CHIEF NICHOLSON ET AL NOT INDICTED

There Was Not Suffeient Evidence Pre sented to Hold the Alteged Firebugs -Lucky Ben Webber-Those Who Were Held for Trial, port yesterday and handed in three indictments. None of them contain the names of Ben Webber, Miles Schoffeld, Charles Nichelson, James O'Brien or P. Kirkendall, for these men were all discharged upon an examination of the case as it was presented to the jury. Webber was the only one of the accused whose testimony was taken, and he will probably be one of the most surprised people in town to learn of his good luck. As is well remembered, he made a clean breast of the whole affair when he was caught carrying a lot of waste saturated with oil, which he expected to use in setting fire to the old marble shop on East Broadway. He confessed not only for himself, but for several of his comrades who he claimed had been implicated in a conspiracy to burn buildings. He even went so far as to say that he knew he would go over the road, but he would see to it that he took some of his friends along with him. His disappointment will doubtless be great when he learns that the ex-pected trip will not materialize, either for himself or his friends.

Escaped on a Technicality. He escaped on a mere technicality. Nicholson and the rest of the crowd were not in-dicted because there was not sufficient evidence, the jury thought, to implicate them in the crime. The law provides that in order to be indicted for attempt to commit arson the accused must have set fire to a building or to some material with intent to cause such building to be burned. Web-ber was not caught setting fire to the building, he was merely walking about with some olled waste within ten feet of a building which had been set on fire twice before that same night within an hour. Attempt to com-mit arson was consequently out of the question. The charge of conspiracy was the only one that was left, and that was also out of the question, from the fact that there was no evidence, either from Webber's confes-sion or elsewhere to connect him with the attempts that had been made previously that night. The whole outfit was consequently turned loose. C. A. Murray was indicted for the larceny of $6 from Mrs. Jacob Howarth's till. Mary of 80 from Mrs. Jacob Howarth's till. Mary Baker was indicted for assault with intent to commit great bodily injury in firing a gun at her sister. Mrs. Henderson. "Swede Henry" Anderson and his son Pete were in-dicted for attempting to work the lock game on J. F. Logan, a Missouri Valley farmer. The following were discharged: James Bauchn charged with assisting Cora Reed Haughn, charged with assisting Cora Reed to escape from the county jall; Marx Barn-holt, charged with embezzling $25 from Clara

Toward the last we consulted with four physicians, three of whom are of Council Bluffs and one of Omaha. From the first there was no disagreement as to the character of the tumor, and they all agreed that nothing could save her but an operation with the knife. When they told her that she re fused to submit and gave up to die Then I went and called on Dr. Pangle. He told me he could not say anything until he had seen her. He examined her, but did not ask a question, and told her what ailed her. He said he could remove the tumor in six weeks without the knife, and he did it. In that length of time my wife was -up and around and last Sunday she walked two miles, which she has not done for more than ten years. Marvels of the Microscope, A local scientist of some little repute recently made some experiments with the Sweetland remedies, especially the medicine that has accomplished such wonderful results in cases of cancer and kindred blood diseases. The effort was to discover what effect it would have upon microscopic forms of animal and vegetable life. For the first experi-ment a bit of yeast or "sponge," just The grand jury made its first and last rebefore it was moulded out for baking, was placed on the plate of the micro-scope and softened by a drop of warm water. It was in a luxuriant stage of vegetation and the conditions were just right for the full and rapid development of the yeast plant. It is a very beautiful experiment, well worth trying. The microscope, magnifying 125 diameters, magnifies motion as well form, and the growth of vegetation in yeast, almost rapid enough to be seen with the naked eye, develops astonishing activity under the microscope. The little fibers and tendrils shoot out in every direction, branch and rebranch, often so rapidly the eye can scarcely follow them, until within a few moments a little forest, as beautiful and delicate as a fairy realm, of interlacing boughs, frills, tendrils and delicate lacework grows up beneath your eye. When the little forest was at its most luxuriant stage of vegetation the experimenter touched the mass with a drop of the Sweetland medicine. A blast from the infernal regions could not have wrought greater havoc. Instantly the fibers shrunk back and curied up and the beautiful forest, which a moment before was quivering with exuberant and extravagant life, faded away into a dull, gray mass of absolutely dead mat-

