Julge Macy of the District Court Hands Down Several Decisions.

PORTSMOUTH SAVINGS BANK AGAINST SHEA Disposal of a Suit that Has Attracted a Great Deal of Attention Because of Its Peculiarities - The Crimtost Cases.

Judge Macy rendered decisions in several suits that have been tried before him at this term yesterday afternoon. He decided the case of the Portsmouth Savings bank against J. J. Shea involving the ownership of the defendant's home. This suit was the outgrowth of a queer action on the part of W. S. Ryan of Omaha, who was formerly a partner of Kimball & Champ in the loan business. Without the knowledge of the company he commenced foreclosure proceedings upon the property of Shea, who had borrowed some money from the plaintiff through the firm of Kimball, Champ & Ryan. After the suit had been pending some time the company tearned of Ryan's action, but did not decide at once whether to disaffirm his action or ratify it. The latter was finally determined upon and a sheriff's deed was executed and turned over to the company. Shea refused to give up possession on the ground that Ryan had acted fraudu-lently in beginning the foreclosure proceedings without authority from the company. The company thereupon brought the suit, which was pending for some time and was decided yesterday, to get possession. Judge Macy held that Ryan's action had been fraudulent and dismissed it, stating in ren-dering his decision, that the company might now begin a new action on its own book to recover possession of the property. This will have the effect of giving Shea possession for a while longer, although the out-

Plaintiff Paul the Costs. The case of Davenport against G. F. Wright, in which the plaintiff wanted the defendant's title to eighty acres of land ourdened with a right of dower, was dis-nissed at plaintiff's costs. A judgment of $250 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff in the suit of Patton against Hattenhauer.

In the case of E. S. Barnett against the firm of Stewart & Hunter, C. M. C. Stewart, F. M. Hunter and J. W. Hunter, a udgment was rendered for the full amount of the claim, about $360, in favor of the plaintiff, as against all the defendants ex-cepting C. M. C. Stewart, who, in most of the transactions, had only been involved from the fact that he allowed his name to be used after withdrawing from the business. A judgment was also rendered against him for haif the amount. All the criminal cases have been completed and the jury will be discharged today. The time of the court from now on into next week will be taken up with cases to be tried to the court. The case of the State Bank of Waverly against F. M. Bilger and others, to collect $3,000 on a note executed by W. W. Bilger, now vanished, is specially assigned for trial this morning. This note came due just a day or two before Bilger skipped out. It bears the signatures of F. M. Bilger, the father of the missing man, together with a lot of other signatures, each of which is solemnly declared by its respective owner

Council Bluffs. PETERSON'S CHILD.

So Said the Jury that Had the Question

Under Advisement. The proceedings that have been in progress in the district court for the past two or three days to determine the paternity of Mary Christiansen's child came to an end yesterday afternoon and the case went to the jury. All during the trial the court room has looked considerably like a nursery and bottles with long, rubber nipples in them have been prominent articles of furniture. One of the witnesses whom Peterson, the defendant, wanted to testify was Min-nie Mackaden, who lives in the east part of the city and is supposed to know a good deal about the plaintiff's character. A subpoena was issued and duly served upon her, but when the time came for her to tes-tify she was nowhere to be found. A bench warrant was issued for her and before long ie was ushered into Judge Macy's presence. "Why didn't you come when the officer served you with the paper?" was the judge's question.

"Mary, that girl with the baby, told me not to come," was her reply. "And my mother told me not to come, too, I always do as my mother says."

This did not look like a very good excuse, but the court preferred to take it rather than compel the girl, who was 19 years old, to pay a penalty for contempt. She was re-leased from custody on her at reemeat to pay he costs of the contempt proceedings. Before the recreant witness was brought n the case had been completed and given to the large had been completed and given to the jury. It was not long before the jury returned with a verdict. When opened it was found to be for the plaintiff, finding Oswald Peterson guilty as charged. The only penalty in the case will be a financial and the amount remains for the court to determine. Bad Bills Made Good.

the Commission of a Crime. Frank W. Hough, a young man employed in Evans' shoe store, had an experience Thursday night which did not turn his hair white, but robbed him of several square inches of carriele. He had just locked up the store and was making for home in the western part of the city. When he reached the neighborhood of the electric light station, where a couple were held up the other where a couple were held up the other night, he saw two men walking along in front of him. He thought nothing of that until he drew near, when he saw that they were planning to allow him to pass between them. He decided to pass, however, in spite of his shaky feeling about the heart. Just as he got be-tween them one of them turned and pushed a gun into his face. The man was three feet away, but the barrel touched his nose and Hough declares the gun was three feet long. Instead of stopping to talk politics he started on a quick, energetic vamose, and the pace he took was one that Flying Jib might well

