

THE DAILY BEE

COUNCIL BLUFFS. OFFICE: NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier to any part of the city. H. W. TILTON, Manager. TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 43; Night Editor, No. 43.

MINOR MENTIONS.

Boston store, cloaks. The ladies of the Union Veteran Legion, will meet at Mrs. Lunkley's this afternoon. Friday night Nellie McHenry appears at Dohany's in the comedy of "A Night at the Circus."

Miss Genevieve Wallace entertained a few of her young lady friends Tuesday night at her home on Bluff street.

Congressman Walter I. Hayes will address the democrats of Council Bluffs Saturday evening at the Masonic temple.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to A. L. Foster of Omaha and Beth Brown of Council Bluffs. Their ages are 23 and 20.

Sam Porterfield and George Stevens, two of the toll-takers at the motor bridge, have given up their positions, which they have occupied for several years.

A message has been received in this city announcing that A. A. Wain, a well known citizen of Neola, is lying at the point of death from hemorrhage of the lungs.

Nancy, wife of James Hutchinson, died at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, aged 77 years, at her late residence, 116 Ridge street. The remains were taken to Harrison county yesterday for burial.

Tonight is the presentation of "The Union Spy" at Dohany's. It is under the auspices of the Union Veteran Legion, and both cause and play are worthy of liberal patronage.

J. M. Brown died of drowsy stupor yesterday morning at 6:40 o'clock, aged 43 years, after an illness of three weeks. He resided at 281 Twenty-first street, and was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

A. N. Schuster & Co., commenced proceedings in the district court yesterday to collect $307 from A. S. and J. J. Varva, the two merchants who were the chief parties in a sensational affair about ten days ago.

Charles Gardner, popularly known as "Karl," is to appear at Dohany's Saturday night in his new comedy drama, "The Prize Winner." Some of the most catchy songs are introduced to add to Karl's reputation as "the sweet singer."

R. E. Baker, who used a gun on John Poppe, a Lower Main street saloonkeeper, when had Poppe arrested on a serious charge, felt the full power of the law's arm yesterday morning. Judge McGee fined him $27 for his little escapade and let Poppe go free.

The Misses Mamie and Fannie Dickey entertained a number of their friends at a party last Tuesday evening at their residence on Benton street.

These present were Misses Phelps, Devoil, Keene, Haworth, Whittier and Marsh. Mrs. W. P. Officer, Messrs. Smith, Jones, MacConnell, Officer, McChesney, Wright, Marsh and Devoil.

A railway engineer on the Union Pacific picked up an old purse on Lower Broadway yesterday containing a couple of checks which appeared to have been forged.

One was for $40 and the other for $40, the former being signed by "Wm. Simon & Sons," and the other by "B. G. Fishback & Sons." The similarity of handwriting and spelling proclaimed them forgeries.

Something new to speak or recite—that is what many are hunting for. D. W. Bushnell has secured the latest and best in this line from the Penn Publishing company of Philadelphia.

These include selections from Shakespeare's latest No. 21, consisting of those adapted for all purposes, and "Good Humor," which is a compilation of witty, bright selections, fresh, not clownish, yet most laughable.

Judge Macy held a session of the district court yesterday for the purpose of hearing arguments for a new trial in the case of I. S. Wilkins against the motor company, in which a verdict was recently given for the plaintiff in the sum of $2,500.

The attorneys for the company claim that one of the jurors had previously to the trial expressed an opinion of the case, and this is the main ground on which they demand a retrial. The motion was taken under advisement by the court.

"Their blood is on your head" if you permit your children to die of diphtheria, knowing how surely Dr. Jefferis' remedy will cure diphtheria. Thirty-five years trial has proven it infallible. Story of a Man Who Looked Upon the Wine When it Was Red.

HOW SAMUEL L. BALL WAS LED ASTRAY

Downfall of a Piano Fancier—He Violated the Confidence of His Employers and Now the Penitentiary Looms Up Before Him.

