COLORADO IN A POLITICAL STEW

Multiplicity of Candidates Confuses the Voters—Virginia Presents a Peculiar Condition—Kentucky Will Try the Kangaroo Ballot.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—On Tuesday the electors of Ohio will choose a governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer of state, attorney general, judge of the supreme court, member of the Board of Public Works and food and dairy commissioner on the state ticket, and on the county tickets they will choose members of the senate and house of representatives, forming the general assembly of that state.

There are also two amendments to the constitution to be voted on, one providing for single representative districts in counties where more than one representative is elected, and the other a taxation amendment.

The republicans have practically nominated their present state officers which brings Governor McKinley as the incumbent Governor Harris up as candidates for a second term.

The democratic nominee for governor is Lawrence T. Neal of Ross county and for lieutenant governor W. A. Taylor of Franklin county.

From the character of the nominations for governor it has necessarily become a campaign between the two branches of the McKinley family.

Mr. Neal has spent much of his time on the stump in controverting McKinley's protection theories and in enforcing his own views in favor of a tariff for revenue only.

Neal has spent much of his time on the stump in controverting McKinley's protection theories and in enforcing his own views in favor of a tariff for revenue only.

The republicans, resting on the national reputation of their candidate and on the dissatisfaction among democrats, growing out of the financial depression and the disrepute in congress on the silver coinage question, have from the beginning claimed the election of McKinley by majorities ranging from 25,000 to 60,000.

The republicans claim that he will not do so well as he is expected to do, but they are by no means so confident of carrying the state as are the republicans.

Chairman Dick of the republican state committee also declines to give an estimate, but it is learned that the committee feels a certain of carrying both branches of the legislature as it did of electing McKinley.

The prohibition party and populists each have state tickets in the field.

KANSAS POPS CONFIDENT. They Declare that Their Success is Assured.

TOPPEKA, Nov. 5.—The election in Kansas tomorrow will be for clerk, treasurer, sheriff, register of deeds, coroner, surveyor and county commissioner in each county, and for judges in thirteen of the thirty-five judicial districts.

After the crushing defeat of the republicans in 1892 it was generally predicted that they would never again make a stand in the state. The republicans are, however, in the campaign this year as usual, and as the populists are without democratic aid in all legislative as it did of electing McKinley.

As it is like no other election that has ever been held in the state, there is no doubt that the new legislature will elect the populists to maintain the majority of two-thirds in the legislature, which body will elect two senators, a full court of appeals, consisting of five judges, and circuit and corporation judges.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Interest in the coming election in Chicago and Cook county is intense. The officials to be elected are county commissioners and judges of the superior and circuit courts. The principal fight is between the friends and enemies of Judge Joseph E. Gary, candidate for re-election to

Castle Comments on the Subject of Changing Politics to Obtain Office—McKie-John and Hainer on a Quest for Information

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE } SIX FOURTEENTH STREET, } WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.

Again the statement is made, and this time with such circumstantiality as to appear true, that Senator Voorhees intends, as soon as congress convenes, to either introduce a free silver coinage bill or give vigorous support to one introduced by somebody else.

No elaboration is necessary to illustrate the absurdity of such a step upon the part of the chairman of the finance committee. He knows better than any other man that even if such a measure was passed by congress it would not be signed any sooner by Mr. Cleveland than if it were a death warrant for the president of the United States.

The Indiana senator is said to be suffering a great deal just now over the gloomy outlook of his future political career, and almost any proposition which he might make would cause little surprise to his intimate personal friends in Washington, but to support a free coinage bill so early after his recent performance would be so bold a presumption upon the intelligence of his Hoosier constituents as to call for an immediate rebuke.

Whatever the senator may do now to reconcile his greenback and flat followers to the unlimited coinage of silver.

Hot One for Hoax. There is yet hope for such silver men as William Jennings Bryan. The fact that he antagonizes the anti-silver policy of the president is said to not surely seal his doom as an official factor in congress.

Secretary Smith changed the subject. It will be remembered that he was a free silver man and so was William Jennings Bryan. The appointments of William W. Quinton, Thomas S. Bratton, Dean C. Howard, Alexander S. Porter and William H. Wilson to the cabinet of President McKinley, are announced.

TRAIN ROBBERS SURROUNDED

Iron Mountain Bandits Being Hotly Pursued in Arkansas.

BLOODHOUNDS CLOSE ON THE OUTLAWS

Several Skirmishes Engaged In Between the Officers and the Gang—Two of the Members Captured and in Jail.

BAZEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 5.—The two train robbers captured yesterday afternoon are in jail and there is no reasonable doubt as to their guilt. One, who gives his name as Billy Lemons, but who is believed to be the notorious outlaw Billy Dulan, is undoubtedly the leader of the gang who went down the aisles of the car relieving the passengers of their valuables.

The posse in pursuit of the four men still at large came up on them at an early hour this morning two miles from Jamestown, and a lively running fight ensued. The bandits were forced to abandon their horses and flee to their heels. They also abandoned several overcoats, a pistol and a lot of jewelry.

The news of the skirmish created great excitement here. Brawny mountaineers with Winchester hurried to the scene, and men women and children eagerly watched all day for the arrival of cowboys.

Fired on the Bloodhounds. A telephone message was received from Jamestown that the pursuing bloodhounds were shot of by the robbers and that they were firing at the hounds. At 2 p. m. an abandoned horse was found five miles from this city. The saddle was perforated with bullets and the horse badly wounded.

