

PENT FAST LIVES

Victims of the Ruin and Downfall of Three Minneapolis Young Men.

THEY COULD NOT STAND PROSPERITY

Several Fortunes Dissipated in High and Riotous Living.

PRINCIPALS IN A BIG BANK ROBBERY

Louis and Frank Floyd and Phil Scheig's Dishonest Schemes.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Arrest of One.

New York, Nov. 9.—The arrest in this city of Louis Floyd of Minneapolis, Minn., on Wednesday by two of Inspector McLaughlin's men, charged with being a party to the $60,000 robbery from the Bank of Minneapolis on September 2, will probably bring to a close the knavish career of one of the three artists in the act. The other two charged with the robbery, Phil Scheig and Frank Floyd, a brother of the other Floyd now under arrest awaiting the arrival of Minneapolis detectives with requisition papers, are on board the steamer Spree, bound for Southampton. They will be arrested upon their arrival and brought back here.

Made a Confession. When arraigned before Justice Meade at the Tombs police court today, Louis Floyd made a full confession and gave information as to the whereabouts of his brother and Scheig. The three young men have had careers that do not often fall to the lot of men.

The father of the Floyd boys died their lives had been uneventful. At his death they received $70,000, which they spent within nine months, besides spending the greater portion of $30,000 which was left to Mrs. Floyd. No sooner was the father buried than the young men became men about town in the free sense of the word. Their first move was to furnish an apartment in gorgeous style, and about that time they met Phil Scheig, who was then employed as paying teller in the Bank of Minneapolis. Scheig was a man of about 35, like a man with $25,000 a year and his actions created considerable talk. The three men became fast friends. About this time Scheig was known to have a large sum of a fortune of nearly $1,000,000. This was Frank Byers, then about 19 years of age. Most of his money was in the hands of Scheig in trust, and of course Scheig was in a position to know all about his financial condition. In addition to what money he knew of, Byers had an open account which he drew against.

Taken Up by the Floyds. He, too, was taken up by the Floyd brothers, and for a time the quartet lived at the Floyd apartment. The four had a box of jewelry, and they made a splendid and lavish display of money and jewelry among their friends among both sexes were added to their list.

Some one of the four was almost always in trouble, but influence and the money they could command always served to quiet anything of an unpleasant nature. By persons in a position to know it is stated that the Floyds, after going through his own fortune, signed young Byers' name to a check, and that Scheig, as teller, would cash the check. It was in this way that the money was being drawn out. Byers was neglected to a considerable extent. When the $50,000 loss was first discovered it was thought to cover the entire amount of the check and admissions by Louis Floyd go to show a scheme to defraud English banks was about to be worked.

It Was a Smooth Scheme. Scheig, it is alleged, before he left the bank for not several drafts and put the certification stamp upon them, marking the stubs void. It was then intended to have Frank Floyd fill in the drafts to any amount desired, and then to have Scheig, under the name of Scheig, carried away with him considerable of the bank's letter heads, and being familiar with the secret cipher used for identification, would be an easy matter to have several drafts cashed before the fraud became known.

Another method of securing funds was to have Frank Floyd who possessed a large amount of personal magnetism, visit the nearby cities and make friends with swell young men. He went to the apartments and invite everybody to visit them. When any one did come, and not a few took advantage of the invitation, Scheig would be introduced to the name of poker, where marked cards, mirrors and every other device known to swindlers at play would be used. In this way they managed to make considerable money.

Scheig, the principal in the robbery, is the son of a prominent Minneapolis man. A few years ago he married a girl who had a fortune through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

FIGHTING ARSH FREN.

Big Blaze Near La Porte, Ind., Which Threatens Great Destruction.

LA PORTE, Ind., Nov. 9.—The big marshes bordering the Kankakee river are on fire and an immense sea of flames is carrying destruction in its path. The fire threatens to sweep over the tracks of the Lake Erie & Western railway and burn over a large contiguous tract. Several hundred men are battling the flames.

Troops Searching for Lost Hunters.

YANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. 9.—A detachment of troops from the Fourth Cavalry has left here for the Blitter Root mountains, Montana, to search for General Carlin's squad and a party of five who left Spokane on a hunting expedition six weeks ago and are now two weeks overdue. It is supposed the party is snowbound at the head of the Clearwater lake.

