ieneral Passenger Agent Lomax in Doubt as to the Action of Western Roads. The Union Pacific occupies the coign of vantage in the triangular fight now being waged over the resumption of the old rates that existed prior to the opening of the World's fair, and unless the roads indicated raise their rates east of the Missouri river on November 10, as they have agreed, the liveliest war that has ever occurred in railroad circles will be inaugurated in transcontimental history.

Mr. Lomax, who has evidently aimed at being conservative in the question of a re-sumption of the old rates, desired to restore the rates November 1, but the Great Northern found that it would be impossible to ac-complish the restoration before the 5th. The Canedian Pacific also objected on the fround that it could not get out notices on time to its connections, and so Mr. Lomax as a compromise, stated the Union Pacific would restore the rates November 5, allowing the burden of failure to raise rate to rest with the northern lines should they fail to ine up to their agreement.

November 10 is now the date set for the restoration and should the Great Northern and Canadian Pacific refuse to put in the rates undoubtedly the Union Pacific means to inaugurate a war of retaliation which will probably extend into the winter. Mr. Lomax, talking to a reporter yesterday morning, said that he would not restore rates until the other lines were in position. and he would not pesume to guess whether rates would be restored or not. "These rates," said Mr. Lomax, are World's fair excursion rates and ceased on November 1, but 1 think the northern lines have not accepted my proposition to raise the rates to their former basis, on technical grounds, so I cannot tell what will be done. These rates do not affect in any way the rates new in use to north Pacific coast points, but as a principle should have been raised with the close of the fair. The whole business is decidedly mixed and the outcome is decidedly uncertain."

Caldwell Gives it Up. CHICAGO, Nov. 4.-Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger association returned today after trying in Omaha and St. Paul to remedy the existing condition of affairs in passenger circles. His efforts were entirely fruitless. The Western Passenger association committee appointed to deal with the Union Pacifit on immigrant business was in session the greater portion of the afternoon. Nothing definite was arranged and the matter will probably go over to the regular association meeting of Thursday next week. It will probably be referred to the general managers for settlement. As the thing now stands the association is in danger. With the Union Pacific making war the Atchison was compelled to look after its heavy interests in transmissouri territory. With the Atchison out the Alton will go, and there is no telling where the exodus would end.

Earnings of the Northern Pacific decressed $730,185 in October, compared with the cor-responding period last year. Milwaukee Will Change Its Office. The office of the Milwaukee company in this city will be transferred today from its present location, at Fifteenth and Farnam streets, to the rooms recently vacated by the Dime Savings bank, just across the street. The new location, Mr. Nash thinks. will be in every way superior to the old quarters which the road has occu-pied since the erection of the Bank of Commerce building. The rooms to be occupied are considerably larger than those at present used by the Milwaukee people and when finally arranged will undoubt-edly be a great improvement over the old offices of the company. Monday morning the new office of the Milwaukee company will be open for business, directly opposite the Bank of Commerce and adjoining the Merchants hotel. Claimed Overtime Pay and Got It. MARTIN'S FERRY, O., Nov. 4 .- One of the most important suits to railroad corporations and employes ever decided was concluded here yesterday. The style of the suit was A. B. Gilmore vs the Bridge and Terminal Railroad company, and it was a claim for $53 80 for overtime. Gilmore was em-ployed as a telegraph operator and worked from fourteen to eighteen hours a day. The suit called for payment for all time over ten hours a day, and this amounted to the sum given above. He was given the full amount by the court under the Ohio law which makes ten hours a day's work.

Preparing for a Cold Wave. John Doe, alias William Smith, engaged a room at the Arlington house on Thirteenth and Dodge streets yesterday and went to bed. After sleeping for several hours he came down and paid his bill. It was then dark, and when the chambermaid went up to the room to make it up for another guest she found only the bare bedstead in the room. Smith had tossed all the bedclothes out of the window, and after leaving the house had carried them away. The officers are now looking for the man who took up his bedclothes and walked.

The Minneapoits Bulletin says that the question of organizing a branch of the Na tional League of Commission Merchants will be agitated in that city.

F. W. Leavitt of the Daily Produce Buile tin of Minneapolis spent a day in the city the past week. The Bulletin is the only daily produce journal in the country. J. C. Bisbee of Auburn, Cal., called on E. B. Branch on his way home from the east. He reports that the past season was a fairly satisfactory one for the fruit shippers of his section of the state. The growers found some fault with prices at times, but the average for the whole season was not s bad as it might have been. Thus far Omaha has been spared from the auction nuisance. Just what is to be gained by the selling of fruits at auction, especially at the smaller markets of the country, is not apparent at this distance. Where the auc tion plan is being tried there appears to be a very wide difference of opinion as to whether the results are satisfactory. Mr. Bemis of the firm of Bemis & Clark says that prices on all kinds of country produce, excepting wheat, are too high and that we will see lower prices before higher. He bases his opinion on the fact that the laboring men of the country are not in a condi-tion to buy and that the lack of a demand from that source must carry prices lower. It is estimated that fully one-third of the entire crop of Cape Cod cranberries has been held back by growers on account of poor prices. It is thought that the crop will foot up nearly 175,000 barrels, the largest on The highest price received has been $4.75 for the choicest berries, and $3.25 for low grades. The growers claim that they cannot pay the prices demanded by the pickers and sell their fruit at a profit.