The bandits were making for the White river bottoms on foot and are tonight corralled in the caves along the banks of that stream. At least 100 men are out and it is thought to be impossible for the bandits to escape.

The skirmish which took place in the afternoon Jack Wackerly, who has been charged with the robbery, was arrested. He was taken to the jail and is being held in the city.

Contraband Cargo of the Cabo Michieaco Steamship Caused the Terrible Disaster—Vivid Description of an Eyewitness.

Copyright 1888 by the Associated Press. MADRID, Nov. 5.—The terrible disaster which has wrecked the port of Santander and destroyed hundreds of lives has sent a thrill of horror throughout Spain. Telegraphic communication with the death and fire-stricken locality has not been reopened, the particulars concerning the horrible calamity reaching here in dribs and drabs by a roundabout way, such as dispatches from outlying towns.

The Associated press, however, is enabled to furnish what is regarded in this capital as a complete story of the disaster, so far as is known. Every piece of news which reaches Madrid not only confirms the most sensational reports, but pictures the disaster in more vivid colors than hitherto portrayed. The story of this great disaster in brief, as gathered for the Associated press, is as follows:

Details of the Disaster. The Cabo Michieaco, a Spanish steamship belonging to Bilbao, caught fire at about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon while the steamer was alongside the quay discharging part of her cargo, which comprised nearly 3,000 tons of merchandise, though the main part of this cargo was iron ore and a number of sacks of flour, barrels of wine, many cases of petroleum and over 500 cases of dynamite, of which only twenty cases were designated on the steamer's manifest. The remaining 480 cases of dynamite were contraband, and to the shame of the shippers of this contraband dynamite, it has caused immense loss of life and property.

The fire was first discovered in the coal bunkers and is said to have been due either to spontaneous combustion or to some carelessness upon the part of the engineers or firemen. In any case, flames broke out from the bunkers at about the hour mentioned and soon raged so fiercely as to be beyond control of the ship's crew, though the latter promptly took steps to smother the fire.

City Authorities Notified. Finally, seeing the fire spreading in the bunkers and that the smoke was driving the crew from below, the local authorities were notified, the fire department and a detachment of the civic guards being sent to the scene. Leading municipal authorities headed the firemen and guards in the effort to save the steamer.

The prefect of the harbor, who was one of the first to reach the spot, displayed the greatest activity in directing the operations, and upon learning that the ship's manifest showed that there were twenty cases of dynamite on board, the firemen were directed to assist the crew in bringing this quantity of explosive matter ashore. This was done in safety. It is believed that no more dynamite remained on board, and a tug which had been hastily summoned to the spot was ordered to tow the burning vessel out into the bay in order that the flames might not communicate to the wharf and to adjoining property, which was of a decidedly combustible nature, many of the buildings consisting of rickety old houses which a few sparks might set on fire.

Thousands Crowded the Quay. In the meantime thousands of people crowded down to the quay and thronged the promenade about it attracted by the fire, for the blaze from the bunkers soon acted as a beacon, which guided large numbers of the inhabitants toward the water's edge, anxious to see this novel sight. News was soon spread throughout the town that the civic guards had succeeded in removing the dynamite in a struggle on the quay with a conflagration which threatened to destroy a large steamship. The fire from the ship's bunkers spread quickly and ignited the petroleum which formed part of the cargo, which the authorities had for some reason or other failed to remove when the twenty cases of dynamite were taken ashore.

About 4:30 p. m. a detonation was heard, as it afterwards turned out, that the bunkers had burst, and soon after there was another terrible detonation heard. As a result of the Explosion. The steamer seemed to open in half, sending a blaze of fire skyward over which a crown of smoke rested for several minutes. A report of such awful intensity was heard that it shook the earth for miles around, caused houses to fall, and every window pane within the radius of a mile rattled, filled the air with a mass of flying iron, burning wood, blackened timbers and scorched beams which soon after fell, a death dealing hail, upon the neighboring houses, scattering death and destruction wherever they crashed downward.

The scene following the blowing up of the steamer is almost indescribable and the effect of the explosion of these 480 cases of dynamite will hardly be believed. The power of the explosive shot tons of iron into the air, where it mingled with the burning fragments of the steamship, tug and wooden quay, as well as with the mangled bodies of hundreds of the unfortunate people who were hurled and flung in every direction. The force of this horrible mass can be better imagined than described.

Scene of a Panic. Over the adjoining buildings, tottering with wreckage, fell a shower of iron followed by huge pieces of wood and the remains of human bodies, and above all dropped flaming splinters which set fire to hundreds of buildings, causing a scene of panic similar, one would imagine, to the one which would have succeeded the bursting forth of a volcano at the water's edge.

The force of the exploding dynamite caused such a concussion that, in addition to shaking thousands of buildings of their foundations, it actually sank a small craft in the harbor in addition to setting fire to hundreds of buildings, causing a scene of panic similar, one would imagine, to the one which would have succeeded the bursting forth of a volcano at the water's edge.

New Tariff Measure Being Framed Without Radical Alteration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—There is a growing impression among those who have talked with a majority of the members of the committee on ways and means, who are preparing a tariff bill, that this bill will not present such a radical reduction as was promised some time ago.

The deficiency in the revenue is estimated at $24,000,000 additional money.
