

POLICY OF THE REPUBLICANS

Anxious to Secure Favorable Legislation but Insist on Proper Safeguards.

THEIR VIEWS OF THE COMPROMISE PLAN

Senator Sherman Will Make an Effort to Have the Secretary of the Treasury Authorized to Issue Bonds in an Emergency.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE. 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The general expectation favors the passage of the democratic silver compromise. If the democrats will unite on the amendment they can pass it. Whether it will receive any support from the repeal republicans is exceedingly doubtful. Several republicans have always believed compromise inevitable, but they have all insisted that the proposed silver purchases should be accompanied with authority to accumulate gold by the sale of bonds.

Senator Manderson has steadily maintained the position that the issue of bonds or specific authority so to do in case of emergency, is essential to the restoration of public confidence and the maintenance of parity.

The senators from the mining states will, of course, oppose the amendment, and they will have the support of Allen, Kyle and Peffer. Senator Teller says he will not, while opposing the measure, filibuster against its passage.

Efforts of Senator Sherman. The republicans, led by Mr. Sherman, will doubtless make an effort to amend the bill by adding an additional section authorizing the sale of a specified amount of bonds at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury. If such an amendment be not made the proposed compromise will be almost as great a makeshift as the Sherman act.

Under that act the silver is paid for by treasury notes redeemable in coin, the notes being issued against the commercial value of the bullion. By the proposed compromise the issue of treasury notes against the measure of the security for these notes is reduced by about 40 per cent and its place is supplied by the act of the government, which consists of so much wind.

The seigniorage is the difference between the price paid for the bullion and the coinage value.

Details of the Proposed Measure. The bullion now held is worth its commercial value, but if the seigniorage be utilized in the manner proposed by the compromise, its decided value is lost. The gold and silver dollars would be increased by the difference between the mint value of the coin and the market value of the bullion. It is estimated that the mint value of the bullion now held is over $20,000,000 in excess of the commercial value. The amendment proposes to inflate the bullion now held to the mint value, and to be made until October 1, 1894, with congressional wind. The treasury notes being redeemed with gold, sound business principles and a proper regard for the stability of the treasury should have authority to provide for their redemption in gold.

Western Pensions. Pensions granted, issue of October 9, were: Nebraska—Original—Charles Willits, Stomberg, and Increase—Edward V. Yaton, Omaha, Douglas.

Illinois—Original—Calvin S. Gromstead, East Des Moines. Increase—George Marshallton, Marshall. Increase—Clark Anderson, Elliott, Montgomery; Irving A. Stringham, Delaware, Delaware. Original widows, etc.—John H. Pickett, Russell, Laas; Margaret Burkhardt, Dedham, Carroll; Mary J. Miller, mother, Chapin, Franklin; Almina M. Buckner, Corwith, Hancock.

South Dakota—Original—John Gingles, Alexandria, Hanson. PEPPER'S HEATH.

WILL BE CONFINED TO SILVER.

Time of the Senate for the Week to be Determined. The senate will probably again this week occupy the attention of the senate to the exclusion of every other subject, unless it be some minor matter like the confirmation of presidential appointments. Even though the compromise bill be brought before the senate, the little prospect of confounding the consideration of the question before the latter part of the week.

Senator Jones of Nevada, who has spoken already on three different days, announced last night that he would require periods of two or three days more for the conclusion of his remarks. He also announced that he has on hand a speech which he began two or three weeks ago, which he would like to have an opportunity to conclude. There are probably others of the silver advocates who are similarly situated. They will be given an opportunity to present their views prepared, even though the argument of the question shall be definitely settled.

There will in all probability be many speeches on the subject of the compromise, but these will be comparatively brief. There is a possibility that the compromise may wait, though all the probabilities are in favor of its success. If it should fail the throttle will be thrown wide open again and no one can foretell what the week will bring forth. Such a state of affairs would be almost certain to force the senate into a fierce fight over the rules. It is probable that Senator Jones will make a summing up speech during the week if the compromise amendment is introduced.

Compromisers Working Hard. There has been nothing done today in the way of getting additional supporters to the compromise. The compromisers are now leaders of the movement to push the matter at once and secure sufficient signers to secure favorable action. It is their hope to obtain the consent by telegram to have the names of some of the absentees attached to the bill.

Practically the banking and currency committee consists of seven democrats and six republicans. On the question of the repeal of the state bank tax, the republicans, Messrs. Walker, Brown, Russell and Johnson are the opponents, are all counted against the proposition. Counted with them are Springer and Sperry. The democrats, Messrs. Johnson, Peffer, and Messrs. C. H. Cobb of Missouri, Culberson, Cobb of Alabama, Warner, Black of Georgia, and Hall of Missouri. This leaves the committee in the hands of the democrats, who are sure to carry the measure. The men against repeal say that he is sure with them and the repealers claim, him also in case they repeal certain clauses which he desires repealed.