Killed His Man.

St. Louis, Nov. 9.—James I. Collins, head bartender at the East St. Louis Jockey club track, was shot and killed last evening at the east approach to the Eads bridge, by

MR. CLEVELAND AND HAWAII

Rumors Concerning His Policy Toward the Islands Leak Out.

ANNEXATION IS OUT OF THE QUESTION

It is Intimated He Favors Restoring the Deposed Queen to Power—Difficulties Met With in Dealing with the Question.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The discussion of the policy toward Hawaii at the cabinet meeting on Tuesday seems to have given information to some members of the administration that have leaked it heretofore. Bits of talk on the subject have trickled through to the public since then in a way that does not indicate that the source of the information is friendly to the policy. It is evident it is not a policy friendly to the present provisional government of the islands or the purpose for which it was formed, which was annexation to the United States. There is reason to believe that the present provisional government in Hawaii is regarded as the result of a land grab by marines from the Boston to Honolulu at the time of the revolution, and, as already stated in these dispatches, the desire of this administration is to go back over all the steps taken by the last administration and undo them.

Difficulties in the Way. Well informed people who comment on these facts point out the difficulty for the United States government in disposing of the provisional government in a diplomatic way. The United States has no diplomatic agent in the Hawaiian Islands. The law of the United States does not recognize the provisional government of the islands, and the United States minister has not been given the power to exercise anything more than a moral influence to secure a re-establishment of the conditions in the islands that obtained before the recent revolution. If there is practical unanimity among those well acquainted with the islands that no moral mission will be undertaken by the provisional government and re-establish the queen the further policy will then probably wait for further instructions.

ANNIE PIXLEY DEAD.

Wait of the Sierras Finally Cleared Beyond the Stage Forever. Copyrighted 1893 by James Gordon Bennett. LONDON, Nov. 9.—New York Herald Cable.—Special to THE BEE.—Annie Pixley died last night. She was unconscious during the last ten days of her life, and passed quietly and peacefully away. Her death will be cremated Saturday at the Working crematory, and her ashes will be taken later by her husband to London, Ont., and placed in the grave of their child, who is buried at that place.

D. W. Haynes of the Boyd, in speaking of Annie Pixley's death, said: "I regret to hear it. While Miss Pixley was at the hospital she was attended by the doctor, and her ashes will be taken later by her husband to London, Ont., and placed in the grave of their child, who is buried at that place."

Howard Powers of Barlow Bros' ministry, now playing at the Erie street theater, said: "Annie Pixley was unfortunate, like Kate Claxton, in losses by fire. She had her wardrobe destroyed several times, and she was a devotee of hotels and theaters. She has lately been playing a piece called the 'Deacon's Daughters,' but she is best associated in public memory with 'The Girl in the Red Coat,' a theatrical production."

GIVING HIM A FAIR TRIAL.

Kentucky Court House Filled with Troops to Protect a Negro Prisoner. Louisville, Nov. 9.—A special from Bardonia says: Shortly before 10 o'clock this morning the negro Evans was taken from the jail by the soldiers and escorted to the court house to stand trial for his crime. Most of the day was consumed in securing a jury.

There was a large crowd present and the trial was held in the afternoon. The jury was fixed by lottery and ready at a moment's notice to quiet any disturbance. It is the general opinion here that should the jury fix a verdict of not guilty, or fix the punishment at anything but death, there will surely be trouble. Court adjourned late this afternoon until tomorrow after several witnesses have been examined, and the trial will be resumed.

Edna Hall, Evans' victim, in a serious condition, and the horrible fright she received seems to have unbalanced her mind. At times she is hysterical, and at other times she is calm. Her condition is such that she is unable to give a full and true account of the facts of the case.

It was a smooth scheme. Scheig, it is alleged, before he left the bank for not several drafts and put the certification stamp upon them, marking the stubs void. It was then intended to have Frank Floyd fill in the drafts to any amount desired, and then to have Scheig, under the name of Scheig, carried away with him considerable of the bank's letter heads, and being familiar with the secret cipher used for identification, would be an easy matter to have several drafts cashed before the fraud became known.