On almost every fly, toward the end of the summer, are bright little red specks, clustering around the roots of his wings and on his back where he cannot reach them. They are parasites whose object in life seems to be to make the existence of the fly unpleasant and to eventually kill it. In a mass they can be readily seen by the naked eye, but the individuals can only be detected by the sharpest eyesight. One of these parasites was placed under the glass. spectacle afforded is also worth the experiment. Magnified 100 times the parasite becomes a dreadful looking monster, blood-red in color and translucent. He has no means of locomotion, but is provided with minute suckers, like a cuttle-fish which enable him to hold on and suck the blood from his prey. In form the monster bears an as-tonishing resemblance to a cancer, as it appears fully developed and eating away the life of a human being. Its shape, color and general character are so nearly like the rose or spider cancer that at first thought one would declare that the relation between them could not be any less than positive and direct. Medical science may yet discover that there is something more than a similarity of appearance be-tween them, and that this almost invisible mite, that is frequently dropping into our food and drink, is the real and original germ of cancer. When the microscopist had examined the monster until the sight of him produced a shiver he put a drop of the Sweetland cancer fluid upon him. Instantly something happened. For the smallest fraction of color faded to an opaque brown, and in to less than half his former size, wa

AFTER MONTHS OF SUFFERING.

Death of D. M. West, a Promising Young Lawyer-Resolutions of Respect.

David M. West, one of the well known young lawyers of the city, died Friday evening at his home, 421 South First street, after an illness of several months. He went to Chicago five weeks ago yesterday, after consulting all local physicians in vain, in the hope of gaining assistance in his fight for life with the dreaded disease of cancer. The doctors he consulted there could not give him any encouragement to hope for six months of life. Since his return home he has been patiently waiting the end in a way that bespoke his entire preparation for it. For some days past he has been continually under the influence of opiates. The Pottawattamic County Bar association held a large meeting yesterday afternoon at the court house. Speeches were made by Judge Walter I. Smith, C. M. Harl, C. G. Saun-ders, S. B. Snyder and L. W. Ross, all of whom paid high tributes to the honor a the close resolutions were adopted and a committee of ten members of the association was appointed to attend the funeral. The committee consists of Hon. Walter I. Smith, Hon. J. E. F. McGee, Hon. L. W. Ross, Charles M. Harl, C. G. Saunders, Emmet Tinley, S. B. Snyder, J. J. Stewart, Jacob Sims and W. E. His Biography.

David Miliard West was born at Cedar Falls, Ia., October 2, 1863. He spent his boyhood on the farm in Black Hawk county, Iowa, with his parents, who were pioneers in that region. Upon the neath of his father, when he was but 14 years of age, he set out in the world to battle for himself. He was very desirous of obtaining an education and in the fall of 1880 had succeeded in preparing himself and saving sufficient means to enter Iowa college at Grinnell. Here he remained for the period of five years, maintaining him-self for the most part by working out of school hours, setting type and doing odd jobs, graduating with high honors June 24, 1885. In college he manifested a great deal of ability in literary and forensic work and was awarded first honors at the college oratorical contest in 1885. He was sent as the college representative to the state oratorical contest and was awarded second honors there. After quitting college he entered upon the study of law and was admitted to the Douglas county, Nebraska, bar in the fall of 1887. A year later he was admitted before the supreme court of lows and chose Council Bluffs as his location. He entered the practice of law alone, and so remained until January 1, 1891, when the firm of Wheeler & West was formed, in which he remained a partner until the time of his decease. He partner until the time of his decease. He was married on the 20th day of April, 1892, at Davenport. Ia., to Miss Emma A. Watts of that city. He leaves surviving him two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Rawlinson of Homer. III; Mrs. Agnew of Newton, Kan.; O. C. West of Des Moines, Ia., and Joel W. West of Omaha, Neb.

