Death of Julia Smith.
Julia Smith died yesterday morning at 6 o'clock at St. Bernard's hospital, as the result of the surgical operation performed upon her for the removal of a tumor several days ago. This effectually disposes of the cancer which was growing against her in the Omaha courts a little over a year ago, and the dead woman cannot be tried for her assault upon W. C. Brown. This assault, according to the woman told during the last few days, took place while Brown was trying to abuse her by kicking her. She weighed 208 pounds and was as strong as most men, so that when she took a hatchet and used it on Brown's head it was with telling effect. Brown lay at the point of death for a long time, but thinking that the case might turn out to be one of murder, Julia was arrested on this side of the river by request of the authorities on the other side. Her sickness prevented her from being taken to Omaha, in spite of the fact that the necessary requisition papers had been secured.

In the issue of THE BEE of October 8 there was an editorial touching upon the question of public school examinations, and the view was taken that the cause of education would be advanced, and the pupils, teachers and patrons generally would be better satisfied with the results, if the custom of grading pupils in accordance with their daily recitations, instead of by examinations at the end of the term were adopted. The schools of Council Bluffs have been operated in accordance with this theory for nearly a year past and the results have been all that the friends of the plan claimed in advance. Superintendent Sawyer in his first annual report, made three years ago, suggested that examinations be done away with and recitations be graded as often as conveniently could, but it was not until the commencement of the second semester of last year that the board saw through the same kind of spectacles as he had decided to make the experiment. Prof. Sawyer was seen yesterday and asked for a statement as to the effects of the change and replied as follows:

Prof. Sawyer's Views.
"Although the time has been too limited for a satisfactory trial test, I believe that the change has been such a success as to be preceded by nervous strain and irritability and followed by nervous prostration. To teachers, because the work of rating pupils is evenly distributed throughout the year, and not forced upon them with high pressure and confusion in the last days thereof. To pupils, because a large majority of them are now able to recite with confidence, realizing that this is larger than the method of basing everything upon one single examination, which is a failure or a success in the answers to ten questions.

"So far as I have heard expressions of the city teachers the universal sentiment is that the amount of daily recitations is much higher than under the old system. This is natural. Under the written examination system there is little incentive to daily work. Many pupils are indifferent to study throughout the term. Knowing that promotion will be based solely upon their answers to a few questions, they reserve their energies for the last month of school, when the cramming process begins. All this is avoided by a system of class recitals, as pupils realize that they will be promoted on a daily basis, and their work every day of the year is good or bad.

This record system has many other advantages over the written examination as a test for promotion. One of these advantages is that it brings the teacher into closer touch with her pupils, forcing upon them a realization that promotion rests with them and their teacher, not with them and the superintendent or principal. Here is an incentive to good daily work. Another advantage of the daily record system is that it acts as a net to catch the class of bright, quick pupils, known to every experienced teacher, who, while rarely leading at a book or reciting a satisfactory lesson, are nevertheless able to slip through the holes in the examination net. The daily record thus promotes the progress of the class as a whole. "A third advantage of the record system is that it gives all pupils in our schools a standing, whereas, under the old system, only those were given a standing who were in school and examined. For example: A lady, who, in January last, moved from Council Bluffs to Chicago, writes me stating that her daughter requested her to pay for the school year 1892-93, with a view to entering the Chicago High school. The lady writes me that her daughter had been almost an entire term, she had no standing, and she had left school on account of sickness two weeks before the close of the semester. Under the present system it is possible to give the standing of any pupil who has attended the Council Bluffs schools one week, one month or one year. At the same time, it is not to be inferred that no discrimination is made between absentees and regular attendants. Absentees are limited to a certain period of the whole time, or promotion does not follow. The system of records used in our schools is not complicated, but is very simple and easily learned."

Bicycles Hugged Up.
A. C. Keller and his brother had an unpleasant and expensive experience last evening, as the consequence of the carelessness of a man who lives on Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets. They were riding along on their wheels at good speed, when one of them suddenly ran into a barrel of lime that had been left out in the street with no light to passersby it was a bad accident. He and his wheel fell, one on the other, and an instant later the second wheelman, who was following close behind, entered the wreck and the two bicycles and their riders were mixed up in an indiscriminate mess. When the wreck was cleared up it was found that both men were considerably bruised by their hard fall, and what was still worse, both wheels were badly broken. They are hunting for the man who is responsible for the obstruction of the street, and the probability is that he will get his deserts in the next world, if not in this.

Went to the Jury.
The trial of Dutch Boyington and Dick Landon on the charge of highway robbery was completed yesterday in the district court and the case went to the jury at the close of the afternoon session. Cora Reed, who tried to shield the two fellows on their preliminary hearing, was put upon the stand and was found to have met with a change of heart along with the jury, and was compelled to testify that she had seen before to get them clear. After she had told her story the attorneys, for the defense sprung a letter upon her which she was said to have written Boyington while she was in the county jail, shortly before she made her escape. She at once denied writing it. The letter was probably the forged thing that had never been uncovered in a criminal court in Potawatamie's court house. Along with the mass of letters which it contained were several threats that she would do all she could to send them both to the penitentiary as a means of revenge for something they had done to her. The defense wanted to weaken her testimony by means of this letter, but after the court had examined it, it was pronounced too bad for the young and innocent girl to read, and it was not put in with the rest of the evidence.