Another method of securing funds was to have Frank Floyd who possessed a large amount of personal magnetism, visit the nearby cities and make friends with swell young men. He went to the apartments and invite everybody to visit them. When any one did come, and not a few took advantage of the invitation, Scheig would be introduced to the name of poker, where marked cards, mirrors and every other device known to swindlers at play would be used. In this way they managed to make considerable money.

Scheig, the principal in the robbery, is the son of a prominent Minneapolis man. A few years ago he married a girl who had a fortune through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

Starting Developments His Career. MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 9.—Now that Scheig, the ascending teller of the Bank of Minneapolis, is to be brought back, it is rumored that some one has taken considerable notice through his secret marriage to Miss Louise Barge, the youngest daughter of Millionaire Barge of Minneapolis, and again by his being introduced to the society of the rich by gamblers while playing a game of cards. His loss soon became public talk, and it was thought that Scheig would be arrested with the bank, but it did not.

HORRORS OF A SHIPWRECK

Terrible Sufferings Endured by a Party of Spanish Sailors.

THEIR MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH

Hunted by Wind and Wave for Three Days, the Survivors of the Jan Murgu are Rescued in an Almost Dying Condition.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Three shipwrecked seamen from the Spanish bark Jan Murgu arrived in port last evening on the schooner Henry Light from Turks Island. The rescued mariners are Antonio Crimen, Luigi Peris and Pedro Napolitano, who were picked up in mid-ocean entirely nude after undergoing sufferings that almost made them crazy. They had seen seven of their comrades perish. The remaining two were taken off the wreck by the steamship Lampas and landed at Galveston October 19. The Murgu was caught in a terrible northeast hurricane on October 6. The crew took to the rigging, where they firmly lashed themselves. The provisions were washed overboard with the water, leaving the men with nothing but their own strength to sustain them.

The cargo swelled and burst the decks asunder. Ten days the crew hung on to the long boat, while the rest of the men remained on the bark in preference to going in the overcrowded boat, and were thereby saved. The crew took to the rigging, where they firmly lashed themselves. The provisions were washed overboard with the water, leaving the men with nothing but their own strength to sustain them.

Must Devote His Time to His Office. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Commissioner Miller of the internal revenue bureau today sent a letter to Mr. Murphy, collector of internal revenue for the Milwaukee, Wis., district, which, it is believed, outlines the policy of the government as to the land grab by marines from the Boston to Honolulu at the time of the revolution, and, as already stated in these dispatches, the desire of this administration is to go back over all the steps taken by the last administration and undo them.

Recess Appointments. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The following are the recess appointments of those who failed of confirmation by the senate: Charles E. Davis of Mount Auburn, agent for Indians of the Colorado River agency in Arizona; Wooten of Laurel, Del., agent for Indians of the Nevada agency in Nevada; George Harper of Carrollton, Utah; and Guy Bryan of St. Louis, assessor in Chicago of the United States.

No Danger of an Uprising. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Indian commissioner this morning received a telegram from Captain Babu, Indian agent at Colville, Wash., who has just made an investigation of the alleged troubles at Harrison, Idaho. Captain Babu says there is no danger of a native uprising in that region.

Ratified the New Treaty. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Ratifications of the extradition treaty between the United States and Sweden and Norway were yesterday deposited in the department of State and Minister Gripp. The provisions of the treaty, which have been published, will go into effect thirty days from the date of exchange.

Relief for the Storm Sufferers. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—It is understood Secretary Carlisle will recommend to congress an appropriation of $2,500,000 to reimburse lighthouse employees of Georgia and South Carolina who suffered from the recent cyclone.

Tobacco Manufacturers Object. They Do Not Desire an Increased Tax Put on Their Goods. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The committee appointed by the tobacco manufacturers to appear before the ways and means committee had a hearing this afternoon. Mr. Spence of Cincinnati said they represented eighty of the most prominent manufacturers, and had been unanimously instructed to state that any increase of the tax on manufactured tobacco would be inimical to the interests of both the manufacturers and the consumers, because of the lessening of the consumption. The committee recommended that if any legislation whatever be enacted to repeal the law of 1892, it should include the repeal of the law of 1891, so as to maintain the status quo.