House Forecast. The horoscope of events in the house this week will hinge upon the result of the effort to amend the compromise at the other end of the capital. If the compromisers should reach the house before the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, which is made a continuing order beginning tomorrow, the end of that order will be vacated to the end that prompt action may be had on the financial measure. It is not expected, however, that the compromise bill will reach the house under the most favorable circumstances until the latter end of the week. Unless it becomes apparent that there might be unreasonable delay in committee, the bill will be referred under the rules to the coinage, weights and measure committee. If there is a disposition to hold it there a motion will be made to concur in the senate amendments when the bill is taken from the speaker's table.

The attitude of the republicans toward the bill will be governed by the course of the republican senators. The silver democrats, too, except perhaps a few extremists, will follow the lead of their political brethren of the senate. In fact, no sort of doubt seems to exist as to the course of the house, save with exception, or any compromise that goes through the senate.

As to Other Measures. The bankruptcy bill, while the financial measure dislodges it, will probably occupy the entire week. Opposition to the measure in its present form has been developed. Messrs. Culberson and Bailey, democrats, and William A. Stone, republican, of the committee which reported the bill, are among its opponents. Mr. Stone will open the fight against the bill tomorrow. Mr. Culberson says it must be amended in many particulars, while others say it can never pass unless radical changes are made.

One of these changes is the involuntary clause which may be put through the bankruptcy court, even when it is not to his advantage or a majority of his creditors would vote against the bill. There have been three bankruptcy laws passed and all have been repealed. The longest maintained on the statute books is eleven years, the rest less than two years.

GRAND TRUNK WRECK VICTIMS. Half of the Number Killed Will Not Be Identified. BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 22.—Thirteen of the twenty-eight dead, as a result of the wreck here on the Grand Trunk Friday morning, have been identified. Albert Bradley, who had his leg amputated Friday, died tonight.

There are still twenty-two badly injured patients. Of these, Mrs. Vance, who has both legs cut off, cannot live.

Albert H. Bradley of Toronto, Ont., died tonight. He was the cashier of the bank of Commerce here, and his death swells the number of deaths to twenty-eight. This afternoon, friends identified one of the burned bodies as that of the widow of Dr. A. B. Smith of Battle Creek.

Of the twenty-seven bodies lying in the morgue here, only thirteen have been identified. The bodies of the following have been identified: MISS A. WORTHMAN of New York City; MISS EVELYNE ALDRICH of Edwardsburg, Mich.; JAMES G. WORTHMAN, 12 years old of New York City; WILLIAM HENRY of Watkins, N. Y.; WILLIAM HENRY of Watkins, N. Y.; MISS ALBERT BRADLEY of Battle Creek, Mich.; THOMAS H. STINGHER of Port Dover, Ont.; MISS CHARLES VAN DUSEN of Sprout Brook, N. Y.; MISS C. C. VAN DUSEN of Sprout Brook, N. Y.; THOMAS A. MCGARVEY of London, Ont.

The remains of those named were all shipped home this afternoon accompanied by friends who came here to identify them. There are now fifteen unidentified bodies. The following are known to be among those burned to death, but cannot be identified: MISS ANNE SMITH of Battle Creek, N. Y.; MISS A. WOOD, Oldenburg, N. Y.

The suggestion has been made that all bodies unidentified today, and that will be buried in the Oak Hill cemetery and a monument erected there.

Governor Rich and State Commissioner Billings regard the matter as one for investigation which will be held tomorrow.

COMRADES IN CONSPIRACY

Grief Caused at a Dark Lantern Session by the Searchlight of Publicity.

DR. MERCER AND HIS POLITICAL PALS

List of Delegates to the Recent Caucus of Disgraced Politicians—Kryner's Campaign Crotch—Prospects that the Doctor Will Soon Need One.

Amos "Juryfixer" Van Alstine and his select coterie of political pals were filled with grief yesterday morning, when they awoke to a realization that their secret work as "citizens" had attracted outside attention through the columns of THE BEE and that their doings of the preceding evening were known to the world.

While the juryfixer Amos had been perambulating about town during the business hours of Saturday, peddling the personal invitations that were relied upon to get the disgraced ones together, he had been very careful to impress upon the innocents the necessity of keeping the program "dark," and when he finally had the satisfaction of gazing upon his chosen associates collectively, he was more than satisfied that the commendatory "well done," of his commanding general, Boss Twenty-eight, Broatch, would soon come his way.

Personnel of the Plotters. And it cannot be denied that it was an admirable arrangement of men, and in almost any human breast. Occupying a very prominent position was Jim Kryner, fully tumbled out in his campaign costume, for he understood that Jim during the campaign, and Jim "after the ball is over," are two very different appearing individuals.

An ordinary occasion of the kind would have been a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

It was a success, but when the warden loomed up, and manna to navigate with a scarcely discernible limp, but when there are votes to be procured, and when the franchise is at stake, the doctor is not satisfied with nothing else, Jim deftly utilizes his artificial underpinning and sticks it under the big same as he is pulling out a well-worn orator, and thus equipped he starts forth to hold a series of post-mortems on the battle of Shiloh.

