Nebraska's First Lodge of Pythians Will Celebrate Their Silver Anniversary.

PROGRAM BEFITTING THE OCCASION

Omaha Odd Fellows Unite in the Construction of One of the Finest Lodge Halls in the Country-Doings of the Fraternal Organizations.

Pythianism will be in the ascendant next Thursday evening, preparations for the twenty-fifth anniversary of Nebraska lodge, No. 1, being on a most elaborate scale, which indicates a desire on the part of the memship of No. 1 to celebrate their silver anniversary in a manner consonant with the dignity and importance of the order.

Toasts will be responded to by some of the leading speakers of the state, while the list of invited guests from abroad includes Governor-elect Jackson of Iowa, Supreme Representative W. S. Schism, Attorney General George Hastings, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal H. M. Schaeffer of Lincoln, while delegations of knights will be present from Council Biuffs, South Omaha, Lincoln Bestrick, Unstingered Council Biuffs. atrice, Hastings and Grand Island.

Odd Fellows' New Home. The pioneer lodge of Nebraska of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is Omaha lodge No. 3, and it is erecting a lasting monument to its stability, enterprise and prosperity, that is creditable both to the city and the order. For a number of years this lodge has been the possessor of a large interest in the property situated at Fourteenth and Dodge streets and known as Odd Fellows hall, This interest the lodge retains. In addition it is the sole owner of the lot adjoining Odd Fellows hall on the north and the Delione hotel on the south.

As the membership of the order in this city has increased year by year and new lodges have sprung into existence the mem bers of No. 2 conceived the idea of a mag nificent Odd Fellows hall that would eclipse in grandeur, beauty and convenience all such in the midwest. With this idea in view committees were named and all the prelim-linary steps necessary to carry out such an

As quickly as possible after the preliminary steps had been taken plans and specifications for the construction and reconstrucnary steps had been taken plans and specifications for the construction and reconstruction of the building on the site were approved, the necessary funds provided and the following members were chosen to carry put the construction of the temple of Odd Fellowship: John H. Flannegan, C. B. Browniee and W. H. Green. With characteristic enterprise these gentlemen took hold of matters and pushed them rapidly. A large force of mechanics and workingmen soon demolished the portions of the building occupying the site that it was intended should be reconstructed. This was some six weeks ago, and in the time intervening with that and the present the three-story structure is nearly inclosed. It is expected that the exterior work will be completed within three weeks at the farthest. It will require until the latter days of January or first days of February to complete the building entire for occupancy. The building will stand three stories high and besement. It will be constructed in the main of pressed brick, with trimmings of stone. Particular attention has been given to stability of construction and the foundation and walls will stand the storms of ages, so says Building Rispector Tilly. In size the building will be 4478 feet.

has been given to stability of construction and the foundation and walls will stand the storms of ages, so says Building Inspector Tilly. In size the building will be 44x66 feet. The frontage of forty-four feet, on Fourteenth street, will be quite attractive in architectural design.

Particular attention has been paid to the interior construction and arrangement of the building for the purposes it was originally intended. The basement is high and weil arranged. Here are located the boilers that will provide the steam heat. The first, or ground floor, is divided into two first-class storerooms. The two upper floors are to be arranged and exclusively devoted to lodge purposes. On the second floor, in the rear, will be located the dining room, 24x40 feet in size. Here, also, will be an elegantly appointed culinary department. The front half of this story will be apportioned to ladies' and gentlemen's parlors. From this floor the third will be gained by means of a stairway located in the southeast corner. Here will be the main lodge room. It will be 40x50 feet in size with a ceiling nineteen and one-half feet high. In the center of tais room will arise a dome from the ceiling which will be fourteen feet across. This room, as those on the other floors, will be finished in white oak.

Already the plans for the interior arrangements and decorations of the two finished in white oak.

Already the plans for the interior arrangements and decorations of the two upper floors have been agreed to, as have those for furnishing the same. The full splendor and beauty of the lodge rooms can better and more fully be appreciated when thrown open to the 215 members of Omaha lodge, whose enterprise and $25,000 have made possible the consummation of the dream for an ideal home for Odd Fellows in this city.

Modern Woodmen's Dance. Modern Woodmen, camp No. 120, gave a very enjoyable and largely attended dancing party at Washington hall, Friday night. The committee on arrangements consisted of W. A. Gady, E. E. Bryson and Fred Elsasser. The guests were received by J. E. Van Gilder, Phil Miller and Deputy Easterly. Before the dancing began Head Counsel Northcott of Greenville, Ill., presented the camp with a handsome banner which was won by this lodge in a contest for the largest increase in membership during last March, April and May. GREAT ESTABLISHMENT

Camp 120 secured 100 new members and they now have a membership of over 500. The banner was received by C. H. T. Reipen in behalf of the lodge and he responded to Mr. Northcott's address in a neat speech. Governor Crounse, who was present, made a short speech in his usual happy manner. The grand march was led by the officers of the camp. The affair vill be remembered by the members of this loige as one of their

Union Veteran Legion.

Encampment No. 121 of this city is arranging for a public installation of officers, to be followed by a camp fire, to take part in the first part of next-January.