The remains will be taken to Davenport. Ia. for interment. The funeral will be held at the late residence, 421 south First street, Council Bluts, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. Phelps officiating.

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS.

How the Gay World of Council Bluffs Bas Mauaged to Pass the Week. The past week has been notable for some of the most pleasant social events that have ever taken place here. One of the most enloyable, as well as one of the most brilliant, was the reception given last Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. J. N. Casady at her home, 235 Oakland avenue, in honor of her daughter, Mrs. J. N. Casady, jr. Tho married tadies were invited from 2 o'clock until 4 and the young ladies from 4 until 6, about 200 guests being present in all. Chrysanthemums formed the main article of decoration, the colors pink and white being used in adorning the drawing room and yellow and white the dining room. Prof. Burt Butler's orchestra furnished excellent music throughout the afternoon. Miss Clara Evans and Miss Ida Casady presided over the refreshment table.

Silver Wedding. Rev. and Mrs. S. Alexander of the Second Presbyterian church of this city celebrated at their home on Broadway and Nicholas streets on Tuesday afternoon and evening the twenty-fifth anniversary of their mar-riage. A large number of ladies and gentlemen, representing some of the best families of the city, were present, offering their congratulations. A delightful time was had by all concerned. Many valuable presents were bestowed in honor of the occasion, among them being a large "heart" mande of metal, with the inscription "I. O. O. F." chased upon it and containing many silver dollars and other coins, the gift of the Odd Fellows of the city, of which order Mr. Alexander is a member. He is also chaptain of lodge 49. The home was nicely decorated and illumi-nated and all seemed to be as gay as a mar-riage bell. Refreshments were generously erved to all callers.

Mr. Alexander, and his family have lived here for nearly seven years and they have a very large acquaintance. All their friends wish them many returns of the anniversary

Mrs. Alexander does not lay claim to rare genius as a poet, but she gratified her taste for writing verse by dedicating a poem to her husband commemorative of the occasion. It was read at the reception and its author received many congratulations on the happy vein in which it was written. Misses Oliver and Bennett Entertain. Miss Maude Oliver and Miss Georgia Bennett entertained eighty of their young lady friends last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Bennett, corner of Willow avenue and Bluff street. The Bennett mansion, which is admirably adapted for social events, was thrown open to the guests, and several hours were most enjoyably spent in playing high five and other amusements. Pink and white were the ruling colors, the rooms being decorated in these colors, and even the refreshments were of the prevailing iues. The house was darkened and illuminated with pink and white lamps, whose rays shone down on a sea of roses, chrysanthemums, pretty faces and charming toilets. The first prize, a plate and afternoon cup and saucer of Napoleon ware, was awarded to Mrs. Cummings; the second, a plate of the same kind, to Miss Cora Farnsworth and the consolation prize, a bisque frog and a drum, bearing the inscription, This." to Mrs. E. E. Hart.

In the evening the young ladies enter tained about thirty of their lady and gentle men friends. High five and dancing were the amusements. T. C. Dawson carried off the first prize, a cup and saucer, and O. S Williams the consolation prize, a bisque frog playing the flute, a delicate allusion to what the recipient might be expected to do thereafter instead of playing high five.

New Hall Dedicated.