Resignation Demanded. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The resignation of Horace W. Byington, secretary of the California department of agriculture, has been accepted by Secretary Carlisle.

Revolutionary Forces Meet Government Troops. (Copyrighted 1893 by James Gordon Bennett.) MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (via Galveston, Tex.), Nov. 9.—(By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald—Special to THE BEE.)—News has been received from the Herald correspondent in Rio Grande do Sul of a skirmish between the revolutionary forces and the contingent of government troops in Santa Anna. After a long fight, lasting more than an hour, the government troops retreated.

A body of 2,000 revolutionary troops, under command of Peripeiro, Saravia, Mea and Tigre, are now twenty leagues from Desterro. A battle with the government forces is expected, as the revolutionists propose to maintain, if possible, the independence of the state of Santa Catarina, while Peripeiro's troops will try to regain a foothold there and drive out the provisional government established by Melo.

Minister Monteiro has received a telegram announcing that important events may be expected in Desterro. General Argollo has arrived in command of Peripeiro's forces.

Situation in Rio Changed. The Herald's correspondent in Rio de Janeiro sends word that the situation in the city is unchanged. The city is in a constant state of alarm, owing to the constant fire to which it has been subjected. The bodies of the British officers killed in the explosion on Isla Gobernadores have not yet been recovered.

Recent arrivals from Rio say that Melo is gradually losing ground. Revolutionists here assert that Melo is amply provided with provisions, ammunition and funds sufficient to carry on the fight a year. The provisional government has been established in a prolific source of income.

The agent of the revolutionists in Rio Grande do Sul contradicts the official reports alleging the ratification of that disturbed state. They say that their forces are again concentrating to renew the siege of Bago.

Investigating the Case. LA LIBERTAD, Salvador, (via Galveston, Tex.), Nov. 9.—(By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald—Special to THE BEE.)—Officers of the United States warship Albatross were taken the testimony of officers and passengers of the steamer Costa Rica, regarding the firing on that vessel by Honduras while flying the American flag, because her captain refused to surrender Policarpo Bonilla. The Alliance will take Minister Young to Anapala. Minister Baker goes to the capital.

Utah Lining Up with the East. SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—Almost complete returns show that Utah will probably wheel into the republican line, as the democratic majority of last year has been greatly reduced in the mining and country districts where free silver, free land and free wood have been the rallying cries of republicanism. Bingham, the democratic stronghold, cast a straight popular vote on the legislative ticket. Salt Lake went liberal or non-committal, the municipal election went against the citizens' ticket against the liberal, but the republicans had no members in the last legislature, but will now control the house and probably the council.

Mrs. Palmer Seeking Advice. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Mary Smith, assistant register of the treasury, has received a letter from Mrs. Potter Palmer, president of the board of lady managers of the World's fair, asking advice as to what action she shall pursue in dealing with the refractory members of the women's board. Since the enforced retirement of Miss Phoebe from the office of secretary, the board has been divided by rival factions and a good deal of wrangling has occurred at the various meetings. Mrs. Palmer has advised Mrs. Palmer to advise her to effect a harmonious settlement. Mrs. Palmer is expected in Washington in January. A preliminary report of the accounts of the women's department has been received at the treasury, but has not been approved up to the present time by the secretary.

For-ign Mail Service. WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The report of the superintendent of the foreign mail service was presented today. The most important feature is the criticism which it makes of

VICTIMS OF BRAVERY

Awful Price Paid by the Matabele for Their Opposition to the English.

THOUSANDS OF THEIR WARRIORS SLAIN

Their Efforts to Slay the Aggressive Whites Prove Fruitless.

DEFEATED IN ANOTHER GREAT BATTLE

Mowed Down Like Wheat Before the Fire of Machine Guns.

PARLIAMENT DISCUSSES THE AFFAIR

Labouchere Asks Some Pertinent Questions of the Government—He Denounces the Methods Pursued in Matabeleland—The War Denounced.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from Fort Victoria from Dr. Jameson says another battle has been fought between the British forces and 7,000 Matabele. According to his statement only three were killed and seven wounded of the British force, while 1,000 Matabele perished and a complete rout was accomplished.