Samuel L. Ball, a piano tuner with the Mueller Piano and Organ company up to a couple of months ago, has met with a serious downfall, and he is now in an uncomfortable position with the doors of the penitentiary staring him in the face, unless some sort of a settlement can be reached. He was sent down to Red Oak by Mr. Mueller several months ago to sell pianos and organs. He succeeded in selling one piano and five organs and returned home. He then made another trip to collect what was due, but it was two weeks before he came back. Upon his return he was in a sad predicament. The metropolitan features of life in Red Oak had proved too much for him. He had collected $165 in cash, but was unable to account for a part of it, further than by explaining that he had run across several aunts, who had lured him from the path of virtue and assisted him in the very difficult task of making away with his employer's funds. He had added several choice jags to his collection as well, and it all cost money.

In addition to the other difficulties he had lost a note of $75 that had been given by one of his customers in payment for an instrument, and returned home. He then made a good. Ball had a horse and buggy and he gave Mueller a mortgage on the rig to secure the payment of the note. He had kept in an upper Broadway livery stable, the proprietor of which had instructions not to let Ball have it under any circumstances. He disobeyed instructions and the first thing Mueller knew, Ball, the horse and buggy, and all were missing. This was in the early part of September, and not until yesterday was anything seen of the recent piano man.

Yesterday morning Charles Adolph, one of Mueller's clerks, learned that Ball had returned and was residing on Harrison street. He went up to interview him and took an other along with him. He found Ball with his head all tied up in cloths, and he explained his condition by saying that the mortgage horse got away with him by running away down in Missouri and smashing into a hedge. He had sold his household furniture to an Upper Broadway second-hand store keeper, who was then hauling it away. An officer soon arrived with a warrant for Ball's arrest on the charge of embezzlement.

While in Red Oak, Ball ran up a large bill for expenses, but after $100 was deducted Mueller still claims a shortage of $61.25. Ball has something of a reputation as an exhorter, he having done a good deal of work in the various districts for the purpose of leading religious services and taking up collections. Last evening he was making a vigorous effort to settle the case by turning a note to secure the remainder of the amount he is accused of making away with.

Bowman's Eagle Eye. "Reikman and Bowman and the rest of these democrats who have been trying to convince the administration that they are the only folks on earth who can sell postage stamps gracefully are not out of the woods yet by any means," remarked a democrat yesterday who has means of knowing what he is talking about and no apparent motive for talking through his hat; "people have supposed all along that Thomas Bowman is out of the race, and they pointed to the fact that he left the city for a time as an indication that he would not be back. But Bowman, if you have noticed, seems to do a good deal of loafing around Council Bluffs, yet I don't think the question of who is to be the next postmaster has yet been definitely settled, and it won't be until next week—that is, until after election. If Bowman isn't elected, railroad commissioner, and such a thing doesn't seem altogether impossible, you can depend on it he will be the next postmaster. He has his weather eye open for a good job, and he isn't going to support any one else in the race and go hungry himself. I think the matter will be settled definitely within a very short time after election is over."

Found the Baby. Officer Whart, who spent a good share of Tuesday afternoon and evening looking for Mrs. W. E. Kynett's 5-month-old baby, which was run off with and concealed by her husband, was successful in his search. He finally found it in a German family in the eastern part of the city and returned it to its mother. It had the appearance of having been dropped, and was over a week stop until after midnight. Kynett is still in jail and will have a trial in police court this morning on the charge of disturbing the peace.

Cook your meals this summer on a gas range. At cost at the Gas company. Domestic soap is the best. Used a Human Target. Henry Koblenz was shot Tuesday afternoon as a result of a little Halloween dress rehearsal that was given by John Lindsay, a 17-year-old boy, living with his parents on Tenth avenue between Third and Fourth streets. Lindsay, who was armed with a .38-caliber revolver, was seen by Koblenz on the street in a coal wagon, when he saw Lindsay just ahead of him plaving with a small 22-caliber revolver. As he drew near Lindsay raised the weapon and snatched it from him, but there was no explosion as the cylinder was empty. Lindsay then loaded his gun and shot at Koblenz after he had passed. The bullet took effect in Koblenz's left shoulder and inflicted a painful wound. Officer L. B. Cousins of the police force was looking for Koblenz, but was refused to take any part in the affair further than to order Lindsay to go home and put away his gun. Koblenz called at the city clerk's office yesterday and filed a charge against Lindsay with assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

HEAVY DES MOINES FAILURE

J. S. Savery Sinks a Fortuna in Numerous Enterprises—He WAS THOUGHT TO BE QUITE WEALTHY—More than a Million Involved in the Collapse—Unprofitable Mining Deal Caused His Creditors to Crowd Him to the Walk.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 1.—A sensation was created in business circles this morning by the assignment of J. S. Savery, owner of the Savery house, the biggest hotel in the state, president of the American Immigration society, and a heavy stockholder in several mines in Montana.