The dedicatory exercises of the new hall of Fidelity council, No. 155, Royal Arcanum, were held last Friday evening. The hall, which occupies the third floor of the Brown building, is one of the neatest and most at tractive in the city, the upper story of the building having been remodeled with the special end in view of furnishing just what the society wanted for a place for holding meetings, giving receptions, card parties banquets and the like. All the modern im provements are there, and the rooms, newly provements are there, and the rooms, newly papered and painted, presented a charming scene. The assembly room was filled with friends of the order Friday night when Master of Ceremonies F. B. Warner opened the entertainments. Rev. T. J. Mackay, an enthusiastic member of the order, now of Omaha, made the dedicatory address, and A. T. Flickinger and Grand Regent I. M. Treynor followed with short speeches. Rev. G. W. Crofts of Beatrice, Neb., read a poem, and Mrs. F. W. Lyons, Miss Sophia Gerne and Miss Frances Daily gave readings. Mis Olla Cook furnished piano music, and several selections were sung by the Dudley Buck male quartet, consisting of Messrs. I. M. Treynor, C. H. Ogden, J. H. Simms and W. L. Thickstun. All the numbers on the program were well received and the generous patromage showed that Fidelity council has as warm a place in the hearts of the public as it ever had.

Mrs. W. C. Boyer was tendered a surprise last Tuesday afternoon by a dozen members of Lily camp No. 1. Royal Neighbors of America, in honor of the eleventh anniver-sary of her marriage. She was presented with a fine tea set, after which luncheon Miss Bertha Bernhardi planned a sur-prise party for her sister, Miss Freda, in honor of her 19th birthday last Thursday evening at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bernhardi, 217 South First street. About twenty-five young people were present and the evening was passed pleasantly in various amusements. Con Men Recognized. Charles Brandt, a farmer living near Louisville, Neb., called at the city jail yesterday to take a look at Terence Fahey and Harry Hamilton, two confidence men who are charged with having "worked" him for $35 in Missouri Valley, giving him a bogus $720 check to hold as security for his hard eirned cash. The two men were ar-rested on suspicion, and have been occupying cells at the city jail ever since, while waiting for Brandt to come and identify them. The identification was complete, and Fahey and Hamilton recognized Brandt as readily, although probably not so joyfully, as Brandt recognized them. Both men were taken to Missouri Valley yesterday to submit to a preliminary hearing, and the chances are that they will both be sent to the penitentiary. the penitentiary.

Domestic soap is the best SNAKE IN A COURT ROOM.

Frank Carroll, a Notorious Blackley, Creates a Scene in the Midst of a Trial. It is not often that a snake appears in a court room, but when it does an interesting time may be looked for. Such an occurrence took place yesterday morning while Judge McGee was trying the case of Frank Carroll, Charles Jones and Monroe Jones his father, who are charged with trying t run the Ogden house to the exclusion of its rightful proprietor. The trial had been going on for some little time, and Carroll who was just coming out of a prolonged drunk, had been showing signs of uneasi-ness. Suddenly he jumped from his chair, gave a horrible scream and fell on the floor in a convuision. His face wore a look of abject horror, his limbs were stiff and his whole frame twitched convulsively. Some of the bystanders shouted that he was dead when he began to foam at the mouth and his throat to rattle and a doctor was called. After the convulsion had lasted about ten minutes Carroll came to himself and was helped to his feet, weak as a cat. He stated after he had regained conscious ness that he had seen a most horrible pic-ture, in which snakes, yellow-legged lizards. pitchers of drinking water and other horri-ble things had been mingled in a bloodcurding fashion. Judge McGee in the meantime had been knocked out by the sight of the fellow fighting off the imaginary reptiles and left the room. After it was all over he came back and announced that the case would be continued until Tuesday Heavy Snows in the West.

The reports this morning that there s a depth of from three to six feet of snow west and northwest of us and the worst kind of a blizzard still raging makes the discussion of shoes and comfortable foot coverings quite apropos. In the first place it has been a very unsatis factory season for shoe men, manufacturers especially, who have been fear-fully pinched in the panic. One of the largest shoe factories in the world, with a capital of $2,000,000 and liabilities of less than $200,000, failed about the first of September because they could not raise $11,000. This factory could have afforded to have given Uncle Isaac 2 per cent for money; they could have afforded to give $20,000 for the use of $10,000 for even a day. And they could afford to sell their goods at any sacrifice. This they did, and Evans has the most of them that came west. That's why he can make shoes an interesting topic just now. Come around tomorrow and get some prices and facts, and among other things get some shoes. You'd better take the hint instead of taking cold and medicine and other disagreeable things Nothing in the shoe line that Evans hasn't got. Rubber goods are higher this year, but they are better, and men's cork soles and ladies' extended soles are better and cheaper. At Evans' new store, 28 Main, 27 Pearl streets.