The new national commander of the legion is General W. A. Clark of Butler, Pa., who entered the army as a private soldier at the outbreak of the late rebellion and is now one of the wealthy men of Butler, being engaged in the oil, coal and gas business. Commander Clark is ably supported by the election of well known veterans as national officers, and has gathered around him a very and has gathered around him a very able staff. Duplicating Manuscript. An Italian inventor proposes a novel method for duplicating copies of writing. The mechanism for this purpose is provided with two pens, sup-ported by a framework in such a man-ner that their points are always in the same horizontal plane; a pen at the right is intended for the operator or writer, and the least stroke made by this pen is at the same time duplicated by a pen at the left. The framework is so jointed and hinged that the pens can be moved in any direction, and a counter-balance takes the weight of the frame from the hand, so that the act of writing is made almost as easy as with the usual pen and holder. Two ink wells are provided at the base of the stand, and the dipping of a pen in one well causes the pen to dip in the opposite well; and when the two sheets of paper to be writ-ten on are piaced parallel to each other and secured, the remainder of the work is as simple as ordinary writing. The instrument is designed especially for furnishing duplicates of contracts and of furnishing duplicates of contracts and of those legal and other documents which it is often desirable to have duplicated not only in words but also in the paper and handwriting.

Get Your Marriage Certificate at the Court House and Engage a Minister-The People's Mammoth Installment House Will Do the Rest.

Strolling down the street the other day, on his never-ending search for news, a reporter chanced into the Peoples Mammoth Installment House at 1315-1317 Farnam street. He was met at the door by a gentlemanly clerk and treated just as politely as if he had come with a dollar or two in his pocket. He did not know it then, but has learned it since, but every one who visits that place is accorded the most courteous treatment. Requesting to be shown through the mamoth establishment, he was led to treatment. Requesting to be shown through the mammoth establishment, he was led to the basement, that being the most natural place to commence. Here was shown a bewildering display of stoves and heaters of all sizes, from a small bed room stove up to one capable of heating the whole house. There was also a large line of heaters for the burning of either hard or soft coal, a complete line of cook stoves with or without reservoirs, and complete lines of wrought iron and steel ranges, gasoline stoves, oit stoves, etc. Then ranges, gasoline stoves, oil stoves, etc. Then came an almost unlimited stock of stove came an almost unlimited stock of stove furnishings, granite ware, blue enamel ware, niexel, tin, copper ware and wrought steel stove furnishings.

Passing through a door into a second basement the crockery department was discovered. Here was no end of Haviland and Dresden ware, complete sets and odd pieces, many of the sets with after-dinner coffees.

The display was heightened by the many of the sets with after-dinner conees.

The display was heightened by the shelves filled with fine glassware, which reflected the light from the electric lamps. Bright colored lamp shades called ones attention to the lamp department, where are to be found lamps of every size and degree, banquet lamps, vase lamps, mane lamps in personain and breas and only plano lamps in porcelain and brass and onyx trimmings, and hanging lamps. There were several hundred other things of interest to housekeepers, but much too numerous to mention.

The first floor is given up largely to bed-The first floor is given up largely to bedroom suites, which are displayed in many different styles and woods, oak, mahogany, birdseye maple, sycamore and bamboo. For the accommodation of people with small houses there are Gunn combination folding beds in the form of wardrobes, bookcases, etc., also upright beds and mantel beds. Mattresses of all kinds and prices and bed springs are piled as high as the ceiting. Over on one side by way of variety is a large line of silverware of all kinds and to suit all classes of purchasers. As if this was not enough for one floor they have an annex for the special accommodation of sideboards, dining room tables, dining room chairs, kitchen cupboards, China closets and similar articles of furniture. furniture.

On emerging from the elevator on the second floor the eye is attracted to the array of parior suits upholstered in Wilton rug, silk brocateile, silk tapestry, silk damask and plush, with frames of quarter sawed oak, mahogany and cherry. Then there are Parisian lounges, chenile lounges in handsome rug designs, Turkish lounges in various coverings and bed lounges. Arranged on the opposite side of the room are odd chairs that would delight any woman's odd chairs that would delight any woman's heart, gent's easy chairs covered in leather, brass bedsteads and white enamel bed-steads with brass trimmings. To fill out the odd corners and give variety to the display are hall trees in a dozen different styles, center stands, library tables, pedes-tals, parlor cabinets, book cases and mirrors of every style and description.

The carpet department is located on the third floor of this mammeth establishment. Here are to be found complete lines of English body brussels, tapestries in all qualities, velvet, moquette and ingrain carpers. There are mattings of every variety which they import direct from China. Japan oilcioths, linoleums and hemp carpeting, fur rugs, Smyrnarugs and Moquette, wilton and ingrain rugs of all sizes. There are stacks and stacks of beading, comforters, blankets in all qualities packed full of office furniture, desks and re-volving chairs calculated to meet the wants of every business man. Last but not least of every business man. Last but not least is the display of children's goods, high chairs, rockers, cribs and carriages.

This is by no means a complete list of all the goods carried by this mammoth concern, such a list would fill more than an entire nage of this paper. People a few years ago did not have the advantages of the present generation. Formerly to furnish a house it was necessary to make purchases at a dozen different stores, whereas now there can be found under one roof everything needed for housekeeping, from a tin cup to a range or from a clothespin to a parlor suit. At one time if a Japanese girl married foreigner she was instantly decapitated. A Portuguese gentleman, whom we met in Yokahama, related his experience in this direction. He went there thirty years ago and fell in love with a Japanese girl. Her parents warned her of the fatal consequences of marrying him. He was young and ardent and she