Besides a large amount of stock in mines at Butte, Mont., Mr. Savery owned much railroad stock and a great deal of real estate in Des Moines. The news of the failure caused tremendous excitement here. The Savery house will not be affected by the failure. Every body here believed Savery was making a fortune in Montana. It turns out now that his last venture was a failure, that he lost $500,000 in sinking a worthless mine. His creditors are now crowding him to the walk, began evicting him until his only hope of saving anything was to make an assignment.

W. Wilmer, who was associated with him in several enterprises, was made assignee Savery is now in Chicago looking after interested parties to his assets.

The assignment is for himself personally and for the American Emigrant company of New York, successor to the American Emigrant company of Hartford, Conn., of which he is the sole proprietor.

Schedule of Assets. Attached to the papers is an inventory and schedule of all real estate and property of J. S. Savery and the emigrant company. It embraces various lots in Des Moines, Butte, Mont., and Brookline, N. Y., stocks, bonds, notes and bills receivable, 3,810 shares of capital stock of the cable company, and shares of the stock of the Montana Lumber and Produce company, 2,264 shares of the stock in the Engle Sanitary and Creamation company, and notes, contracts, leases and all fixtures and appurtenances of the building at No. 30 State street, New York.

The liabilities of the American Emigrant company of New York, of which Savery is guarantee, are said to be about $500,000. Mr. Savery has no debts outside of this, and the difficulty resulting on his assets consequent upon the panic made it necessary to protect his creditors by a general assignment. Mr. Savery is an agent that has abundant property to meet his liabilities and leave him a good surplus.

Mr. Wilmer filed a bond for $800,000 and will return promptly with the assets, as soon as the necessary information can be obtained. Assignee Wilmer thinks the creditors will get paid for dollar. He denies the report that Savery lost money in Montanamines, and says more of the creditors are eastern parties who did business with the emigration company.

INVOLVES A LARGE SUM. Judge Shiras Hears Arguments in an Important Today. Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 1.—Judge Shiras of the northern district of Iowa today heard arguments in the matter of ownership of the Sioux City, O'Neill & Western railroad bonds, amounting to $2,840,000, and Sioux City & Northern stock to the amount of $1,000,000. These securities were deposited with the Northern railroad company as collateral for a loan of $1,500,000 from J. Kennedy Todd of New York. Assignee Hubbard of the trust company claims them because previously deposited with the company for its endorsement of Garretson, aggregating $6,000,000. Todd claims ownership of the bonds and stock, and has a mortgage on the property of the company. The details of a terrible accident which occurred in Cedar county a few days ago have just reached here. Henry Fitzpatrick of Cedar Valley, accompanied by Conrad Miller and a couple of ladies, was driving along a country road, when the team took fright and started to run. Miller gave the reins such a sudden jerk that the horses were brought to a sudden standstill. Fitzpatrick was thrown out and upon a barb wire fence. Two ribs were completely severed by the barbs, which exposed and penetrated the lungs. Physicians were summoned, but were unable to render any assistance, and the victim died in terrible agony in forty-eight hours after the accident.

Maximum Rate Case. The hearing of evidence in the maximum rate case was continued in the office of J. M. Woolworth, in the First National Bank building, yesterday forenoon. Jacob North was the only witness examined. Mr. North is the state printer, and the purpose of his testimony was to show that the maximum rate bill had been tampered with between the date of its passage and the time when it was printed to a sufficient extent to invalidate the bill.

Mr. North testified that he had printed the original bill and all the amendments and the substance of his testimony was that important interchanges and changes were made in the bill after its passage. Hearing of further evidence was postponed to give the commissioner an opportunity to go to Lincoln and verify Mr. North's statements from the records of the secretary of state.