A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Fort Victoria says that Dr. Jameson telegraphed to Premier Chamberlain at noon on November 1 from Bulawayo saying that the Matabele had again attacked the colonists. The attack was made immediately after the inager (camp) was formed at the head waters of the Imbembesi river. The Matabele force numbered 7,000 men and was composed of the regiments which attacked the company's troops near the Shangani river on October 4, but the Matabele had been reinforced by two royal regiments, the Imbeli and Indalo, which did most of the fighting. The attack lasted an hour, at the end of which time the enemy was in complete rout, losing quite 1,000 killed. Dr. Jameson adds that the loss of the British was only six killed and seven wounded.

Deserted the English. The correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company at Cape Town writes that after a skirmish between the Matabele and the native allies under Chief Khama, four men killed and eight wounded, Khama, with his 1,700 followers, left the British on the pretext that he was afraid of small pox and returned to his capital, Palalpe. But for a subsequent victory the desertion of the allies would doubtless have resulted in serious consequences.

Discussed in Parliament. It is reported here that the British have won another victory over the Matabele. The names of the Matabele who have been captured is unconfirmed. On the contrary, Mr. Sidney Buxton, parliamentary secretary for the colonial office, read in the House of Commons today a message from Sir Henry Loke, high commissioner to the marquis of Ripon, secretary of state for the colonies, saying that Major Good-Adams had reported to him, under date of November 6, as follows:

"Yesterday Matabele sent an asking for protection and stating that the column from the east was in possession of Bulawayo. King Lobengula and Yambo have fled and his large army has also fled toward the Gwal river. Messages from Major Adams have reached me confirming the above. I am starting with my column for Bulawayo immediately."

Mr. Buxton added that the news was satisfactory and that he hoped there would be no other hostilities.

Mr. Labouchere moved to adjourn in order to call attention to the Matabele campaign. He was supported by nearly all the radicals below the gangway and by the anti-Parnellites, who rose in their seats.

Condemned by Labouchere. Mr. Labouchere says he moved to call attention to the bad policy of permitting the Chartered company to establish any claim in connection with the security of the government of Matabeleland or to continue the warlike operations in the territory. He reviewed at length the action of the company, which was strongly condemned. Mr. Labouchere contended that hostilities against the Matabele were deliberately declared for the purpose of aggression. The taxpayers' money was being spent in order to enable the company to get something in order to swindle and cheat British investors. Steps ought to be taken immediately to stop the filibustering and massing now being practised by the company.

Mr. Buxton replied that it was not advisable to make a premature statement of the government's policy. The company, however, was also answerable for the peace of the Mashonas and not the government. With reference to the charge that the company had forced the way to Matabeleland, Mr. Buxton said that it was inevitable that the Matabele would eventually be absorbed, peacefully or otherwise. Judgment upon the shooting of Lobengula's envoys ought to be suspended until the result of the inquiry had been made known.

Had Not a Free Hand. The government agreed that the war ought not to degenerate into a war of extermination or in the annihilation of the Matabele. The government had not a free hand in the matter, as it was tied by the acts of its predecessors, which could not be ignored. The Matabele and Mashonas were included in the company's charter without distinction. The government is also bound in mind that but for the company it would have lost this portion of Africa. The government would deal with the question with due regard to the rights of the natives, the company and the empire.

Mr. Balfour said the present government could not disclaim responsibility for the war. As a member of the late government, which conferred the powers upon the company, he was more than ever convinced of the wisdom of that policy.

Gladstone's Reply. Mr. Gladstone said that the government did not desire to be associated with what had occurred in Matabeleland. He did not agree with the statement that the company had tried to swindle the British public. The company had met with great difficulties, owing to the Matabele raids, which were a source of serious danger to new industries in Mashonaland. Mr. Labouchere was wrong in assuming that King Lobengula was master in his own country. On the contrary, the younger men had forced the king's hand and the government was forced to demand that he maintain peace and prevent further raids. The government could not

ON THE WAR PATH

Mexican Indians Attack and Sack a Border Town.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

THEY WERE VERY SMOOTH SWINDLERS

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.

Scheig's Position in a Bank Enabled Him to Work His nefarious Schemes for a Time Unsuspected.