WHAT IT MEANS

METHODS THAT HEAL AND RESTORE.

Proper Medical Treatment at a Nominal Fee, Including All Medicines-Period of Treatment Reduced-No Such Thing as Instataneous Cures in Chronic Diseases.

There is no such thin; as instantaneous recovery from chronic disease. Under the Cope-land and Shepard system the old period of treatment is reduced one-half-still their low fee per month implies that, even under that admirable system, time is an indispensable factor. Drs. Copeland and Shepard know that though opium can quiet pain it cannot replace the shriveled arm, and that while quinine can quench fever fires it cannot rebuild the splendid human structure it has half the splendid human structure it has half burned down.

Says Dr. Shepard: "Emaciated individuals cannot fatten on pills. A drug is a gun. It is used to kill, not to feed. It is used on an enemy. It is used to neutralize the poisons of disease, but not as a heavenly manna, not as heavenly corn or sugar, to make us suddenly fat, where long sickness has made us lean, or suddenly strong, where long sickness has made us weak. Electricity is a powerful medicine, and thunder clouds are powerful batteries, but the withered tree cannot be made to turn green and blossom by a sport from the clouds, nor can the feeble invalid, shrunken like an apple, take on the colors of health again by any like miraculous medication."

health again by any like miraculous medication."

A light fee a month implies not only the use of medicines for counteracting the poisons of sickness, it implies the protective care necessary to the recovery of animal losses caused by the sickness.

Chronic limess implies all azonies and pains, all weariness and wretchedness, all anguish and all torture, but it also implies animal depletion and loss, bodily diminution and shrinkare. And the Copeland and Shepard system for the intelligent care of the sick, means that they must not only cease to be wasted, piliaged and destroyed, but that they must be made to recuperate, like plants that have been caten by parasites and Grained by sucking worms, and that recovery from the destruction already underzone shall proceed under projective treatment. It means that the physician must use his art, not only to neutralize poisons and bring bodily coolness and comfort where pain and fever rage and burn, but that he must maintain this condition and keep the body exempt from the active operation of disease till what is lost is restored—i.e., recovered. OUTSIDE PATIENTS.

Big Four Railway Official on Drs. Copeland and Shepard's New Lung Treatment. S. D. Bridges, of East St. Louis, Ill., general yardmaster Big Four Railroa!, speaks thus of his cure of chronic lung disease by Dr.

Copeland's splendid new system:

"Before commencing treatment with Dr. Copeland I had been sick for seventeen of the nineteen years I have been in the railroad business. My head, ears, throat, bronenial tubes, lungs and stomach were affected. It seemed at first like a chronic cold, but eventually it took on the shape of consumption. I could not sieep for the pain in my lungs. My throat was sore end raw all the time. I could searcely breathe at times for pains in the chest, side and back. I could hed steadily and was worn out with a duil pain in the back of my head. My stomach was sore and painful, and the sight of food made me sick.

"There were ringing and roaring sounds in my ears, and finally I became very deaf. My ears were affected for two years.

"As there are others who need help I wish to say that Dr. Copeland's spiendid new treatment made a new man of me. It stopped the headaches, all the pain that I suffered, made Copeiand's splendid new system:

At least two days in every week I had at trible slek headache that completely used me up. I got weak and could not work one-fourth of the time. This meant a good deal to a man with a family to support. When I say I lost thirty-five pounds in weight you will see that some-thing powerful had hold of me.