THE POWERS OF EUROPE THERE

Germany, Italy and England Have Their Armies Represented by High Officers—Political Significance of a National Funeral—The Russians.

Paris, Oct. 22.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE BEE.]—Paris has today one of the most solemn and imposing ceremonies she has ever witnessed in the whole of her long history. The obsequies of the late Marshal MacMahon were surpassed all that was expected. One hundred and twenty thousand persons marched from the Madeleine to the Invalides, through the Champs Elysee, forming the last escort to the great French soldier.

The funeral cortege was marvellous. All the great bodies of the state were represented and the whole army of Paris was present. Every point of vantage, even the branches of the trees, along the route was occupied. Behind the coffin walked representatives of all the powers of Europe in full uniform. The most striking of these were the German officers of high rank, whose martial bearing and superb uniforms astounded the crowd of spectators.

No Hostility Shown. Not a hostile shout was heard as they passed through the immense crowd. Three Italian officers were received in the same way and the English officers passed without attracting any notice. All the Russian officers walked in a compact body headed by the crown prince, while remaining silent, uncovered as they crossed.

The immense wreath of palms sent by the Kaiser, the great wreath of flowers tied by King Humbert and the wreaths sent by Queen Victoria and the prince of Wales attracted much attention.

Equilibrium Re-Established. The manifestation of today will certainly have a pacific influence. The homage paid by all the military nations of Europe to the French army has filled the French with a feeling of gratification and it also proves the political importance of the Russian visit. If they had not come to Paris, Germany and Italy would not have sent representatives of their army to the funeral of MacMahon. France and Russia, united, inspire the world with respect, re-establish the balance of Europe and assure peace. Such are the impressions of the hour. Let us hope that the future will confirm them.

Tomorrow the fête populaire will take place and there will be a general illumination of the city. On Tuesday we will have the gala performance at the Opera. Then the Russians will take their departure. Jacques St. Crear.

REMAINS OF MARSHAL MACMAHON CONVEYED TO THE TOMB. PARIS, Oct. 22.—Amid all the pomp of peace and war the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-president of France and duke of Magenta, were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, across the river Seine to the Hotel des Invalides, there to rest until the great reveille is sounded by the trumpeters of the French army.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

The body of the late but one of the marshals of France reached this city from Mont-Creton last night, as already telegraphed. The remains were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, which historic building is situated half way between the Place de l'Opera and Champs Elysee. The modest hearse bearing the ex-president's remains was followed from the railroad station by two old servants of the marshal soldier, who carried the marshal's black and white uniform, the sword of Marshal MacMahon, and the little casket of mementoes which he carried with him to the battle of Magenta.

IN MACMAHON'S LAST MARCH

Many Thousands Join in the Cortege of the Great Captain and Statesman.

Paris, Oct. 22.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE BEE.]—Paris has today one of the most solemn and imposing ceremonies she has ever witnessed in the whole of her long history. The obsequies of the late Marshal MacMahon were surpassed all that was expected. One hundred and twenty thousand persons marched from the Madeleine to the Invalides, through the Champs Elysee, forming the last escort to the great French soldier.

The funeral cortege was marvellous. All the great bodies of the state were represented and the whole army of Paris was present. Every point of vantage, even the branches of the trees, along the route was occupied. Behind the coffin walked representatives of all the powers of Europe in full uniform. The most striking of these were the German officers of high rank, whose martial bearing and superb uniforms astounded the crowd of spectators.

No Hostility Shown. Not a hostile shout was heard as they passed through the immense crowd. Three Italian officers were received in the same way and the English officers passed without attracting any notice. All the Russian officers walked in a compact body headed by the crown prince, while remaining silent, uncovered as they crossed.

The immense wreath of palms sent by the Kaiser, the great wreath of flowers tied by King Humbert and the wreaths sent by Queen Victoria and the prince of Wales attracted much attention.

Equilibrium Re-Established. The manifestation of today will certainly have a pacific influence. The homage paid by all the military nations of Europe to the French army has filled the French with a feeling of gratification and it also proves the political importance of the Russian visit. If they had not come to Paris, Germany and Italy would not have sent representatives of their army to the funeral of MacMahon. France and Russia, united, inspire the world with respect, re-establish the balance of Europe and assure peace. Such are the impressions of the hour. Let us hope that the future will confirm them.

Tomorrow the fête populaire will take place and there will be a general illumination of the city. On Tuesday we will have the gala performance at the Opera. Then the Russians will take their departure. Jacques St. Crear.

REMAINS OF MARSHAL MACMAHON CONVEYED TO THE TOMB. PARIS, Oct. 22.—Amid all the pomp of peace and war the remains of Marshal MacMahon, ex-president of France and duke of Magenta, were conveyed to the Church of La Madeleine, across the river Seine to the Hotel des Invalides, there to rest until the great reveille is sounded by the trumpeters of the French army.