grounds during the week. F. Marion Woods, treasurer and manager of the Educational Ald association, has also arranged with the Chicago & Northern Pacific for a school train to run from Madison and West Fortieth streets. A prominent citizen of Ord, Neb., is W. F. Kinmont, whose standing as a man and citizen is beyond reproach. Comrade Kinmont served from all to 63 in the Union army, enlisting in Company F. 129th Indiana Voiunteer Infantry. His graphic account of a personal experience with a chronic malady brings out forcibly two points:

1. The powerful effects of catarrh on the system; attacking the digestion, bowers and general health.

2. The effective results of Drs. Copeland and Shepard's home or mail treatment, as the case of Mr. Kinmont was conducted entirely by mail. This veteran soldier speaks as follows:

"I have been afflicted with that fell disease, catarrh, for nearly half a lifetime. By this I do not mean merely a nose and throat trouble, but the malady had got hold of my whole body to such an extent that It nearly ended my life. I know this to be a fact that my friends and neighbors in Ord fully realiz!

"I have had catarrh for 27 years, and contracted in military service.

"My lead and throat had for a long time been in a horribly pingsed-up, influmed and distressed condition. I couldn't bre the easy. My throat kept filling up with matter and the everlasting hawking, straining and spitting kept me nervous, irritated and tired, and I was always half sick with pain and an aching soreness over the eyes and in the temples.

"Then my stomach got weak. The extarrhal matter must have dripped down and kind of poisoned it. I would feel weak, heavy and uncomfortable after eating. On the rostrum were Lady Henry Somerset of London, Miss DeBroen of France, Mrs. Sakural of Japan, Mrs. M. M. Love of Australia, Mrs. Ella F.M. Williams of Canada, Dr. Bushchell, around the world delegate missionary, Susan B. Anthony, Zeralda Wallace, Mrs. M. B. Carse, and many others.

In the absence of the president, Miss Willard, who is ill in England, Lady Somerset, the vice president-at-large, called the session to order and was received with the Chautauqua salute and rounds of hand-clapping. The most wrapt attention was given the speakers. Addresses of welcome were delivered by President Bonney, Rev. Josiah Strong, Mrs. Potter Palmer and Mrs. Charles Henrotin.

Responses were made by Lady Somerset, Mrs. Williams of Canada, Miss Ackerman of Australia and Miss Merriweather of Tennessee.

COMRADE W. F. KINMONT, Ord, Neb., 129th Indiana Vol. Inf.

"Then my bowels seemed to fail. They got weak, dead, paralyzed like. It got so there was never any natural movement to them. "I had to resort to physic that brought on plies. Partof the time it was diarrhea, then it would be constipation. My system was all broken up. I was weak, dejected, disgusted—nothing but poison and sickness all through me, and I had spent large sums for patent medleines with no help from thom at all. "After a good deal of doubting I beran Dr. Shepar I's mail treatment a few months ago. To-day I am cured of both my skepticism and my distressing symptoms. I feel first rate—better than for long years. The disease gave way slowly, but surely, and I am so built up and improved that my great regret is that I did not know of this treatment years ago. My head is clear and sound: digestion good; constituation and piles greatly improved. In fact, I have taken a new lease of life and comfort and am earnest in my desire to see other catarrhal victims empicy Dra Copeiand and Shepard's treatment and get well."