Large beds of oysters have been discovered in the Pacific waters off Alaska, says West Coast Trade. It had been thought that the water was too cold, but there are pinces where it is warmed by the Japan cur-rent, which medifies the temperature of the Pacific coast more than the Gulf stream does that of the Atlantic coast. The Alaska oysters are pronounced a very superior variety, much better than the small oysters grown near the coast of California.

M. C. Mason of San Diego is represented by the Minneapolis Bulletin as saying: "The orange crop this year in San Diego county will by far exceed any former production of that fruit and is much in excess of the ex-pectation of the growers. It is simply marvelous and as the farmers are hardly prepared to handle the extraordinary yield I fear there will be considerable confusion when the season begins. The rains seem to have come just at the right time, and the usual frosts, which have heretofore worked considerable damage to the new buds, have been very slight, doing no damage worth mentioning. As regards the raisin indus try, there is no doubt but that there will also be an unusual crop. The warm summer we have had has somewhat hastened the season, and already there have been large shipments east." In these times when there is so much talk about overproduction, especially of farm creps, it seems a little strange to hear deal-ers in the east talking about the necessity of importing potatoes in order to help out the short crop in this coun-try. It I oks now, bowever, as if it would become necessary to fall back on the supplies in foreign countries, as has been done several times before in the past few years. FROM THE EMERALD ISLE. Father McGade of County Tyrone is Visit ing Om tha.

Rev. J. McGlade of Omagh, County Tyrone, Ireland, is among the guests at the Millard Father McGlade is spending a few days in the city renewing the acquaintance of old friends and will leave during the week for the east. His purpose in visiting this country is to obtain aid for a deserving church in his parish and incidentally to gather material for a book which will recount his experience and observations on this side of the Father McGlade is an interesting conver sationalist and is remarkably well informed on all matters of Irish interest. Like all true Irishmen, he believes that the home rule cause will ultimately triumph, but is inclined to criticise the policy of the Par nelitie faction in threatening to withdraw their support from Gladstone unless he refuses to entertain any other legislation until the home rule bill is favorably considered.

"The result of such a policy," said he, "would be to estrange a large portion of the following, which the Irish now have in England, to say nothing of the manifest injustice to Mr. Gladstone, who has kept the home rule bill under consideration for nearly six months. There are a large number of the English members who have given their sup port to the home rule bill with the under-standing that the Irish should assist them in return to pass various measures for the re-tief of the working classes of England and Wates. It now seems evident that the House of Lords will not declare in favor of home rule at this time and Mr. Gladstone's policy of waiting for another appeal to the country before again pressing the measure is well founded in wisdom. The excuse given by many members for not vot-ing for the bill was that it had not yet been before the country in detail and they had no means of knowing whether the people were in favor of it or not. The same excuse will not answer another time and when the country has had a chance to declare itself on the issue I believe that the lords will meet the trend of public seatiment and a majority can be procured in favor of the bill.

In reply to a query as to his impressions of America, Father McGlade expressed both surprise and admiration at the possibilities which the new world offered. He had met many of his old Irish friends during his journey and was much gratified to observe that their condition had much improved since they left the o'd country. Many of them had been very poor in Ireland and were in continual danger of eviction. Since their arrival in this country they had become well-to-do and most of them were comparatively wealthy.

The injured man was soon rescued, but he was so badly injured that he was taken to the Immanuel hospital. As he has been unconscious since he was hurt, it was impossible to learn any-thing about him. UPHOLDING ROBERT HOLMES.

OMAHA, Nov. 3 .- To the Editor of THE BEE:

In answer to the article published in yesterday's Western Laborer which speaks of one,

Mr. Robert Holmes, we all know to be one of the best union men in the city for the past ten yeurs, and has always been identified in the Bricklayers' union as a member, who always held nothing except contempt for a scab or nonunion man.

Therefore it does not become any organ led body to condemn a man like Mr. Holmes and make such a statement.

Robert Holmes was president of the bricklayers union in 1885 and 1886, and at the bricklayers union in 1885 and 1886, and at the present time holds that prominent chair down and it does not look reasonable that he would be unfair to his own people, and further it does not look quite right that this man could possibly be elected to this important position and have been what knights of labor assert that he is.

All we wish to do is to deny these accusa-tions most emphatically, and say to the voters that Robert Holmes, to our knowledge, is an upright man of good principle, and, when elected to become a city councilman, will endeavor to use his best judgment for the best interest of the taxpayers, business men and the working community.

These are a few reasons why we wish to support this man, who has been regularly nominatek and endorsed by the people's party. When he sits in the council he will