At six hour last night the jury was still out. The case of La Fleche and Shepard, the alleged lock game confidence men, will be taken up for trial this morning.

Council Proceedings.
Aldermen Geise and Nicholson were absent at the special meeting of the city council which was held last night. Fire Chief Bradley reported that he had appointed Charles Withrow and Clarence Hough to positions on the department, and the appointments were confirmed. The motor vehicle which is being used to move its line farther away from the curb at the corner of Broadway and Oak streets, on condition that the council would make an agreement of several that no further change should be required at that point.

The chairman of the committee on bridges reported that the bridge over Indian creek between First and Bryan streets also needed attention. The committee was instructed to look after these bridges and fence them up if necessary. The city engineer stated that the Seventh street bridge was dangerous beyond any possibility of repair. The committee was also instructed to ascertain the probable cost of a pile driver and report at the next meeting of the council.

The demand of A. C. Harding for rent of a building used for election purposes was referred to the committee on claims.

Defective sidewalk on 15th and 16th streets at the corner of Fifth avenue and Eighth street were brought to the attention of the council, but no action was taken.

The city engineer was instructed to estimate the probable cost of laying iron pipes to connect the fire hydrants with the main water supply system, and to report thereon, in order that the expense of buying hose for the sewer gang might be done away with.

The clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for 1,500 feet of fire hose, after which the council adjourned to meet Wednesday evening, October 23.

Assisted by a Runner She Lowers the 3-year-old Time record in a Race.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 17.—The feature of the second day of the Cumberland Fair and Racing association's fall meeting was the performance of the 3-year-old filly Fantasy, by Chimes, out of Hiona, by Al Monarch, in the stake for 3-year-old trotters. There were two starters, with Hamlin's filly a 1 to 1 favorite. The first heat was won by Fantasy in 2:18 1/2. Baronet, Double Cross and Greendrier Girl being the only others to make any showing. In the second heat by agreement of the owners and with the consent of the management, distance was waived in order to give Goers a chance to drive the daughter of Chimes against the best record of 2:11 1/4, made here last year. Greendrier Girl hung to her wheel around the first turn, but after passing the quarter Geers led Fantasy to. At that point she was joined by the runner, Abe Lincoln. From that point home she left her field a hundred yards behind the mile with slight urging in 2:08 1/2. The fractional time was 32 1/2, 1:06, 1:37 1/2, 2:08 1/2. The best previous record for a 3-year-old was 2:10 1/2, made by Arion against time at this track last fall. Fantasy has won every race she has started in this year, nine in all. She will have to beat the record of 2:08 1/2, it being the intention of her owner to throw her out of training for a year and endeavor to break the world's record with her in 1895. The attendance was small, but the weather and track were superb. The sport was very good. The speculators were upset in a 3-year-old trot, the Axel colt, Axline, superbly driven by M. Choney, winning the straight heats, Director's Flower being the favorite. Fantasy won the 3-year-old as she pleased. Courier, Raven Wilkes and Parole each won a heat in the 2:23 trot, and the race then went over until tomorrow. Arion, Pixley and Bella Vera each went against their marks, accompanied by a runner, but each failed. Stamboul starts tomorrow against the stallion mark, and George Starr will endeavor to lower the team record with Audine and Tembla. Results:

2:40 class, trotting, for 2-year-olds, stake $200. Starters, five. Director's Flower second, Red Bud third. Time: 2:21 1/2, 2:29 1/2. 2:35 class, trotting, for 3-year-olds, stake $200. Fantasy won, Hiona second, Double Cross third, Tony V fourth. Time: 2:16 1/2, 2:20 1/2. 2:32 class, trotting, stake $200. Unfinished. Courier, Raven Wilkes and Parole each won a heat. Starters, five. Parole was the favorite. Charles C. Fred H. Isabelle, Warwick. Time: 2:17 1/2, 2:18 1/2, 2:17 1/2. Arion went to beat 2:07 1/2, but made only 2:08 1/2. Pixley was sent against 2:08 1/4, but could not make better time than 2:11 1/4. Bella Vera went to beat 2:08 1/4 and made 2:10 1/4. Sport at Lexington Good.

The event of the evening was preceded by a ten-round set to between Jack Everhardt and George Perry. Prof. John Duffy was referee. Everhardt won the fight in the second round. Next came the bantams. Gorman from the start permitted Levy to do the fighting, depending on countering, which he did successfully. It was anybody's battle until the seventh round, Levy depending on clinching and infighting and Gorman on hard punching. In the eighth round Levy received a clean knock-out blow from Gorman's right. Neither man was hurt.