When he had passed he turned around to see what had become of the assailants. They did not seem to be following him, but before he had time to shake hands with him before he had time to shake hands with him-self over the fact he tripped and fell. He took several mouthfuls of Third avenue sidewalk dirf, and the sidewalk took several mouthfuls of Hough. The highwaymen seemed to think that retribution enough had been visited upon him for his unwillingness to make himself a sacrifice to the cause of organized labor, and they neither shot at him nor tried any more to hold him up. It has been suggested by some evil minded persons who recall last week's developments in the fire department. that perhaps there is some one living in the Fourth ward who wants a place on the police

The tall man and the short man, who have been experimenting with a revolver at the expense of people's pockets in the vicinity of the electric light plant, transferred the field of their operations to within a block of po-lice headquarters fast evening, but as they made a total failure, from a monetary standpoint, they will probably vibrate back again to their old stand, where they can pull out gold watches in pairs. Henry Jerkins, an ex-saloon keeper, was walking up Vine street about 8:30 o'clock. When he reached Ham-mer's lumber yard two men suddenly jumped out from behind a pile of lumber. The tall man had a gun and shoved it into close proximity of Mr. Jerkins' nasal organ, while the little fellow stood in the background ready to quiet Mrs. Jerkins in case her excitement got the better of her judg-ment. They then proceeded to turn Jerkins' pocket inside out. Unfortunately for them every pocket was empty and they had their labor for their pains. Jerkins rushed up to Clausen's store and telephoned to the police station as soon as he could recover his breath, but no track of the robbers was fell like a thunderbolt upon the friends of both men, for it was the universal impression that the jury had voted not to return a true bill in Hawks' case, and it was not known a presentment had been made against Evans. Very little leaked out from the grand jury room, but what has is very sensational.

Hawks is now under bond for his appear ance, but Evans has not yet been arrested. Neither indictment had been reported to the

KEPT IN JAIL NOW.

Banker Koetting No Longer Allowed to Travet Around on Ball.
Mil.waukee, Oct. 20.—Banker John B. Koetting will rest securely in the county jail for some time to come. This is a result of Mr. Koetting's uncontrollable desire to travel. Bail bonds are no restraint to him and in order to protect him from himself and save misguided relatives who might put up money to insure his appearance it was decided to keep him in jail. He was taken to the municipal court to answer to the indictthe municipal court to answer to the indict-ments returned against him, and a continuance was granted until next Wednesday.

A big crowd was present in the court room.

When Koetting was taken back to the jail a crowd of about 100 persons followed him.

A number of women were the leaders in the crowd that trooped close to his beers.
"Why isn't be hardcuffed?" shouted

"Other prisoners are handcuffed, but he is allowed to walk as free as we do. Is there one law for the little thief and another for the big one?"
"Yes, that's right," cried another. "And to think he spent $800 of my money going to Mexico, when he could have stayed here and paid me what he owes. He ought to be

ILLINOIS PYTHIANS.

Exclusion of Saloon Keepers Hung Up-Ritual to Be Printed in German.

DECATUR. Ill., Oct. 20.-The Illinois grand lodge Knights of Pythias is in session here. Another effort was made to exclude saloon keepers from membership in the order, but it was a failure. The point was sprung that such exclusion would necessitate an entire change of the by-laws, and the matter was referred back to slumber for another year. The hottest discussion of the day was on the report recommending that the supreme lodge cause the new ritual to be printed in German as well as English. This brought a number of orators to their feet in different parts of the house, and one flaunted a tele-gram stating that the Missouri grand lodge at St. Louis yesterday had voted against the proposition 200 to 7. That did not scare off the German element and their friends. It was shown that there was not a German lodge in St. Louis, and it was conthe ranks. The report of the committe was Explosion Followed by Fire in Which at Least One Woman Was Burned to Death, C. L. Troller, setting fire to the building and an adjoining book store. There were a number of people in the bookstore, and the fire spread so rapidly that Mrs. William Bean was caught in the building and burned to death in full view of the crowd on the street. Four others were injured, and it is feared some lives were lost in the dye works, but the explosion wrecked the building so that it is impossible to determine until the debris is cleared. The property loss is about $10,000.

TORTURING EGZEMA

Editor Iowa Piain Dealer Cured of Insufferable Itching and Pain by the Cutleura Remedles.

No Less Than Five Physicians Consulted. Their Combined Wisdom Followed Without Benefit.

I am sixty-six years old. In August, 180, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease to which people of my age are subject, known among medical men as eczema. Its first appearance was near the ankles. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities until my legs were nearly one raw sore; from legs the trouble extended across the hips, shoulders and the entire length of the arms, the legs and arms greatly swollen with an itching, burning pain, without cessarion. Although the best medicaladviceattainable was employed, no less than five physicians of the place being consulted and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease, though apparently checked, would recur in a few days as bad as evel; during its progress my weight fell away about twenty-five pounds. As an experiment I began the use of Cuttcura, following the simple and plain instructions given with the REMEDIES, and in four weeks found myself well, with skin soft and natural in color, the itching and pain entirely releved.
